COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1956. No. 138.

SENATE

MONDAY, February 13, 1956.

The Senate met at 1:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain, the following prayer was offered by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. RUTH.

Our Dear Heavenly Father, we come today in this opening Session and we plead for Thy wisdom and understanding, that we may give the best that we have to the problems which come to us.

Today, we think back to that great man, that great American, who lived, Abraham Lincoln. We pray that we may have some of his humaneness and his kindliness toward our fellowmen. We thank Thee for the example that he left here in this world and we pray that we may walk close to his feelings for his fellowmen. Then we know that we are walking in the steps where Thou didst walk and where Thou dost want us to walk. We ask it in Thy Holy Name, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MAHANY and Mr. HARNEY, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. WATSON, due to illness.

Mr. RUTH asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. DERK, for the week, due to illness.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

He also presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 475, PRINTER'S No. 468. RETURNED WITHOUT APPROVAL

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 10, 1956.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 475, Printer's No. 468, entitled "An act amending the act of August 22, 1953 (P. L. 1344) entitled 'An act relating to marriage and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto' further regulating the issuance of marriage licenses when applicants are infected with syphilis."

Under existing law, the clerk of the orphans' court in the county in which the applicants apply for permission to marry, may grant a marriage license to them, if the physician's statement indicates that either of the applicants is not infected with syphilis or, if so infected with the disease, the disease is not in a stage which is not likely to become communicable. The proposed bill then would only allow the clerk of the orphans' court to issue a license as of right to the applicants who were not infected with syphilis. It would change the existing law in that where the physician's statement indicates that either of the applicants is infected with syphilis in a stage which is not communcable, the orphans' court would then need to pass on the desirability of the applicants to marry before a license could be issued, if at all.

The Department of Health does not approve the bill because it feels that the determination of whether an applicant has syphilis in a stage not likely to become communicable is peculiarly a matter of medical competence and that present modes of treatment have so advanced that a person undergoing such treatment may become cured of the disease, notwithstanding the fact that the examination renders a positive result. Furthermore, the department feels that if enacted into law the proposed amendment would put an impediment in the path of applicants desiring to marry for a reason that it considers to be medically invalid. This impediment would, in the department's opinion. contribute to illegitimacy. These undesirable results in the department's view outweigh the possible advantage of preventing marriages in these few cases where medical diagnosis may have proved faulty.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

The President (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bills had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

Senate Bill No. 686, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 7, 1935 (P. L. 130), entitled "An act providing for the service of process in civil suits on nonresident operators or nonresident owners, or a resident who becomes a nonresident and conceals his whereabouts, of aircraft operated within or above the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and making the operation of such an aircraft within or above the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the equivalent of the appointment of the Secretary of Revenue of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as the agent of the said nonresident upon whom civil process may be served; and providing for further notice to the defendant in any such suit," making the consent deemed to have been given by a nonresident operator or owner of an aircraft involved in an accident or collision within this Commonwealth for appointment of the Secretary of the Comomnwealth as his agent for service of process irrevocable and binding upon his personal representatives; providing for service of process when the nonresident operator or owner has died pior to the commencement of an action, and making changes to conform with existing laws.

Senate Bill No. 862, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 16, 1836 (P. L. 715), entitled "An act relating to Reference and Arbitration," providing by rule of the County Court of Allegheny County for the arbitration of certain suits at issue.

House Bill No. 1623, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 2, 1929 (P. L. 1778), entitled "General County Law," extending retirement benefits to veterans of armed conflicts.

House Bill No. 1777, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "Administrative Code of 1929" by further defining the powers of the Department of Property and Supplies relating to automobiles.

Whereupon,

The President (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I have been reserving the introduction of this bill to my concluding remarks today on the anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth. This bill which I am sponsoring, together with Senator Chapman, would give the right to the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission to start now the preparation of several volumes to be published on the centennial of the outbreak of the Civil War.

Mr. President, Pennsylvania played an eminent role in the victory of the Union. There are many phases to this victory. Therefore, Mr. President, in order to present something to the Nation which will be worthwhile and which will inure to the credit of Pennsylvania, on behalf of Senator Chapman and myself, I am presenting the following bill.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. STIEFEL and CHAPMAN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 974, entitled:

An Act authorizing and directing the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission to prepare and plan for a history of the Civil War and to collect source materials on that subject, and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

Messrs. WEINER, DENT and PROPERT read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 975, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Forests and Waters to convey certain lands located in Whitemarsh Township, Montgomery County, in order to facilitate the further development of Fort Washington Park.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, on Wednesday, February 8, 1956, we in Delaware County were shocked by a letter written to the Prison Board, at Broadmeadows, by State Attorney General Herbert B. Cohen. I would like to quote the headlines from the February 8th edition of the Chester Times. The big, black headline, about an inch in height, is as follows:

"Gambling, Use of Narcotics at Prison Charged"

I go on to quote another headline which appears at the top of the article:

"Dope Use by Inmates Reported

"Report also Cites Gambling, Liquor

"Chester—Use of liquor, gambling with high stakes and laxity in narcotics control at Delaware County's Broadmeadow's Prison were charged today in a letter from State Attorney General Herbert B. Cohen.

"The letter was addressed to George Hetherington, president of the Delaware County Prison Board, and directed to the prison farm at Thornton. Hetherington said today that he had not received the letter, but there were indications it might arrive in time for the board's meeting this afternoon.

"Cohen's communication followed a special probe by the state investigators which began last fall. The state entered the picture when it was charged that vice conditions existed at the prison. The charges were brought by Paul McCarthy, Clinton Heights Democrat, who was a candidate for county treasurer at the November election.

"The attorney general listed four findings as a result of the investigation and he reported 'great concern' over the problem and 'strongly' recommended steps to be taken to correct 'glaring deficiencies.'

"The first finding dealt with the misuse of drugs. Cohen's letter stated. He was critical of what he said 'appears to have been considerable laxity in the supervision of drugs used at the prison,' and said that medication forms were signed in blank by doctors and left under the control of the prisoners.

" 'Obviously,' Cohen wrote, 'the practice of permitting prisoners to have control of narcotics can have no place in a well-managed institution,' adding '. . . whether or not this has created or promoted drug addiction in any inmates could be determined only by a medical examination.'

"Another Had Needle

"He claimed that the probe disclosed that one convicted killer 'was permitted virtually unlimited access to narcotics' and that another inmate had a hypodermic needle which was taken from the prison's medical supplies.

"His recommendation was that no inmate be permitted to have access to any drugs or other medical supplies 'at any time.'

"Cohen charged that the investigation disclosed 'numerous instances of inmates obtaining liquor' and said sometimes it was smuggled in by outsiders, sometimes obtained by inmates on work details, and sometimes 'the inmates visited taprooms and obtained it there.'

"Gambling Cited

"Gambling, he claimed 'has been common in this institution,' and he said that stakes involved 'hundreds and even thousands of dollars.' Dice and card games were prevalent, Cohen's letter stated. At the same time he indicated that 'at present this abuse appears to have been eliminated, at least during the period of the investigation.'

"Also under his critical scrutiny was the practice of permitting prisoners 'to go at large' under which, he said, 'there appears to have been a startling absence of proper supervision over work details outside the prison itself.'

"He emphasized that this created 'not only opportunity for escape, but also conditions favorable to contact with outsiders to obtain money, liquor, drugs or other contraband.' "

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I would also like to read into the record the reply from the President of the Prison Board, namely, George Hetherington, of Chester, Pennsylvania. I quote from his letter of February 9th, addressed to Mr. Cohen:

> Dear Mr. Cohen:
> I am now in receipt of your letter covering alleged conditions at Broadmeadows Prison Farm which you so inconsiderately released to the press long before we who are most concerned had a chance to study its contents. I am certain you are well aware that it is an old political trick to release critical letters to the newspapers well in advance of their receipts by the persons to whom addressed.
> Let me say, sir, at the very outset that I regard your letter as completely political in content, that it does not reflect accurately conditions at the prison as they are today, and that the charges contained therein are only an accumulated rehash of incidents over past years which already have brought about the dismissal of the persons responsible.
> Let me assure you further that those charges contained in your letter which have a basis for past fact already have been corrected, and that those charges which are completely untrue are itemized in the following detailed reply to the major findings covered:
> 1. "Misuse of Drugs."
> This section of your letter is, sir, a deliberate attempt to mislead the public into believing that the use of narcotics among prisoners is a common occurrence at Broadmeadows. You even go so far as to state that "one convicted killer . . . was permitted unlimited access to narcotics."
> "I agree completely with your statement that "the practice of permitting prisoners to have control of narcotics can have no place in a well-mannered institution." So much so that since I have been President of the Board of Prison Inspectors there have been no narcotics kept at Broadmeadows.
> The strongest medication stored at Broadmeadows consists of sodium amytal, alonal and phenobarbital—none of which I am certain even you will agree can be classed as "narcotics" by any stretch of the imagination.
> Therefore, the attempt to convey the impression that narcotics are being misused at Broadmeadows as contained in this section of your letter is completely false for the simple reason that there are no narcotics at the prison.
> 2. "Permitting Prisoners To Go At Large."
> The practice of allowing prisoners to work at the County Court House and Fair Acres Farm under proper supervision has been well-established at Broadmeadows. Furthermore, it is a practice which resulted in saving $35,000 to the taxpayers of Delaware County last year alone.
> In our view, these work details are adequately supervised by guards from the Broadmeadows staff, and that, because of this, the opporttunities for "smuggling" and/or escape are so few as to be almost non-existant.
> 3 and 4. "Abuse of Liquor" and "Gambling."
> Both of these sub-heads in your letter can be lumped for reply into one heading, since both are based on the accumulation of incidents through past years which already has resulted both in their elimination and in the dismissal from the prison staff of those whom we consider responsible.
> You yourself corroborate this statement in the case of alleged gambling when you say in your letter, "At present this abuse appears to have been eliminated at least during the period of the investigation."
> "Since May 2, 1955 when these conditions were first brought to our attention, we have striven diligently to ferret out any conditions involving the use of liquor and gambling and in prosecuting the persons involved.
> I might add in this connection that not only have we dismissed from the prison staff such employes as we have found to have been in league with the prisoners, but we also have sent six of the inmate-ring-leaders to the penitentiary for their part in the affairs.

If, sir, your recent investigation at Broadmeadows has uncovered any specific evidence to prove that the charges contained in your letter are applicable now, it is your duty as Attorney General to turn it over to responsible authorities for suitable action—rather than to use such evidence as the basis for a political trial by newspaper.

If, moreover, you actually have such evidence ot substantiate your inference that those things are happening at Broadmeadows now, it is also your duty as Attorney General of the Commonwealth to prosecute the entire Board of Prison Inspectors, the warden and his staff to the fullest extent of the law.

In other words, Mr. Cohen, I feel it high time that you stop making a political football of Broadmeadows Prison Farm. Either prosecute us for failure to do our duty—or apologize immediately for the slanderous statements contained in your letter of February 7th.

I am, of course, expecting the courtesy of an immediate reply.

Sincerely,

GEORGE HETHERINGTON,
President, Broadmeadows Prison Inspectors

Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I took the time to read this letter to the Senate for the simple reason that I think his reply, word for word, should become public and be given to the press. I think the press, in all fairness, should use this reply of George Hetherington due to the fact that they were most gracious in making the charges in their papers against the officials of our county.

I would like to call to the attention of the gentlemen of the Senate a few things that I know about Broadmeadows. Number one, only recently Chief Federal Penal Inspector Casey, of the Federal Penal Board, rated the Broadmeadows Prison Farm as one of the six top ranking county jails in the entire United States, based upon personal inspection made as recently as July 1955. Number two, on July the 22nd, 1955, E. C. Bollinger, in charge of the Bureau of Penal Affairs of the Pennsylvania Department of Welfare, in a written report, classified Broadmeadows Prison as good and added: "The Bureau of Penal Affairs commends the Board of Prison Inspectors and the Warden on the general condition and their efficient management of the prison."

Mr. President, just who are we supposed to believe, the Federal Penal Board's investigation, classifying Broadmeadows as one of the top six county jails in the entire United States, the Democratic Administration's own Department of Welfare, whose prison expert classified the prison as good or the phony charges of Attorney General Cohen? Frankly, Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I think we are stooping to a new low in politics in the State of Pennsylvania.

Personally, I have always felt, and always will feel, that we need a two party system in the State of Pennsylvania and in the United States of America. There is no system equal to the Republican-Democratic system of government. They both, as we know, stand for democracy.

When a man is appointed or elected to such a high office as that of Attorney General, I certainly think he should stop playing petty, dirty politics by harassing such people as the judges of our county who are in complete control of the Broadmeadows Prison, our county commisisoners and a prison board with whom I had the great privilege of serving back in the year of 1945 and whom I personally know. I feel as though it is a low that I have never known to be equaled since I have been in the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, our President Judge, Judge Henry Sweney, and the President of our Comimssioners, Arthur C. Throne, and George Hetherington, the President of the Board of Prison Inspectors, asked me to say just this to the gentlemen of the Senate; that either Mr. Cohen prove his charges that this condition is existing or shut up. They told me to put it in just those plain words and I think they are being too mild when they ask him to shut up. I would like to go a little further and personally suggest and demand that Cohen be immediately discharged and I think the Democrats might concur with me in this. After one year in office and declaring that he wanted to serve the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I find that he is a candidate for the Superior Court. God forbid if he plays poltics in the Superior Court as he is in the Attorney General's Office. If he does, I have a lot of sorrow and worry for what might happen to the people in the future.

Mr. President, I demand that the Attorney General be discharged. I would even go so far as to say that I would welcome a Senate investigation by some of our honorable Members on the Democratic side and the Republican side to check into this false accusation which was made by the Attorney General. I feel, Mr. President, that when men of high office use their office to play politics and to break down people who are serving their community without pay—not one single nickel is paid to a member of the Prison Board— their office should be investigated. George Hetherington, who is the president, has been on the Prison Board for some twenty odd years. He is a businessman and an executive of the Eddystone Manufacturing Company in the city of Chester. Mrs. Annabel Sproul, a relation of the late Governor of Pennsylvania, has been on the board some twenty odd years. Doctor Kimber Vought is just a new member of the Board. Kimber Vought is just a new member of the board. Norman Seiple, who is President of the School Directors Association in our county, is a member of the board. These people, who devote their time and give their untiring efforts to see that this prison is run right, have to suffer the abuse of someone who does not know what is going on.

Mr. President, how did the good Attorney General get this information? For your information, he received it from men who had been fired for failing in their duty at Broadmeadows. One man, who ran for political office, was fired for the simple reason that he was the gentleman who did smuggle a few bottles of whisky into Broadmeadows. He became a candidate in the last election on the Democratic ticket and that is when the smudge pot started to boil and now the Attorney General is trying to carry it into another election.

Yes, it is possible, Mr. President, that some of those poor devils who have to go to prison might enjoy a drink of whisky if they could get it. Certainly, they will steal it and they will take it from any place where they can get it, if they can get it. I know I would if I were in there. I do not think that whisky ever killed anybody, for if it did there would be a lot of us Senators gone before today. It is no hideous crime to give a man a drink even though he did get it unfairly and broke the prison rules. There is nothing wrong with letting a man have a little whisky if he can get it. I remember when I was on the Prison Board that we caught the boys back in the kitchen stewing up raisins to make a little juice. I dare say some of them are so bad, the alcoholics in there, that they would drink canned heat if they could get a hold of it.

Mr. President, why should the Attorney General go to all this trouble in trying to embarrass our citizens over the finest institution that is in the State of Pennsylvania and even, in my opinion, ranks ahead of the six that Mr. Casey spoke about? I would name it number one.

Let us go back to the second charge, which was gambling. This is my thinking and what I know about it. Yes, they gamble at Broadmeadows Prison. When I was on the Prison Board they played for matches. I would bet the Attorney General anything he would want to bet—it is not legal, I guess, for a Senator to bet with the Attorney General because I would wind up on the short end of it—that he cannot find three dollars and fifty cents in Broadmeadows on any day that he picks to go down there. Do those prisoners have money? They play for matches. Maybe from the few dollars their relatives give them, which goes in a chest to buy food, soft drinks, candy, and confections which they like to eat, they might gamble and get the other fellow's candy. I do not know whether they do or not, but so what if they gamble with matches? It is fantastiic and it is a deliberate lie to say that gambling goes on into the thousands of dollars. No one but a dreamer would ever make a statement like that. There is not even a thousand dollar lottery in the whole of Delaware County that I know of. There might be some in his county, and he should investigate it and find out. He should find out whether they are gambling in his prisons or not. Certainly, there is no wholesale gambling in our prison.

Now, Mr. President, he comes to narcotics. You heard the statement from the President of the Prison Board. I personally talked to Doctor Joseph Dimedio, who is the physician at Broadmeadows, and asked him if there were any narcotics in the Broadmeadows institution and he said nothing was in there which could be called a narcotic or would hurt anyone. The Attorney General talks about finding a hypodemic needle. If he wants to go down on my farm he can find seven of them in my tack room; we use them. We use a hypodermic needle to give our horses medicine; to inject the horse with penicillin, kidney medicine. There are many uses you can find for a hypodermic needle, and he found one hypodermic needle at Broadmeadows and then stretched his imagination by saying that prisoners had free access to all of these narcotics, because of this one great big needle which he found, and that maybe our prisoners would become habitual users of narcotics.

Just how far afield can a man's mind travel? Just how far does he go out in left field and center field and right field and finally try to get back to home base? He must have had a fit of imagination, he must have had a night of dreams, like Senator Dent had when he got up and wrote his play, and felt that his play should be entitled, "Broadmeadows, Delaware County." The hypodemic needle which he talked about was also used on cattle and hogs. There was also one which was with the medical supplies, with the instruments that the doctor had at Broadmeadows. It was locked up and no inmate ever had use of it. Had an inmate had use of it, I do not know what he would have injected into his blood stream; maybe some of that prune juice or a load of that liquor which he could not drink and I am sure he would not have put that into his blood.

I say, Mr. President, that the people of my county, and I mean many people of my county, both Democrat and Republican, feel as though these charges are just simply fantistic and something pulled out of the wind; something that the great Attorney General might think will help him be elected to the Superior Court bench. Well, I can tell him this; that in Delaware County we will not forget his slurs and his slap on an institution, and we will not forget his slurs and remarks which are completely unjust and unfair to fine people who I said before are serving without pay.

Also, Mr. President, I realize that the Attorney General can run all over the State of Pennsylvania and resurrect anything he wants to, but do you not think that as an administrator, if he had such vital information that our institution was so corrupt there, he would have sent this information down to our District Attorney? Does he accuse our District Attorney of being a person of unfair tactics, too; a man who cannot be trusted? Why does he, with all the trouble and all of the work that he has in Pennsylvania, not refer this matter to our District Attorney? I would certainly think that keeping Cousin George advised over there would keep him busy, because he seems to be in an awful muddle. In other words, it is his duty to steer the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania by seeing that everything is legal and everything is running right. Certainly some of the legislation which was proposed was not according to the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania.

Why has he not entertained his thoughts in other places where there are slot machines floating around the State of Pennsylvania; where there are football lotteries, baseball lotteries and basketball lotteries? What is he doing about that? Are they in counties where they are not known as Republicans? Could that be in some Democratic County and he wants to let it go on? I am told that it is there. I am told that these things are happening. Why does he have to come down to our little county and start on one of the best run prisons in the State of Pennsylvania? There is only one reason, gentlemen, and that is politics. Certainly his invasion of Delaware County will never pay off for him politically there, because Democrats and Republicans alike will certainly vote against him when the time comes.

Mr. President, I would like to say, too, that in conclusion I say to the Attorney General that he should cut out his filthy, dirty politics, be the Attorney General of the State of Pennsylvania or resign, and either apologize to us for what he has done, or shut up or lock us up.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, it is difficult for me to follow the pattern set by the gentleman who has just preceded me, inasmuch as when he first started to talk, he discussed what was contained in a newspaper article pertaining to some results of a report on an investigation made by the Attorney General into an institution that is part of this Commonwealth. At first, Mr. President, I thought the gentleman was going to complain about the findings. However, I found that later on in his remarks he had no complaint about the findings because he admitted that the charges made in the findings by the Attorney General were substantiated by his own knowledge of gambling and other irregularities in the prison. The question of degree is one that would, of course, have to come up into a court of law, if it reaches that stage. However, there can be no forgiveness of sin just because of the degree of sin. Then, I thought perhaps Senator Watkins was going to complain about the right of the Attorney General to go into this institution and make an investigation. I knew that he could not possibly be doing that because, in my history here, I have known may Attorneys General who have gone into counties and have performed duties that were considered normally to be the duties of the local district attorney. I can remember, with quite a vivid memory, the long and deliberate attempt to embarrass the Democratic Administration in the city of Pittsburgh with the so-called free work investigations. They were not held by the local district attorney, but were superseded by the State's Attorney General and which, incidentally, cost this Commonwealth $600,000. I can remember, too, throughout the years, when the Attorney General's Office has been used for the specific purposes that the gentleman from Delaware now complains about.

The Attorney General has, as I understand the law, every legal right to perform this duty. How he performs it, of course, is a matter of opinion. Frankly, Mr. President, I do not know what the conditions are down at this prison. I assume that the investigation made by the Attorney General was thorough and that whatever the findings were he incorporated into his bill of complaint. However, I cannot find within me any excuse for the wild statement made by the gentleman—and this is without any personal disparagement—which insinuated that the Attorney General is protecting gambling and slot machines in Democratic counties. Mr. President, that is a more serious charge than the legal findings of the Attorney General. I say that, in fairness to this Attorney General of Pennsylvania,—who, incidentally, is not a candidate for the Superior Court; he happens to be a candidate for the Supreme Court—at the time this investigation was carried out, the possibility of Mr. Cohen being a candidate for the Supreme Court was far removed from the picture. I happen to know that it was only within the last twenty-four hours before the selection that Mr. Cohen allowed himself to be drafted for the position on the ticket.

However, Mr. President, as to the charge being made, I call upon the Senator who has preceded me to name any county or counties in which the Attorney General has protected slot machines or other means of law violations and gambling. I would like to have that done today and if Senator Watkins wants to introduce a resolution on his part to investigate or re-investigate the differences between the Prison Board and the Attorney General on the charges at this prison, I am sure he would have sufficient votes in the Senate to pass that resolution. I do not belive that any man on this side or on that side is interested in maligning any citizen of this Commonwealth. If you feel that an investigation of the prison is in order, you have the prerogative and the privilege, as a Senator, to introduce a resolution to that effect. I, for one, will not oppose it and in all probability I will help you in its passage. However, the serious charge made that the Attorney General, by insinuation in the remarks, is playing politics with the welfare of this Commonwealth is serious, regardless of whether the Attorney General is a candidate or not. It is serious in the whole conduct of government. I do not belive that it has entered the head of the Attorney General to use that office for the purposes described by the previous speaker. If, in the past, that was the rule in Pennsylvania, then the gentleman must have some precedent upon which his remarks are based.

Mr. President, I cannot defend the findings because I am not even acquainted with the charges. That is a matter which is not within the province of the Senate today. If the Senate makes its own investigation, it may then be able to determine whether or not the charges of the Attorney General are sound and true, or whether the defense of the Prison Board is sound and true. However, that is beside the main point at issue now. Too many times when we stand up we start off on a direct course to reach a goal, but somewhere along the line we lose sight of our aim. You cannot acuse the Attorney General of being politic in a legitimate, legal operation of his office in conducting an investigation that he is legally and duty bound to conduct, if demanded, and then deny that there is politics in the charge that he is harboring favoritism and promoting favoritism, as it were, in the manipulation of the enforcement of law in this Commonwealth to the extent that because a county has a certain political majority, it can, with immunity, violate the laws of the Commonwealth.

I come from a Democratic county and I have witnessed a great man campaigns. I defy Senator Watkins or anyone else to find a slot machine within the confines of Westmoreland County. They cannot be found today, nor for many many years in the past. I cannot speak about Delaware County; I do not live there. However, I would be the last to stand on this floor and say that there were slot machines in Delaware County or in Montgomery County or anywhere else, unless I knew from my own personal knowledge that such was the case. The words often spoken in the matter of a discussion on some other subject can lead to a great deal of misunderstanding and misrepresentation of the facts. The harassed people of this government, who are at the moment in an undecided and worried frame of mind, might find themselves too prone to belive that the accusation carries with it the authority of a fact. In so doing, we further add to the destruction of the confidence of the peoples in their elected representatives and in their elected government.

If the gentleman who preceded me knows of any county where such protection is being given he owes it to this Senate at this moment to name the counties and to demand that the Attorney General and the State Police immediately proceed to exterminate this violation of the law wherever it may be found to be. I do not believe that the Attorney General is part of any protective Scheme for law violators. I do not believe that the Attorney General was playing politics with the investigation in Delaware County because that investigation took place long before the possibility of the Attorney General's enrosement for the political seat, as it were, on the Supreme Court.

LIBRARY

I only ask that in all fairness the gentleman take two steps, and we will support him in both steps. Number one, he may introduce a resolution on the part of this Senate to investigate the conditions at the Broadmeadows Prison.—Number two, he should lay before the Senate any evidence that he has of collusion or conspiracy on the part of the Attorney General to violate his oath of office to protect, anywhere in the Commonwealth, illegal proceedings in any phase of the law.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, the Attorney General, I think, needs no defense by me, but since the gentleman is a gentleman with whom I am rather well acquainted and since the gentleman is a citizen of my county and for that reason I have had access to his activities and thinking for sometime, I would just like to say a few words to put this matter in perspective.

In the first place, Mr. President, there is no question but that the Attorney General, just as any other responsible member of government, has certain jobs which he is asked to do which, to him, may be personally distasteful. He may not enjoy the exposure of corruption and inefficiency in any given county. I believe it is the custom of the Attorney General and his office to have such investigations made by the State Police of the Commonwealth. I have no doubt that that is the agency which did the actual investigation in this case, and the Attorney General simply took the report of that agency and presented it in the form of a letter to the proper officials of Delaware County, suggesting correction.

If the Senator from Delaware County thinks the State Police is a corrupt organization, I can only say that I doubt that it has become so in a comparatively recent time. I think the Attorney General had confidence in the report because it was done by the State Police.

Mr. President, as far as Mr. Hetherington is concerned and the members of the Prison Board of Delaware County, they did the most natural thing in the world. They wrote a letter and denied the charges. I think that would be the first reaction of any group whether they were innocent or guilty, and whether the conditions were true or false. As far as the Senator from Delaware County is concerned, it was a perfectly plausible and to be expected political activity on his part to defend this prison board from his county. I suggest that neither the Senator nor I probably know enough about this situation to evaluate it. Probably Mr. Hetherington and the Prison Board do, probably the State Police do, and it is a question for the citizens of Delaware County and of the Commonwealth to decide. Since the matter has been brought here before the Members of the Senate to make their decision as to which is more likely to be the objective point of view, the State Police or the Members of the Board whose prison is accused of being mismanaged, I certainly will not make a decision on that problem.

I would like to say that I did not like the tone of the Senator's allegations about the existence of slot machines and lotteries and so forth in many counties. The reason I did not like it was because he seemed to make an implication that if it were true, somehow the Attorney General, thereby, was guilty of neglecting his office or perhaps of malfeasance in encouraging this. If the gentleman has information—and I believe he said that he does, at least he said that he heard these things existed—if he has anything which is worth reporting, his duty as a citizen I know is to present that matter to the Attorney General or to any other authority which he considers proper police authority and have those charges investigated. If he does not have evidence which would warrant such action, then the only thing that I can believe is that the Senator's statements on this floor have been reckless and unwarranted.

As far as politics in this matter is concerned, it is a matter of common knowledge that at the time the State Police made this investigation and at the time the Attorney General received the report, at which time it was made public, he was not a candidate for any office. If you want to take my word for it, I do not think he was anticipating being a candidate for any office. If he would have been, certainly he did the impolitic thing, because if I wanted to get the votes of Delaware County I certainly would not set out to offend the friends of ex-Sheriff Watkins, who, I imagine from my observation of him, would probably be the most popular single individual in Delaware County and I would not want to alienate him and lose those votes. Therefore, if there had been any politics in this thing, the Attorney General, if he did it for political reasons, has marked himself as a singularly stupid politician, and believe me that does not conform with the general make-up of the Attorney General, who is a very intelligent person.

Mr. President, I do not need to defend the character or reputation of the Attorney General. I would simply like to say that in his own county, and that is the only place he has ever to this date asked the people for votes, he has been uniformly successful in receiving them and he has a fine reputation for ethical conduct. At the time he was appointed to the Attorney General's position, he was President of the York County Bar Association and there is nothing whatever in his career to warrant the reckless type of statements which were flung about on this floor today.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would just like to point two things out to the gentleman from Delaware County. One is that his problem is a very simple one. If he knows of all this gambling which is going on, all he must do is to present himself to a magistrate where the activity is taking place, take an affidavit and the officer will issue the necessary warrants and the police in that area, I am sure, will act. He does not even have to afford himself the privilege or the honor of going before the Attorney General, and he can do this on his own in any area where he knows that this activity is taking place. I think that, as one of the officers of this Commonwealth, it is incumbent upon him to do this if he knows of this illegal activity going on anywhere in the Commonwealth.

I would like to further point out to the Members of this Senate that very recently the chief of police in Chester held some raids in regard to gambling and illegal activity. I live across the county line in Philadelphia and it seemed very strange to me that he had to call upon the State Police to carry out these raids. He did not seem to want to trust the detectives or the police in that area.

Therefore, Mr. President, I believe the Senator has a twofold job. If he is going to look into the Attorney General's Office, he better also look into the goings-on in Delaware County to find out why they do not use the duly elected and paid officials to carry out their positions, but must call upon the State officials to do this. This happened just within the last six or eight months when this activity took place.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I would like to thank Senator Weiner for his information. If he will send me a bill, I will pay him a regular fee for advising me how to conduct myself according to law.

I would like to call to his attention, being a Philadelphia Senator, that I do not think this is any of his business. I do not blame Senator Seyler for talking and I do not blame Senator Dent, but I do not know how the gentleman from Philadelphia gets into this argument. If he wants to talk about vice conditions in Delaware County, I think he should think a little bit about the city of Philadelphia where it is not safe to even go to sleep without being stabbed to death. People are being robbed and knocked down as they walk down the streets of the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. President, yes, we did have a gentleman who was the director of police in the city of Chester, but he is no longer director of police because of the simple reason that he was unable to command his men and get results. He did make a couple of petty arrests. He locked up some men from a twenty cent poker game and a few colored boys who were shooting crap. This was most admirable and I think he did a wonderful job.

I would also like to call to your attention that the other fellow who he arrested had three dollars and ninety cents worth of number sheets on him, and he chased him forty blocks and endangered the lives of maybe 100 people and captured him. Therefore, I want to say that we are in great danger but we do not have murders, women being knocked down on the streets, crimes unsolved and the gambling that they have in the city of Philadelphia. I would like to have that called to the gentleman's attention.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the gentleman from Delaware County seems to be having himself a field day today. He has taken care of matters in Delaware County and has now come over into Philadelphia County. If he will be so kind to point out to us the different problems we have in Philadelphia and how we can solve them, I will be very happy to hear from him. I will also be happy to take him to the proper officials and see that they confer with him so they can share the benefit of his advice and his long years of experience in police work

I would also feel it incumbent upon myself, as a Member of this Senate and as an elected official of the State of Pennsylvania, to have brought to the attention of this body, and any other body in this legislative area which is a check on our executive branch, the misdoings or nondoings of our elected or appointed officials. I think that Senator Watkins would do well to give us the areas where this corruption is going on and which the Attorney General is protecting so that we can address ourselves to this situation. If he does not feel it incumbent upon himself to go to the proper officials, I think we can find a few gentlemen here who will be very happy to go before the proper magistrates and take these warrants on his information.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I have sat here quite some time this afternoon listening to all the speeches and I might say to Senator Watkins that—you can quote me on this, too, Senator—I think you should tell the fellows in your county that I think you have done a wonderful job in taking the floor today and defending them, because after all that is your job. However, I feel, too, that probably after your speech today they should slate you for Congress or some higher office. You know, in your speech you brought to my mind something when you protested so much, because someone said not long ago, "He protests too much," and you did a lot of protesting here.

As I sat here today, I was wondering whether after while the truth might come out. I have not read the Attorney General's report as yet, but since you are dissatisfied with it I was thinking that since Bob Fleming, Bill Scott and I have finished our assignment at Morganza, and we feel we did a pretty decent job, you should put in your resolution because Bob and I could use a little extra money now. After all, we have been in Session a long time, and probably Bill Scott could use some extra money, too. Mr. Haluska is not here but I know he will be for it all right. If you put in your resolution, we will go down and investigate and see what actually did happen.

Mr. President, I want to say this, too. You are bound to get justice because, you know, I remember when Carl Shelley here and his bunch of Crusaders started out to emasculate the Democratic Party in the State. You know, we had a lot of publicity on that, and it took a judge from Washington County to straighten them all out and that was Judge Howard Hughes who, by the way, happened to be a Republican. Judge Hughes came down here and straightened Carl Shelley and his gang out. He found that ninety-nine percent of the charges were politics.

I also remember that not too long ago in Allegheny County they wanted to take care of the Democrats in the city of Pittsburgh. They had a free work probe and I think it cost the State around $600,000. The probe ended up with all the indictments being quashed. As a matter of fact, I think one of the Deputy Attorneys General even apologized to the court for bringing out the indictments. Therefore, you can see that there might be a little politics; we do not know.

I say this to you, you better consult with my lawyers over there, Bob Fleming, and Senator Scott, and if you need us we are available.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN COMMEMORATIVE EXERCISE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, by resolution we set apart a period of today's Session in order that we might observe the birthday of Abraham Lincoln. I believe now would be a suitable time for that purpose.

Senator Blass and Senator Stiefel have been appointed to conduct those exercises, and if it is all right with them I would suggest that we now take up that order of business.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, pursuant to Senate Resolution previously adopted, the Senate will proceed with the Abraham Lincoln Commemorative Exercises.

The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Blass.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, Fellow Members of the Senate, Ladies and Gentlemen:

At this time we are here to pay reverence to the memory of one of the greatest Americans who ever lived, the sixteenth President of the United States, Abraham Lincoln. Lincoln has been popularly known throughout the length and breadth of the land and throughout the realms of the world as the "Son of Kentucky" and as the "Son of Illinois." However, let me say to you that very few know that he is also a son of Pennsylvania. He is a son of Pennsylvania by reason of his ancestry.

Before I go into some of the qualities of Lincoln, I want to briefly narrate a few things from his life which will exemplify the noble character and the magnitude in which he was held, the being of Abraham Lincoln. His great, great grandfather, Mordecai Lincoln, was a highly respected citizen of Exeter Township in the county of Berks. It was a strange and singular coincidence that Mordecai Lincoln was also a neighbor of Squire Boone, who was the father of Daniel Boone, the Kentucky frontiersman. Mordecai Lincoln was a Justice of the Peace and an Inspector of the Roads in the Township of Exeter, in the county of Berks, and occupied a 300-acre plot of ground in that county, settling there from New Jersey in about the year 1730. His son, John, who was the great grandfather of Abraham Lincoln, went from Pennsylvania to Virginia which, at that time, became the ancestral abode of the Lincolns until they moved to Kentucky where Abraham was born in Hardin County, on February 12, 1809.

Last September, I had occasion to talk on the floor of the Senate on John Marshall. Both he and Abraham Lincoln had a lot in common in one respect. Abraham Lincoln also did not have much of an education. I believe, all in all, he only attended school for about one year. He received most of his training from his mother, who died when Abraham was only about ten years old. However, the influence of that mother on Abraham Lincoln was terrific. You will remember the immortal words of Lincoln in reverence to his mother when he said, "All that I am and all that I ever hope to be, I owe to my angel mother." Where in American History do you have a man, of the words of Lincoln, who can speak straight from the heart and in language the people can understand? Nobody can fail to understand those tender words. They showed exactly what was in the man's makeup and which enabled him later on to fight with all his might the struggles which he had to face.

Abraham Lincoln, as a boy, worked hard. He was six feet, four inches, in stature and be possessed considerable physical strength and power. He earned his early money by rail splitting. He ran a flat boat down the Mississippi, and this was one of the incidents in the life of Abraham Lincoln that shapped his destiny. When he got to the city of New Orleans on several occasions, he witnessed some of the things which shocked the man from head to foot, that caused him to blush in shame because mothers and children were torn from each other; husbands were torn from wives, chained from hand to foot and sold in abject slavery. This so impressed Lincoln—and I know a great many of you have heard this statement—that he said at that time, as a flat boatman, "If I ever have the opportunity to hit this institution, before my God, I will hit it hard." And hit it hard, he did.

To show the nature of the man, when he was asked to write his biography, he said, "I am only poor, humble Abraham Lincoln and I come from two undistinguished families. I know that my ancestors came from Pennsylvania." Those words stand out in strange and singular significance.

Lincoln later decided that he wanted to be a little something more than a flat boatman, and a rail splitter, and a clerk in the country store and a merchant in New Salem. So, he studied law. His parents went from Kentucky to Indiana and it was in Indiana where his elder sister, Sarah, who was two years his senior, passed away at the age of twenty-one. Lincoln, at that time was nineteen. The family moved to Illinois where Lincoln spent most of his time studying, reading law, if you please. He finally was admitted to the Bar. He decided on a political career. He entered the Illinois Legislature; he served four successive biennial terms, from 1834 to 1842. It was in that capacity that he first attracted Nation-wide attention by his remark that a house divided against itself cannot stand, and also before the Illinois Convention when he said, "A Nation cannot exist half slave and half free."

Lincoln ran for Congress in 1842 and lost. In 1846, he tried it again and this time he was successful. In his short career in Congress, he attracted Nation-wide attention through the espousal of those principles which lie at the roots of American liberty and American prestige, the fight for the abolition of slavery. During those periods when he was in Congress, there was a young man by the name of David Wilmot, who represented the northern tier of counties in the neighborhood now represented in this Senate by Senator Madigan. David Wilmot had a great deal to do with shaping the life of Lincoln. Through the Wilmot Proviso, which abolished slavery in the territory that was acquired from Mexico, Lincoln voted, as he said, against that Proviso he believed forty times. Although it never passed, it showed exactly that he was on the cause of right, that he championed the ground of the common people, that he espoused the doctrine of equality and equal opportunity before God.

Lincoln's rise was remarkable in such a brief, short space of time, from 1846 to 1860. In those fourteen years of hard labor, struggling for what he thought was right, speaking in the language of the common people, with the common touch, he was able to make himself impressive with every audience that he faced. It was only natural, therefore, that when it came to the selection of the first Republican candidate for President, from the five candidates who were nominated in the Wigwam in Chicago in 1860, Lincoln was nominated for the Presidency on the third ballot.

I am not going to go into some of the pathetic incidents of Lincoln's life, other than having mentioned the death of his mother and the death of his sister. However, one of his early boyhood friends was a girl whom he loved and revered, Ann Rutledge. She passed away during Lincoln's early life and left a cloud of darkness to shadow over Abraham Lincoln. All these influences had a tendency to prepare him for the great task which befell him when he was nominated and elected as the first Republican President of the United States.

I am not going to delve into the time when he came to Pennsylvania again on that immortal November 19, 1963, after he was extended an invitation but not expected to arrive, and when the orator of the day was Edward Everett, who delivered an hour's address. After the conclusion of Lincoln's twenty line speech, Lincoln went up to Edward Everett and congratulated him on his wonderful oration. Everett looked at Lincoln and he said, "I wish I could have been the author of those twenty lines."

I could speak here for hours on the worth and merit of Abraham Lincoln. However, I am not going to do it. I am going to say this. He had a heart that was full of pity; he was humble; he was simple; he had humanitarianism in every fiber of his body; he was bursting forth with kindness and compassion through his whole life. At the close of the Civil War, he did not want to deal with his enemies as some would have him do. He used those memorable words in his second inaugural address, "With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us strive to carry on where we have begun, to bind up our Nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle and for his widow and his orphans; and to do all to achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and among all nations."

How true these words of Lincoln are today. There are a great many countries in the world where equality and equal opportunity are denied. If Abraham Lincoln were living today, he would probably espouse those principles on a world-wide scale. It behooves us, in closing, in deference to this great emancipator, to see that we are alert and vigilant so that the price of heritage, of liberty and freedom, which was so hard to win, is absolutely and permanently secured.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Senate, I am at a disadvantage to follow so matchless an orator as Senator Blass. No wonder the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish is booming with business. Senator Blass is emerging now as a historian. The whirl of his speeches exuded is so powerful that many times it sets back the chill breezes and blasts from Canada.

Mr. President, what I am going to say is only supplementary to what Senator Blass already mentioned. The thesis of my remarks will deal with Lincoln in Pennsylvania. Senator Blass already dwelt on some of its phases. There is a beautiful pattern emerging now in the United States that each year, the newspapers of the Nation select the most timely and effective editorial pertaining to Lincoln. I am going to quote from an editorial which appeared in 1947 in the Indianapolis Star and was selected as the outstanding editorial on Lincoln throughout the Nation. Here is what it said:

"The paintings of some men are timeless. The music of others reveals its beauty to each generation as though it were new. Great poetry, great sculpture or great oratory is great in any age and at any time. And so it is with the speeches of Abraham Lincoln, who was born on a farm in Kentucky just 139 years ago today."

Today, it is 146 years since he was born.

"Lincoln's speeches contained a distilled political wisdom of free men everywhere and at any time. His understanding of people, how they feel and think and aspire, is still unsurpassed. Not only did he clearly see the meaning of liberty and of democracy, but he was able to express it to the rest of us so that we, too, could understand and glory in its bright hope."

The editorial is much longer, but I just pointed out the highlight of it.

I remember, when visiting Oxford University, I saw on a huge bronze tablet the Gettysburg Address. It stated that together with King Charles' version of the Bible, the Gettysburg Address is probably one of the most glorious passages ever couched in the English language. It went on to marvel at its simplicity and beauty, because it has the majestic sweep of a Biblical pathos.

What I am interested in today, Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, is to make a little journey to Pennsylvania. Senator Blass already mentioned that Mordecai Lincoln established in Berks County, Pennsylvania, after coming here in 1730 from New Jersey, where he was the neighbor of Squire Boone. Later, the family migrated to Virginia, but Lincoln's great grandfather, John, sold his holdings in New Jersey and acquired land in Lancaster County. Here you have Senator Ruth, Senator Diehm and Senator Kessler's territory having a connection with the lore of Abraham Lincoln.

What I want to especially underscore are four great Pennsylvanians who had to do with the rise of Lincoln to power in the Presidency. One already was mentioned and that was David Wilmot, the father of the Wilmot Proviso. That brings us to Senator Madigan's territory. Wilmot was a judge in Bradford County. If you ever visited Towanda and you stop at the Court House, you will see a special tablet dedicated to Wilmot. When he became a Congressman, in 1846, he submitted the Wilmot Proviso which provided that all the territory acquired by the United States from Mexico should be free of slavery. Then, version after version, the Wilmot Proviso appeared before Congress. Lincoln stated that at least forty times, as a Congressman, he had to vote for versions of the Wimot Proviso.

Nine days from today, on February 22, 1956, will be the centennial of the birth of the Republican Party. The Republican Party was organized on February 22, 1856 in Pittsburgh. One of the men who was most helpful in establishing the Republican Party, and creating its cohesive force, was David Wilmot. As a matter of fact, David Wilmot was the first Republican State Chairman of Pennsylvania. In those days—and you know I am not holding a brief for the Republican Party—the Republican Party was considered the most progressive party. Witness an editorial which appeared in the New York Herald, denouncing the Republicans as the party—and listen to this—of socialism in its worst form, including women's rights, the division of land and free love.

Now Wilmot, by helping to organize the Republican Party, to a certain degree helped Lincoln to become his apostle. Of course, the first Republican Convention was held in Philadelphia and the second was held in a Wigwam in Chicago. There was a man by the name of Jesse Fell, of Bloomington, Illinois, who was a great friend of Lincoln. Here I am coming to one of the most decisive moments in Lincoln's life and that brings us to the territory of Senator Harney, of Chester County.

At that time, in West Chester, there lived a man by the name of Joseph Lewis, who was the publisher of the Chester County Times. Mr. Fell prevailed upon Mr. Lewis to publish the first known biography of Abraham Lincoln. Of course, Abraham Lincoln, when asked to supply the biographical material, supplied only about 600 words. Then Mr. Fell and Mr. Lewis expatiated on it and thus the biography was published in the Chester County Times. When this biography began circulating throughout Pennsylvania, people started asking, "Who is Lincoln?" That biography helped a lot to have Pennsylvania go for Lincoln.

Also, another Pennsylvanian who had a lot to do with Lincoln and his rise to power was Simon Cameron. Simon Cameron was a Pennsylvania tycoon and an ironmaster who was the first proponent of a high tariff. The Governor of Pennsylvania, Andrew Gregg Curtin, and David Wilmot did not like Cameron. Neither did Wilmot like Seward of New York. So, when the Convention began selecting its candidate in 1860, Curtin, Lewis and Wilmot were behind Lincoln. Lincoln was nominated on the third ballot. On the first ballot, Simon Cameron had quite a block of Pennsylvania votes. Cameron was persuaded by Judge Davis, who was Lincoln's manager, in exchange for a position in the Cabinet, to throw his votes behind Lincoln. This is how Lincoln prevailed upon Seward and was nominated on the third ballot.

We can safely then foresay that Joseph Lewis, of Chester County, David Wilmot, Andrew Gregg Curtin and Simon Cameron were the four political stalwarts who helped Lincoln to reach the Presidency. Then you know the story of February 2, 1861, when Pinkerton discovered that there was a plot on foot in Baltimore to assassinate Abraham Lincoln. On that day, Lincoln visited Harrisburg. He reviewed the militia and then attended a banquet given on Market Street Square here in Harrisburg. From this banquet, he was whisked, in the darkness of the night, to Philadelphia and from there he went to Washington.

Lincoln came back to Pennsylvania on November 18, 1863, to dedicate the Gettysburg Battlefield. Judge Wills, of Gettysburg, sent an invitation to Lincoln to attend. The story in the legend that Lincoln scribbled the Gettysburg Address while proceeding to Gettysburg on the Maryland Railroad is not true.

On the evening of November 18, 1863, Lincoln was seated in the parlor of Judge Wills in Gettysburg. He excused himself and went to another room, and there he prepared his inaugural address. Finally, there was one more visit that Lincoln paid to Pennsylvania. He paid it when his coffin was proceeding to Springfield, Illinois. Here at Harrisburg, multitudes of Pennsylvanians stood and mourned the death of this martyred President.

Mr. President, I just pointed out in a few remarks what Pennsylvania did to elevate Lincoln to the Presidency. However, more than anything else, it was Governor Andrew Gregg Curtin who brought the Governors of the Union to Altoona, where they passed a resolution to support the union. That brings us to Senator Mallery's territory. There, in Altoona, was made that fatal decision to support the Union .

Harrisburg was known in those days as the rendezvous of the North. Senator Taylor gave me once a book which I cherish, called "The Rendezvous of the North." It shows what Harrisburg did for the Union. As a matter of fact, Senator Taylor related to me that his grandfather, living on the outskirts of Harrisburg, saw the first tidal waves of the great army reaching the environs of Harrisburg and Carlisle. It was here on the sacred soil of Pennsylvania that this tide was turned back and the Union was saved.

Today, Senator Leroy Chapman and I introduced a bill to create a study whereby the Historical and Museum Commission will prepare a series of volumes dealing with old phases of Pennsylvania's contribution to the victory of the North. There is no phase of war, or social activity or industrial effort that can match Pennsylvania's contribution to the preservation of the Union. We may all be proud that it was here in Pennsylvania, the arsenal of the North, that a victory over the South was forged.

Let us all proceed in the traditions of Lincoln. I do not know what party he would belong to if he were alive today. Maybe he would be registered as a Democrat. However, so long as we all agree that he was the greatest American, whose fame will outlive marble, and in the warmth of his leadership we are still basking and shall continue to bask.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I feel that all of the Members of the Senate are deeply grateful to our colleagues, Senator Stiffel and Senator Blass, for the fine presentations they have made today. I know that they must have spent considerable time on research in order to bring us all the facts which they gave us today relative to Abraham Lincoln.

I want to say to Senator Stiefel that he might have some doubt as to whether Abraham Lincoln would be a Republican or a Democrat, but I hope he will not take our Patron Saint. However, there is not much doubt in my mind about Thomas Jefferson, the Democrat's Patron Saint. I think he would be a registered Republican if he were here.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, to a certain degree I am guilty today of a modicum of plagiarism, because the information which I obtained about Lincoln in Pennsylvania was published by the new Acting Director of the Historical and Museum Commission, Doctor Stevens. I obtained today from Doctor Stevens this pamphlet which will be distributed with his compliments, and my compliments, to each one of the Senators of the General Assembly.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I feel that one of the qualities which we all should admire in Abraham Lincoln, and which was touched on some here, was his ability to forgive his enemies. During his term in office, he had a Secretary of War by the name of Stanton. Stanton never thought very much of Abraham Lincoln. He used to refer to him as the ignoramus from Illinois and also referred to him as a baboon on several occasions. When Lincoln was saked to comment about Stanton's statements he said, "Mr. Stanton is the best Secretary of War there is in America." Strangely enough, it is Stanton's words, after Abraham Lincoln died, that are now inscribed on the sarcophagus of Abraham Lincoln and these words were, "Now he belongs to the ages."

I think we should all take lessons from these great men in our own daily lives. So often we revere some quality in some person who has gone beyond and say what a great man they were because they had those qualities, but yet we sometimes hesitate to adopt them as part of our daily life. So many times people get disturbed because some one refers to them in a derogatory manner. They get themselves all excited and then, in turn, they try to get back at the fellow who made the statement by making some derogatory remark about that man. All this does, I think, is cause us a lot of ulcers and shortens our lives considerably. I think we can all be as religious as Abraham Lincoln. I think he was very religious because, although he did not belong to any organized church as I understand, yet he was not hesitant to turn to his Creator whenever he was in trouble and he believed in the power of prayer. I think that his great quality of respecting and loving his fellow man is the thing which made Abraham Lincoln great. He loved his fellow man regardless of race, creed or color. I think if we did the same, why we, too, could be religious regardless of the particular denomination of the church which we attend.

Speaking of churches, Mr. President, perhaps they could get us out of the trouble which we are in right now. I personally right now do not see when or how this whole tax problem is going to be settled. Perhaps next week the House might settle it; I do not know. We, over here in the Senate, have tried to keep as much as possible out of that discussion over there so that they would have more or less a free domain in which to operate and not put any reins on it.

Mr. President, I remember, When Dwight D. Eisenhower was striken by a serious heart attack, that the churches throughout America offered up a prayer for Dwight D. Eisenhower and I think that prayer did a great deal of good in aiding Mr. Eisenhower to a recovery. Perhaps the churches of Pennsylvania, next Sunday morning, can help us if they, as part of their deliberations and devotions, would offer up a prayer to the Creator to aid us next week in trying to solve this great problem which affects every citizen of Pennsylvania. This move might determine whether the schools are going to close down, hospitals be curtailed, and all the other things in Pennsylvania will have to grind slowly to a halt or whether we are going to be able to resolve this thing. I believe this is up pretty much to maybe some Supreme Being, somebody who is more supreme than we are. I would suggest that all of us from now on, and especially next Sunday morning, ask the citiens of Pennsylvania to help us in trying to solve our difficulties by offering a prayer that we might be guided down herein the Halls of the Legislature to do the right thing for the people of Pennsylvania and our beloved Commonwealth.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, if I am in order, I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader, Senator Mahany, for just one question.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Mahany, now that we have adopted a really serious tone in regard to our problems here in Pennsylvania, I have one question on my mind which is not clear. When I ask you this question, I do not mean to be sarcastic or I do not mean to be partisan.

I would like to know, for the information of the Membership on this side of the aisle, whether in the event the Republican and Democratic House compromise and adopt a tax program, will that action be binding upon the Republican Majority in the Senate? Will you respect their operations, and their compromise and their conclusions?

Mr. MAHANY. To answer your question, Senator, I could not speak for the Republicans on this side of the aisle in connection with that statement. I think we would give any program that they come up with very serious consideration. I, for one, would certainly be glad to do whatever I could to discuss this in a most favorable light with my colleagues on this side of the aisle. However, as you know, there are some Senators over here who do not like an income tax and whether or not there would be sufficient votes over here, in the light of a compromise program in the House, for such a bill as that, I cannot tell you right now. Certainly, I think every Member of this Senate should give very serious and careful consideration to any compromise program which is adopted by the House.

Mr. LANE. Believe you me, my interrogation is not malicious and not political, but I want to know just where we stand on this. Now you just made a statement that you would recommend that your side give very serious consideration to any compromise which is adopted by the Republican and Democratic Members in the House. However, we on the Democratic side here today have no definite assurance from your side that should they adopt a compromise tax program, the Republican Majority in the Senate will accept it. Therefore, I am wondering whether we might not have the cart before the horse.

Why do we not do this, in order to kill this thing off? Why do we not include in the compromise talks the leaders on the Republican side in the Senate and the leaders on the Democratic side in the Senate in order to bring about an agreement of both houses and then we will know exactly what we are doing? Otherwise, they may adopt a tax program, send it over here and we may get into another battle. Naturally, you have the votes and we might be defeated again. I think we should do something concrete and incorporate into the compromise talks representatives from your side, who have the authority to speak, and representatives from our side who have the authority to speak. What do you think of that?

Mr. MAHANY. Well, Senator, right now I do not think that will be possible and I do not think it would be advisable. I think that the House should be allowed to work out their differences and try to pass the best possible tax bill they can without any interference from us.

I understand that last week when this tax bill was up before the House, there were certain union leaders who were opposed to it and others who were opposed to it. They were working on Members of the House and members of your party not to vote for this particular program. Until such time as the Democratic mapority in the House, plus the Republicans, can get together and formulate a program which they feel is the best possible tax program that they can give the Senate, I do not think we should interfere with their deliberations.

If you have noticed, there have been no newspapers quoting any comment from me either for or against that particular program, and I have made no comment and I do not intend to until such time as it gets here. However, I do feel that if by any chance this Senate would turn down their compromise program, certainly we would have the responsibility to, I think, raise the money on some type of a program of our own. Now I do not envision that and say that it might happen, but certainly it would put a terrific responsibility on us in the Senate for a tax program if we do not accept the compromise program coming from the House.

Mr. LANE. Probably you noticed in the metropolitan papers, at least I did, that during the process of the negotiations some of the metropolitan papers were stating, "Opposition to a compromise program arises in the Senate on the Republican side." In other words, there were Republican Members in the Senate, according to the newspapers, who were already opposed to the programs they were negotiating.

The point I am trying to make is this, Senator Mahany. I do not think we should go into a Session for two years. We have gone into one for one year and we should not go into it for two years, because I feel that I have a responsibility. I know that you fellows on the other side should feel that way. If we are going to compromise in the House, with no assurance from the Senate, then I think we are back where we started from because we had two tax programs pass the House, although they were not compromise tax programs, and they failed in the Senate. If there is a compromise and it comes over here, and you say there are some members on your side who feel that they could not vote for an income tax, well, we would be in the same position, would we not?

I still feel, Senator Mahany, if we are all sincere, that both houses should get together and agree upon what we can vote for, and get this thing over with as quickly as possible for the betterment of the Republicans, the Democrats and the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator, that is no doubt true. However, the trouble with that suggestion is that if we had a meeting or a Caucus in which the members were polled and certain ones said, "Yes, I can be for an income tax," and others said, "No, I cannot be," you would find that this news would leak out and the Senators who might say right now that they would be for an income tax—we will say that it may be two weeks from now when we get the tax plan—would be so bombarded with opposition from people in their own Districts, who are against the income tax, that maybe by then they might have to change their minds and say, "Well, I cannot just be for it." It seems to me if we are going to get votes over here for any kind of a tax plan, we should keep out of it until such time as we get the plan.

Mr. President, that is the unfortunate thing about the delay which happened in the House last week. You will find that everybody who is affected by this tax plan since last week, through this week and until next week when the House gets to vote on it, will be bombarding every Member of that House to be against one or all of the bills which they have on the program. That is the unfortunate part of the thing that happened in the House last week. I feel that on that particular day, when they did have the plan before them, I believe they did have sufficient votes to pass it. Now whether or not the forces that be have worked against a sufficient number of House Members to change their minds, I do not know. I do not know about the labor leaders, whether or not they have withdrawn their objection. I do not know about others. For instance, your hotel people are very much opposed to one particular part of that package. I have tried my best to explain to the hotel people that they would not be hurt very much. I have an interest in a hotel myself, so certainly I would not want to do anything which would hurt myself.

Mr. President, I feel that the hotel owner, or the restaurant owner, has the right to add whatever tax is put on onto the customer's bill, and I understand that the legislation is drawn that way and he should not be hurt very much, because all he will do is total up the customer's bill and then add a two per cent tax on top of it and the customer will pay it. After a month or two, I do not think you are going to get very much objection from the customer. When I drive my car down through the South once in awhile, in many of the States that I go through, when I get the bill for the motel or the hotel or the restaurant meal there is a tax added onto the amount of the bill and I pay it without saying anything and I have not noticed any of the other customers saying much about it. I, therefore, think that this tax should be very easy to collect and I hope that the hotel people will withdraw their objection to it.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Majority Leader one other question and then I will finish.

Senator Mahany, I listened to your discourse there, but I think you are getting away from the point. The point I am trying to make is this. If you, on the Republican side, will not support actions by your Republican House Members in the House, do you not think that you are sort of making guinea pigs out of them? Do you not feel that they have a lack of confidence? If they support a certain tax program and are not sure that their colleagues in the Senate will do likewise, they have a lack of confidence and are not sure of their way.

I would say that if our Democratic House Members said they were going to support a tax program, we Democratic Members should have the intestinal fortitude to at least back up their action. Over on your side, I would think that if your Republican House Members went down the line for a tax program and you fellows on the other side would leave them high and dry, it would be unfair, do you not think? You have not bound anyone yet.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator, I think perhaps it would be. I have no doubt that before the House Members vote on this program, a great many of them will at least take the opportunity to consult their Senator to see if he is going to back them up. I do not believe you are going to find a whole lot of them over there voting contrary to what their Senator does. It may be there will be some exceptions. Certainly, if I were a Member of the House and I was called upon to vote for taxes, I would come over here to the Senate and find out how my Senator was going to vote.

Mr. LANE. Then, Senator Mahany, if what you say is true, any compromise between the Republican Members and the Democratic Members is purely a farce, because they still would not act until they received the approval of their colleagues in the Senate, is that correct?

Mr. MAHANY. They would not necessarily obtain their approval. I do not think we would tell those people how to vote over there, but out of self-protection, politically, I presume they would ask that because a lot of those House Members, although they look down their nose at times at the Senate, all have a little bit of aspiration, you know, to come over here and occupy one of these seats and they would hesitate, I would think, to vote for some tax program that their Senator might not be willing to vote for.

Mr. LANE. Well then, Senator Mahany, since you have made that statement, it sort of bolsters my argument that before we go through all that rigmarole of having your House Members come over and consult with the Senators, do you not think that the Senators on your side, and the Senators on our side, should sit down with the House Members on both sides and tell them what we want, what we will go for and what we will not go for and in that way we will have the problem wrapped up? Otherwise, they are not going to vote anyway until they talk to their Senators on the Republican side, and a compromise between the House Members will not amount to anything unless they talk with you fellows on your side. I feel that my argument is sound and it should be a negotiation by both Chambers, on both sides, in order to wrap this thing up and get out of here.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator, I cannot quite agree with you under the circumstances. It might work out in theory but as a practical matter, I do not think it would work out. I just feel that right now, for instance, I do not know how many Democratic Senators will vote for this program. I do not have any idea, for instance, how many Democratic House Members will vote for the program. The fact of the matter is, since the delay of a week or so, I do not even know whether the program is going to go through or whether it is not.

I thought that the best thing we could do in connection with this program was for the Senators to stay out of it unless our House Members happened to get a hold of one of the Senators, who happened to be his Senator, and wanted to ask him how he might vote on it. The decision would then be up to those particular Members.

Mr. LANE. Senator Mahany, the way to find out how many votes you are going to have on either side would be fore the leadership on both sides to meet with the leadership in the House, come back to our respective Caucuses and say, "Now, boys, this is what the proposition is. I am laying it on the table. Will you be for it or will you not? Give us a vote and let us know how you stand."

We then could go back to the negotiating group and say, "I have the votes on my side," or "I do not have the votes." Senator Dent will be in the same position. Then, in this way, we could wrap this matter up.

I am very much afraid, Senator Mahany, that any negotiating between the House Members is going to fall flat over in the Senate unless we are in on it; unless you people are in on it; unless you are well informed and talk to your Members. Unless you and Senator Taylor, and the other leaders over there participate, I feel that this is going to fall flat and we are going to be back where we started. I am very much afraid of this situation.

Mr. MAHANY. I hope not, Senator, but I still do not feel that it is a good idea right now to poll the Members of the Senate on this particular tax package because the tax might change. Maybe they are going to take one tax out of the package and substitute something else for it. I do not know that, but I want to find out what their finished product is before I find out over here how many Senators on the Republican side I have to vote for this program. This is unlike the classified income tax program, which we acted on a year ago. At that time, I said definitely that I did not feel there would be one Republican vote for the classified income tax. Now, I have not said that in connection with this program and that is as far as I want to go.

Mr. LANE. Senator Mahany, if you were participating in the negotiations, as a leader on the Republican side, you would be well informed as to what is going on. You could come back and advise your Caucus and very easily find out their sentiment. If they do not agree, you can go back and renegotiate. If they say it is a classified income tax, and you come back to your Caucus and the boys on your side say they cannot go for it, you could very easily go back to the negotiating committee and say, "I cannot get the votes for this type of tax," and then they would know where to go from there. That is the point I am trying to make.

I think that what we are doing is sort of putting the cart before the horse, because we are not sure of our ground. You stand over there right now and you are not sure of your ground. You are not sure of your ground, because you do not know what your men are going to vote for. After those fellows in the House negotiate for weeks in order to come up with a tax program, and a number of your men on that side will not go for it and maybe some on our side will not go for it as we do not know what it is, but if we all participate that is the only way we can wrap this thing up because you must be informed as to what is going on.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator, I would say that, if a majority of the Members of the House vote for a tax program and get it through the House, both Republicans and Democrats, there would be a lot more pressure on Senators over here to vote for the program than any pressure that I, personally, could put on right now. Not that I am figuring on putting on pressure because I cannot. There is nothing I can give a Senator to vote for a program in the way of a reward or there is nothing I can do to penalize him.

As I told you before, each one of these Senators over here is pretty much on their own. If there is going to be any argument that the Senators should vote for a tax program which is produced by the House and sent over here, that argument and urging will no doubt have to come from the Members of the House who are Members from that particular Senator's District. I think if we are going to get any kind of a program, that is the way it will have to be done. However, as I said a little while ago, if we ask the aid of the Lord in this connection, perhaps He will help us come to some solution.

Mr. LANE. Senator Mahany, I do not think that arguments are going to accomplish anything. We have argued here for months. As a matter of fact, we have argued here for over a year. Arguments are not going to accomplish anything because you people are going to have to agree on a tax program. There is no question of that.

We, on this side, have voted for tax programs which we did not like. However, we voted for them for taxes. I think we are ready and willing to vote again on a tax program. It is foolish, however, to have the House negotiate, week after week, on a tax program and have it come over here and then find out that we cannot get the votes. The way to expedite it—and I have not changed my mind; I am sorry I must disagree with you—is for you, your Caucus Chairman and Senator Taylor to sit down with our leaders and the House Member and work the problem out and say, "This is what we will go for and this is it." Then, of course, if your Members will go along, all right. If not, you are going to have to renegotiate. There is no use in having the House Members work day in and day out, send the bill over here, have it go into the Finance Committee, probably amended again and then perhaps the House will not even concur in the amendments.

If your House Members are going to go on the spot and vote for a tax program, I would say that surely the Members of the Senate should at least back them up and assure them they are going to do it. That is the only way you will get them to vote for it. If you tell them that you will back them on what they do, then those fellows will feel like going out and voting for a tax bill. However, you are going to have to be back of them.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, like every Member on this floor, I feel a very personal obligation in this matter. I feel an obligation to the people of the Commonwealth and an obligation to the institutions of this Commonwealth. I have refrained from getting into any public debate whatsoever on this matter since the House decided that it would go into bipartisan conferences. I am rather sorry that the subject was brought up at this moment. However, there is one very pertinent factor that was brought out in the discussions that may, at least, clear the air on one incident that happened last week.

Mr. President, all of us are too prone to try to grab any straw when we are drowning. Although we know that the straw cannot bear our weight, the simple effort toward self-preservation compels us to grasp it. So, last week, in the House, when someone conceived an idea that he could grasp a straw and find himself free from the obligation of voting for a tax bill and laying at the door of the Governor some kind of a charge which, in my mind, had no more durability behind it than a will-o'-the-wisp in a hurricane, we found that the Members on both sides were glad to grasp an opportunity to be exempt for that moment, that precious moment, from voting for tax legislation.

Senator Mahany pointed out one of the very serious consequences of this action in the House, and that is that those who now find themselves face to face with the realities of a sales tax have started to bombard the Membership of the House against it. Then we find that both pieces of legislation may be beyond the control, as it were, of a bipartisan committee to negotiate a compromise in the face of the individual opposition that is engendered by the pressures. However, Senator Lane put it very coldly and plainly upon the table when he said that in order to, at least, give some help to the conferees, if there were assurance in the House that we in the Senate would assume our responsibility, those of us on this side would have to vote for a sales tax in order to make up for the delinquency on the other side and those on the other side would have to give us a vote to make up for the delinquency on the vote on the income tax. He said that it is wrong for them to inject themselves into it. Yet, what was the result of last week's action? Not only was our Membership suckered into a position where it did not know what the Senate was going to do, but they allowed themselves to be placed into a position where they demanded to know what the Governor was going to do. Yet, legislatively, the biggest hurdle must be the hurdle of the Senate vote. Let us just see what the Governor did say. I want to plead participation in the conferences at that point.

The Governor said this, and I believe that the News Room has a release to this effect. It was said before the vote and and it was common knowledge. The Governor cloaked his position, in the first instance, in very much the same language as the gentleman who is the leader on the other side has cloaked his position. He said, "Due to the essential needs of this Commonwealth, I will sign the package before the House of Representatives if it is part of a tax program that will meet the essential needs of this Commonwealth." He could not have said it in any other language. To have said it in any other language would have pronounced the Governor derelict in his duties to the Commonwealth.

Let us look at the program. When we first proposed it, or when the Governor proposed that each Party assume a fifty-fifty percentage of the responsibility, it was deemed that we would need approximately $465,000,000. There was an argument to the contrary and it was suggested that $400,000,000 was the figure more near what this group on this side would support. So, in the early conferences it was decided that each side would then have to produce approximately $200,000,000 worth of taxation. When the Governor was approached on the question of predetermining his position on legislation that was not passed, he refused in the first instance on the same exact plane that the gentleman on the other side refused. He said, "This legislation may arrive in the Senate and be reduced to nothing but a title and a number." He said, "Look what you have done in the House. Even on the restricted budgetary terms about which you have talked, you have cut the sales tax from $208,000,000 in its first two per cent estimate to $150.000,000. The Democrats have come up with their half by accepting the responsibility for $210,000,000. The Republicans are short about $50,000,000 of their half in the first instance."

The Governor could not take any position except to say, "Yes, I will sign the bills, but only if they are coupled with sufficient revenue measures to meet the needs of this Commonwealth. You can establish the needs anywhere you want." However, no person in this Senate, or in the House of Representatives or any editorializing newspaper can possibly stand up and say that $36,000,000 would meet the needs of this Commonwealth this biennium. The Governor could take no other position.

As I said, when a drowning man finds the water swirling over his head and on his last trip down he sees a straw floating toward him, he grabs it in a vain hope that it will save his life. So, the House Members visualized a great opportunity to lay at the door of the Governor the blame for the failure of the conferences and the compromise. They grabbed at the straw that I term a will-ó-the-wisp. In the long run, whether it is over this week, next month or next year, before it is over, the House Members will still have to vote for taxes and so will we. I deplore that we have allowed another month to go by. I am afraid that the month of February is fast slipping into oblivion. We will find ourselves in a position where a three per cent sales tax and a theree per cent income tax will not do the job, if we do not soon go to work.

Mr. President, I can state here my position and I state it without equivocation. My position, Members of this Senate, is this. The needs of this Commonwealth far transcend any of my personal feelings in the matter. If I were to decide to run, I would perhaps have to face an enraged electorate, but I would still vote at the earliest opportunity for taxes aggregating somewhere near $465,-000,000, no matter what form these taxes take. I believe that the welfare of this Commonwealth is more deserving of my personal consideration than any false ambition, false pride or false modesty on my part. I believe that the needy who, through no fault of their own, find themselves on relief, that the incapacitated who are incarcerated in our mental institutions, that our local hospitals, with their growing problems, that our educational system, with its responsibility to the future and its needs in the present, that our institutions of higher learing, with their growing and vexing problems of meeting increasing costs and still trying to maintain a level of educational cost which will not bar other than the rich, that all of these problems go far and above what any individual Senator in this Senate Chamber may say about any particular tax program.

I say to the House Members this afternoon that to delay any longer may be fatal. I promise the Membership of the House that I will give them a vote on the entire package, no matter what it contains, if that is the only solution that the conferencees can arrive at. I believe that on this side of the aisle there are sufficient men of good will and political courage to stand alongside of me and give the necessary votes for a compromise program. I am hopeful that the Republican leadership in the House will not grasp again at a floating straw. I hope it will face up to its share of the responsibility and will not allow its thinking to be beclouded or confused by certain detractors of the truth.

Mr. President, every lobbyist on this Hill has a job to do. If he can exempt his particular interest from taxation, he will probably be complimented upon a job well done. However, we who are the unfortunate in this case, unfortunate representatives of the people, cannot look with favorable eyes upon any segment of our people and allow them to be exempt from the cost of government.

Although there is opposition on the part of labor, and rightfully so when you analyze the picture, that, too, must be place din that sphere of the greater good for the greater number. If we can stand up and face those who have been our militant friends through the years, then I call upon the Republican leadership at this time to stand up and say, too, that somewhere on that side there is a man of courage who will stand up and say, "I, for one, will vote for the measure that the House compromises on." Compromises are not always acceptable to everybody. In many instances, compromises are not to the liking of anybody. Many times in labor disputes when an organization representing the workers asks for certain demands and the employers take a position against these demands, after long and terrible heartaches—and strikes are heartaches—lockouts, strikes and sometimes a great deal of suffering, they come to a compromise and the leaders of both the unions and the industries have to go back and settle on the basis of a compromise, not on the basis of what they started out to get or on the basis of being acceptable to what they are receiving.

This is a late day in this year of our Lord 1956, and so far as joining with Senator Mahany in asking the guidance of One far superior to us in His knowledge of the ways of men, I would say that the best way we can get that guidance is for each and every one of us to search our own conscience and then, in speaking to Him above, speak in a clear and honest voice and say to Him, "Here I am at fault. I will not make a decision which I am asking You to Make." If the Lord, Himself, came down here in the last thirteen months, He would have had a hard time getting through the Republican Caucus. If you act on the basis of Caucus action, there will never be any legislation passed. It has now come to the point where it is an individual responsibility, far beyond the desires of Party, far beyond the desires of leadership. It is an individual responsibility of the Members of the House and Senate to see to it that this State of ours does not become the object of ridicule in the various States of the Nation.

I think one of the most preposterous things that I have read about in all the years I have served in public life took place in New Jersey last week. The New Jersey Legislature had the plain, unmitigated gall—the Republican-controlled Legislature of New Jersey passed a resolution condemning the sales tax in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania because the people of New Jersey who came to the fair State of Pennsylvania would have to pay it. We are becoming, if you please, Mr. President, the laughing stock of other States. You cannot blame it upon Party any more. It has long gone beyond that day. This is a personal responsibility. I accept my responsibility. How will the rest of you act?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I again want to remind my colleague, Senator Dent, that there is no Caucus action as far as the Republican Party is concerned. I have said that time and time again. On no bill that I know of have we taken any Caucus action which would bind all the Members of our Caucus. I assure Senator Dent that as far as I am concerned, there will be no Caucus action on any tax bill that comes out here.

Mr. President, I also want to remind the Senator that if there is Caucus action, the evidence would make it look as though the Democrats are guilty of that on many occasions. There were several individual Senators, for instance, who told me before we voted on the sales tax, which we had here a week or so ago, when we fixed up the manufacturers' excise tax to make a sales tax out of it and made it at three per cent, that they thought they would like to vote for that bill. However, when it came before us and we had a roll call on it, there was not one Democratic Senator who voted for it. I do not know whether they had Caucus action and bound all the Members of their Caucus on that, but it would appear quite likely that is what happened.

There have been numerous other occasions, Mr. President. For instance, Senator Dent and I at one time co-sponsored a Chesterman Committee Report recommendation about two years ago. It was not a Chesterman Committee recommendation; I will take that back. It was in connection with those bills which he and I sponsored to economize in State government, and one of the things we thought should be done was to abolish the Tax Equalization Board and put those duties over into some other office. I believe, from the floor, that he got up and said although he was a sponsor of that bill ,yet he was forced to vote against it because of Caucus action. Therefore, I wish he would finally get it through his otherwise very intelligent brain that we do not have Caucus action over here and if he has it over there, he knows that better than I do.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, I had intended just sitting back and listening today until the talk started on this tax matter. I do not think there is a single Senator on either side of this Hall who has not, within the last two or three weeks, known the wrath of his constituents back home in so far as the tax program is concerned.

Just two weeks ago, I commenced to get letters from youngsters in the seventh and eighth grade of a joint school district in the most Democratic section of my Democraitc Senatorial District. These letters came in and I want to tell you that they were not stereotyped letters. They were letters written in the handwriting of these youngsters and each and every one expressed a thought along the tax line; the question of whether or not they were going to be deprived of a high school education because of the fact that we, here in Harrisburg, were shirking an unpleasant duty in supplying sufficient funds for the maintenance of the schools.

Mr. President, when I got back home the week before last, I decided that I was going to contact that school district and just find out what was going on. As a result, I arranged to meet at that school. A session was held on Friday, a week ago, at ten-thirty in the morning, at which all the members of the seventh and eighth grades were called into that auditorium, along with the teachers of the school and representative parents from various P.T.A.'s. It was my pleasure to talk to that group for one hour. I want to tell those who have participated in assemblies of youngsters that, as you know, there is always a lot of commotion or something like that, but on a subject as dry as taxes there was not a single youngster in that auditorium that morning who as much as did anything to distract the attention of the other youngsters or the speaker.

After I finished my talk, I told the youngsters that I wanted to have questions from them and that I wanted them to shoot them straight from the shoulder and I would try to answer them. We got questions and those questions, let me tell you, gentlemen, were a compliment to the youngsters of today. They were all interested in how their school was going to be financed and what was going to happen to the future of education of Pennsylvania. Mr. President, I want to say here that I assured that assembly that no matter what tax program might be sent to the Senate, in order to provide funds I was going to vote for it.

Mr. President, I say we can clear up a lot of this confusion with the House by this Senate taking action itself. The action that I propose to suggest to the Members of both houses is to revive the tax bill that we turned down here two weeks ago, which was originally intended as an excise tax and then came back out of committee as a sales tax. We should revive that bill at three per cent and remove the exemptions which were written into this bill. It is too serious at this time to think of individual industries and invidiual businesses.

Let us bring that bill out, Mr. Majority Leader, and I as a Member of this side, will vote to waive the rules of this house so that we can reconsider that bill. Let us put that bill back on this Calendar and let us insert the exemptions. Yes, I may be sympathetic toward a certain type of industry, but I am more sympathetic toward the schools of Pennsylvania. Let us pass that bill and send that bill back to the House. The House will then know where the Senate stands, and then let us have the House take the action that will be appropirate. I assure you of my vote on that bill.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. YOSKO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, an announcement was made last week by the American Psychiatric Association that following a survey of the Allentown State Hospital, refusal to place that hospital on the accredited list followed. This announcement by the American Psychiatric Association disturbed some of the medical-surgical hospitals in the area and, in particular, those which had nursing schools. It disturbed them, Mr. President, because each of the hospitals in the area send a certain number of nursing students to the Allentown State Hospital for partial training so that they can meet the requirements of the law for the granting of a registered nurse certificate.

Mr. President, I wrote to St. Luke's Hospital, for example, and asked them what affect that announcement would have on St. Luke's hospital. In answer, the manager, R. L. Suck, wrote me and I want to read a paragraph from his letter in so far as the nursing school is concerned. He said and I quote:

"To answer your specific question as to the effect on St. Luke's hospital of this disapproval, I would like to quote Bulletin 634, page 19, of the Handbook for Schools of Nursing in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, issued by the Pennsylvania State Board of Nurse Examiners in 1952:

"'As of January 1st, 1953, an experience in psychiatric nursing will be required for all students admitted to schools of nursing.'

"An alternative psychiatric affiliation cannot easily be arranged and we are most concerned as to the effect on the future of our nurses' training program of this disapproval of the Allentown State Hospital."

This means, Mr. President, that unless the Allentown State Hospital is placed on the accredited list, the hospitals that are now affiliated with the Allentown State Hospital in the nurses' training program will find it necessary to either look to other mental institutions to send their nurses or, if they send them to the Allentown State Hospital, these nurses will not be given credit for the training they get in a hospital which is not accredited. Therefore, they will not be given credit for the subject and they will not be able to qualify as an R.N.

I, therefore, Mr. President, believe that this is a serious situation because it involves the training of these nurses, as well as a supply of nurses to care for the patients at the hospital. I further believe that this resolution which I am about to present should be adopted immediately so that we can find out exactly what the deficiencies are at the Allentown State Hospital, with the hope of having them corrected so that the hospital could be placed on the accredited list.

Accordingly, Mr. President, I present the following resolution, on behalf of my colleagues, Senator Mcmenamin, Senator Scott, Senator Van Sant, and myself.

SENATE RESOLUTION

SENATE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE AND STUDY THE REASONS FOR THE DISAPPROVAL OF THE ALLENTOWN STATE HOSPITAL BY THE AMERICAN PSYCHIATRIC ASSOCIATION

Messrs. YOSKO, McMENAMIN, SCOTT and VAN SANT offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 13, 1956.

Following a survey, the American Psychiatric Association has refused to place Allentown State Hospital on its accredited list.

The disapproval reflects discredit not only on the hospital but on the Commonwealth and its people. The nursing program was hurt in that nursing students require training at accredited nursing schools.

Institutions hurt by the disapproval are St. Lukes, New Kensington, Allentown General and Citizens Hospitals; therefore be it

Resolved, That the President pro tempore of the Senate is hereby directed to appoint a committee of three members of the Senate to investigate and study the reasons for the disapproval of the Allentown State Hospital by the American Psychiatric Association; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of their findings and recommendations to the General Assembly as soon as possible.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, for the last few months two bills have been lingering on the Second Reading Postponed Calendar, Senate Bill No. 672 and Senate Bill No. 673. These bills deal with the subject of historical zoning.

Since the time of the introduction of these two bills, Mr. President, two more colonial mansions were razed in Philadelphia. Unless something is done and done soon, many gems of Pennsylvania's priceless historical heritage will be destroyed by the sledge hammers and crowbars of unscrupulous speculators and manipulators.

Mr. President, I have prepared a list of all of the colonial mansions and Federal mansions which have been destroyed within the last 150 years in Germantown. The list is very formidable and that is the reason why I call this resolution a Philadelphia jeremiad, because we have to lament over that pillage and rape of historic Philadelphia. The reason why I am urging the Membership of the Senate to pass these two bills and send them over to the House is because it is of utmost urgency. Unless something is done, everything that we have will be wiped out.

Mr. President, this resolution is a lengthy resolution and I do not expect it to be read, but it merely expresses the sentiments of the Senate, that historical zoning is of utmost importance and that Senate Bill No. 672 and Senate Bill No. 673 be rushed to final passage.

SENATE RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE URGING ACTION ON SENATE BILL No. 672 AND SENATE BILL No. 673

Messrs. STIEFEL and CHAPMAN offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 13, 1956.

As the theme-center of this Resolution deals with the wanton destruction and demolition of Pennsylvania's priceless gems of Colonial and Federal architecture during the last 150 years, which is deplored and mourned by all Pennsylvanians who, without exception are proud of their unparallelled historical heritage, the title hereof shall be A Pennsylvania Jeremiad since only the passage from Jeremiah's Lamentations can describe the pillage of historical Philadelphia by irresponsible people ". . . She that was great among the Nations and princess among the provinces, how is she became tributary."

Guard House at Valley Forge—Destroyed in 1927

The aforegoing list is necessarily incomplete, as exhaustive research would require unavailable facilities. The list is divided into three groups: those demolished before the middle of the nineteenth century, those demolished after the middle of the nineteenth century and those demolished since about 1900. The period of their construction is noted in accord with the recommendations of the National Trust for Historic Preservation; Colonial refers to the period terminating in 1783; Federal to the period from 1783 to 1812.

An important publications entitled "Historic Germantown" was followed in Philadelphia by studies, anticipating the preservation of the remaining important buildings. It is a large conception, warranted by the unusual historic importance of Germantown. To use the words of a prophet it is a "firebrand plucked from the fire" and transcends Williamsburg in importance for two reasons alone. One is the primary importance of the historical events that took place in Germantown as the battle that raged there is now considered to be the turning point in the fortunes of the Continental Army; the other is the fact that the remaining buildings are generally entact—they are the original structures which makes them invaluable from the historian's and archeologist's point of view. On the contrary many of the buildings in Williamsburg are complete reconstructions and while well done, they have a lesser value.

Not only in Philadelphia but elsewhere in Pennsylvania there are numerous historical buildings and sites (witness the exhaustive "Catalog" prepared by the Joint State Government Commission of Pennsylvania and approved by the General Assembly in 1949) that are in imminent danger of the crowbars and sledges—banners of unscrupulous speculators and manipulators seeking sites for new buildings and modern apartment mastodons.

Only Historical Zoning measures can rally public opinion and thus by impeding the machinations of those who disregard the priceless historical heritage of Pennsylvania safeguard our historical structures and sites.

Be It Therefore Resolved, That it is the sense of the Senate of the General Assembly that historical zoning is now the crying need of the hour in Pennsylvania and that Senate Bills 672 and 673 now lingering on the Second Reading Postponed Calendar be speeded forthwith to final passage.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED WITHDRAWN

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I wish to withdraw my request that Rule 39 be suspended, and ask that the resolution be sent to an appropriate committee.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. McMENAMIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, last week I spoke on the problem of the Farview Hospital for the Criminally Insane, where twenty-seven inmates have escaped in the past seven months. Today I intend to introduce a resolution, asking for a Senatorial investigation of the situation there.

Mr. President, it is getting so that a good deal of our time here in the Senate is taken up investigating various institutions under the jurisdiction of the Department of Welfare. However, I think this one is entirely justified and in support thereof, I would read just two editorials as a sample of what the newspapers in the Scranton area think about this situation.

The first of these editorials comes from the Scranton Tribune of Wednesday, February the 1st, and reads as follows:

"In this space yesterday The Tribune took occasion to comment for a second time in recent months on the frequency of the escape of insane criminals from the Farview State Hospital.

"We pointed out that since last June some twenty-seven criminals walked out of this institution to jeopardize the safety and even the lives of the people of our area. Several of these were cold-blooded murders. Two of these murderers are still at large.

"In our comments we quoted what we had previously said about the security conditions at this institution as far back as last October 8, 1955, shortly after six inmates made their way to freedom.

" 'We don't profess to know,' we said at that time, 'the reason or reasons why escapes from Farview are so numerous, but obviously something is radically wrong. It may be ineffective security measures; it may be inefficient personnel; it may be insufficient guards or a combination of these factors. We do know that the people of our area want it corrected and not nonchalantly accepted as a matter of course.'

"Within a few hours after the publication of our comments the Board of Trustees of the institution went into special session to discuss the latest jailbreak at Farview—the escape of three prisoners, one of whom murdered his mother.

"Following that meeting a statement was issued to the press by the board in which it was promised that 'The board has every confidence that the Department of Welfare will pursue a policy that will lessen the number of escapes in the future.'

"The board confirmed at least one conjecture expressed in our editorial of last October by saying that 'there is inadequate personnel at both the professional and security levels.'

"Well, if there is insufficient personnel it just didn't happen overnight. And if the board 'has every confidence' that it will be corrected the board is more optimistic than the people of our area who have seen a parade of escapees over the past several months.

"What we'd like to know, and 'we' are the residents of this community who are first and immediately endangered by these escapes, is what the Department of Welfare intends to do about it, not what the board hopes will be done.

"We think it's time that Secretary of Welfare Harry Shapiro would tell us. Last Fall, when we had occasion to contact Mr. Shapiro and his Department of Welfare, we were told that he saw nothing unusual about the situation.

"Does Mr. Shapiro still think there's nothing unusual about triple murders roaming our country side—for one still at large is a triple murderer and is on the list of the 'most wanted' by the FBI?

"Or is it necessary, as we stated yesterday, that 'there be a general jail delivery at Farview before something is done about security measures there?"

Mr. President, the second editorial is from the Scranton Times, the afternoon paper, of February the 8th, 1956. It is entitled "Shapiro's Shifting Stand," and reads:

"Secretary of Welfare Harry Shapiro has had to do some nimble shifting of position to save face in the recently renewed demand for an investigation of conditions existing at the Farview State Hospital for the Criminal Insane.

"Last October, after twenty-four criminal inmates had escaped from the institution in four months, Secretary Shapiro could find 'nothing unusual' or 'nothing alarmnig' in the situation, even though residents in this area found their safety jeopardized every time a dangerous criminal was permitted to flee and roam their neighborhoods.

"Last week, when three more Farview inmates made their getaway, Secretary Shapiro claimed that inadequate personnel on the security guard staff was the major factor in the wholesale escapes. And he blamed the stalemate in the Legislature over the tax program for the situation, contending that his department was left without fund to hire more people or offer the guards more attractive pay.

"This week, after Senator Hugh J. McMenamin introduced a bill which would take Farview out of the Welfare Department's control and transfer it to the Justice Department and then announced that he would ask for a Senate investigation of the Farview situation, Secretary Shapiro suddenly finds that he can afford to hire thirty more guards and increase the pay of the 304 attendants now on duty.

"Why this couldn't have been done last year when this series of escapes began just as easily as it can be done now will be difficult for most people to understand. And there are a great many people who still believe that there is need for a tightening up of Secretary Shapiro's policy which prohibits any physical restraint on the Farview inmates, despite the fact that they are criminals, many officially listed as 'dangerous and homicidal.' "

Mr. President, I think the people in the area of Wayne and Lackawanna Counties, surrounding this institution, would be more satisfied with an impartial investigation by both Republican and Democratic Senators than they would with the spectacle of the Secretary of Welfare investigating himself.

Therefore, I am introducing the following resolution.

SENATE RESOLUTION

SENATE COMMITTEE TO MAKE INVESTIGATION WITH REFERENCE TO SECURITY MEASURES AT THE STATE HOSPITAL FOR THE CRIMINAL INSANE AT FARVIEW

Mr. McMENAMIN offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 13, 1956.

The Farview State Hospital for the Criminal Insane at Farview is an institution which houses hundreds of patients, guilty of vicious and serious crimes, who but for their mental conditions, would be incarcerated in state penitentiaries.

Many of these patients are emotionally unstable and extremely dangerous. Citizens of the Commonwealth who live in the vicinity of the institution are understandably fearful for their lives and property should any of these persons escape.

The Farview State Hospital must be concerned not only with psychiatric treatment and rehabilitation of patients where it is feasible, but also with security, so that its patients do not harm each other or escape to harm citizens of the Commonwealth.

Since July 1955, several separate outbreaks, a total of twenty-seven persons, have escaped from the Institution. Many of these escapees had committed capital offsenses and other serious crimies and one was a triple murderer. This large number of escapes in so short a period of time would seem to indicate that lax or improper security methods are in force at the Institution. Such laxity is inexcusable and places in jeopardy the safety and lives of all the citizens of the Commonwealth particularly those who live in the City of Carbondale and the municipalities in the immediate area of the Institution.

The Department of Welfare has been aware of this outbreak of escapees and until recently has made no public expression of its awareness of the seriousness of the situation nor has taken any remedial steps. Within the past month, the Department has conducted some investigation and recommended an additional thirty guards.

There is reason to feel that the Department's steps are not adequate nor sufficiently aggressive to cope with the situation. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That the President pro tempore of the Senate appoint six members of the Senate, three of whom shall be Republicans and three Democrats, who together shall constitute a Commission and be authorized and directed to make an immediate investigation of the situation with reference to security measures at the State Hospital for the Criminal Insane at Farview and such other matters as shall appear to be relevant and material thereto and to hear all suggestions for an enlightened and progressive program for the proper operation of this institution.

The committee shall have the power to issue subpoenas under its hand and seal requiring and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. The committee shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before them. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before the committee or to produce books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases; and be it further,

Resolved, That the committee make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations for appropriate legislation at the earliest possible date before the adjournment of this session of the General Assembly.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolution be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

RESOLUTION ADOPTED

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I move that the resolution just read by the Clerk be adopted.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, we have had two similar resolutions which eventuated in investigations. I opposed both of them because it was my position, at the time, that we were spending a considerable amount of the Commonwealth's money and dissipating a considerable amount of the Senators and, in those cases, House Members' energies. It was my feeling that we were not going to get results to justify that expenditure.

Mr. President, I believe experience has proved that my position at that time was correct. I certainly see no reason to change my position now and, therefore, I wish to be recorded as voting "no" on this resolution.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, the reason I moved the adoption of this resolution was because, first, Senator McMenamin is an old and distinguished Member of this Senate. Senator McMenamin would not maliciously submit to this Senate a resolution unless there were some foundation of fact. Therefore, I have confidence in his integrity and I am going to support the resolution.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative.)

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

LAID ON TABLE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. WHALLEY offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 13, 1956.

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene Monday, February 20, 1956, at a time to be fixed by the Senate, and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene Monday, February 20, 1956, at a time to be fixed by the House of Representatives.

REQUEST FOR IMMEDIATE CONSIDERATION OF RESOLUTION

Mr. WHALLEY. Mr. President, I request the immediate consideration of the resolution just read by the Clerk.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not want to object to immediate consideration. I think if Senator Whalley will withdraw his request for immediate consideration, I would like to ask that this adjournment resolution rest on the table until tomorrow.

The House is not in session at the present time, but they will reconvene tomorrow and perhaps we would like to have a conference with them as to when they want to come back next week and that might affect our thinking as to when we want to return.

REQUEST WITHDRAWN FOR IMMEDIATE CONSIDERATION OF RESOLUTION

Mr. WHALLEY. Mr. President, I withdraw my request for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

The PRESIDENT. At the request of the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany, the resolution will lie upon the table.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 1795, Printer's No. 1086, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1947, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to the State Treasurer for the purpose of paying salaries and wages of State officers and employes and other ordinary and general expenses in the interim between the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred fifty-five and such time as the funds provided by the General Appropriation Act and other appropriation acts become available and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred fifty-five

Whereas Under the Constitution and the laws of this Commonwealth the State Treasurer may not pay out any moneys unless they be specifically appropriated by Act of the General Assembly therefore

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 That the sum of fifty million ($50,000,000) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the State Treasurer of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the purpose of paying the salaries and wages of the officers and employes and other ordinary and general expenses of the State government in the interim between the third-first day of May one thousand nine hundred fifty-five and such time as moneys appropriated by the General Appropriation Act and other appropriation acts of one thousand nine hundred fifty-five may become available for such purposes and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred fifty-five

Section 2 Payments out of the appropriation of this act shall be made by the State Treasurer upon requisitions by the several departments boards commissions or officers in the same manner as payments are ordinarily made

Section 3 All amounts paid by the State Treasurer in accordance with this act shall be charged against the appropriations made for the salaries and wages of the officers and employes and other ordinary and general expenses of the State government in the General Appropriation Act and other appropriation acts of one thousand nine hundred fifty-five

Section 4 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILL ON SECOND READING, AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 407, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 10, 1951 (P. L. 1182) entitled "Chiropratic Registration Act of 1951" extending the period for application for limited examination clarifying certain provisions thereof establishing further standards of educational conference and requiring board approval thereof providing for branch office certificates and prohibiting branch office practice without such certificate

The first section was read and agreed to

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. SCHMIDT offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 2, page 4, line 12, by striking out "sections 11 15 and 20" and inserting: "section 11"; Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 15), page 6, lines 1 to 19, and page 7, lines 1 to 7, both inclusive, by striking out all of said lines, and inserting: "Section 3. Section 14 of the act, amended June 19, 1953 (P. L. 295), is amended to read: "Section 14. Term of License and Registration.—All licenses and all registrations granted under this act shall expire on the first day of September following their issuance. Registration may be effected at any time during the month of August following by the filing of such application with the board, together with such registration fee as may be fixed by the department. [and satisfactory evidence that the applicant has attended, during the preceding license year, and educational conference as hereinafter provided: Provided, That the] The board may, at its discretion, register any licensee who has failed to make application for registration before the first day of September; "Section 4, Section 15 of the act is repealed; "Section 5. Section 20 of the act is amended to read:"

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, these amendments, if adopted, would remove from the bill the necessity of the members of this profession taking certain courses each year so that they would be eligible for retaining their certificate. If this bill passes as it is, this will be the first profession in Pennsylvania that requires the members of that profession to pass each year, or take each year, additional studies or courses in that profession in order that they might remain in good standing in the profession.

I am one who does believe in maintaining standards in a profession. I believe that a profession should require higher standards from new persons coming into the profession, in law or in medicine or wathever it may be. The professional standards should be raised and the examinations taken by those coming into the profession should maintain higher standards. As for those who are already in the profession, to require them to continue on studying and just pick out one profession, I think is asking something that is unjust.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask that these amendments which I have offered be adopted.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I would call to the attention of the Senate, and of the Members on both sides, that I do not believe this changes the existing law, but it is a further detraction from the existing law. Do I understand it correctly? Is that right?

Mr. SCMIDT. These amendments, if adopted, would not only remove from the bill that which is now placed in the bill under this bill, but also that which was previously in the bill. The act, as originally passed, did require a certain amount of educational studies to be taken by the members of the profession.

I might say to those of you here that I fought, along with other Members of the House, for the enactment of the licensure bill. At the time, I am very frank in saying that I did not realize the bill which we passed did require these studies to be taken. I have since found out that it is incorporated in the act as it now stands. However, also, there is added thereto this requirement of additioinal studies to be taken at these conventions of the chiropractors which are to be held annually. Failure to attend these conventions, or some other conference where they would get these educational studies, would give the board the right to refuse a chiropractor who has been licensed a renewal certificate each year. As I said before, if this is enacted, it will be the first profession in Pennsylvania that will require members of the profession, those who are licensed, to take additional studies each year in order to continue in their profession.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, it is my understanding that this provision has been in the law for five years, is that correct? Now, if I understand Senator Schmidt's amendments correctly, he wishes to remove that requirement.

Mr. SCMIDT. That is correct. Not only would I remove that provision which is already in the act, but the additional part thereto, added in this bill, House Bill No. 407 As I previously stated, at the time the original licensure act was passed, that provision was in. I, at that time, did not realize it was in the bill.

At this time, my amendments would take that out of the bill. In other words, I say it is unjust to say it to chiropractors only in Pennsylvania. It is not said to doctors, lawyers, certified public accountants, that in order that they may have their licenses renewed each year, they must attend, as is provided in this bill, a convention at which certain studies or certain courses are given. I would say to the members of the professions that they should advance themselves and voluntarily take these courses. However, I do not believe in forcing them to do it.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, we certainly do not have any type of Caucus action on this, contrary to what some of these gentlemen might think we have on every bill. However, I would call to the attention of the Members of the Senate that the amendments just offered by the Senator from Allegheny go far beyond the intent of the original sponsor when it came from the House. I want to draw that to the attention of every Member of the Senate, when you vote on these amendments.

I would suggest to Senator Schmidt that if he has in mind this type of legislation, he might put in a separate bill for it to cover that particular portion. However, he certainly is changing the whole intent of House Bill No. 407 by inserting that into it. Senator Schmidt at least is going far beyond the scope that was originally intended in House Bill No. 407.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, the amendment that was offered by the proponents of this bill is, in a way, a clarifying amendment in that it sets forth what type of educational study and where it shall be taken, as was provided in the original bill. My intent is not only to remove that, but to remove the entire requirement. As I said, it was in the original bill and I feel that it should come out. I feel that we should not say to only the chiropractors, "You must do this," when we do not say it to anyone else.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. FLEMING. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. SCHMIDT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. FLEMING and Mr. SCHMIDT and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—5

Lane,	Seyler,	Silvert,	Stiefel,
Schmidt,

NAYS—25

Berger,	Harney,	McMenamin,	Taylor,
Blass,	Madigan,	Peelor,	Van Sant,

Diehm,	Mallery,	Ruth,	Wagner,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Scott,	Whalley,
Fleming.	McGinnis,	Stevenson,	Wolfe,
			Yosko,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

Mr. SCHMIDT offered the following amendments:

Amend Title, page 2, lines 2 and 3 of Title, by striking out "establishing further standards of" and inserting: "abolishing"; Amend Title, page 2, lines 3 and 4 of Title, by striking out "and requiring board approval thereof".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 651, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled "Public School Code of 1949" changing the value of scholarships

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RE-REFERRED

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 655, on second reading, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 24, 1951 (P. L. 1304) entitled "Local Health Administration Law" extending the provisions thereof to counties of the first class and to municipalities located in counties of the first class be re-referred to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, for the purpose of further study.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I do not know whether I am in order to interrogate Senantor Fleming as to the reasons why this bill should be re-referred to committee.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Flenming, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. I shall, Mr. President.

Mr. STIEFEL. Senator Fleming, am I correct in assuming that this is Caucus action and that the Republican Caucus recommended that this bill be re-referred to committee?

Mr. FLEMING. My purpose in making the motion was so that the Committee on Public Health and Welfare would have an opportunity to further study the bill and see whether or not there might be some amendments which might be necessary.

Mr. STIEFEL. Is it not a matter of fact that further study is sometimes a euphemism for killing a bill?

Mr. FLEMING. I would have to agree that there are times when that happens. However, it does not follow that it will happen on this one. This bill will definitely be further studied.

Mr. STIEFEL. I appreciate that because House Bill No. 655 is one of the keystones in the Philadelphia program. It is of vital importance to the citizens of Philadelphia. With your assurances that there will be further study—of course, once it is re-referred, I do not know what might happen to it. They may study it further and they may not.

I feel that Philadelphia has been discrimated against in the Act of 1951 when it was excluded from the purview of the Local Health Administration Law. Why one quarter of the State should be discriminated against, I fail to see.

For this reason, Mr. President, I am constrained to object to the motion to re-refer.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I think this is good legislation and I do not think there is any necessity for re-referring it. It is on the Second Reading Calendar and if they wish, they can carry it over in order and let the committee go ahead and prepare the amendments and offer them here. If they are satisfactory, they will be adopted. If not, of course, they will be rejected. I feel a re-referral is not appropriate at this particular time for this legislation. Therefore, I ask the Members on both sides to oppose this motion to re-refer.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I do not have a copy of the bill on my desk; I looked for it. However, as I understand it, House Bill No. 655 places Philadelphia in the same position as other counties with regard to getting help for local health administration.

I also state that if you want further study, why not have the bill go over Why re-refer it? We have no faith in re-referrals. Therefore, Senator Fleming, if you really want further study, let us have the bill go over.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, in my opinion, the local officials should have something to say about this bill. I recall when we conducted the hearings on the budget, Mayor Clark and other officials from Philadelphia came before that committee and testified that they were in favor of establishing a health unit in the city of Philadelphia. As a matter of fact, steps were taken at that time to qualify, under the law, just as Allegheny County did. I understand that Allegheny County, because it did qualify, is entitled to considerable funds from the Department of Health to join in financing its health unit.

Therefore, Mr. President, unless there is opposition here from Philadelphia officials or from the representatives who represent the people of Philadelphia, I do not think the bill should go back to committee. I think it should be passed in order to give the city of Philadelphia the same privileges that every other county in the State is given.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. LANE. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. STIEFEL. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

(During the calling of the roll, the followinfi occurred:)

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, not having heard my name called, I wish to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Lancaster will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. LANE and Mr. STIEFEL, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—20

Berger,	Kessler,	Peelor,	Wade,
Blass,	Madigan,	Propert,	Wagner,
Diehm,	Mahany,	Scott,	Watkins,
Fleming,	Mallery,	Taylor,	Whalley,
Harney,	McMenamin,	Van Sant,	Wolfe,

NAYS—12

Chapman,	McCreesh,	Schmidt,	Stevenson,
DiSilvestro,	McGinnis,	Seyler,	Stiefel,
Lane,	Ruth,	Silvert,	Yosko,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with.

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 826, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission to edit illustrate and publish its new report on the Frontier Forts of Pennsylvania providing for the distribution and sale thereof and making an appropriation

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 929, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90) entitled "Liquor Code" providing for the exercise of discretion in the forfeiture and condemnation of property illegally possessed or used.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 931, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Forests and Waters for use of the Valley Forge Park Commisison for the restoration of the Provost Guard House.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RE-REFERRED

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 931, the bill just read, be re-referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I renew my inquiry as to whether this is for purposes of pickling the bill or for purposes of further study.

Mr. FLEMING. I might say, Mr. President, it is just to see if it is enough money or not. We may want to give them more money.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 961, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 3, 1937 (P. L. 1225) entitled "The Game Law" authorizing the raising and disposition of nongame pheasants and eggs without propagating permits.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 1221, Printer's No. 931, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 1224, on second reading, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 3, 1947 (P. L. 55) entitled "An act authorizing cities boroughs towns and townships to regulate parking lots within their boundaries and to collect license or permit fees and require bonds from the operators thereof" authorizing certain political subdivisions to regulate motor vehicles parking garages.

be recommitted to the Committee on Local Government, for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, for the information of the Senate, the city administration of the city of Pittsburgh has requested this type of law to give them an opportunity to properly police not only the parking lots which we now have the right to police, but also the parking garages. This is necessary, and I am asking all the Members of the Senate to vote "no" on this motion to recommit.

And the question recurring,

will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SCHMIDT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. SILVERT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCHMIDT and Mr. SILVERT and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—21

Berger,	Harney,	Peelor,	Van Sant,
Blass,	Kessler,	Propert,	Wade,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1340, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled "Public School Code of 1949" further providing for payments to school districts on account of pupil transportation.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, the Members of the Committee on Labor and Industry, and representatives of industry and also of labor, are going to meet tomorrow morning at ten o'clock with regard to these two pieces of legislation. In all probability, there will be lots of amendments offered tomorrow or the next day.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following bills, on second reading, go over in their order:

House Bill No. 1397, Printer's No. 1345; and

House Bill No. 1398, Printer's No. 1346.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1857, entitled:

And said bill having been read at length the second time, and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce bills at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. McMENAMIN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 978, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 3, 1929 (P. L. 127), entitled "An act fixing the fees of the recorder of deeds in counties of the third and fourth class," changing fees.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 979, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 8, 1868 (P. L. 73), entitled "An act to authorize the recorder of deeds in the several counties of this Commonwealth to record the discharges of all honorably discharged officers and soldiers," increasing fees payable to recorders of deeds for recording final discharges, certificates of service and reports of separation of honorably discharged service personnel and providing for the payment of fees for issuing certified copies thereof.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, a few moments ago the Majority here voted to recommit House Bill No. 1224, which authorizes political subdivisions to regulate parking garages and so forth. I would say that I believe we have made a grave mistake, because if the Membership on either side of the Senate would read this writeup which was in the Philadelphia Inquirer,—I believe it was in this morning's paper—they will appreciate the fact that in the metropolitan areas especially, parking lots and storage places for automobiles should be regulated by the political subdivisions and there should be bonds placed upon them. There seems to be a lot of thievery, overcharging and so forth. It seems to me that this is constructive legislation. It may not be perfect, but I do say that it is a step in the right direction, especially in the metropolitan areas.

Mr. President, I know for a fact that in Pittsburgh you do have some operators there who are unscrupulous. I do not say all of them are, but I believe they should be regulated. I would like for you to study this bill and maybe in a day or two we can reconsider our vote and do something about this; maybe not in this form but let us get some amendments in it because I believe this is good legislation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MALLERY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, on page 9 of our Calendar, Senate Bill No. 929, Printer's No. 500, went over in its order. I think some more serious consideration should be given to this bill. When I read it, I recalled having read in the New York Times, I do not know whether it was even this last Sunday or the Sunday before, that billions of dollars are being lost in revenue to the Federal government and to many State governments through bootlegging.

The State of New York has acted in the matter in view of the fact that they have discovered that millions of dollars have been lost to the State of New York through bootlegging. If I recall that I read the article correctly, they have given the police of the State of New York similar authority to that exercised by the Federal enforcement officers in apprehending stills and bootleggers.

I do not know fully the intent of this bill. I spoke to one of the sponsors, the other sponsor is not here today, but I think in view of the great need for money, we in Pennsylvania should consider the problem of taking greater steps in enforcing the liquor laws, particularly to catch up with those who are unfair to the licensed dealers and have no consideration for the Federal Government or our Commonwealth.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would like to state, in answer to the statement of the Senator from Blair, that the bill was not passed over, but that it passed Second Reading and will be on Third Reading tomorrow.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, February 14, 1956, at 1:30 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 5:50 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Tuesday, February 14, 1956, at 1:30 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

SENATE

TUESDAY, February 14, 1956.

The Senate met at 1:30 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain, the following prayer was offered by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. RUTH:

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for another opportunity to serve our fellowmen. We pray that Thou wilt give us the wisdom and the understanding to do it in the spirit of this day when we express our love for our fellowman through flowers(candy, cards and letters.

May we have the spirit of love toward our fellowmen that Sam Walter Foss had when he said:

"Let me live in a house by the side of the road,
Where the race of men go by;
The men who are good and the men who are bad,
As good and as bad as I.
I would not sit in the scorner's seat, nor hurl the cynic's ban;
Let me live in a house by the side of the road,
And be a friend to man."

We ask it in Thy Holy Name, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. BERGER and Mr. DIEHM, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

STUDENTS FROM ST. ALOYSIUS, ST. GABRIELE, ST. EDMOND AND AUDERIED JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOLS, PHILADELPHIA, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I wish to present, with pleasure, fifty students from Philadelphia, under the leadership of Mother Cyrena, Sister Leonis and Miss Shirley Solop. They are from Saint Aloysius, Saint Gabriele, Saint Edmond and Auderied Junior High Schools. They are the guests of a Member of the House of Representatives, the Honorable Mary A. Varallo. Will they please rise?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair, on behalf of the other Members of the Senate, wishes to extend a welcome to this distinguished group of citizens from the city of Philadelphia. We hope you will enjoy your visit with us.

GENERAL COMMUNICATION

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate the following communication, which was read by the Clerk:

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

Washington

February 13, 1956.

Mr. G. Harold Watkins, Secretary
Senate of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Watkins:

This will acknowledge your letter of February 7, 1956, attaching a Resolution introduced at a session of the Pennsylvania Senate, urging air transportation service between Pennsylvania cities and Detroit in Docket No. 6927.

This Resolution will be incorporated in the formal docket in that case as a presentation of your views. The matter is now before one of the Board's examiners who is engaged in the preparation of his initial decision, and you can be sure that most careful consideration will be given to all evidence of record with reference to the need of Pennsylvania for the proposed air service.

Sincerely yours,

/s/ ROSS RIZLEY, Chairman

Messrs. YOSKO and SCOTT read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 982, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Forest and Waters for the amicable acquisition of lands within the limits of the proposed Wallpack Bend Dam and Reservoir project.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President and Members of the Senate. many of my constituents in the Fifth Senatorial District have been, time and time again, complaining about the menace of one-man clubs which continue to canker life in Philadelphia, whereas thousands of taproom keepers pay taxes to the Commonwealth and are law-abiding citizens and keep their places of establishment in accordance with the regulations of the Liquor Control Board. The circle of one-man clubs continue to flay the laws and cater to the opulent with the succulent. On Sundays, they are immune from the law and. thus, undermine legitimate taproom owners.

In order to cover this situation, Mr. President, I serve notice that I will prepare adequate legislation, empowering the Liquor Control Board of Pennsylvania to make a sweeping investigation of this menace.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I was in conference with some other Senators when Senator Stiefel took the floor. Therefore, I did not have the opportunity of hearing all of his remarks. However, from what I could glean, I understood that he was saying some of his constituents were objecting to one-man clubs down in Philadelphia.

I would like to suggest to Senator Stiefel that he should take this matter up with the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board. I feel quite sure that they will be able to help him in his troubles. If there is anything being done in Philadelphia which is illegal, the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board should investigate it. I have no doubt that the Liquor Control Board will be able to take care of it.

CALENDAR

BILL ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS

RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of House Bill No. 1002, as follows:

An Act relating to conditional sales made prior to July 1 1954

Section 10 Redemption If the seller does not give the notice of intention to retake as provided in section 9 he shall retain the goods for ten days after the retaking within the state in which they were located when retaken during which period the buyer upon payment or tender of the amount due under the contract at the time of retaking and interest or upon performance of any other condition as may be named in the contract as precedent to the passage of the property in the goods or upon performance or tender of performance of any other promise for the breach of which the goods were retaken and upon payment of the expenses of retaking keeping and storage may redeem the goods and become entitled to take possession of them and to continue in the performance of the contract as if no default had occurred Upon written demand delivered personally or by registered mail by the buyer the seller shall furnish to the buyer a written statement of the sum due under the contract and the expense of retaking keeping and storage For failure to furnish the statement within a reasonable time after demand the seller shall forfeit to the buyer ten dollars ($10) and also be liable to him for all damages suffered because of such failure If the goods are perishable so that retention for ten days as herein prescribed would result in their destruction or substantial injury the provisions of this section shall not apply and the seller may resell the goods immediately upon their retaking The provision of this section requiring the retention of the goods within the State during the period allowed for redemption shall not apply to railroad or street or interurban railway equipment or rolling stock

Section 11 Compulsory Resale by Seller If the buyer does not redeem the goods within ten days after the seller has retaken possession and the buyer has paid at least fifty per centum of the purchase price at the time of the retaking the seller shall sell them at public auction in the State where they were at the time of the retaking the sale to be held not more than thirty days after the retaking the seller shall give to the buyer not less than ten days' written notice of the sale either personally or by registered mail directed to the buyer at his last known place of business or residence The seller shall also give notice of the sale by at least three notices posted in different public places within the filing district where the goods are to be sold at least five days before the sale If at the time of the retaking five hundred dollars ($500) or more has been paid on the purchase price the seller shall also give notice of the sale at least five days before the sale by publication in a newspaper published or having a general circulation within the filing district where the goods are to be sold The seller may bid for the goods at the resale If the goods are railroad or street or interurban railway equipment or rolling stock the parties may fix in the conditional sale contract the place where the goods shall be resold

Section 12 Resale at Option of Parties If the buyer has not paid at least fifty per centum of the purchase price at the time of the retaking the seller shall not be under a duty to resell the goods as prescribed in section 11 unless the buyer serves upon the seller within ten days after the retaking a written notice demanding a resale delivered prsonally or by registered mail If the notice is served the resale shall take place within thirty days after the service in the manner at the place and upon the notice prescribed in section 11 The seller may voluntarily resell the goods for account of the buyer on compliance with the same requirements

Section 13 Proceeds of Resale The proceeds of the resale shall be applied (1) to the payment of the expenses thereof (2) to the payment of the expenses of retaking keeping and storing the goods and (3) to the satisfaction of the balance due under the contract Any sum remaining after the satisfaction of the claims shall be paid to the buyer

Section 14 Deficiency on Resale If the proceeds of the resale are not sufficient to defray the expenses thereof and also the expenses of the retaking keeping and storing the goods and the balance due upon the purchase price the seller may recover the deficiency from the buyer or from any one who has succeeded to the obligations of the buyer

Section 15 Rights of Parties Where There is No Resale Where there is no resale the seller may retain the goods as his own property without obligation to account to the buyer except as provided in section 17 and the buyer shall be discharged of all obligation

Section 16 Election of Remedies After the retaking of possession as provided in section 8 the buyer shall be liable for the price only after a resale and only to the extent provided in section 14 Neither the bringing of an action by the seller for the recovery of the whole or any part of the price nor the recovery of judgment in such action nor the collection of a portion of the price shall be deemed inconsistent with a later retaking of the goods as provided in section 8 but the right of retaking shall not be exercised by the seller after he has collected the entire price or after he has claimed a lien upon the goods or attached them or levied upon them as the goods of the buyer

Section 17 Recovery of Part Payments If the seller fails to comply with the provisions of sections 10 11 12 13 and 15 after retaking the goods the buyer may recover from the seller his actual damages if any and in no event less than one-fourth of the sum of all payments which have been made under the contract with interest

Section 18 Waiver of Statutory Protection No act or agreement of the buyer before or at any time of the making of the contract nor any agreement or statement by the buyer in the contract shall constitute a valid waiver of the provisions of sections 10 11 12 13 and 15 except that the contract may stipulate that on such default of the buyer as is provided for in section 8 the seller may rescind the conditional sale either as to all the goods or as to any part thereof for which a specific price was fixed in the contract If the contract provides for rescission the seller at his option may retake such goods without complying with or being bound by the provisions of sections 9 to 17 inclusive as to the goods retaken upon crediting the buyer with the full purchase price of those goods So much of this credit as is necessary to cancel any indebtedness of the buyer to the seller shall be so applied and the seller shall repay to the buyer on demand any surplus not so required

Section 19 Validity of Conditional Sales Refiled on or after July 1 1954 Every provision in a conditional sale reserving property in the seller shall be valid as to any purchaser from or creditor of the buyer who after the effective date of this act purchases the goods or acquires by attachment or levy a lien upon them if the filing of the contract was valid under the uniform conditional sales act at 12:01 a m on July 1 1954 by reason of (1) having been filed (i) during the period beginning July 1 1951 and ending three years prior to the effective date of this act or (ii) in the case of railroad or street or interurban railway equipment or rolling stock during the period beginning July 1 1939 and ending fifteen years prior to the effective date of this act or (2) having been last refiled during the period beginning July 1 1953 and ending July 1 1954 and if the contract or a copy thereof was refiled on or after July 1 1954 and prior to the effective date of this act pursuant to the method prescribed by the Uniform Conditional Sales Act or is refiled within sixty days after the effective date of this act pursuant to the method prescribed by section three hereof any such refiling prior to the effective date of this act shall be valid for a period of one year from the date of refiling or sixty days from the effective date of this act whichever is longer any such refiling after the effective date of this act shall be valid for a period of five years from the date of refiling

Section 20 Effective Date This act shall take effect immediately

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, at this time, I rise in opposition to the passage of this bill. The reasons that I set forth today for the defeat of this bill are the same reasons that I set forth yesterday at the time my amendments were offered.

Mr. President, if this bill is passed in the form in which it is now written, it will, for the first time, create in Pennsylvania a situation whereby anyone who has been licensed to practice a profession in Pennsylvania, no matter what that profession might be, will be required each year to submit himself to an examination, to studies, and so on, before he may have his license renewed for the ensuing year.

As I stated yesterday, and I state again, if this is going to be done with the practice of chiropractic, we might as well then say that it shall be done in every other profession, including the practice of law, the practice of medicine, nursing, where you have a broker's commission for the sale of real estate or whatever it may be. In all fairness to those professions and to the chiropractic profession, you should have the same rules applicable.

This bill, as it is written, does in a way set forth a procedure whereby these educational courses shall be given. It provides that they shall be taken at a convention held by the Chiropractic Association. A lot of the members of this profession see in this provision an attempt to compel their attendance at a convention which many of them may not see fit to attend.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask the Members on both sides of the aisle to vote "no" on the passage of House Bill No. 407.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I certainly do not want to debate this bill, but I would call to the attention of the Members of the Senate the fact that the board does have the right to excuse any of their members from attendance at those sessions if they have good and sufficient reason for not attending.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, having voted under a misapprehension, I desire to change my vote from "no" to "aye."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

By Mr. POLEN. HOUSE BILL No. 2023.

An Act making an appropriation to the House of Representatives of the General Assembly for the salaries of officers and employes, mileage of members and payment of postage and expenses.

Referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. AUKER and WATERHOUSE.

RESOLUTION No. 156.

In the House of Representatives, February 9, 1956.

By order of the Secretary of Welfare animal herds and poultry flocks at State institutions in the Department of Welfare are being sold.

The reason therefor according to the Secretary of Welfare is that farm work and animal husbandry is not considered suitable work for patients at these institutions.

There exist serious doubts as to the logic and basis for such reasoning.

The products of the farms and products from the herds and poultry flocks furnish a major part of the food for the maintenance of the institutions at a great saving to the Commonwealth.

These herds and flocks through expert experimentation and research have been built up to a status of thoroughbred herds and flocks at a great cost to the Commonwealth, which has in turn resulted in the best products possible for the patients at the institutions.

The sale of the herds and flocks would entail a great financial loss to the Commonwealth.

To buy such products of herds and flocks on the open market would put a serious extra financial burden on the Commonwealth, which could probably require additional tax money.

After a recent investigation of the Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza a committee of the House of Representatives recommended that patients at Morganza be taught farming and animal husbandry and that some should be occupied and engaged in agricultural pursuits. This recommendation should be given serious and sincere consideration; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint a committee of six members of the House of Representatives, by and with the advice of the majority and minority leaders of the House of Representatives. The committee shall be authorized and directed to make a thorough study and investigation on the advisability of the selling of the animal herds and poultry flocks by the Department of Welfare. The committee shall have the power to issue subpoenas under its hand and seal requiring and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into and to produce such books, papers, records, and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. The committee shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before them. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before the committee or to produce books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of its findings to His Excellency, the Governor and that the Governor do all within his power to stop the sale of the animals and poultry at the institutions if the committee recommends the sale therefor is not to the best interest of the Commonwealth.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

REORGANIZATION PLAN No. 8

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up Resolution No. 8A adopting Reorganization Plan No. 8 on page 13 of today's calendar.

The Resolution and Reorganization Plan No. 8 was read as follows:

REORGANIZATION PLAN No. 8 OF 1955

Section 1. The division of Surplus Property Disposal in the Department of Public Instruction where it was established by the head of the department, with the approval of the Executive Board in the year 1945, pursuant to the provisions of section 212 of the Administrative Code of 1929, is transferred from that department to the Department of Property and Supplies.

Section 2. There are hereby transferred to the Department of Property and Supplies the files, records, property, contract obligations, personnel, supplies and equipment now being used or held by the division of Surplus Property Property Disposal, and the unexpended balances of appropriations, allocations and other funds available or to be made available for use by the division of Surplus Property Disposal to be used for the payment of salaries, wages, general expenses, supplies, printing and equipment necessary for the work of the department with respect to the acquisition of Federal surplus property and the distribution of such property to schools and other agencies authorized to receive it.

Section 3. The following acts and parts of acts are suspended as particularly set forth:

Section 1, act of April 12, 1945 (P. L. 220), entitled "An act authorizing the Commonwealth and any administrative department, boards, and commissions thereof acting through the Department of Property and Supplies, and political subdivisions of the Commonwealth, including municipal authorities, to enter into contracts with the United States of America, or any agency thereof, for the purchase, lease, or other acquisition of property, real or personal, offered for sale pursuant to the Surplus Property Act of one thousand nine hundred forty-four, without complying with any requirement of existing law as to specifications, advertising, award of contract, and approval of purchases by a State agency receiving competitive bids, or the delivery of property purchased before payment therefor," in so far as it confers any powers upon the Department of Public Instruction.

Section 3, act of December 22, 1955 (Act No. 29A), entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Department of Public Instruction for two years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred fifty-five, and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred fifty-five, and making appropriations to the Department of Public Instruction for reimbursements to school districts," in so far as it is in conflict with this Reorganization Plan.

Resolved, that Reorganization Plan No. 8 of 1955 transmitted to the General Assembly under date of January 17, 1956 which is incorporated herein by reference be approved.

On the question.

Will the House adopt the Resolution?

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication from the Senate together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the present plans for next week call for a full working week of three days. A letter will be sent to all the Members urging them to be present.

There will be a very important Democratic Caucus on Monday afternoon.

The SPEAKER. Has the Minority Leader any further business?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. No, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. That's strange.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I could not resist after what the Speaker said.

I do think the House has missed quite a grand event today. Just about twenty minutes ago Grandfather Stank became another grandfather. I think we should know about it.

The SPEAKER. The Parliamentarian has just observed that we are all likely to become grandfathers if we don't get away from here soon—and grandmothers.

ADJOURNMENT

Mrs. MARKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, February 20, 1956 at 1:00 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 4:22 p. m.) the House adjourned.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1956. No. 140.

SENATE

MONDAY, February 20, 1956.

The Senate met at 1:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain, the following prayer was offered by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. RUTH:

In the Name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, Amen.

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, as we have gathered again for another week's work, we pray that Thy divine spirit will guide us in our thinking, in our acting, so that our labor shall be approved by Thee.

As we enter into this Holy Season again, we pray that we may remember the great love which Thou hast demonstrated to the world in endeavoring to bring us back to Thee in that relationship of Father and Son, which we had before sin came into the world. Help us to go through this season with a deep thought and a deeper love for Thee and for Thy great gifts.

In Thy Holy Name, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. PECHAN and Mr. CAMIEL, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. RUTH asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. DERK, for the week, due to illness.

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. WATSON, for the week, due to illness.

GENERAL COMMUNICATION

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate the following communication, which was read by the Clerks:

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

February 1956.

The State Senate
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

I have been instructed by a unanimous vote of 240 rank and file members entire Executive Board of Local 3787, United Steel Workers of America, CIO-AF of L, to write the Senate of Pennsylvania to strongly oppose the combination sales tax and net income tax as it is written at this date. We feel that it is unfair because it is not based on ability to pay. We respectfully urge you to oppose this bill.

Respectfully yours,

John E. McClarren, President
Local 3787,
United Steel Workers of America
CIO-AF of L

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate the following communication, which was read by the Clerk:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 8
STATE OF NEW JERSEY

INTRODUCED FEBRUARY 9, 1956

By Messrs. DUMONT, McCAY, HANNOLD, LANCE, SANDMAN, HARPER, WADDINGTON, COWGILL (Without Reference)

A Concurrent Resolution protesting against the enactment of certain legislation in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Whereas, The House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is considering a proposed 2% excise tax on net income of residents in said Commonwealth and also of persons resident in the State of New Jersey employed within said Commonwealth; and

Whereas, The public policy of the State of New Jersey has always dictated that the "right to work" is a "right" and not a "privilege" and that wages and salaries should be free from any tax or impost whether the same are earned within or without the State by citizens and residents of this State or citizens and residents of any other State; now, therefore

Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of New Jersey (the General Assembly concurring):

1. That the New Jersey Legislature hereby protests against the enactment of any legislation by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania under which any citizens and residents of the State of New Jersey will be subjected to the payment of a tax on wages and salaries payable to them in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

2. The Secretary of the Senate is directed forthwith to transmit a copy of this concurrent resolution, properly authenticated, to The Honorable George M. Leader, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and to the President and Secretary of the Senate, and to the Speaker and Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, of said Commonwealth.

I hereby certify the above to be a true copy of Senate Concurrent Resolution adopted by both Houses of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey under date of February 9, 1956.

/s/ Henry H. Patterson
Henry H. Patterson
Secretary of the Senate.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. BLASS, McCREESH, STIEFEL, SILVERT, FLACK, McGINNIS and CAMIEL read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 983, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 21, 1953 (P. L. 1273), entitled "The Private Detective Act of 1953" granting licensees within certain areas power to serve warrants.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Mr. WATKINS read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 984, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 22, 1931 (P. L. 594), entitled "Rural State Highway Law" adding a new route in Delaware County.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Mr. STEVENSON read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 985, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 23, 1931 (P. L. 932), entitled "The Third Class City Code," further fixing qualifications of members of the board of health.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 986, enittled:

An Act amending the act of July 20, 1953 (P. L. 550), entitled "An act providing for and regulating the annexation of parts of a second class township to boroughs, cities and townships," fixing the time when annexation takes effect.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 987, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1933 (P. L. 103), entitled "The Second Class Township Code," further regulating the payment by cities and boroughs for certain improvements and facilities in portions of the township annexed by them.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to make a few brief statements about two purely Philadelphia problems.

Early in the Session, Senator Camiel and I sponsored a bill, Senate Bill No. 565, which deals with regulations of parking lots. Since the bill was wide in scope, covering the entire State of Pennsylvania, it was recommitted to the Committee on State Government. I am sure that most of my colleagues read the Philadelphia Inquirer during the last few days, seeing to what scandalous proportions the mismanagement of parking lots in Philadelphia is gradually reaching. It is highway robbery and an exploitation of the citizenry of Philadelphia. I know of no other way to regulate this than by placing the lots under the jurisdiction of the Public Utility Commission.

Mr. President, I know some of our Members are afraid that once the Public Utility Commission will assume jurisdiction, it will be just as hard to get franchises as to get taxis in the city of Philadelphia. Yet, I feel that would be remedial action.

I have amendments which would limit this regulation only to the city of Philadelphia. This bill is in the Committee on State Government and I know that its Chairman is a very fair and square-dealing man, Senator Diehm. I am appealing to the Membership of the Committee on State Government, and to the Membership of the Senate, to speed the bill to final passage because the people of Philadelphia are groaning under the yoke of irresponsible and unscrupulous operators of parking lots.

The next phase is a bill which is in the Committee on Appropriations. The Congress of the United States has before it a provision of $6,000,000 for the deepening of the Delaware. This enabling legislation cannot be passed unless the bill, which is now in the Committee on Appropriations, is reported out and speeded to its passage. Only then will the engineer corps be ready to start working on the deepening of the channel in the Delaware.

For this reason, Mr. President, I am making a plea to the Membership of the Senate to expedite these two measures which are of such vital importance to the city of Philadelphia and to the counties of Bucks and Delaware.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE 16

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, last Monday, I made a statement on this floor concerning the present tax situation. One day this week, I was quite pleased to read in our local press a statement or remark by the Majority Leader which seemed to me to be in line with the remarks that I made last Monday.

Mr. President, I do not have to tell anyone here about the seriousness of the financial conditions of this State at this present moment. The people back home feel that the situation in the Legislature is a chaotic one and no one seems to know where he is going.

For that reason, Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I am about to make a motion asking that Rule 16 of this Senate be set aside so that we may reconsider House Bill No. 1879, Printer's No. 1299. I feel that if this motion is carried and this Senate feels fit to restore to the Calendar of this Senate House Bill No. 1879, then we will have an opportunity to amend the bill and remove from it some of the exemptions which were in it at the time it was defeated. I feel that we then will be in a position to pass a tax measure which we can return to the House for its concurrence and expedite the settlement of this tax situation.

Therefore, Mr. President, I make this motion at this time; that the Senate suspend Rule 16 and that we reconsider House Bill No. 1879, Printer's No. 1299.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE 16 WITHDRAWN

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, for the time being, I withdraw my motion to suspend Rule 16.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. WHALLEY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WHALLEY offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 20, 1956.

Resolved the (House of Representatives concurring) That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 27, 1956, at a time to be fixed by the Senate; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, February 27, 1956, at a time to be fixed by the House of Representatives.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RECALLING SENATE BILL No. 862 FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. SCHMIDT and FLEMING offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 20, 1956.

Resolved (if the House concur), That Senate Bill No. 862, Printer's No. 384, entitled "An act amending the act of June 16, 1836 (P. L. 715), entitled "An act relating to Reference and Arbitration,' providing by rule of the County Court of Allegheny County for the arbitration of certain suits at issue," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I am sorry that I was absent at the moment Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 8, passed by the State of New Jersey, came across the desk. I believe that the time for an answer to such a resolution is here and now.

Mr. President, we in Pennsylvania are having many difficulties in attempting to reach a solution to a, mildly said, vexing problem. We have tried, for a period extending beyond a year, to arrive at an answer to our fiscal difficulties. The State of New Jersey at the present moment finds itself in a situation where its Legislature is of the opposite political faith to that of the Governor. Due to some kind of political thinking that I can't quite fathom, the Republican Legislature of the State of New Jersey has decided upon a policy of continuous session. For the first time in the history of that fair State, the Legislature never quit. Now there are those who say that this policy is based upon a plan designed to embarrass the Governor. Whatever it may be, it is of their doing, and as such it is not our business as a General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and so now to the State of New Jersey I would say to you who are the Republican Legislators, that the question of the type of taxes that we pass in Pennsylvania is strictly none of their business. We enjoy, under the Federal Constitution, certain rights and prerogatives as a Commonwealth in the firmament of States. They, too, enjoy these same rights. For them now to seek to add to the miseries, problems, misunderstandings and the difficulties of this great State comes in very poor grace. Reading their resolve clause, which says:

"That the New Jersey Legislature hereby protests against the enactment of any legislation by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania under which any citizens and residents of the State of New Jersey will be subjected to the payment of a tax on wages and salaries payable to them in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania."

Mr. President, members of this Senate, all over the State, have been subjected for many years to the income tax in the State of New York, if they happened to work there and earn money in New York and, as I understand, every State in the Union that has an income tax taxes earnings of nonresidents. So, Mr. President, this today is nothing but a further plan on the part of this legislative body in the State of New Jersey to add to the diabolical scheme of further muddying the waters of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania's fiscal program.

I have said, and I repeat for the record, that it is none of their business. If, by chance, they have citizens of the State of New Jersey who are employed in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and enjoy employment in this Commonwealth, with all the services that we render to all of the citizens and non-citizens of this Commonwealth, and find that employment here under conditions whereby they must pay some sort of a State tax to be unbearable to their mode and way of existence, I would suggest to the residents or citizens of the State of New Jersey to do one of two things. They can move into Pennsylvania if they so desire or they can move back to New Jersey. They don't have to work in Pennsylvania, and I imagine it would reduce our unemployment problem quite a bit if they would go over the Delaware Bridge and stay there.

We have never complained, although for many years they have paid their taxes by mulcting it out of the pockets of many thousands of Pennsylvanians through their alluring race track right across the river. We don't complain when citizens of this State go into their State and pay whatever is necessary. If I own property in the State of New Jersey, I must pay property taxes on it regardless of where I live. So if this State, in its wisdom, finds it is to the best advantage of Pennsylvania to pay certain taxes—use any set of taxes—I certainly do not believe that that set of taxes should only include the residents of this State if, under the tax act, there is a method by which those who come from out of the State would have to pay. It is just as silly to pass this kind of a resolution as it is to say that a nonresident of the State of Pennsylvania, who eats meals in Pennsylvania restaurants, would not have to pay a gross receipts tax on his bill if he ate in this State and we had such a tax. I have never had a refund on any cigarettes that I bought in the State of New Jersey, which carried a State tax, or any refund on gasoline that I used to get across their fair State. I do not believe that this resolution, coming from the State of New Jersey, is honest in its purpose or in its introduction. I think it was conceived as part of a diabolical scheme to give aid and succor to those who would oppose in Pennsylvania a so-called State income tax. I believe they are using it as sort of a bolster to those in this State who oppose such a tax.

So I say in conclusion to the State of New Jersey, they are welcome to work in Pennsylvania if they can find jobs, as I hope we are welcome in their State. I do not believe in putting up State barriers but I say if they do work here, then they ought to enjoy all the privileges that we as Pennsylvania residents enjoy. If we have to pay taxes for the privileges, if we have to pay for working and earning our livelihood in this Commonwealth, then they, too, in New Jersey must pay the same, and in the final analysis I repeat, it is none of their business.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, in my District in the city of Sharon is located one of the Westinghouse plants. The union at the Westinghouse plant in Sharon, among others, I think last October decided to strike against the company which, perhaps, is their perfect right and I do not intend to go into the merits of whether the union was right or whether Westinghouse was right at the time or whether either one of them have been right since that date. However, as a result of picketing around the plant gate of the Westinghouse Corporation in Sharon, there have been riots and there has been property damage and there has been bodily injury to those people who sought to go into the plant.

Mr. President, I went out there toward the end of last year to make an investigation after I had received some letters from people there, objecting to the type of treatment which was afforded to them by those people who were congregating around the plant gates. I found, when I went out there, that the disturbances had quieted down to quite an extent. At any rate, the day I was there, there was little or no disturbance and the pickets were orderly. They gave me assurance, when I met with the members of that union, that is the union officials, the Mayor of Sharon, Mayor Michael Dunn, and Sheriff Knowles, that as far as they were concerned, there would not be any further violence there.

I believe that I said this trip was made during the latter part of last year. However, it was made during the first part of this year because Sheriff Knowles was the new sheriff who had just been elected in November and had taken office the first part of this year, and Mayor Michael Dunn is also the newly elected Mayor of Sharon.

Before they took office, the former Mayor of Sharon, Mayor Myron Jones and Sheriff Courtney, of Mercer County, found the situation to be out of hand and had telegraphed the Governor to send in some State Police assistance, in order to have them preserve order and also to enforce the judge's decree relative to the number of pickets around the plant gate and other provisions in that court order.

So, Mr. President, we left Sharon that day feeling that something had been accomplished as a result of my visit and for awhile everything was in good order. Then, about a week ago, everything broke out again and it seems to be worse than ever. Cars were overturned, large stones were thrown through the windshields of cars, there were paint markings and various other acts of violence. The fact of the matter is that the newly elected sheriff, when he tried to preserve some order, was knocked to the ground and the Mayor of Sharon, Michael Dunn, was very much disturbed over this fracas and even though they might be Democrats and members of the same political party as the Governor, they felt that the time had come when it was their duty to see that law and order were preserved in the city of Sharon.

Accordingly, Mr. President, they telegraphed the Governor last week to send the State Police there to aid them in the protection of property and personal rights.

Judge Rodgers, who handed down the decree, also telegraphed the Governor, asking him to send in the State Police to preserve law and order and to aid the local officials in carrying out the law of the land, but Governor Leader saw fit to say no to these requests, even though the Sheriff described the situation as dangerous.

I have many pictures which have been taken, showing cars overturned and also large stones being thrown through windshields of cars. Here is one, which shows a new Buick with a stone sixty-two and one-half pounds in weight which was thrown by two men through the windshield. The top of the car is dented and about every last glass in the car has been damaged to the extent of being broken completely out.

Here is a picture of a car which is overturned on someone's lawn. I have also received a letter from a lady in Sharon, enclosing some other pictures, showing cars overturned and a generally riotous condition existing around the gates, and she closes by saying:

"I would appreciate it if you would refrain from using my name. I do not mind for myself (I took the enclosed pictures) but I have a fourteen year old daughter and an eighteen year old son and I would not like any trouble with the union until we have protection in the Valley."

Certainly, I believe it is within the jurisdiction of this Senate to investigate that condition as it exists in part of my District, to find out whether or not the Governor is right or wrong in his decision, to find out whether the Sheriff of Mercer County is wrong in asking the Governor for aid, to find out whether the Judge of Mercer County and the Mayor of the city of Sharon are wrong in asking aid, because they said that the situation was dangerous and law and order were not being preserved in this particular part of the State. I think it behooves all of us, whether we be Republicans or Democrats, to see that law and order are preserved in all parts of the State of Pennsylvania and when we allow mob violence to exist in any part of our State, we are certainly aiding in the tearing down of the Democratic principles upon which this Commonwealth and this United States is founded and has succeeded.

So, Mr. President, I feel that time is of the essence. Not wanting to wait until such time as this resolution might clear the Senate and then be referred to the House and possibly be bottled up over in the House, I have made it, instead of a concurrent resolution, a Senate Resolution, and I ask that the Committee Chairman to which it is referred hold a committee meeting as soon as possible and recommend that this resolution be reported favorably to the floor so that we may vote on it.

Mr. President, if this resolution is subsequently passed, I will be prepared to show any Members of the Senate further evidence of why we should have this committee appointed, and I also want the committee to act quickly throughout the vicinity of Sharon and take testimony from those who are affected, hearing from both sides. I do not want it to be a one-sided affair. I would like to have both sides heard and if the condition prevails which they say prevails there, then I think this committee should report back here as to its findings and also if there is any legislation which is necessary, which we do not already have on the books to see that law and order are preserved in our fair Commonwealth, then I ask that committeee to make suitable recommendations.

With that and with those remarks, Mr. President, I am offering the following resolution.

SENATE RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

SENATE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE THE INDUSTRIAL STRIFE BETWEEN WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC CORPORATION AND ITS UNIONS

Mr. MAHANY offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on State Government:

In the Senate, February 20, 1956.

The press and other sources of information have reported that a labor dispute between certain Unions and Westinghouse Electric Corporation has resulted in rioting, personal injury to workers, and malicious destruction of property in Sharon and Greensville, all contrary to law.

If this be true, the existence of such conditions jeopardizes not only persons and property of the citizens of Sharon and Greensville, but also the position of this Commonwealth as a leading industrial state.

Repeated requests by local law enforcement agencies to the executive branch of the Commonwealth for assistance from the Pennsylvania State Police in the suppression of rioting and violence appear to have gone unheeded.

The provisions of Article IV, Section 2 of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania requires that the Governor "shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed."

A similar duty is imposed on the Governor by the Administrative Code of 1929, Article VII, Section 701, as amended.

The Administrative Code of 1929, Article VII, Section 710, as amended, provides, in part, with respect to the State Police, that they are:

"(b) To assist the Governor in the administration and enforcement of the laws of the Commonwealth, in such manner, at such times, and in such places, as the Governor may from time to time request"

and

therefore be it

Resolved, That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint a committee of three members of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to make a thorough, impartial and searching investigation of the industrial strife now existing in Pennsylvania because of the labor dispute between Westinghouse Electric Corporation and its unions to determine whether all necessary measures are being taken to protect the lives and property of our citizens, to determine the effect of such violence and lawlessness on the competive position of Pennsylvania as an industrial state in maintaining industry and attracting new industry in this Commonwealth, to recommend what, if any, remedial legislation is necessary, and to investigate such other matters in connection therewith as may be deemed necessary for the information of the committee and the Senate: and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall have power to issue subpoenas and subpoenas duces tecum, under the hand and seal of its chairman, requesting and comamnding any proper person, corporation, partnership or association to appear before it and to answer such questions touching matters with respect to the matters inquired into by the committee for and on behalf of the Senate and to procure such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas or subpoenas duces tecum may be served upon any proper person, corporation, partnership, or association and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth or by the General Assembly itself. Each member of the committee shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee.

If any person, corporation, partnership or association wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records, or documents subpoenaed by the committee, the committee, or any member thereof, shall file a petition with a court of common plas having competent jurisdiction over the person, corporation, partnership or association, setting forth such facts. The Court of Common pleas, or a judge thereof, shall thereupon issue a rule upon the person, corporation, partnership or association, returnable no less than five nor more than seven days from service thereof, commanding the person, corporation, partnership or association to appear before the court and show cause why the subpoena, subpoena duces tecum or similar order of the committee shall not be complied with.

If the person, corporation, partnership or association, upon the return day of said rule to show cause, is or are unable to show legal cause why the subpoena, subpoena duces tecum or order of the committee should not be complied with, the court of common pleas shal forthwith enter an order of court directing the person, corporation, partnership or association to comply with the terms of the subpoena, subpoena duces tecum or order of the committee. If thereupon, the person, corporation, partnership or association shall refuse or fail to comply with the order of court, the court of common pleas shall forthwith adjudge the person, corporation, partnership or association to be in contempt of court and the person, corporation, partnership or association shall thereupon forthwith be subject to the penalties provided by the Commonwealth in such cases. If any subpoena, subpoena duces tecum or order of the committee is deemed invalid by the court, the committee is authorized to issue a proper subpoena, subpoena duces tecum or order against such person, corporation, partnership or association; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall make report to the Governor and to the General Assembly of its findings of facts with such recommendation as it deems necessary.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not intend to go into the merits of this resolution at this time, but will reserve that for when the resolution appears on the floor.

In passing, I might say, Mr. President, that one of the most difficult things to do is to determine, in a labor situation, to what extent one must interfere. Although matters of this kind appear to be very acute and sometimes distracting, I believe that the cooler heads have long ago determined that interference in a dispute such as this, on either side, by a police body, has about the same merit as a neighbor stepping into a fight between man and wife. It usually ends up that the man and wife get together and live with each other, and the neighbor is ostracized for the rest of his life.

SENATE RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

REQUESTING THE SECRETARY OF WELFARE TO RECONSIDER THE ACTION WHEREBY FEDERAL AID UNDER THE HILL-BURTON ACT WILL BE APPLIED TO CONSTRUCTION OF STATE MENTAL INSTITUTIONS

Messrs. FLACK, PROPERT, SCOTT, KOPRIVER, JR., HARNEY, STEVENSON, WATKINS and VAN SANT offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 2, 1956.

From the year 1947 to the present time, the Department of Welfare has used money for hospital construction obtained from the Federal Government under Public Law 725, known as the Hill-Burton Act, for voluntary nonprofit hospital construction. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, up to the present time, has pursued the policy of constructing its State-operated hospital facilities with State funds only, or by use of agreements with the General State Authority.

At the present time, the Secretary of Welfare proposes to change this policy, and plans to divert the Federal aid for hospital construction during the next two years to construction of State Mental Institutions with the aid of matching funds which must be provided by the State. The effect of this diversion will be to embarrass communities throughout the State which have planned hospital construction projects and raised their matching funds in anticipation of receiving Federal aid, directed to them through the Pennsylvania Department of Welfare. The planned diversion of funds will also have the effect of discouraging other communities from embarking on hospital construction projects; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania requests the Honorable Harry Shapiro, Secretary of Welfare, to reconsider the action whereby Federal aid under the Hill-Burton Act will be applied to construction of State Mental Institutions, and instead permit it to be used by communities for hospital construction purposes when matched with local funds.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. FLACK. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I am sure it was I who handed the original bills to several members of our side early in January or February of last year to pass the proper legislation since the amendment to the Hill-Burton Act was passed by Congress in 1954.

Mr. President, we have now been in Session for fourteen months; our mental institutions have not received the proper money to run them, as they have been run in the past, and I think that the timing of this is rather improper.

I, for one, agree with the sponsors of the resolution, that all of this money should not be diverted to the mental institutions, with the proviso that this House and Senate appropriate the proper money to run our mental institutions. I have been in on several meetings regarding this, and I would like very much to sit down and talk with the sponsors of the resolution after today's Session. I think if we can come to an agreement where this House and Senate will give some money to our mental institutions which are needed in the State, I can vote for this resolution. I think the resolution, in part, is in good order, but it is not in good order when you say this:

"Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania requests the Honorable Harry Shapiro, Secretary of Welfare, to reconsider the action whereby Federal aid under the Hill-Burton Act will be applied to construction of State Mental Institutions, and instead permit it to be used by communities for hospital construction purposes when matched with local funds."

Mr. President, I agree with that to the extent of maybe fifty, sixty or seventy per cent. That is, I do think that some of the money could be used by communities for hospital construction purposes when matched with local funds, because that was the reason Congress changed the act so that the States could divert some of this money to their mental institutions.

I, for one, agree with the sponsors that it should not be used one hundred per cent for State mental institutions. Therefore, until such time as I can meet with these gentlemen, after the Session, I object to the immediate consideration of this resolution.

The PRESIDENT. There being objection to the immediate consideration of this resolution, the resolution is referred to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

SENATE RESOLUTION

DIRECTING THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO PREPARE SEVERAL SAMPLE CHARTERS FOR THIRD CLASS CITIES

Messrs. VAN SANT and STEVENSON offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 20, 1956.

There is presently before the General Assembly for consideration, a bill authorizing third class cities to frame and adopt their own charters, and to exercise the powers and authority of local self-government.

Much interest in and demand for granting the authority to cities of the third class to form a system of self-government through the adoption of city charters has been manifested by various students of government and by groups interested in good local government.

It is, however, very expensive for each city to procure technical aid and assistance for the proper preparation of a city charter which will give the desired form of government to the city adopting the charter, and not interfere or conflict with existing beneficial legislation which is not within the scope of the charter. It is of utmost importance that charters be carefully prepared and that extensive research be devoted to the gathering of information and that proper compiling of facts and law, as well as proposed changes in the law before any charter is adopted as the basic law for any city; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Local Government Commission is hereby directed, to prepare several sample charters for third class cities, which may be studied or used by the various city charter commissions in the preparation of charters.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Clair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

THIRD READING CALENDAR

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 173, as follows:

An Act providing for the establishment of police pension funds or pension annuities in certain boroughs towns and townships and the regulation and maintenance thereof providing for continuance of existing funds or transfer thereof to funds herein established prescribing rights of beneficiaries and repealing certain acts.

Section 1. Each borough town and township of this Commonwealth maintaining a police force of four or more members shall establish by ordinance a police pension fund or pension annuity to be maintained by an equal and proportionate monthly charge against each member of the police force which shall not exceed annually three per centum of the pay of such member by annual appropriations made by the borough town or township by payments made by the State Treasurer to the municipal treasurer from the moneys received from taxes paid upon premiums by foreign-casualty insurance companies for purposes of pension retirement or disability benefits for policemen to the extent not appropriated in any year by the borough town or township to another pension fund or plan heretofore established by the borough town or township or by the citizens thereof or both and by gifts grants devises or bequests granted to the pension fund pursuant to section 2 of this act. Such fund shall be under the direction of the governing body of the borough town or township or committeed to the direction of such committee as may be designated by such governing body and applied under such regulations as such governing body may by ordinance prescribe for the benefit of such members of the police force as shall receive honorable discharge therefrom by reason of age or disability and the families of such as may be injured or killed in the service but such pension allowances as shall be made to those who are retired by reason of disability or age shall be in conformity with a uniform scale.

The annual appropriation made by the borough town or township each year shall not be for a sum exceeding two per centum or all taxes levied by the borough town or township other than taxes levied to pay interest or to extinguish the debt of the borough town or township or any part thereof within such limits the annual appropriation shall (1) match the aggregate payments made by the members of the police force during such year and in addition (2) a further appropriation shall be sufficient when added to the contributions made by members of the police force during such year and the matching appropriation as aforesaid and the payments made by the State Treasurer to the municipal treasurer from the moneys received from taxes paid upon premiums by foreign-casualty insurance companies for purposes of pension retirement or disability benefits for policemen (unless paid by the borough town or township to another pension fund or plan heretofore established) and income from investment trust funds or other lawful enterprises together with any other moneys paid into such police pension fund according to existing law and practices to pay in full the share of the borough town or township the pensions payable during such year to the extent required under the provisions of section 5 of this act.

Section 2. It shall be competent for any borough town or township police pension fund to take by gift grant devise or bequest any money or property real personal or mixed in trust for the benefit of such fund and the care management investment and disposal of such trust funds or property shall be vested in the person or persons having the management of such police pension fund and the said trust funds shall be governed thereby subject to such directions not inconsistent therewith as the donors of such funds and property may prescribe.

Section 3. Each ordinance establishing a police pension fund shall prescribe a minimum period of total service not less than twenty-five years and a minimum age of sixty years after which members of the force may retire from active duty and such members as are retired shall be subject to service from time to time as a police reserve in cases of riot tumult or preservation of the public peace until unfitted for such service when they may be finally discharged by reason of age or disability.

Section 4. Any member of the police force employed by a borough town or township who has been a regularly appointed employe of any such political subdivision for a period of at least six months and who thereafter shall heretofore or hereafter be inducted into the military service of the United States in time of war or national emergency so proclaimed by the President of the United States shall have credited to his employment record for pension or retirement benefits all of the time spent by him in such military service during the continuance of such war or national emergency if such person returns or has heretofore returned to his employment within six months after his separation from the service.

Section 5. Payments made under the provisions of this act shall not be a charge or any other fund in the treasury of any borough town or township or under its control save the police pension fund herein provided for the basis for determining any pension payable under this act following retirement of any member of the force meeting the service qualifications of the ordnance establishing a police pension fund shall be as follows

Monthly pension or retirement benefits shall be not less than one-half the monthly average of the highest pay of such member during any period of twelve consecutive months within the last sixty months of employment such pension or retirement benefits for any month shall be computed as the sum of (I) any pension benefits from pension plans heretofore established by the borough town or township and by citizens thereof or both (II) primary benefits under Federal Social Security Laws for which the officer may be eligible because of age and (III) benefits from the police pension fund established pursuant to this act to the extent necessary to bring the total benefits in any month up to one-half the aforesaid monthly average.

Section 6 (a) Where there is an existing pension fund managed by a private organization or association for the members of the police force in any borough town or township on the effective date of this act such fund may be continued as constituted and the pensions paid by such established fund shall be credited in determining the annual appropriations of the borough town or township as provided in section 1 hereof.

(b) In any instance where an existing fund is transferred to a fund established by a political subdivision pursuant to the provisions of law all the assets and liabilities of such existing fund shall be so transferred. Such transfer may be made by the transfer of securities. After such transfer the borough town or township police pension fund shall assume the liability of continuing the payment of pensions to members of the police force retired prior to such transfer in accordance with the laws and regulations under which such members were retired.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 826, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission to edit illustrate and publish its new report on the Frontier Forts of Pennsylvania providing for the distribution and sale thereof and making an appropriation.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,
On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move than Senate Bill No. 826, on third reading, be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations, for the purpose of further study.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, time and again I have expressed my qualms about that mysterious phrase, "for further study." I personally think it is a euphemism for strangulation but, anticipating this move, I spoke to Senator Mahany this afternoon and I was assured that this measure will be granted a temporary reprieve until the Executive Director of the Historical and Museum Commission will submit figures.

It seems that the statement in the bill, that there is a demand for this publication and that the sale of the publication will yield sufficient funds to pay for it, should convince the Members of the Republican Caucus that this is a worthy cause.

Mr. President, I know that all the historical societies throughout Pennsylvania are behind this measure. Therefore, I plead with the learned gentleman from Armstrong to withdraw his motion and grant a reprieve until a further study is undertaken.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, with regard to this legislation, the Majority Leader and I discussed this and it was my understanding that they would agree to have Senate Bill No. 826 over in its order. I so advised Doctor Stiefel to check with the Majority Leader, and we were both of the opinion that the bill was going over in its order and would not be recommitted at this particular time.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, that is what you get for changing horses in the middle of the stream. Doctor Pechan is handling the desk here now and I had my Calendar marked the way that we had agreed upon previous to our conversation, Senator Lane, and Senator Pechan took those markings to be what we had agreed to and that is the reason he made the motion. When I seconded the motion, I did not know which particular bill he was referring to but I thought that as long as my Whip was making a motion and nobody else was seconding it, I would do so.

I certainly do not want to break any agreement that I have had with you or with Doctor Stiefel and, therefore, if Doctor Pechan will withdraw his motion, I will withdraw my second and we will have the bill go over in order.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL WITHDRAWN

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, since I am now out in left field, I wish to withdraw my motion to recommit this bill.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I withdraw my second to the motion.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 826, Printer's No. 335, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 949, as follows:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled "An act relating to the public school system including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto" providing for courses of study in first aid and home nursing to be included during the last four years of any complete high school program

Section 1 Section 1605 act of March 10 1949 (P. L. 30) known as the "Public School Code of 1949" is amended to read

Section 1605 Courses of Study (a) It shall be the duty of the superintendent having supervision over any high school to prepare and recommend to the board of school directors maintaining the same suitable courses of study which shall be adopted by said board of school directors with such changes as they may deem wise subject to the provisions of this act During the last four years of a complete high school program there shall be included at least a four semester or equivalent course of study in the history and government of that portion of America which has become the United States of America and of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania of such nature kind or quality as to have for its purpose the developing teaching and presentation of the principles and ideals of the American Republican Representative form of government as portrayed and experienced by the acts and policies of the framers of the Declaration of Independence and framers of the Constitution of the United States and the Bill of Rights The courses of study in the history of the United States including the study of the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of this Commonwealth shall also be such as will emphasize the good worthwhile and best features and points of the social economic and cultural development the growth of the American family life high standard of living of the United States citizen the privileges enjoyed by such citizens their heritage and its derivations of and in our principles of government and having for its purpose also the instilling into every boy and girl coming out of our public schools their solemn duty and obligation to exercise their voting privilege

(b) During one or more of the last four years of any complete high school program there may be included a course of study in first aid or home nursing or both for the purpose of training and increasing the available supply of trained personnel for use in any program or activity undertaken pursuant to the act of March 19 1951 (P. L. 28) known as the "State Council of Civil Defense Act of 1951" as amended the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall direct a course of study to be prepared to assist school districts in complying with the provisions of this section.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, when a person opposes civil defense or first aid they should have some explanation for it. I am not opposing first aid and civil defense, but I just happened to think that in our existing school curriculum there are opportunities for, and many schools are now teaching, first aid in health and physical education courses, in home living and in guidance. Therefore, I shall have to vote "no" on this measure.

Mr. President, education is more elusive than legislation, I think.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, it is not my usual custom to disagree with my colleague from Centre. However, giving due weight to everything he has said, and I think he is absolutely correct, there are opportunities in our curriculum for the type of instruction which is suggested by this bill. I am not opposed to the bill and will vote for it because, as the bill now stands, it is a "may" bill, which means that it is permissive for any school district to adopt the type of program outlined here. It further has a good effect by instructing the Department of Public Instruction, in cases where such courses are set up by the school districts, to outline a proper and effective course of study.

I think the Senator from Centre would agree with me that under the present provisions of the School Code, any school district desiring to set up a program as outlined in this bill can do so. Therefore, the permissive part of the bill adds very little. However, it does enjoin the Department of Public Instruction to set up a proper and adequate program. That is the good part of the bill and, therefore, I would suggest that people interested in such instruction should vote for the bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for five minutes, for the purpose of holding a meeting of the Committee on State Government.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BLASS, from the Committee on State Government, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1944, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the nineteenth day of March one thousand nine hundred fifty-one (1951-1952 P. L. 28) entitled "State Council of Civil Defense Act of 1951," by authorizing the State Council of Civil Defense to make rules and regulations.

SENATE RESOLUTION REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. BLASS, from the Committee on State Government, to which was referred resolution offered by Mr. MAHANY, on February 20, 1956, reported the same without amendment as follows:

SENATE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE THE INDUSTRIAL STRIFE BETWEEN WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC CORPORATION AND ITS UNION

In the Senate, February 20, 1956.

The press and other resources of information have reported that a labor dispute between certain Unions and Westinghouse Electric Corporation has resulted in roiting, personal injury to workers, and malicious destruction of property in Sharon and Greensville, all contrary to law.

If this be true, the existence of such conditions jeopardizes not only persons and property of the citizens of Sharon and Greensville, but also the position of this Commonwealth as a leading industrial state.

Repeated requests by local law enforcement agencies to the executive branch of the Commonwealth for assistance from the Pennsylvania State Police in the suppression of rioting and violence appear to have gone unheeded.

The provisions of Article IV, Section 2 of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania requires that the Governor "shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed."

A similar duty is imposed on the Governor by the Administrative Code of 1929, Article VII, Section 701, as amended.

The Administrative Code of 1929, Article VII, Section 710, as amended, provides, in part, with respect to the State Police, that they are:

"(b) To assist the Governor in the administration and enforcement of the laws of the Commonwealth, in such manner, at such times, and in such places, as the Governor may from time to time request."

and

therefore be it

Resolved, That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint a committee of three members of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to make a thorough, impartial and searching investigation of the industrial strife now existing in Pennsylvania because of the labor dispute between Westinghouse Electric Corporation and its unions to determine whether all necessary measures are being taken to protect the lives and property of our citizens, to determine the effect of such violence and lawlessness on the competive position of Pennsylvania as an industrial state in maintaining industry and attracting new industry in this Commonwealth, to recommend what, if any, remedial legislation is necessary, and to investigate such other matters in connection therewith as may be deemed necessary for the information of the committee and the Senate; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall have power to issue subpoenas and subpoenas duces tecum, under the hand and seal of its chairman, requesting and commanding any proper person, corporation, partnership or association to appear before it and to answer such questions touching matters with respect to the matters inquired into by the committee for and on behalf of the Senate and to procure such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas or subpoenas duces tecum may be served upon any proper person, corporation, partnership, or association and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth or by the General Assembly itself. Each member of the committee shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee.

If any person, corporation, partnership or association wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records, or documents subpoenaed by the committee, the committee, or any member thereof, shall file a petition with a court of common pleas having competent jurisdiction over the person, corporation, partnership or association, setting forth such facts. The Court of Common pleas, or a judge thereof, shall thereupon issue a rule upon the person, corporation, partnership or association, returnable no less than five nor more than seven days from service thereof, commanding the person, corporation, partnership or association to appear before the court and show cause why the subpoena, subpoena duces tecum or similar order of the committee shall not be complied with.

If the person, corporation, partnership or association, upon the return day of said rule to show cause, is or are unable to show legal cause why the subpoena, subpoena duces tecum or order of the committee should not be complied with, the court of common pleas shall forthwith enter an order of court directing the person, corporation, partnership or association to comply with the terms of the subpoena, subpoena duces tecum or order of the committee. If thereupon, the person, corporation, partnership or association shall refuse or fail to comply with the order of court, the court of common pleas shall forthwith adjudge the person, corporation, partnership or association to be in contempt of court and the person, corporation, partnership or association shall thereupon forthwith be subject to the penalties provided by the Commonwealth in such cases. If any subpoena, subpoena duces tecum or order of the committee is deemed invalid by the court, the committee is authorized to issue a proper subpoena, subpoena duces tecum or order against such person, corporation, partnership or association; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall make report to the Governor and to the General Assembly of its findings of facts with such recommendation as it deems necessary.

Laid over for one day under the Rules.

BILLS SIGNED

The President (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bills had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

House Bill No. 388, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 3, 1937 (P. L. 1333), entitled "Pennsylvania Election Code," extending voting rights to bedridden or hospitalized veterans when not absent from county of residence.

House Bill No. 728, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), entitled "Administrative Code of 1929," authorizing the lease or grant of real estate under the jurisdiction of the Department of Forests and Waters in the City of Philadelphia for the purpose of aiding the establishment of parking services and facilities within State Park Areas situate within the city.

House Bill No. 1947, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the State Treasurer for the purpose of paying salaries and wages of State officers and employes and other ordinary and general expenses in the interim between the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred fifty-five and such time as the funds provided by the General Appropriation Act and other appropriation acts become available and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred fifty-five.

Whereupon,

The President (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, for a great number of years there has been on this Calendar, from time to time, a very controversial piece of legislation. I believe the controversy arises more out of misunderstanding and misrepresentation than out of the legislation, itself. I have tried, as have many other Members of this Senate, to act with some sanity in the matter of dog experimentation legislation. It appears to me that in this great Commonwealth of ours, we have a very serious need for this type of medical advance. Therefore, in searching for an answer, with the help of Senator Chapman and other Senators on the floor, I have drafted a new piece of legislation. I am hopeful that the Membership will refrain from taking a positive position until they have had an opportunity to read and study the contents of this bill.

For the first time in many years, I have attempted to present this legislation in the form of a positive piece of law. In other words, I tried in the preamble—it will only take a minute for me to read it. It will give to the people of Pennsylvania the real subject matter of the legislation.

"It is hereby determined and declared as a matter of legislative finding that reliable representations have been made to this General Assembly that certain diseases, such as diptheria, rabies, childbirth death, smallpox, pernicious anemia, typhoid fever, diabetes and pneumonia, have been checked due to animal research;

"That certain diseases, heretofore complete mysteries, such as tuberculosis, infantile paralysis, malaria, heart diseases, and jaundice, are now nearing solution thanks to the use of animals in research;

"That certain medicines and drugs, such as anesthetics, sulfa, polio vaccine, gamma globulin, insulin, penicillin, aureomycin, streptomycin, hormones and vitamins have been discovered through aid of animal research. Animals are regularly needed to make life-saving serums—for example tetanus anti-toxin is produced with the help of the blood reactions of horses;

"That nerve, brain, heart, lung, chest, and bone surgery have been made possible through the study of animals, and all have taken tremendous strides thanks to our animal patients;

"That mice, rats, guinea pigs, rabbits, hamsters, cats, goats, sheep, pigs, monkeys, frogs, cows and horses are used for medical research; but similarities between the dog's anatomy and man's anatomy make the dog the only creature suitable for many of the research projects.

"From 7,000 to 10,000 dogs are needed annually in Pennsylvania for research. This number would be readily obtainable from the pounds operated by municipalities and humane societies in Pennsylvania because over 100,000 dogs are killed annually, 7,000 to 10,000 of which might well be used for medical research purposes. Science has not found a satisfactory substitute for animal research. Researchers must study animal life under every known condition of disease and every known treatment.

"Research animals are now obtained in Pennsylvania from animal dealers who either breed them or buy them from others. In six states and thirty-one municipalities in the United States, pound legislation has been passed to allow the use of a small per cent of unwanted impounded animals to recognized medical research institutions. They thus make a contribution to mankind through medical research. In Pennsylvania these animals are needlessly destroyed.

"Animal research is painless because animals are given anesthesia when pain is anticipated. Besides, only about five per cent of animal studies involve surgery. Laboratory animals receive good care because such care is necessary for scientific accuracy in experiments. Such animals are given scientific diets.

"Pet dogs are not wanted for research. States which legally allow the use of pound animals in research have set up safeguards against this happening. The use of pound animals is the best assurance against pet 'dog-napping'—unlike animal dealers, pounds do not pay individuals for strays brought to them.

"Animal research is morally justified because it has prolonged human and animal life, reduced suffering, bettered the health standards and furthered the life-expectancy of humanity. A nation-wide survey shows eighty-five per cent favor the use of pound dogs for research, eight per cent oppose it and seven per cent are undecided.

"United States Government regulations require that the potency of drugs, safety or cosmetics, vitamin deficiencies in food and other nutritional aspects be pretested on rats, guinea pigs, cats, dogs and moneys before they are put on the market for human consumption.

"Pound legislation does not put an extra burden on the taxpayer. It decreases public costs by direct savings to State universities, government research grants and public research funds; therefore

"The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows:

"Section 1. Any police officer or constable may seize and detain any dog which does not bear a proper license tag which is found running at large. Unlicensed dogs, and any licensed dog which has been detained and cared for as required by law for a period of ten days, and which remains unclaimed at the end of such period, may be given but shall not be sold for any consideration whatsoever to any public or private institution certified in writing by the Department of Agriculture as a reputable scientific or educational institution or laboratory, requiring the use of live dogs for the effective carrying on of its scientific or educational activities.

"Section 2. All scientific, educational institution or laboratory, requiring the use of live dogs shall be examined periodically by the Department of Health, said Department shall have the right to issue rules and regulations governing the operation of said scientific, educational institution or laboratory using free dogs.

"Section 3. All acts and parts of acts are repealed in so far as they are inconsistent herewith."

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I have very careful statements, very accurate statements and authoritative statements, from the institutions of this great Commonwealth which are responsible for the training of doctors in this Commonwealth. I have them from the hospitals of the University of Pennsylvania, the University of Pittsburgh, Temple, Hahnemann and all others. I have from those institutions their pleas for this legislation.

Mr. Prsident, here is the difference between the so-called vivisection or anti-vivisection bill and this particular bill. The hue and the cry of the opponents of this legislation has always been that a dog could be taken from a youngster and used for experimental work. Under this act, Mr. President, we do not put a premium on stray dogs, because the only method by which a dog can be transferred or put into one of these experimental hospitals or institutions is by a gift proposition. As it is today, any citizen desiring can give to any hospital a dog if he so wants to. In fact, Mr. President, under the laws of this Commonwealth, that is the only way a hospital can get a dog. All of this dognapping that is going on and the selling of dogs to the institutions is illegal in this Commonwealth. You cannot sell a dog, under the law of this Commonwealth, for experimental purposes. Yet, we allow experimentation on dogs. Therefore, the institutions have had to resort to underhanded methods in order to be able to carry on the experiments for the good, not only of the human race but of the animal race also.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, all this bill does is allow public officials and pounds, if they so desire —and when they are run by the Humane Society, nothing in this act compels the pounds to give up the dogs to the institutions. It is entirely on a voluntary basis. However, I am sure that out of the 100,000 strays which are picked up and disposed of every year, there are 7,000 to 10,000 that will find their way into the hospitals where they can be of some use to research and medicine.

Therefore, Mr. President, I present to the Chair, on behalf of Senator Chapman as a co-sponsor, and on behalf of many of the Senators who have asked me to follow through on this matter, this piece of legislation and ask for immediate consideration by that committee.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 1221, on second reading, enittled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled "Public School Code of 1949" limiting the period for approval of one-room one teacher schools.

be recommitted to the Committee on Education.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President, However, if this interrogation is going to be relative to the bill, I would rather yield to the Majority Floor Leader. I have a marked Calendar and was running it for him.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thing the gentleman's modesty is overwhelming and I would be very happy to talk to the Majority Leader, although I have nothing technical in mind.

Mr. PECHAN. All right, then.

Mr. SEYLER. I would like to ask the gentleman, Mr. President, what is the purpose of his principle in having this bill sent back to committee. I will put it this way; what is Senator Mahany's purpose in wanting this bill returned to committee?

Mr. PECHAN. I think he just wants to be mean.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator, if you will examine the bill, you will find that the language in the bill is quite confusing.

Mr. SEYLER. Will you be specific, Senator?

Mr. MAHANY. Just a moment, Senator.

Mr. SEYLER. Anything, of course, is confusing to some people, and many things are confusing to many people but there are usually a few people who understand almost anything that comes up here, Senator, so please be specific.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator, if you can straighten out our thinking on this so that we might understand it, we all will appreciate your efforts. I think the confusing language is on page 3 of the bill wherein it states:

"All one-room schools operated in accordance with the provisions of this act shall if their operation is approved by the State Council of Education be credited with at least one teaching unit The State Council of Education shall withhold its approval of any one-room one-teacher school whose operation has been approved for a period of fifteen years beginning with the school year 1946-1947 and shall not approve the operation of any one-room one-teacher school unless."

Then it goes along and gives certain provisions relative to exceptions.

We did not understand what they meant by this amendment. If you can straighten it out with the committee, then that is what I think you should do. I think, perhaps, the bill should go back to committee and I am sure the chairman of the committee will call you in and try to explain it then to the members of the committee. Perhaps you can clarify the language of this amendment so that it will be more clearly understandable.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman.

It seems to me that the language is not too difficult to understand and I will be very happy to talk to the chairman of the committee about it, but the important thing to me is that this bill is the beginning of an effort to make a real reform in the State's support and subsidy to our local districts on behalf of the school building program; a real reform which, it seems to me, will put our schools on a more rational basis and will result in a real saving, over a period of years, to the Commonwealth.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would not want the bill to be scuttled because of a misunderstanding. If the gentleman feels that an explanation is all that is necessary, I would be very glad to supply that before sending it back to committee. If he feels we need to send it back to committee, I would urge him, however, to really make an effort to bring this bill out with the real purpose that it has in mind and pass it and not scuttle it in committee.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, as Chairman of the Education Committee, I would just like to run over the target of House Bill No. 1221 for a moment.

This bill was before the Education Committee, approved and put on the Calendar. I am for the bill and I think I understand it. I tried to explain it to the Members of our Caucus, but I was not completely successful. I am in agreement with this kind of thinking; that a bill which purports to do what I think this intends to do certainly ought to be described intelligently enough for the Senators on either side of the aisle to know what we are doing. Those who are not school teachers do not understand this bill, Senator.

It seems to me that it is probably sensible to return it to comittee, Mr. President, and to go over that language and clarify it. If anybody is taking odds on it, I would bet that the bill will be back on the Calendar, Senator, before Easter.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I am greatly relieved to hear the gentleman's remarks and I hope that crack about Easter was purely facetious.

Mr. President, I am not going to vote against recommitting this bill under the circumstances, because there may be some point in what the gentleman says. If the Majority Leader has difficulty in understanding this, and he is an eminent attorney, perhaps we should clarify it. To me it presents very little difficulty, but I will not vote against recommitting it with the assurance the chairman has given me.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1282, entitled:

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1397, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 21, 1939 (P. L. 566), entitled "The Pennsylvania Occupational Disease Acts," changing provisions relating to liability of employers and benefits and persons entitled thereto; changing certain rules of evidence and regulating practice and procedure; authorizing commutation of certain awards; providing for certain subrogation rights and the fixing of certain fees; prescribing penalties; making an appropriation; and generally clarifying and changing the provisions of the act.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Messrs. BERGER, LANE, MAHANY, DENT, WHALLEY and KOPRIVER, JR., offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 301) page 6, line 5 by underscoring "four"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 301) page 6, line 11 by striking out "total"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 301) page 7, line 2 by striking out the bracket before "but" and after "conclusive"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 306) page 12, line 8 by inserting brackets before "and" and after "case" and inserting immediately thereafter: "and in those cases in which the employe works fewer than five days per week for reasons not connected with or arising out of the disability resulting from the injury shall not"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 306) page 12, line 11 by inserting a bracket before and after "similar"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 306) page 12, line 12 by inserting after "employment": "similar"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 306) page 16, line 19 by striking out "total"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 306) page 17, line 4 by striking out "is able to return" and inserting in lieu thereof: "returns"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 306) page 17, line 4 by inserting after "employment": "without impairment in earnings"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 306), page 18, line 17, by inserting after "week": "When an employe works during the healing period, his wages and earning power shall be as defined in this act and he shall not receive more in wages and compensation combined than his wages at the time of disability as defined in section 309"; Amend Sec. 1, page 27, line 12, by inserting after "(a)": "and (d)"; Amend Sec. 1, page 27, line 12, by inserting after "308": "Subsection (a)"; Amend Sec. 1, page 27, line 13, by inserting after "1389)": 'and Subsection (d) Amended June 12, 1941 (P. L. 125)"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 308), page 28, by inserting between lines 18 and 19: '(d) In all agreements for the payment of compensation and all awards, the amount payable by the employer and the amount payable by the Commonwealth shall be separately stated. An award against the employer shall be for only the percentage of the total compensation which the employer is obligated to pay under subsection (a) of this section not to exceed the stated percentage of the maximum payable by the employer under section 301 (a) 2 of this act or if section 301 (a) 2 be inapplicable then under sections 306 and 307 of this act. A separate award shall be made against the Commonwealth for the balance of the compensation payable under said sections which shall be payable out of appropriations made as aforesaid. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the Commonwealth from entering into agreements to pay the compensation for which it is liable: Provided, however, That where compensation is payable under the provisions of subsection (a) of this section, the Commonwealth shall not enter into an agreement unless the employer is a party to the agreement, and provided further that any such agreement shall contain facts sufficient to entitle the claimant to compensation and shall be accompanied by a supporting medical certificate. All such agreements shall be approved by the board or by a referee."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 309) page 32, line 5 by striking out "part" and inserting in lieu thereof: "not less than one-third"; Amend Sec. 1, page 33, by inserting after line 7: "Section 310"; "Section 310. Alien widows, children [widowers] and parents [brothers and sisters] not residents of the United States shall [not] be entitled to [any] compensation but only to the amount of fifty per centum of the compensation which would have been payable if they were residents of the United States, provided that compensation benefits are granted residents of the United States under the laws of the foreign country in which the widow, children or parents reside. Alien widowers, brothers and sisters who are not residents of the United States shall not be entitled to receive any compensation. In no event shall any nonresident alien, widow or parent be entitled to compensation in the absence of proof that the alien, widow or parent has actually been receiving a substantial portion of his or her support from the decedent. Where transmission of funds in payment of any such compensation is prohibited by any law of the Commonwealth or of the United States to residents of such foreign country, then no compensation shall accrue or be payable while such prohibition remains in effect, and unless such prohibition is removed within six years from the date of death, all obligation to pay compensation under this section shall be forever extinguished. In every instance where an award is made to alien widows, children, or parents not residents in the United States, the referee or the board shall in the award fix the amount of any fee allowed to any person for services in connection with presenting the claim and it shall be a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars or imprisonment for not more than six months or both to accept any remuneration for the services other than that provided by the referee or board"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 413) page 41, line 6 by inserting after "an": "existing"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 413) page 41, line 6 by inserting after "or" where it appears the last time in said line: "existing"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 413) page 42, line 17 by striking out "where the loss in earnings results" and inserting in lieu thereof: "unless it be shown that the loss of earnings does not result"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 422) page 48, by inserting between lines 7 and 8: "Where an employer has furnished surgical and medical services or hospitalization in accordance with the provisions of subsection (f) of section 306 or where the employe has himself procured them the employer or employe shall upon request in any pending proceeding be furnished with or have made available a true and complete record of the medical and surgical services and hospital treatment, including X-rays, laboratory tests and all other medical and surgical data in the possession or under the control of the party requested to furnish or make available such data."

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second section and title were read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, and agree to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1507, entitled:

An Act amending revising clarifying and changing the act of April 6, 1953 (P. L. 3) entitled "Uniform Commercial Code."

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 1507, on second reading, be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General, for the purpose of further study.

My reason for so doing is that this bill is 117 pages long. If a bill three pages long was a little bit complicated to understand, I think 117 pages ought to be a little more difficult to understand.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, Senator Weiner no doubt knows that the Uniform Commercial Code is very near and dear to the Pennsylvania Bar Association, of which he is probably a member. I think we have quite a few members of the Pennsylvania Bar Association in this body. Although sometimes we do not agree wholeheartedly with the Bar Association's wishes, yet this Commercial Code seems to be their chief project. They put it through the Senate two years ago and very few of us understood it at the time we voted for it. Most of the lawyers in Pennsylvania have not had the opportunity of getting acquainted with all of its provisions as yet. However, the proponents of that original bill now feel that there should be some clarifying amendments added to it. They have had to live under it for the last two years. The banks, especially, feel that there are some corrective amendments which need to be made to this legislation.

Mr. President, I would suggest to the Senator that instead of having it recommitted, we keep it on the Calendar, either on the Second Reading Calendar or, if he desires, I would go along with putting it on the Second Reading Postponed Calendar until Senator McPherson, who is the Chairman of the Judiciary General Committee, from which this bill was reported, can return to the Senate. Senator McPherson, I understand, will be away this week and perhaps next week. I feel, however, that we should keep the bill out until he returns.

In the meantime, Mr. President, we may be able to give it some further study and work out some of these difficulties.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have no objection to the bill being placed on the Second Reading Postponed Calendar, but the point that I would like to make here is that the Bar Association has said nothing about this bill itself or these amendments.

This bill as passed by the House, is not very clear. I spoke to some of the members who had a little chance to study this bill and it is not very clear to them. I, as a Member of the Joint State Government Committee, took this bill in its original form and went to the trouble of reading it. I also discussed it with quite a number of the lawyers in Philadelphia, who practice under the new Uniform Act. Incidentally, I would like to add here, parenthetically, that this act is uniform only so far as Pennsylvania is concerned. No other State in the Union has enacted this uniform legislation.

Mr. President, we have only had this act in operation about a year or a year and one-half. I think for us just to willy-nilly enact a 117-page bill, which is supposed to correct a law which most of the people did not read and are not too familiar with, is rather silly on our part and certainly makes it appear as if we do not know what we are doing. I think that we ought to all study this bill and have some idea or be able to project our thinking as to what this will do to the present act and to the people who will have to deal with it and live under it, because it does raise more costs now than people are paying. If putting it on the Postponed Second Reading Calendar will give us some time to look into this thing and have an opportunity to discuss this and get further information on it, I will withdraw my motion and accede to the Majority Leader's suggestion.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL WITHDRAWN

Mr. WEINER. Accordingly, Mr. President, I withdraw my motion to recommit this bill to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I withdraw my second to the motion.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 1507, on second reading, be placed on the Second Reading Postponed Calendar.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WATKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, on August 19, 1953, Act No. 313, authorizing the building of a mental hospital in Delaware County, Pennsylvania, was signed by former Governor John S. Fine. It is to my regret, and it is the feeling of many of us in Delaware County, up to the present time, that no hospital has been built or authorized by the General State Authority.

Mr. President, under no circumstances do I want any of you to feel as though I charge any politics or any political maneuvers in any way for the delay of this hospital. However, I do charge neglect on the part of our former Governor and I feel that we have also spent a lot of time and much lost motion has gone on in the past Administration in not moving on this hospital.

There were several locations proposed for the building of this mental hospital. I understand that tomorrow, before the General State Authority, they intend to take up the question as to the building of this hospital and just where it is to be located. The understanding that I have, Mr. President, is that this hospital is now being planned to be built in one of our residential sections which the Planning Board of Delaware County considers most vital as a residential section. Some 2,000 people have signed petitions, asking the General State Authority to reconsider another location. I certainly would like to go on record and, as I said, not politically, plead to the Members of the General State Authority, Senator Taylor, Senator Dent and the other Members in the Senate who are members, that they, tomorrow, consider seriously and make no plan to accept the location which is now being considered. It would be most difficult for our county to have this hospital placed in the location that they are now planning on.

Mr. President, of course, we are in favor of a mental hospital and our sympathy is certainly with the mental patients in the State of Pennsylvania. We surely know and appreciate the needs of this hospital. We are in no way condemning it or saying that we do not want a hospital built in Delaware County. However, we certainly ask the members of the General State Authority to give every consideration in denying, perhaps for a few days or a few weeks, so that they might consider another location for this hospital.

I do not want anyone to think that Delaware County does not want this hospital, but I must say that if they insist on it, I would like to be given the opportunity to consider withdrawing the hospital from Delaware County and checking another location in the eastern part of Pennsylvania that might be acceptable.

Mr. President, I most humbly request that they give consideration to this nonpolitical talk, both Democrats and Republicans who are interested in this hospital, but who are both not interested in the location in which it is proposed in the next few weeks.

Thank you very much, Mr. President and Members of the Senate, for listening. Senator Taylor, please remember that we in Delaware County—and Senator Dent, please remember—do ask you to reconsider the location in which you intend placing this hospital.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, former Governor John Fine has been accused of many things and lots of abuse has been heaped upon his head. Some of it perhaps has been justified and some has been unjustified. However, in this particular case, where Senator Watkins seeks to place the blame on the former Administration, I do not believe the accusation is justified as far as Governor Fine or anyone in the former Administration is concerned for not having erected this hospital in Delaware County. Perhaps, the Members of the General Assembly were a bit wrong in picking out the particular county in which this hospital should be located. We did designate Delaware County as the one in which the hospital should be constructed, feeling that it had adequate sites there.

However, Mr. President, after we got into the business of selecting sites for this hospital, we found that people surrounding the area which we had chosen did not want the hospital there. They were fearful that inmates would escape in nighttime and, perhaps, would represent a danger to their homes and their families. They took us into court to keep us from erecting the hospital in that particular area.

Mr. President, when you choose a hospital site today, there are a whole lot of things that must be taken into consideration. In the old days, you used to be able to pick out a site almost anywhere, up in the mountains or anywhere else. The further away you got from civilization, the better it would be. Therefore, we find a lot of our State Hospitals in the mountainous areas, removed from what you might call civilization. We find, today, that it is difficult to obtain adequate staffs for those hospitals, nurses and so on, due to the fact that they are so far removed from built-up areas.

I happen to be a Member of the General State Authority and I devoted quite a little attention to trying to select a site for this particular hospital, as did the other Members of the General State Authority, including former Governor Fine. We found that today in order to have a good hospital which will operate well, it must be fairly close to a city. You will find that in order to get the best type of doctors, you must get them from the cities where they can work parttime in the hospitals and parttime in their private practices. Otherwise, the State could not aord to hire the type of doctors that we would have to have to operate our mental institutions. The hospitals also must be built quite close to a city in order to get the employees that are required in a hospital. When you do that, you must consider the water facilities and the sewerage facilities. Also, the transportation facilities must be considered.

I will tell you that one of the hardest jobs that the General State Authority has had is trying to choose a satisfactory site for the mental hospital that we are planning to construct in southeastern Pennsylvania. Every site that is chosen, it seems as though someone takes us into court and tells us that that particular site is the wrong one. As I said, it must be close to a city and when you consider that, you will find that you are in a built-up area. You will find it very difficult to find a site which is free and clear of housing and so forth and one which represents the number of acres that is neded for this particular type of hospital.

Mr. President, I believe that if Senator Watkins goes through with this bill that he is proposing, it might be helpful. I understand that he is proposing to remove from the act, in which we set up the provision that the General State Authority should build this hospital in southeastern Pennsylvania, the words "Delaware County."

The original act says "Delaware County"; if we remove the words "Delaware County," it might aid us in finding another site, perhaps. Maybe it could be located in Chester County or Montgomery County. It should be in some county that is close to Philadelphia.

As I said, it must be close to a metropolitan area. If we do that, I will assure Senator Watkins that we will do everything possible to continue with our work to try to find a satisfactory site. Perhaps we will come up yet with one in Delaware County If we cannot find one there, we will go to some surrounding counties. However, I want to assure Senator Watkins that the Members of the General State Authority have this problem in mind and we hope that some day in the near future we will be able to solve it.

I hope, however, that Senator Watkins will not blame too much the former Governor of Pennsylvania, Governor John Fine, who had no more to do with this particular measure than any of the rest of us on the General State Authority. In all fairness to Governor Fine, I want to say that he is no more guilty in this connection than any of the other Members on the General State Authority.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am sorry that this subject came up at this particular moment, because it is late in the afternoon and most of us are a little tired and would like to quit for the day. However, to clarify the situation a little, I want to say amen to the remarks made by Senator Mahany.

Mr. President, there is no question that when you start to establish an institution of this type, you can easily get opposition. However, taking it out of Delaware County and leaving the designated site in the hands of the Site Committee of the General State Authority and the general body of the General State Authority will not help the matter in any way at all. We have now been searching for over three years and, although we have been restricted to Delaware County, Delaware County offers as much, if not more, of the facilities and opportunities for a hospital site as can be obtained in any of the other counties surrounding the city of Philadelphia.

I believe that all we would do if we passed legislation at this point would be to confuse the issue and delay further the building of this needed and worth-while project. You cannot find a site anywhere near the city of Philadelphia that would not be complained about. You cannot find it because of the fact that those who have their homes built in the community are of the feeling that perhaps the building of this institution might depreciate their properties. I think that Senator Watkins means well; I think he is trying to look out as best he can for the interest of his community. However, there is a greater interest and that interest is the interest of the people of Pennsylvania.

Long ago, we recognized the right of the Commonwealth by giving the Commonwealth the right of eminent domain. We are constantly harassed, when we go to build a new road or a new public building or a bridge or any public construction, by those who do not want to have any inconvenience or any change in their own position. Everyone fights change and, as I get older, I fight change I suppose even more than I did when I was a younger man.

Therefore, Mr. President, I say to Senator Watkins, in good advice and in good friendship, that the thing to do is to allow the site committee to continue its search in the hope that we will find in Delaware County—and I have a great deal of respect for the people of that county. I am sure that the great numbers of citizens there would not like to be characterized as those who care so little for the unfortunates that they do not want them around them. I am sure that the great body of Senator Watkins's population, and citizenry in Delaware County, will go along with a site, if we find one, that has the four attributes which are necessary; first, proximity to the labor market; second, transportation; third, particularly, sewerage; and fourth, watershed. If we can find the proper site with these four attributes, we will just have to consider it as a matter of public duty to go in and exercise the right of eminent domain and the power of the Commonwealth and build this institution. In the end, it is the service that it renders to the peoples of the State, rather than the location of the site which is paramount.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

Th PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. PECHAN and Dent read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 993, entitled:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1956

The House met at 1:00 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Rabbi Moses N. Friedman, York, guest Chaplain, offered the following prayer:

Heavenly Father, in Thy infinite wisdom Thou hast moved us to dedicate this week to the promotion of amity, understanding and cooperation among the citizenry of our country. Help us, therefore, to center our thoughts on the theological and sociological truth that essentially all human beings are the same, created by Thee equal and destined—according to Thy will—to share in a common destiny. Imbue our minds, we pray Thee, with concentration on the oneness which unite us with fellow men and not on the unlikeness which divide us, on the ideals we share in common, which can raise us to the height Thou hast designated for the human family, and not on the differences which separate us.

Animate us, O Lord, with resolution and renewal to sustain bortherhood throughout the year, and infuse determination in our hearts to eradicate every mite of unneighborliness which may give totalitarian propaganda cause to deride our democratic way of life. And as a nation appointed by Thy grace as a beacon of freedom and democracy—we invoke Thy help and guidance in attuning our international relations to the reflection of Thy image in which Thou hast created us.

Bless this meeting, we implore Thee, with sagacity in deliberations and with unity in resolves, and the Speaker and the Members of this house with success in their endeavors and happiness in their achievements. Amen.

JOURNALS APPROVED

The SPEAKER. Are there any correction to the Journals of Monday, January 30, Tuesday, January 31, Wednesday, February 1, Monday, February 6, Tuesday, February 7, Wednesday, February 8 and Thursday, February 9, 1956? If not, and without objection, the Journals are approved.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Tuesday, February 14, 1956 will be postponed until printed. The Chair hears none.

REORGANIZATION PLAN NO. 8 SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Reorganization Plan No. 8 having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, it was publicly read as follows:

Resolved, that Reorganization Plan No. 8 of 1955 transmitted to the General Assembly under date of January 17, 1956 which is incorporated herein by reference be approved.

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

LYCOMING COLLEGE CHOIR WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. We have the privilege of having with us today the Lycoming College Choir of Williamsport, Pa. who are under the direction of the Choir Director Walter G. McIver, Associate Professor of Voice at the College.

The Choir is the guest of the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Swartz.

The Choir rendered a number of selections.

The SPEAKER. Since the Majority and the Minority Floor Leaders are absent from the floor and since we cannot resume the regular business of the session until they return, the House hopes the Choir has at least one more number in their repertoire.

The Choir rendered additional selections.

The SPEAKER. On behalf of the House the Chair thanks the members of the Choir and their Conductor. We wish we had more time to listen to one of the best Choirs the Chair has heard in many, many months.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 1838.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 17, 1956.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No 1838, Printer's No. 1119, entitled "An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled 'An act relating to the public school system including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto" further regulating the admission of beginners to the public schools."

This bill would allow the admission of beginners to public schools to be extended beyond the first two weeks of the annual school term or the first or second semester when a good reason satisfactory to the board is furnished for the failure to attend at such time.

The Department of Public Instruction is opposed to this bill because under the present law, in worthy cases a child who, for health reasons or some other urgent reason, cannot be entered during the first two weeks of school, can through an understanding with the school officials be placed on the roll and carried as an excused absence until such time as the health of the pupil permits his coming to school. Even under the existing law, we get many requests from parents asking for special concessions for certain children. Therefore, we can well imagine the pressure which would be placed on school boards if the proposed legislation became law. It would be bound to result in a variation of practices throughout the State which certainly would not be conducive to accurate child accounting procedures.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the veto of the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 756.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 17, 1956.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 756, Printer's No. 1308, entitled "An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905) entitled 'An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds' changing the requirements regarding use of different types of danger and caution signals and eliminating penalty provision."

This bill amends Section 824 of The Vehicle Code, the Act of May 1, 1929, P. L. 905, which refers to danger and caution signals. It deletes the penalty clause from the section so that there is no method of enforcing the requirement of these danger and caution signals as far as motor buses, motor omnibuses and commercial vehicles are concerned.

It adds a subsection, designated (a. 1), which requires all other motor vehicles to be equipped with certain flares, fusees or other signals. However, the only means of enforcing this added subsection is the provision that the equipment specified by the subsection shall be made a requirement for the official inspection provided for in other sections of the Code. This results in the subsection being unenforceable as to out-of-state motor vehicles. The enforcement provision is further weakened by the fact that it contains a condition that the subsection shall not apply to vehicles within the confines of a municipality or within a business or residence district. Having in mind the definitions of "residence district" and "business district" in The Vehicle Code, and the fact that most official inspection stations are located either in a business or a residence district, the enforcement provided for in the subsection is reduced to an impracticability if not a nullity. But weak as this enforcement provision is, it does not apply to buses, motor omnibuses and commercial vehicles.

With the increasing number of automobile accidents and the dangers arising from stalled motor vehicles along our highways, particularly during periods of foggy or inclement weather or darkness, this is a most inopportune time to remove penalty clauses and weaken or make impossible enforcement procedures.

Records of accidents involving disabled motor vehicles where emergency warning signals were not properly placed indicate such accidents result in serious and in many instances fatal consequences, proving the necessity of warning signals and a means of enforcing the provisions requiring such signals.

The Constitution states that the Governor "shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed." I cannot expect enforcement officials to execute laws that provide no penalties.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 1526.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 17, 1956.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1526, Printer's No. 602, entitled "An Act amending the act of March 7, 1901 (P. L. 20) entitled 'An act for the government of cities of the second class' requiring reimbursement to cities of second class for costs incurred in the collection of certain fines."

This bill provides for reimbursement by the Secretary of Revenue of costs incurred by the Traffic Court of Allegheny County in the collection of traffic violation fines from violators who originally pay such funds with checks which have been returned to the traffic court marked "not sufficient funds."

It is inequitable in that it singles out the Magistrates Court of the City of Pittsburgh for special preferential treatment. Also it does not limit the amount of money which may be refunded by reasons of any particular check with respect to which collection difficulties are encountered.

I have been advised by the Secretary of Revenue that the costs which are presently collected by the Traffic Court are sufficient to cover any expenses incident to the collection of improper checks.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

APPROVAL OF HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 53 FROM GOVERNOR.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 17, 1956.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Concurrent Resolution recalling from the Governor House Bill No. 53, Printer's No. 1307, for the purpose of amendment.

Accordingly, the original bill is herewith returned.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 1296, Printer's No. 1357, entitled:

An Act creating a court of record in each judicial district except the first and fifth districts to be known as "The Domestic Relations Court" defining the powers of the said court with respect to the care guidance control trial placement and commitment of certain delinquent and neglected children * * *

NOT VOTING—1

Cooper,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 688, as follows:

An Act amending the act of May 26, 1949 (P. L. 1828) entitled "An act concerning the investment powers and duties of guardians committees trustees and other fiduciaries except personal representatives and prescribing the nature and kind of investments which may be made and retained by such fiduciaries" by making further provisions respecting the qualification of common stock for investment where there is a predecessor or constituent corporation and by changing the requirements of an interest bearing deposit

Section 1 Subsection (a) of section 9 act of May 26, 1949 (P. L. 1828) known as the "Fiduciaries Investment Act of 1949" amended June 19, 1953 (P. L. 284) is amended to read

Section 9 Stocks

(a) Preferred and Common Stock Preferred and common stock of any corporation organized under the laws of the United States or of any commonwealth or state thereof or of the District of Columbia shall be authorized investment if

(1) purchased in the exercise of that degree of judgment and care under the circumstances then prevailing which men of prudence discretion and intelligence exercise in the management of their own affairs not in regard to speculation but in regard to the permanent disposition of their funds considering the probable income to be derived therefrom as well as the probable safety of their capital

(2) in the case of preferred stock the corporation issuing the stock has earned a net profit in eight of the preceding ten fiscal years as reflected in its statements and during each of the preceding ten fiscal years has paid dividends in the specified amounts upon all its preferred stock in any outstanding during such year

(3) in the case of common stock the corporation issuing the stock has earned a net profit in twelve of the preceeding sixteen fiscal years as reflected in its statements and during each of the preceding sixteen fiscal years has paid dividends in the specified amounts upon all its preferred stock if any outstanding during said year and in each of at least twelve of the preceding sixteen fiscal years has paid dividends in some amount upon all its common stock if any outstanding during such year and

(4) in the case of any stock other than stock of a bank or insurance company or of an investment company (as hereinafter defined) the stock is listed or traded (or if unlisted or not entitled to trading privelegs shall be eligible for listing and application for such listing shall have been made) on the New York Stock Exchange or any other exchange approved by the Secretary of Banking

No investment in common stock shall be made which at that time would cause the market value of the investments in common stocks to exceed one-third of the market value of the estate not including in such market value the value of any participation in a common trust fund No sale or other liquidation of any investment shall be required solely because of any change in market values whereby the percentages of stocks hereinabove set forth are exceeded In determining the market value of an estate a fiduciary may rely upon publised market quotations as to those investments for which such quotations are available and upon such valuations of other property as in his best judgment seem fair and reasonable according to available information

When a corporttion has acquired a substantial part of its property within sixteen years immediately preceding the investment by consolidation or merger or by the purchase of a substantial part of the property of any other corporation or corporations the earnings of the predecessor or constituent corporation shall be consolidated so as to ascertain whether the net profit requirements of this section have been satisfied and the dividend requirements of this section shall be satisfied by payment of the required dividends by any predecessor or constituent corporation

"Corporation" as used in this section shall include a voluntary association a joint-stock association or company a business trust a Massachusetts trust a common-law trust and any other organization organized and existing for any lawful purpose and which like a corporation continues to exist notwithstanding changes in the personnel of its members or participants and conducts its affairs through a committee a board or some other group acting in a representative capacity

"Investment Company" as used in this section shall mean a corporation (as defined in this section) which is registered as an investment company under the Federal Investment Company Act of 1940 as from time to time amended and which has no preferred stock bonds loans or any other outstanding securities having preference or priority as to assets or earnings over its common stock and which shall have net assets of not less than ten million dollars ($10,000,000) at the date of purchase

"Common Stock" as used in this section shall include the stock certificate certificates of beneficial interests or trust participation certificates issued by any corporation or unincorporated association included under the definition of "corporation" in the preceding paragraph

Section 2 Section 12 of the act is amended to read

Section 12 Interest-Bearing Deposit An interest-bearing deposit in any bank bank and trust company savings bank or national banking association located within the Commonwealth shall be an authorized investment if

(1) not in the commercial department of a corporate fiduciary of the estate or trust to which the funds belong

(2) the maturity date or the permissible date of withdrawal does not exceed one year from the date of the deposit or any renewal thereof and

(3) the aggregate of such deposits does not exceed [one thousand five hundred] five thousand dollars] except that in the case of a mutual savings bank the aggregate does not exceed the amount which is fully insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation pursuant to the Act of Congress of June sixteenth one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (48 Stat 168) and its supplements and amendments heretofore or hereafter enacted

Section 3 This act shall take effect January 1, 1956

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. HARNEY, from the Committee on Agriculture, reported as committed, House Bill No. 258, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 11, 1921 (P. L. 522) entitled as amended "Dog Law of 1921," providing for free license tags for guide dogs for the blind.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 166, REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. HARNEY, from the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations, to which was referred resolution offered by Messrs. Wagner, Scott and Van Sant, on January 30, 1956, reported the same without amendment as follows:

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO PROVIDE ADEQUATE SAFEGUARDS INCLUDING IMPORT QUOTAS IN TARIFF AND TRADE LEGISLATION

In the Senate, January 30, 1956.

Whereas, The increased importation of numerous products that come into competition with the output of factories, farms and mines of Pennsylvania, replacing the products of Pennsylvania's industries, is a constant menace to the State's continuing economic stability; and

Whereas, The lower wages paid abroad make it impossible for many of our smaller and medium-sized producers to compete with imports without resorting to ruinous price-cutting, which in turn would result either in financial losses or heavy pressure for wage reductions and outright unemployment; and

Whereas, Our National obligations have reached such extreme proportions that the National income must be maintained at its present unprecedented high level, or close thereto, lest we become involvent; and

Whereas, Unemployment caused by the imports of residual oil, which increased 300% from an average of 45 million barrels in 1946, to more than 136 million barrels in 1954, or the yearly equivalent of 33 million tons of coal; and unemployment caused by imports of crude oil; various types of glass, steel, aluminum, brass and zinc products; pottery and chinaware; granite, tiles, cement, hardboard, plywood, hardware, plumbing, flat glass and other building supplies, lace, carpets and all kinds of woolen, cotton and synthetic fibre manufactured goods; leather and fabric gloves; bicycles; hydraulic turbines; machine tools and other machinery; heavy electrical equipment and other electrical industry products and electronics; watches, clocks and parts; optical industry products; cutlery; scientific apparatus; pencils and pens; pins, clips and fasteners; soft fibre; insulation board and manufactured cork products; chemicals; toys; mushrooms; farm, dairy and dried milk products, wallpaper, hats and millinry, printing industry products; ladies hand bags and leather goods; nails, wire, screws, bolts and nuts and many other commodities; will render the upholding of the economy at its highest levels most uncertain and difficult, unless all import trade is placed on a fair competitive basis and the potential injury therefrom thus eliminated; and

Whereas, Agricultural products such as wheat, wheat flour, cotton, butter, cheese and peanuts enjoy the protection of import quotas; and

Whereas, A maximum of satisfactory trade results from a prosperous domestic economy freed from the threat of a breakdown resulting from unfair import competition; therefore be it

Resolved (if he House of Representatives concurs), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorialize the Congress of the United States that adequate safeguards be provided in tariff and trade legislation, including import quotas, against the destruction or lowering of our American standard of living, the labor standard of our workmen, and the stability of our economy by unfair import competition and that the existing trade agreements legislation be amended accordingly; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States, the Vice President of the United States, the Secretary of State, the Secrtary of Commerce, the Secretary of Labor, the Secretary of Agriculture, the Chairman of the United States Tariff Commission, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania

Laid over for one day under the Rules.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. PECHAN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 994, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949," providing compensation for the secretary of the county board of school directors when not a member of the board.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. WATKINS read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 995, entitled:

An Act authorizing and directing the Department of Highways with approval of the Governor to construct a highway and to erect and maintain a bridge over the Chester River in Delaware County between Twenty-second Street and Upland Avenue in the Borough of Upland to a point on Chester Expressway in the City of Chester, and to provide the necessary approaches and connections with State highways; empowering counties to pay certain damages and making an appropriation therefor.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

BILLS SIGNED

The President (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman(announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bills had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

House Bill No. 730, entitled:

An Act providing for and regulating the licensing of poultry technicians, by the Secretary of Agriculture, for the drawing of blood from poultry to be used in pullorum testing programs.

House Bill No. 1294, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), entitled "The Penal Code," regulating the advertising and offering for sale of merchandise, commodities and services.

House Bill No. 1795, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 723), entitled "An act regulating the investment of funds by administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers of the State Government," by increasing the investment powers of State administrative departments, boards, commissions or officers.

Whereupon,

The President (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

HOUSE MESSAGES

RESOLUTION RECALLING FROM THE GOVERNOR HOUSE BILL No. 1623

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows, considered and agreed to:

In the House of Representatives, February 21, 1956.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 1623, Printer's No. 1348, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 2, 1929 (P. L. 1778), entitled "General County Law," extending retirement benefits to veterans of armed conflicts.

be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

HOUSE INSISTS UPON ITS AMENDMENTS NON-CONCURRED IN BY THE SENATE TO SENATE BILL No. 215

He also presented communication from the House of Representatives informing the Senate that the House insists upon its amendments non-concurred in by the Senate to Senate Bill No. 215, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949," changing the basis for reimbursement on account of rentals payable to the State Public School Building Authority, municipality authorities and nonprofit corporations.

SENATE INSISTS UPON ITS NON-CONCURRENCE IN THE AMENDMENTS MADE BY THE HOUSE TO SENATE BILL No. 215

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate insist upon its non-concurrence in the amendments made by the House to Senate Bill No. 215, and that a Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate be appointed.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE APPOINTED ON SENATE BILL No. 215

The PRESIDENT. The Chair announces, on behalf of the President pro tempore, the appointment of Messrs. WAGNER, KESSLER and HAYS, as a committee of conference on the part of the Senate to confer with a similar committee of the House (if the House shall appoint such committee) to consider the differences existing between the two houses in relation to Senate Bill No. 215.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. WAGNER and WHALLEY (By request) read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 996, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949," authorizing and limiting the imposition of a tax for school purposes on certain residents of school districts of the first class A; prescribing the duties of public officials; requiring the filing of returns and the giving of information by employers and those subject to the tax; imposing on employers the duty of collecting the tax at source; providing for the lien and collection of the tax; and imposing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

SENATE RESOLUTION

URGING THE SECRETARY OF THE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT TO COMPLETE AS SOON AS PRACTICABLE THE CHESTER EXPRESSWAY

Mr. WATKINS offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 21, 1956.

The inadequate State Highway System extending in and about the City of Chester is totally inadequate for local and through traffic.

The City of Chester, County of Delaware, Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, and the State of Pennsylvania have heretofore entered into an agreement for the construction of a limited access highway to be known as "Chester Expressway," connecting the Conchester Road and U.S. Highway 13, known as the Chester Pike, connecting Chester and Philadelphia.

Construction of the first portion thereof has actually been completed.

The City of Chester and County of Delaware have specifically allocated $1,000,000 to pay for land damage claims covering the construction of the remaining link of the said proposed Chester Expressway.

No further action has been taken concerning the construction of that portion of the proposed Chester Expressway situate between Kerlin Street and Chester Pike.

The travelling public, including tens of thousands of employes in the heavy industries of Chester and lower Delaware County are daily inconvenienced by the failure of the State Highway Department to push to completion the remainder of the "Chester Expressway."

Hundreds of thousands of residents of Philadelphia and eastern Delaware County are subject to daily traffic jams caused by the overload condition of an antiquated State Highway System existing between Eddystone Borough and the Delaware state line; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania urge the Secretary of the Highway Department of this Commonwealth to complete as soon as practicable the Chester Expressway in the County of Delaware for the convenience and safety of the travelling public of this Commonwealth.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

CONSIDERATION OF EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. WOLFE asked and obtained unanimous consent for immediate consideration of the nominations reported at today's Session.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

A motion was made by Mr. WOLFE and Mr. BERGER,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 491, as follows:

An Act adopting an interpleader compact for the complete and expeditious adjudication of adverse claims to property in the hands of a stakeholder where one or more claimants are in different jurisdictions and entering into the compact with other states territories and possessions of the United States the District of Columbia and states of the community of nations and component governmental units thereof that adopt the compact and are acceptable to this Commonwealth for the purposes of the compact

Section 1 This act shall be known and may be cited as the "Interpleader Compact Law"

Section 2 The following interpleader compact is hereby approved ratified adopted and entered into by this Commonwealth as a party state to take effect between this Commonwealth and any other state or states as defined in the compact when entered into in accordance with the terms of the compact by the other state or states and not disapproved by the Governor of this Commonwealth under paragraph (c) of article seven of the compact

The Interpleader Compact

The contracting states solemnly agree

Article 1 Purpose The aims of this compact are to promote comity and judicial cooperation among the states party thereto and to relieve from undue risk and uncertainty a person who may be subject to double or multiple liability because of the existence of adverse claimants one or more of whom in the absence of this compact may not be subject to the jurisdiction of the adjudicating court when such person makes all reasonable efforts to secure judicial determination and discharge of his liability

Article 2 Definitions For the purpose of this compact the following definitions shall apply

(a) A state shall mean (1) a state of the United States or any territory or possession of the United States and the District of Columbia acting under Article 1 section 10 clause 3 of the Constitution of the United States in entering this compact with an American or a foreign jurisdiction or (2) a state of the community of nations and any component governmental unit of such a state which under the laws thereof may validly become party to this compact

(b) A person shall include any entity capable of suing or being sued in the state in which the interpleader is pending

(c) Interpleader shall mean a judicial procedure by which two or more persons who have adverse claims on account of the same debt or duty against a third person may be required to litigate these claims in one proceeding

Article 3 Service of process (a)Service of process sufficient to acquire personal jurisdiction may be made within a state party to this compact by a person who institutes an interpleader proceeding in another state party to this compact provided that such service shall fulfill the requirements for service of process of the state in which the service is made and provided further that such service shall meet the minimum standards for service of the jurisdiction where the proceeding is pending

(b) No such service of process shall be valid unless the person who institutes the interpleader proceeding is either a permanent resident or domiciliary of the state in which the proceeding is pending or a corporation authorized to do business in that state or unless the subject matter of the proceeding is specific real or personal property situated within that state

Article 4 Scope of interpleader unaffected Nothing in this compact shall be construed to change any requirement or limitation on the scope of interpleader of the state in which the interpleader proceeding is pending except in relation to acquisition of personal jurisdiction

Article 5 Finality of judgment No judgment obtained against any person in any proceeding to which he had become a party by reason of service of process effected pursuant to the provisions of this compact shall be subject to attack on the ground that the adjudicating court did not have personal jurisdiction over such person

Article 6 Enactment (a) This compact shall enter into force and effect as to a state one year from the date it has taken whatever action may be necessary pursuant to its required processes to make this compact part of the laws of such state and the appropriate authority of such state shall have deposited a duly authenticated copy of its statute proclamation order or similar official pronouncement having the force of law and embodying this compact as law with the appropriate officer or agency of each of the states party thereto In the statute proclamation order or similar act by which a state adopts this compact it shall specify the officer or agency with whom the documents referred to in this article shall be deposited

(b) Unless the statute proclamation order or similar act by which a state adopts this compact shall specify otherwise and name the states with which the state, intends to compact such adoption shall apply to all other states then party to or who may subsequently become party to this compact In the event that a state shall enter this compact with some states but not with others the deposit of documents required by paragraph (a) of this article shall be effected only with those states to which the adopting state specifies an intention to be bound

Article 7 Withdrawal (a) This compact shall continue in force and remain binding on a party state until such state shall withdraw therefrom To be valid and effective any withdrawal must be preceded by a formal notice in writing of one year from the appropriate authority of that state Such notice shall be communicated to the same officer or agency in each party state with which the notice of adoption was deposited pursuant to article six of this compact In the event that a state wishes to withdraw with respect to one or more states but wishes to remain a party to this compact with other states party thereto its notice of withdrawal shall be communicated only to those states with respect to which withdrawal is contemplated

(b) Withdrawal shall not be effective as to service of process accomplished pursuant to this compact prior to the actual date of withdrawal

(c) Any state receiving a notice of adoption from another state may by action of its executive head within a year from the receipt of such notice in the manner provided for withdrawal in paragraph (a) of this article specify its intention not to be bound to the state depositing such notice and such adoption thereupon shall not be binding upon the state so acting

Article 8 Severability and construction The provisio

of this compact shall be severable and if any phrase clause sentence or provision of this compact is declared to be contrary to the constitution of any participating state or in the case of a component governmental unit to the constitution of the state of which it is a part or the applicability thereof to any government agency person or circumstance is held invalid the validity of the remainder of this compact and the applicability thereof to any government agency person or circumstance shall not be affected thereby provided that if this compact shall be held invalid or contrary to the constitution of any government participating therein the compact shall remain in full force and effect as to the remaining governments and in full force and effect as to the government affected as to all severable matters It is the intent that the provisions of this compact shall be reasonably and liberally construed

Section 3 The Secretary of the Commonwealth is hereby designated as the officer to receive all documents deposited pursuant to articles six and seven of the interpleader compact The Secretary of the Commonwealth is also directed to act as the repository for all such documents and to keep and make available upon request a complete list of the states with which this Commonwealth is party to the interpleader compact together with such other information as may be in his possession concerning the status of such compact in respect to enactment and withdrawals therefrom

Section 4 As used in paragraph (c) of article seven of the interpleader compact the phrase "executive head" shall mean the Governor of this Commonwealth In the event that the Governor takes any action pursuant to paragraph (c) of article seven of the interpleader compact he shall promptly notify the Secretary of the Commonwealth and shall deposit with him copies of all official communication and documents relating to the action The Governor shall take appropriate action pursuant to paragraph (c) of article seven of the interpleader compact so as not to become party thereto with any state not recognized by the United States of America or with any state the feautres of whose legal system make the equitable operation of the compact impractical

Section 5 This act shall take effect immediately

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which concurrence of the House is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1282, as follows:

An Act authorizing the sale of vacant land located in areas certified as conservation areas in counties of the first class under a judgment obtained on a tax claim by the sheriff of the county providing for the discharge of all liens mortgages ground rents estates and claims against the property by sale and limiting the right of redemption

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 (a) It is hereby determined and declared as a matter of legislative finding that

(1) There exists in counties of the first class in this Commonwealth areas which have become blighted or are deteriorating and thus in serious danger of becoming blighted because of the unsafe unsanitary inadequate or overcrowded condition of the dwellings therein because of the conditions of vacant lots or because of the conditions of vacant lots or because of inadequate planning of the area or the excessive land coverage by the building thereon or the lack of proper light and air and open space or because of the defective design and arrangement of the buildings thereon or faulty street or lot layout or economically or socially undesirable land uses As a result of these conditions blighted and deteriorated areas have been conducive to the spread of disease and have been productive of an alarming rise in juvenile delinquency and crime

(2) These areas contain numerous empty lots which are generally used for dumping and are breeding places for vermin These empty lots are detrimental to the health safety and welfare of the community and result in accelerating the trend toward neighborhood deterioration and blight

(3) These vacant lots are generally tax delinquent Neighboring land owners and others generally refrain from purchasing these lots at tax sales rehabilitating them (i) because of the necessity of two sales under existing law and (ii) because the prior owner has under existing law an outstanding right to redeem the property and oust the purchaser from possession

(b) It is hereby declared to be the policy of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to promote the health safety and welfare of the inhabitants thereof by encouraging neighboring land owners and others to purchase vacant lots at tax sales by authorizing the purchaser at a tax sale wherever tax delinquencies exist for a period of at least five years to take title upon such sale free of all tax and municipal claims liens mortgages ground rents charges and estates and without any right of redemption

Section 2 Whenever the Planning Commission having jurisdiction in a county determines that any area is blighted or in serious danger of becoming blighted it may certify the area as a conservation area In making its determination the Planning Commission shall consider the extent to which the following conditions exist

(1) Unsafe unsanitary and overcrowded dwellings

(2) Vacant lots overgrown by weeds and used for dumping grounds

(3) A disproportionate number of tax delinquent properties causing the taxes received from the area to be less than the cost of the State and municipal services rendered

(4) Excessive land coverage by buildings with resulting lack of proper light air and open space

(5) Defective design and arrangement of buildings or faulty street or lot layout

(6) Economically and socially undesirable land uses

Section 3 The term "vacant lot" shall mean any piece of ground without any permanent building or structure erected thereon

Section 4 (a) When a claimant in any county of the first class has obtained a judgment upon its tax or municipal claim against any vacant lot located in an area which has been certified as a conservation area by the Planning Commission having jurisdiction in the county and there shall be charged against the property tax delinquencies for a period of at least five years the claimant may file a petition in the court in which the proceeding is pending setting forth the facts necessary to establish the right to sell the property together with a title search or a title insurance policy showing the state of the record and the ownership of the property and of all tax and municipal claims mortgages ground rents or other charges on or estates in the real property as shown by the official record of the county in which the real property is situate The court shall thereupon grant a rule upon all parties shown to be interested to appear and show cause why a decree should not be made that the property be sold free and clear of the respective tax and municipal claims liens mortgages ground rents charges and estates and without any right of redemption after a sale

(b) If upon a hearing the court is satisfied that (1) service of the rule has been made upon the interested parties in the manner provided for the service of writs of scire facias in section 18 of the act of May 16 1923 (P L 207) for the obtaining of a judgment upon tax and municipal claims and (2) notice of the rule has been published by the claimant in at least one newspaper of general circulation in the county and in the authorized legal periodical published therein if any and (3) the facts stated in the petition are true it shall order and decree that the property be sold at a subsequent sheriff sale at a time to be fixed thereafter by the court free and clear of all tax and municipal claims liens mortgages ground rents charges and estates to the highest bidder at the sale and the purchaser at the sale shall take and forever thereafter have an absolute title to the property sold free and discharged of all tax and municipal claims liens mortgages ground rents charges and estates of whatsoever kind The property shall not thereafter be subject to any right of redemption Notice of the sale shall be published by the claimant in at least one newspaper of general circulation in the county and in the authorized legal periodical published therein if any

Section 5 For the purpose of enabling the petitioner in any proceedings to give the notice required the court may take the testimony of any interested party or of any other person whom it may have reason to believe has knowledge of the whereabouts of any of the other interested parties

Section 6 Any claimant shall have the right to bid and become the purchaser of the property at a sale

Section 7 The deed for the property shall be executed acknowledged and delivered as in other real estate sales by the sheriff Upon the delivery of a deed for any property sold under the provisions of this act the judgment upon which the sale was had shall thereupon and forever thereafter be final and conclusive and the validity thereof shall not be questioned for any cause whatsoever

Section 8 The costs and the expenses of any sale shall first be paid out of the proceeds The balance thereof shall be applied first to the payment of tax claims the oldest thereof having priority municipal claims shall be next the oldest in point of lien having priority and any surplus shall be distributed in accordance with law

Section 9 Notwithstanding any provisions of this act any person may at any time prior to the proposed sale pay all costs of the proceeding including the cost of the necessary title search or title insurance policy and all tax and municipal claims penalties and interest thereon charged against the property whereupon the proceedings on petition shall at once determine

Section 10 This act shall take effect immediately

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

(e) If there be five children sixty-four per centum of wages of deceased but not in excess of [twenty-nine dollars and fifty cents] thirty-four dollars per week

(f) If there be six or more children sixty-six and two-thirds per centum of wages of deceased but not in excess of [thirty-two] thirty-seven dollars and fifty cents per week

2 To the widow or widower if there be no children fifty-one per centum of wages but not in excess of [twenty dollars and fifty cents] twenty-three dollars and seventy-five cents per week

3 To the widow or widower if there be one child sixty per centum of wages but not in excess of [twenty-five dollars] twenty-eight dollars and seventy-five cents per week

4 To the widow or widower if there be two children sixty-six and two-thirds per centum of wages but not in excess of [twenty-nine dollars and fifty cents] thirty-four dollars per week

5 To the widow or widower if there be three or more children sixty-six and two-thirds per centum of wages but not in excess of [thirty-two] thirty-seven dollars and fifty cents per week

6 If there be neither widow widower nor children entitled to compensation then to the father or mother if dependent to any extent upon the employe at the time of his death thirty-two per centum of wages but not in excess of [eleven dollars and fifty cents] thirteen dollars and twenty-five cents per week Provided however That in the case of a minor child who has been contributing to his parents the dependency of said parents shall be presumed And provided further That if the father or mother was totally dependent upon the deceased employe at the time of his death the compensation payable to such father or mother shall be fifty-two per centum of wages but not in excess of [nineteen] twenty-two dollars per week

7 If there be neither widow widower children nor dependent parent entitled to compensation then to the brothers and sisters if actually dependent upon the decedent for support at the time of his death twenty-two per centum of wages for one brother or sister and five per centum additional for each additional borther or sister with a maximum of thirty-two per centum such compensation to be paid to their guardian or if there be no guardian to such other person as may be designated by the board as hereinafter provided

8 Whether or not there be dependents as aforesaid the reasonable expense of burial not exceeding four hundred and twenty-five dollars which shall be paid by the employer or insurer directly to the undertaker (without deduction of any amounts theretofore paid for compensation or for medical expenses)

Compensation shall be payable under this section to or on account of any child brother or sister only if and while such child brother or sister is under the age of eighteen No compensation shall be payable under this section to a widow unless she was living with her deceased husband at the time of his death or was then actually dependent upon him and receiving from him a substantial portion of her support No compensation shall be payable under this section to a widower unless he be incapable of self-support at the time of his wife's death and be at such time depndent upon her for support If members of decedent's household at the time of his death the terms "child" and "children" shall include step children adopted children and children to whom he stood in loco parentis and shall include posthumous children Should any dependent of a deceased employe die or remarry or should the widower become capable of self-support the right of such dependent or widower to compensation under this section shall cease Provided however That upon remarriage of any widow the compensation of such widow shall continue as hereinbefore provided for one-third of the period during which compensation then remains payable to her Provided further That if upon investigation and hearing it shall be ascertained that the widow or widower is living with a man or woman as the case may be in meretricious relationship and not married or the widow living a life of prostitution the board may order the termination of compensation payable to such widow or widower If the compensation payable under this section to any person shall for any cause cease the compensation to the remaining persons entitled thereunder shall thereafter be the same as would have been payable to them had they been the only prsons entitled to compensation at the time of the death of the deceased

The wages upon which death compensation shall be based shall not in any case be taken to exceed [forty-nine dollars] fifty-six dollars and twenty-five cents per week nor be less than [twenty-nine] thirty-seven dollars and fifty cents per week

This compensation shall be paid during three hundred and fifty weeks and in the case of children entitled to compensation under this section the compensation of each child shall continue after said period of three hundred and fifty weeks until such child reaches the age of eighteen at the rate of twenty-four and one-half per centum of wages but not in excess of [nine dollars and forty cents] ten dollars and seventy-five cents per week if there is one child thirty-four and one-half per centum of wages but not in excess of [thirteen] fifteen dollars per week if there are two children forty-five and one-half per centum of wages but not in excess of [seventeen dollars and fifty cents] twenty dollars and twenty-five cents per week if there are three children fifty-seven per centum of wages but not in excess of [twenty-two dollars] twenty-five dollars and fifty cents per week if there are four children sixty-two per centum of wages but not in excess of [twenty-three dollars and fifty cents] twenty-seven dollars per week if there be five children and sixty-six and two-thirds per centum of wages but not in excess of [twenty-six] thirty dollars and fifty cents per week if there be six children or more

The board may if the best interests of a child or children shall so require at any time order and direct the compensation payable to a child or children or to a widow or a widower on account of any child or children to be paid to the guardian of such child or children or if there be no guardian to such other person as the board as hereinafter provided may direct If there be no guardian or committee of any minor dependent or insane employe or dependent on whose account compensation is payable the amount payable on account of such minor dependent or insane employe or dependent may be paid to any surviving parent or to such other person as the board may order and direct and the board may require any person other than a guardian or committee to whom it has directed compensation for a minor dependent or insane employe or dependent to be paid to render as and when it shall so order accounts of the receipts and disbursements of such person and to file with it a satisfactory bond in a sum sufficient to secure the proper application of the moneys received by such person

Subsection (a) and (d) of Section 308 Subsection (a) Amended August 24, 1953 (P. L. 1389) and Subsection (d) amended June 12, 1941 (P. L. 125)

Section 308 (a) When compensation is awarded because of disability or death caused by silicosis anthraco-silicosis asbestosis or any other occupational disease which developed to the point of disablement only after an exposure of five or more years the compensation for disabiliy or death due to such disease shall except as otherwise provided in subsection (g) of section 301 be paid jointly by the employer and the Commonwealth [in accordance with the following provisions If disability begins between October 1, 1939 and September 30, 1941 both dates inclusive the employer shall be liable for and pay fifty per centum of the compensation due and the Commonwealth fifty per centum thereof Thereafter depending upon the date when disability begins the proportions of compensation for which the employer and the Commonwealth shall respectively become liable shall be If disability begins between October 1, 1941 and September 30, 1943 the employer sixty per centum of the Commonwealth forty per centum] [of between October 1, 1943 and September 30, 1945 the employer seventy per centum and the Commonwealth thirty per centum if between October 1, 1945 and September 30, 1947 the employer eighty per centum and the Commonwealth twenty per centum if between October 1, 1947 and September 30, 1951 the employer ninety per centum and the Commonwealth ten per centum If disability begins after September 30, 1951] and the employer shall be liable for sixty per centum of the compensation due and the Commonwealth forty per centum

(d) In all agreements for the payment of compensation and all awards the amount payable by the employer and the amount payable by the Commonwealth shall be separately stated an award against the employer shall be for only the percentage of the total compensation which the employer is obligated to pay under subsection (a) of this section not to exceed the stated percentage of the maximum payable by the employer under section 301 (a) 2 of this act or if section 301 (a) 2 be inapplicable then under sections 306 and 307 of this act A separate award shall be made against the Commonwealth for the balance of the compensation payable under said sections which shall be payable out of appropriations made as aforesaid Nothing in this section shall prohibit the Commonwealth from entering into agreements to pay the compensation for which it is liable provided however that where compensation is payable under the provisions of subsection (a) of this section the Commonwealth shall not enter into an agreement unless the employer is a party to the agreement and provided further that any such agreement shall contain facts sufficient to entitle the claimant to compensation and shall be accompanied by a supporting medical certificate All such agreements shall be approved by the board or by a referee

Section 309 Amended May 14, 1949 (P. L. 1379)

Section 309 Whenever in this article the term "wages" is used it shall be construed to mean the average weekly wages of the employe ascertained as follows

(a) If at the time of the disability the wages are fixed by the week the amount so fixed shall be the average weekly wage

(b) If at the time of the disability the wages are fixed by the month the average weekly wage shall be the monthly wage so fixed multiplied by twelve and divided by fifty-two

(c) If at the time of the disability the wages are fixed by the year the average weekly wage shall be the yearly wage so fixed divided by fifty-two

(d) If at the time of the disability the wages are fixed by the day hour or by the output of the employe the average weekly wage shall be the wage most favorable to the employe computed by dividing by thirteen the total wages of said employe earned in the employ of the employer in the first second third or fourth period of thirteen consecutive calendar weeks in the fifty-two weeks immediately preceding the [accident] disability or in case the employe receives wages monthly or semi-monthly by dividing by thirteen the total wages of said employe earned in the employ of the employer in the first second third or fourth period of three consecutive calendar months in the year immediately preceding the [accident] disability

If the employe has been in the employ of employer less than thirteen calendar weeks (or three calendar months if the employe receives wages monthly or semi-monthly) immediately preceding the disability his average weekly wage shall be computed under the foregoing paragraph taking "total wages" for such purposes to be the amount he would have earned had he been so employed by employer the full thirteen calendar weeks (or three calendar months) immediately preceding the disability and had worked when work was available to other employes in a similar occupation unless it be conclusively shown that by reason of exceptional causes such method of computation does not ascertain farily the "total wages" of the employe so employed less than thirteen calendar weeks (or three calendar months)

(e) In occupations which are exclusively seasonal and therefore cannot be carried on throughout the year the average weekly wage shall be taken to be one-fiftieth of the total wages which the employe has earned from all occupations during the twelve calendar months immediately preceding the disability unless it be shown that during such year by reason of exceptional causes such method of computation does not ascertain fairly the earnings of the employe in which case the period for calculation shall be extended so far as to give a basis for the fair ascertainment of his average weekly earnings.

The term "average weekly wage" and "total wages" as used in this section shall include board and lodging received from the employer and when so received the board shall be rated at [one dollar per day and board together with lodging shall be rated at] two dollars per day if more than one meal is served and one dollar per day if only one meal is served and lodging shall be rated at one dollar and fifty cents per day In employments in which employes customarily receive not less than one-third of their remuneration in tips or gratuities not paid by the employer gratuities shall be added to the wages received at the rate of two dollars per day but such terms shall not include [gratuities received from the employer or other nor shall such terms include] amounts deducted by the employer under the contract of hiring for labor furnished or paid for by the employer and necessary for the performance of such contract by the employe nor shall such terms include deduction from wages due the employer for rent and supplies necessary for the employe's use in the performance of his labor

Where the employe is working under concurrent contracts with two or more employers and the defendant employer has knowledge of such employment prior to the disability his wags from all such employers shall be considered as if earned from the employer liable for compensation

If under clauses (a) (b) (c) (d) and (e) of this section the amount determined is less than if computed as follows this computation shall apply viz divide the total wages earned by the employe during the last two completed calendar quarters with the same employer by the number of days he worked for such employer during such period multiplied by five

The weekly wage upon which compensation shall be computed shall be the wage earned by the employe in his last employment in the occupation or industry in which the occupational disease is a hazard

Section 310

Section 310 Alien widows children [widowers] and parents [brothers and sisters] not residents of the United State shall [not] be entitled to [any] compensation but only to the amount of fifty per centum of the compensation which would have been payable if they were residents of the United States provided that compensation benefits are granted residents of the United States under the laws of the foreign country in which the widow children or parents reside alien widowers brothers and sisters who are not residents of the United States shall not be entitled to receive any compensation in no event shall any nonresident alien widow or parent be entitled to compensation in the absence proof that the alien widow or parent has actually been receiving a substantial portion of his or her support from the decedent where transmission of funds in payment of any such compensation is prohibited by any law of the Commonwealth or of the United States to resident of such foreign country the no compensation shall accrue or be payable while such prohibition remains in effect and unless such prohibition is removed within six years from the date of death all oblgation to pay compensation under this section shall be forever extinguished

In every instance where an award is made to alien widows children or parents not residents in the United States the referee or the board shall in the award fix the amount of any fee allowed to any person for services in connection with presenting the claim and it shall be a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars or imprisonment for not more than six months or both to accept any remuneration for the services other than that provided by the referee or board

Section 311 Unless the employe or someone in his behalf or some of the dependents or someone in their behalf shall give notice of disability to the employer liable for compensation under this article within [fourteen] twenty-one days after [the] compensable disability begins no compensation shall be due until such notice be given and unless such notice be given with [ninety] one hundred and twenty days after the beginning of compensable disability no compensation shall be allowed

Section 312

Section 312 The notice referred to in section three hundred and eleven [hereof shall be substantially in the following form

To (name of employer)]

[You are hereby notified that (name of employe disabled) who was in your employment at (place) while engaged as (kind of employment) became disabled as the result of (name of occupational disease) on or about the .....day of ..... Anno Domini ..... and that compensation will be claimed therefor

Date ..... Signed .....

But no variation from this form shall be material if the notice be sufficient to inform the employer that a certain employe by name became disabled as the result of occupational disease the character of which is described in ordinary language in the course of his employment on or about the time specified] shall inform the employer that a certain employe became disabled as a result of the occupational disease described in ordinary language in the course of his employment on or about a specified time

Section 313

Section 313 [The notices referred to in section three hundred and two and section three hundred and eleven hereof may be served personally upon the employer or upon the manager or superintendent in charge of the works or business in which the employe was working] or by sending them through the registered mail to the employer at his or its last known resident or place of business or if the employer be a corporation either foreign or domestic then upon the president vice-president secretary or treasurer thereof Notice served upon any of said agents shall be notice to the employer] The notice referred to in sections three hundred and eleven and three hundred and twelve may be given to the immediate or other superior of the employe to the employer or any agent of the employer regularly employed at the place of employment of the disabled employe

Section 314

Section 314 At any time after disability begins the employe if so requested by his employer must submit himself for examination at some reasonable time and place to a physician or physicians legally authorized to practice under the laws of such place who shall be selected and paid by the employer If the employe shall refuse upon the request of the employer to submit to the examination by the physician or physicians selected by the employer the board may upon petition of the employer order the employe to submit to an examination at a time and place set by it and by the physician or physicians selected and paid by the employer or by a physician or physicians designated by it and paid by the employer [and if the employe shall without reasonable cause or excuse disobey or disregard such order he shall be deprived of his right to compensation under this article] The board may at any time after such first examination upon petition of the employer order the employe to submit himself to such further examinations as it shall deem reasonable and necessary at such times and places and by such physicians as it may designate and in such case the employer shall pay the fees and expenses of the examining physician or physicians and the reasonable traveling expenses and loss of wages incurred by the employe in order to submit himself to such examination The refusal or neglect without reasonable cause or excuse of the employe to submit to such examination ordered by the board either before or after an agreement or award shall deprive him of the right to compensation under this article during the continuance of such refusal or neglect and the period of such neglect or refusal shall be deducted from the period during which compensation would otherwise be payable

The employe shall be entitled to have a physician or physicians of his own selection to be paid by him participate in any examination requested by his employer or ordered by the board

Section 315

Section 315 In cases of disability all claims for compensation shall be forever barred unless within [one year after the] sixteen months after compensable disability begins the parties shall have agreed upon the compensation payable under this article or unless within [one year after the] sixteen months after compensable disability begins one of the parties shall have filed a petition as provided in article four hereof In cases of death all claims for compensation shall be forever barred unless within [one year] sixteenth months after the death the parties shall have agreed upon the compensation payable under this article or unless within [one year] sixteen months after the death one of the parties shall have filed a petition as provided in article four hereof Where however payments of compensation have been made in any case said limitations shall not take effect until the expiration of [one year] sixteen months from the time of the making of the most recent payment made prior to the date of filing such petition

Section 316

Section 316 The compensation contemplated by this article may at any time be commuted by the board at its then value when discounted at five per centum interest with annual rests upon application of either party with due notice to the other if it appear that such commutation will be for the best interest of the employe or the dependents of the deceased employe and that it will avoid undue expense or undue hardship to either party or that such employe or dependent has removed or is about to remove from the United States or that the employer has sold or otherwise disposed of the whole or the greater part of his business or assets Provided however That unless the employer agrees to make such commutation the board [shall] may require the employe or the dependents of the deceased employe to furnish proper indemnity safeguarding the employer's right

Section 319 Amended May 18, 1945 (P. L. 661)

Section 319 Where the compensable [injury] disability is caused in whole or in part by the act or omission of a third party the employer shall be subrogated to the right of the employe his personal representative hi estate or his dependents against such third party for the balance of any sum recovered in litigation or paid in compromise settlement after subtraction of reasonable attorney's fees and other proper disbursements but only to the extent of the compensation payable under this article by the employer Any recovery against such third person in excess of the compensation theretofore paid by the employer shall be paid forthwith to the employe or to the dependents and shall be treated as an advance payment by the employer on account of any future instalments of compensation

Where an employe has received payments for the disability or medical expense resulting from a disability in the course of his employment paid by the employer or an insurance company on the basis that the disability was not compensable under this act in the event of an agreement or award for that disability the employer or insurance company who made the payments shall be subrogated out of the agreement or award to the amount so paid if the right to subrogation is agreed to by the parties or is established at the time of hearing before the referee or the board

Subsection (a) of Section 320

Section 320 (a) If the employe is a minor under the age of eighteen years employed or permitted to work in violation of any provision of the laws of this Commonwealth relating to minors of such age compensation either in the case of disability or death of such employe shall be one hundred and [ten] fifty per centum of the amount that would be payable to such minor if legally employed The amount by which such compensation shall exceed that provided for in case of legal employment may be referred to as "additional compensation"

Section 413

Section 413 The board or a referee designated by the board may at any time review and modify or set aside an existing original or existing supplemental agreement upon petition filed by either party with the board or in the course of the proceedings under any petition pending before such board or referee if it be proved that such agreement was [procured by the fraud coercion or other improper conduct of a party or was founded upon a mistake of law or of fact Provided That an agreement can only be reviewed modified or set aside if a petition is filed with the board within one year after the date of the most recent payment of compensation made prior to the date of filing such petition] in any material respect incorrect

The board or referee designated by the board may at any time modify reinstate suspend or terminate an original or supplemental agreement or an award upon petition filed by either party with such board upon proof that the disability of [an injured] the employe has increased decreased recurred or has temporarily or finally ceased or that the status of any dependent has changed Such modification reinstatement suspension or termination shall be made as of date upon which it is shown that the disability of the employe has increased decreased recurred or has temporarily or finally ceased or upon which it is shown that the status of any dependent has changed Provided That an agreement or an award can only be reviewed modified or reinstated during the time such agreement or award has to run if for a definite period and no agreement or award shall be reviewed or modified or reinstated unless a petition is filed with the board within [one year] two years after the date of the most recent payment of compensation made prior to the date of filing such petition Where compensation has been suspended because the employe's earnings are equal to or in excess of his wages prior to the disability payments under the agreement or award may be resumed at any time during the period for which compensation for partial disability is payable unless it be shown that the loss of earnings does not result from the disability due to the exposure.

The board or referee to whom any such petition has been assigned may subpoena witnesses hear evidence make findings of fact and award or disallow compensation in the same manner and with the same effect and subject to the same right of appeal as if such petition were an original claim petition

The filing of a petition to terminate or modify a compensation agreement or award as provided in this section shall operate as a supersedeas and shall suspend the payment of compensation fixed in the agreement or by the award in whole or to such extent as the facts alleged in the petition would if proved require

Subsection (e) of Section 309 Amended May 14, 1949 (P. L. 1369)

Section 309 Wherever in this article the term "wages" is used it shall be construed to mean the average weekly wages of the employe ascertained as follows

(e) In occupations which are exclusively seasonal and therefore cannot be carried on throughout the year the average weekly wage shall be taken to be one-fiftieth of the total wages which the employe has earned from all occupations during the twelve calendar months immediately preceding the accident unless it be shown that during such year by reason of exceptional causes such method of computation does not ascertain fairly the earnings of the employe in which case the period for calculation shall be extended so far as to give a basis for the fair ascertainment of his average weekly earnings

The terms "average weekly wage" and "total wages" as used in this section shall include board and lodging received from the employer and when so received the board shall be rated at [one dollar per day and board together with lodging shall be rated at] two dollars per day if more than one meal is served and one dollar per day if only one meal is served and lodging shall be rated at one dollar and fifty cents per day In employments in which employes customarily receive part not less than one-third of their remuneration in tips or gratuities not paid by the employer gratuities shall be added to the wages received at the rate of three two dollars per day but such terms shall not include [gratuities received from the employer or others nor shall such terms include] amounts deducted by the employer under the contract of hiring for labor furnished or paid for by the employer and necessary for the performance of such contract by the employe nor shall such terms include deductions from wages due the employer for rent and supplies necessary for the employe's use in the performance of his labor

Where the employe is working under concurrent contracts with two or more employers and the defendant employer has knowledge of such employment prior to the accident his wages from all such employers shall be considered as if earned from the employer liable for compensation

If under clauses (a) (b) (c) (d) and (e) of this section the amount determined is less than if computed as follows this computation shall apply viz Divide the total wages earned by the employe during the last two completed calendar quarters with the same employer by the number of days he worked for such employer during such period multiplied by five

Section 310 Alien widows children [widowers] and parents [brothers and sisters] not residents of the United States shall [not] be entitled to [any] compensation but only to the amount of fifty per centum of the compensation which would have been payable if they were residents of the United States provided that compensation benefits are granted residents of the United States under the laws of the foreign country in which the widow children or parents reside alien widows brothers and sisters who are not residents of the United States shall not be entitled to receive any compensation in no event shall any nonresident alien widow or parent be entitled to compensation in the absence of proof that the alien widow or parent has actually been receiving a substantial portion of his or her support from the decedent where transmission of funds in payment of any such compensation is prohibited by any law of the Commonwealth or of the United States to residents of such foreign country then no compensation shall accrue or be payable while such prohibition remains in effect and unless such prohibition is removed within six years from the date of death all obligation to pay compensation under this section shall be forever extinguished

In every instance where an award is made to alien widows children or parents not residents in the United States the referee or the board shall in the award fix the amount of any fee allowed to any person for services in connection with presenting the claim and it shall be a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars or imprisonment for not more than six months or both to accept any remuneration for the services other than that provided by the referee or board

Section 311 Unless the employe or someone in his behalf or some of the dependents or someone in their behalf shall give notice thereof to the employer within [fourteen] twenty-one days after the accident no compensation shall be due until such notice be given and unless such notice be given within [ninety] one hundred and twenty days after the occurrence of the [injury] accident no compensation shall be allowed

Section 312

Section 312 The notice referred to in section three hundred and eleven [hereof shall be substantially in the following form

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 5a, TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I call from the table Senate Resolution, Serial No. 5a, which I introduced yesterday, relative to investigating conditions prevailing in Sharon as a result of the Westinghouse Corporation strike.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

SENATE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE THE INDUSTRIAL STRIFE BETWEEN WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC CORPORATION AND ITS UNIONS

In the Senate, February 20, 1956.

The press and other sources of information have reported that a labor dispute between certain Unions and Westinghouse Electric Corporation has resulted in rioting, personal injury to workers, and malicious destruction of property in Sharon and Greensville, all contrary to law.

If this be true, the existence of such conditions jeopardizes not only persons and property of the citizens of Sharon and Greensville, but also the position of this Commonwealth as a leading industrial state.

Repeated requests by local law enforcement agencies to the executive branch of the Commonwealth for assistance from the Pennsylvania State Police in the suppression of rioting and violence appear to have gone unheeded.

The provisions of Article IV, Section 2 of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania requires that the Governor "shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed."

A similar duty is imposed on the Governor by the Administrative Code of 1929, Article VII, Section 701, as amended.

The Administrative Code of 1929, Article VII, Section 710, as amended, provides, in part, with respect to the State Police, that they are:

"(b) To assist the Governor in the administration and enforcement of the laws of the Commonwealth, in such manner, at such times, and in such places, as the Governor may from time to time request."

"(b) Whenever possible, to cooperate with counties and municipalities in the detection of crime, the apprehension of criminals, and the preservation of law and order throughout the state;"

therefore be it

Resolved, That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint a committee of three members of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to make a thorough, impartial and searching investigation of the industrial strife now existing in Pennsylvania because of the labor dispute between Westinghouse Electric Corporation and its unions to determine whether all necessary measures are being taken to protect the lives and property of our citizens, to determine the effect of such violence and lawlessness on the competive position of Pennsylvania as an industrial state in maintaining industry and attracting new industry in this Commonwealth, to recommend what, if any, remedial legislation is necessary, and to investigate such other matters in connection therewith as may be deemed necessary for the information of the committee and the Senate; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall have power to issue subpoenas and subpoenas duces tecum, under the hand and seal of its chairman, requesting and commanding any proper person, corporation, partnership or association to appear before it and to answer such questions touching matters with respect to the matters inquired into by the committee for and on behalf of the Senate and to procure such books, papers. records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas or subpoenas duces tecum may be served upon any proper person, corporation, partnership, or association and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth or by the General Assembly itself. Each member of the committee shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee.

If any person, corporation, partnership or association wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records, or documents subpoenaed by the committee, the committee, or any member thereof, shall file a petition with a court of common pleas having competent jurisdiction over the person, corporation, partnership or association, setting forth such facts. The Court of Common pleas, or a judge thereof, shall thereupon issue a rule upon the person, corporation, partnership or association, returnable no less than five nor more than seven days from service thereof, commanding the person, corporation, partnership or association to appear before the court and show cause why the subpoena, subpoena duces tecum or similar order of the committee shall not be complied with.

If the person, corporation, partnership or association, upon the return day of said rule to show cause, is or are unable to show legal cause why the subpoena, subpoena duces tecum or order of the committee should not be complied with, the court of common pleas shall forthwith enter an order of court directing the person, corporation, partnership or association to comply with the terms of the subpoena, subpoena duces tecum or order of the committee. If thereupon, the person, corporation, partnership or association shall refuse or fail to comply with the order of court, the court of common pleas shall forthwith adjudge the person, corporation, partnership or association to be in contempt of court and the person, corporation, partnership or association shall thereupon forthwith be subject to the penalties provided by the Commonwealth in such cases. If any subpoena, subpoena duces tecum or order of the committee is deemed invalid by the court, the committee is authorized to issue a proper subpoena, subpoena duces tecum or order against such person, corporation, partnership or association; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall make report to the Governor and to the General Assembly of its findings of facts with such recommendation as it deems necessary.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would like to amend this resolution by striking out the word "three" in the first resolve clause of the resolution, and in lieu thereof placing the word "four," in order to have four Members of the Senate appointed on this investigating committee instead of three Members, as appeared originally in the resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will read the resolution, as amended.

The Clerk read the resolution, as amended, as follows:

Resolved, That the committee shall make report to the Governor and to the General Assembly of its findings of facts with such recommendation as it deems necessary.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution, as amended?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, when I offered the amendment, I probably should have explained to the Members that the reason this amendment was being offered was so that in the event Senator Dent—if he is a member of this committee and I hope that he will be—may be tied up here in Harrisburg on other matters, it will, therefore, be possible then for some other Democratic Senator to go out to the vicinity of Sharon to conduct this investigation. If it so happens that Senator Dent is available, then we can have two Democratic Members and two Republican Members, and it will not look like a political investigation. I feel sure that we will be able to do a very good job out there in trying to find out whether or not law and order is being preserved. If it is not, perhaps we can find out what we may be able to do about it.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 5a, ADOPTED AS AMENDED

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move the adoption of the amended resolution.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, think it only proper that I clear the air a little in this natter. I intend to support the resolution and I am asking ny colleagues on this side to support it. However, that oes not remove the basic objections that I have to this ype of resolution.

As I said yesterday in a few remarks, Mr. President, was born and reared in an atmosphere of the coal mining ommunities of this great State. In my early youth, I an remember very vividly some of the experiences under ne old coal and iron police. It holds true that in matters f industrial strife, tempers run hot and a great many mes, interference by an outside party creates incidents nat, in turn, lead to bloodshed and disaster.

I want to clearly state to the Members of the Senate nat I discussed the entire matter with the Governor after ne Session last night. He gave me some information hich I believe this Senate should have and the people nould have. The question of police patrol at Sharon is ntirely in the hands of the highest police officer in the ommonwealth of Pennsylvania. The head of the Penn-lvania State Police has jurisdiction to use, at any time, ny of the forces under his command to protect life and roperty and to maintain the peace.

Mr. President, the Governor is not interfering in any ay, manner or shape whatsoever. He has left the com-lete control of the situation in the hands of the State olice. The head of the State Police in Pennsylvania is a ery judicious person; a very capable man. He is using ne judgment given him to the best of his ability. He is ying to keep from antagonizing any particular group and trying to refrain from any action that might tempt the reation of an incident which might be very disastrous.

We recently had a strike in western Pennsylvania. I n very much aware of the entire situation because it appened in my area. The police were called for by the cal police officers. The State Police moved onto the ene. Up until that moment, there were the usual little cidents that always happen in any labor dispute. There as some stone throwing; there was some name-calling. is just impossible to stop that. However, the day that ne State Police moved on in force, rifles were brought ut of hiding and unsheathed knives were displayed. Be-re the day was over, the State Police were withdrawn om the area and then they proceeded on the orderly atrol that is now taking place up in Sharon.

Mr. President, every day the Governor receives three mplete reports by telephone, direct from the commander the field up at Sharon. The Governor knows exactly hat is going on and the head of the State Police in this ommonwealth is in hourly contact, with the wire open all times. The situation is well in hand.

As I said to the committee yesterday and I will repeat this Senate body, I am fearful that the investigation e are starting may be the trigger that sets off more cidents in the next few days than have occurred up to is moment in fourteen weeks of strike.

Mr. President, I would ask that we do not pursue this urse. Today, at the instigation of the Governor who, am at liberty to tell this body, recently had Gwylim rice, of Westinghouse, and Jim Carey, of the union, down at the Mansion for dinner and, by persuasion and conservation, he had them arrive at an agreement whereby yesterday the negotiations were again started between labor and management in this Westinghouse strike.

All of us, no matter where our inner leanings may be, are against any kind of violence in any labor dispute. The feeling that labor enjoys the spirit of conflict and the shedding of blood is untrue. They are not anxious to lose any of their own members through physical conflict and they are not in any manner anxious to destroy the property of the company because they, too, must work and keep that property in shape in order to be able to go back to work. I am very fearful of any outside injection or interference into a dispute that is purely one of an industrial nature. I was hopeful that we would not have to pass this resolution.

I am calling upon Senator Mahany, the chairman, as it would be, of this committee, to immediately set up the hearings. Inasmuch as we have now passed the barrier and have decreed that there must be hearings, I would suggest that we immediately proceed with the work in order that before the end of this week, whatever report we may make will be made and no one will be tempted, either on the part of management or the employees, to create an incident for the sake of creating an incident. I am hopeful that we will be able to prove that which I have already told you and which I already know to be the truth; that the Governor is not taking sides, that the Governor of this Commonwealth is trying to fulfill his duty in protecting both property and life. He is attempting to do so through the only agency in this Commonwealth that is qualified to do so.

None of us in this room, I am sure, on either side of the aisle, want to see a throw back to the days of the coal and iron police in this great Commonwealth. We lived through that era of industrial expansion and industrial conflict. We have come through it as a strong and powerful people, recognizing each other's rights. We recognize the right of industry to oppose strikes and we recognize the right of labor to strike. In recognizing these two inherent rights, we are re-establishing the principle of American Government which we all believe in and talk so much about.

I am hopeful that Senator Mahany will conduct this probe in the manner that he is capable of conducting it, so that we will not be the trigger that sets off the spark which can be more dangerous than any incident that has happened heretofore.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I have set here and given this problem before us considerable thought. I have to make my position clear here today. If this probe is going to be conducted on a fair and equitable basis, then I feel that I should vote for the resolution. However, I want this distinctly understood; that if this resolution is enacted and presented here for the purpose of forcing this Administration to use the Pennsylvania State Police to break a strike, or to use them in the capacity of coal and iron police, I want it also distinctly understood that there will be considerable opposition on this side.

Mr. President, we in the Democratic Party have worked for years to eliminate the scrouge of the coal and iron police. We have fought for years to do away with Governor Fisher's philosophy of breaking strikes with State Police. Therefore, I want it understood that when I vote for this resolution, it is with the idea in mind that they are going to conduct a fair and impartial probe and not for the purpose of using the Pennsylvania State Police to break any strike.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, first I want to assure Senator Lane that it is my purpose, if I am named to this committee, to conduct a very impartial investigation. I do not intend to try to place anybody on the hook or place the blame on any particular one for any political purposes. I do not have that in mind.

After this investigation is conducted, Mr. President, I will leave it to Senator Lane as to whether or not that purpose was carried out. The only purpose that I have is to see to it that the people of Sharon, which is in my District, the people of Greenville, which is in my District, and that whole area have whatever protection is necessary given to them so that they do not need to be in far of having hir houses paint-bombed or that when they go down the street they will not be bodily attacked or their children attacked, and that they may drive their automobiles down the street without having large boulders thrown through the windshield and their cars ruined and overturned. When their cars are damaged, they are not even allowed to have a tow truck cart their cars away. Those are things which I definitely think we should investigate.

Mr. President, we, in the legislative body, make the laws and if those laws are not enforced, I think this body then should have a committee to investigate why they are not being enforced. If local enforcement has broken down, either because the local officers do not choose to do their duty or because they are not there in sufficient force, and I understand the latter is the reason in this particular case, then we should do something about it. I do believe that the sheriff of Mercer County and the mayor of the city of Sharon want to see that the law is enforced, but they do not have enough police officers to do the job which needs to be done. I would be the last one to say that the State Police force should be coal and iron police. The coal and iron police were abolished, I think, largely through the efforts of Judge Musmanno, who was then a Representative in the House in, Senator Barr tells me, 1933.

I believe, however, Mr. President, we should investigate as to when State Police should go out. Senator Dent says that the Governor told him that the head of the State Police can send them out to any part of the State anytime he chooses. I do not believe that the head of the State Police, Colonel Henry, feels that he does have that authority because I understand when the sheriff or the judge of Mercer County called Colonel Henry, he told them he could do nothing until he received an order from the Governor. Therefore, this committee should investigate that. How much authority does the head of the State Police have and how shall he exercise that authority? Perhaps this committee should also investigate whether or not we should have throughout the State of Pennsylvania, the same type of legislation that prevails in Allegheny County and affects Allegheny County, which legislation is on the books and provides that if any violence is done in Allegheny County as a result of a strike, I understand, the county has to pay the damages resulting from such violence. Those are things which I believe this committee should inquire into.

Mr. President, I assure Senator Lane that, as always, on any committee with which I have anything to do, I will try to do my best in conducting a very impartial investigation, not favoring either the strikers, the company or anybody else. We just want to inquire into the facts to see whether it is true what these people in Mercer County are writing to me about, and if it is true, what we might do about it.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, just to set the Majority Leader straight in his thinking, I wish to advise him that the sheriff of any county in Pennsylvania has the right to appoint as many deputies as he sees fit so long as he complies with the law, whereby their photographs are posted in the courthouse and they have no criminal record. The sheriff of any county is the chief law enforcement officer of that county and he is under bond to keep the public peace. Therefore, the sheriff has the right, and you can so advise the sheriff of that county, and the authority to appoint as many deputies as he sees fit so long as they do not have a criminal record and are approved by the court before appointment.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, The Sharon Herold, which was distributed to the Senators yesterday, contains a few items about the strike, but it also shows that Sharon is a very fine, normal community and it also says that six men were held in connection with stoning and I think they are enforcing the law out there. In another part of the paper it says:

"Westinghouse Rejects Plan For Fact-Finding

"Accuses IUE Head of Injecting Politics Into Strike

"The fact-finding body proposed by Governor Leader is composed of two impartial persons, George W. Taylor of Philadelphia, and David L. Cole, a Patterson, New Jersey attorney, both nationally-known labor experts."

Mr. President, if we get into an affair such as this, I do not see how it can be kept from being political. I think Sharon is doing a pretty good job. I also think that this resolution can serve no useful purpose and neither can any fact-finding body. I want to be on record as being against this resolution because, in spite of what has been said. I do think that it is intended to take sides in this strike.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I do not agree with the principles enunciated by the Majority Leader in which he justified the appropriateness of this action by the Senate. However, I am impressed by the very real, and apparently sincere and genuine, desire that the Senator from Crawford has to investigate into these stories which he has heard about this community in his District. For that reason, without believing the strength of his arguments and the justification of this method of investigation by the Senate, nevertheless, I am not going to oppose the resolution but, rather, I am going to vote for it.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I would like to be officially recorded as voting "no."

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I also desire to be recorded as opposing the adoption of this resolution.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative and the resolution was agreed to, as amended.)

COMMITTEE APPOINTED PURSUANT TO SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 5a

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to announce that the President pro tempore has appointed the following committee pursuant to Senate Resolution, Serial No. 5a: The gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany; the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming; the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent; and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Camiel.

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for five minutes, for the purpose of holding a meeting of the Committee on Highways.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. PRICE. RESOLUTION (Not printed).

In the House of Representatives, February 20, 1956.

April 9, 1956, is the 117th anniversary of the birthday of Dr. John Trimble Rothrock, Native of McVeytown, Mifflin County who has been called the "father of the State Forest idea in Pennsylvania." Dr. Rothrock was a well known conservationist, a pioneer in development of forest fire control, reforestation, and scientific forestry.

Among the accomplishments of Dr. Rothrock, who for some time engaged in the active practice of medicine, was his research and teaching of botany. Much of his botanical research was done on expeditions into unknown and uncharted territory.

Dr. Rothrock's success was the result of a combination of his knowledge of medical science and his love of and knowledge of the forests. He looked upon forests as a great natural resource which if properly conserved and nurtured, could and would add to the health and well being of humanity. In 1902 he brought to Mont Alto some tubercular patients and established a camp for them on top of the mountain. Out of this experiment grew the Mont Alto Sanatorium for tubercular patients, and all of the other sanatoria of the State.

Dr. Rothrock's lectures on botany, forest geography, forest influences and forest management were of not only Statewide but of nation-wide import in the conservation of forest resources. The lectures were the basis for the Pennsylvania policy with respect to forests.

In 1895 Dr. Rothrock was appointed the first Commissioner of Forestry within this State, and in 1901 was appointed the first head of the Department of Forests, with the status of a member of the Governor's cabinet.

Dr. Rothrock's achievements will long have a beneficial effect on the health and well being of the inhabitants of this State, therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby commemorates and honors the memory of Dr. Rothrock on April 9, the anniversary of his birth, and looks with renewed awareness and appreciation on this day which has previously been established as Arbor Day and commends Mifflin County for its plans to pay special honor to the memory of Dr. Rothrock during 1956.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

RESOLUTION

RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 1623 FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. KOLANKIEWICZ offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

In the House of Representatives, February 21, 1956.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), that House Bill No. 1623, Printer's No. 1348, entitled "An act extending county pension and retirement benefits to veterans of armed conflicts in counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth class," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 472, entitled:

An Act regulating publication of lawful contributions to or lawful expenditures by candidates for elective office and prescribing penalties

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. CIOFFI. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 472 pertains to an expense account as filed by a candidate.

This particular bill is a step in the right direction in bringing out all the facts regarding the expense items of all candidates in the state of Pennsylvania. Of course, in the last few weeks the Press took this bill pretty much apart, claiming that it was really restraining the freedom of the Press. I am sorry to hear that.

The bill is only designed to bring out all the facts, not only half of them. The purpose of the bill is in order to clarify the confusion created by the Press, to bring out the facts as they really are in an expense account and to bring them all out. There is an inference left there that only half of them are printed and that is what we wanted to try to avoid.

I realize, Mr. Speaker, what their claims were, that in many expense accounts it would be almost impossible to print them all, especially in candidates filing for state-wide offices. I can agree with them. I know that there are some kinks in this bill that should be ironed out and we want to help to do that.

For that reason, Mr. Speaker, in order to help to correct this bill, I make the following motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. CIOFFI. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Elections and Apportionment for purpose of further study.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. STANK. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Berks Mr. Readinger vote on the third reading of this bill?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Northumberland Mr. Stank vote on the third reading of this bill?

Mr. STANK. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 3, page 11, line 7, by striking out the quotation marks after "property."

Amend Sec. 9, page 33, line 15, by inserting after "may" deem desirable or as may be requested by any Federal agency that.

Amend Sec. 9, page 33, line 17, by striking out all of said line.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, at long last we have come to the time when we have before us a bipartisan tax program which is, in part, adequate to meet the needs of the Commonwealth. It is also the time for some hard, plain talk concerning the financial agonies of the state, and following the debate on this subject, action by the Members of this body.

This can be a day on which the first and most important step can be taken toward the solution of a most vexatious problem, or it can be another dreary episode in the tax story, leading nowhere. You, and you alone, can determine that.

I have thought long and hard, as others have, and have prayed earnestly for the wisdom necessary to choose words which will persuade a sufficient number of us to agree on the proper solution. This is not my burden alone as Majority Floor Leader, as others will undoubtedly take the floor with the same objective in view, and I urge them to do so. May God bless their efforts!

What is plain, hard talk concerning the tax woes of our beloved State? In my opinion it's a realistic and harsh appraisal of what we need in terms of money, and who is going to pay it! The economic and political aspects of the problem must both be discussed, freely, frankly and openly. It is to this task that I address myself this afternoon.

The first phase of the subject, the financial needs, is a portion with which I intend to deal rather briefly, not because it is less important, but because it has been discussed so fully on former occasions on the floor of this House, and elsewhere. I think it can be stated categorically that the need for new revenue for the balance of this biennium lies between the figures of $400 million and $490 million. The House and Senate, either jointly or separately, have passed, and will pass when the general appropriation bill moves, appropriations totalling $1,300 million. This is indicative of whether or not we will need a sum approximateing $465 million. However, as there will apparently be a difference between the two branches of this Legislature on the amount needed, the matter will probably be decided by a conference committee and we need not dwell too long upon it at this time. Unquestionably, it will be more than $360 million.

The second phase, the method by which this sum of money shall be raised, is our main concern today.

Let us review briefly what has happened, tax-wise, in the more than thirteen months we have been here. First, the classified income tax was proposed—and defeated in the Senate. Second, the manufacturer's excise tax was proposed—and defeated in the Senate. Next the Republican majority in the Senate amended the excise tax into a consumer's use tax, or in plain words a retail sales tax, at 3 per cent, proceeded to amend it by excluding all their friends and wound up with a revenue bill which would raise only $225 million—and failed to pass even that! Next, the House brought out the Hewitt retail sales tax bill, at 3 per cent and brought it to a vote on January 24th. The bill as amended by the Democrats on second reading was calculated to raise $375 million, and as proposed by Republican amendments at 2 per cent would have raised only $285 million. The bill was defeated by a vote of 38-157 with 17 Democrats and 21 Republicans voting for it. Remember this figure, only 21 Republican Members voting for it!

Following this the Speaker of the House suggested that a bipartisan committee be selected by the Majority and Minority Leaders of the House to evolve a tax program. This was done, and a committee of eight, four Democrats and four Republicans, was named. They met, they discussed and not as politicians, a bipartisan tax program, one calculated to raise $360 million, with the understanding, announced, that the balance of the funds necessary to balance the budget would be raised through tax bills already passed by the House and in the Senate. This proposal, which is embodied in the bills before us today, was to be voted on on Thursday, February 9th, but because the Governor refused to commit himself on the matter of signing all the bills in the package, if they reached his desk "as a Package," action at that time was deferred, as the Republican Members, with a perfect right to do so and in accordance with the agreement of the bipartisan agreement, had insisted upon this commitment being made in return for their support of the program.

Now, I ask you, what basically has changed since that date if the program was good then, and both the Majority Leader and the Minority Leader after meeting in caucus with their Members on Monday, February 6th, were assured of at least 113 votes for all of the bills, coming from both sides, why should that not be true today? Have pressure groups, have vested interests affected, have certain newspapers, been able to reverse the position of some Members to the extent that this program is no longer desirable.

Let us analyze the program and see whether it is good or bad.

In the first place, let us assume that if this proposal goes "down the drain" the only other solution will be a 3 per cent general retail sales tax, with no exemptions except food for home consumption. I think by this time it will be pretty generally conceded that anything less than this will not bring in the revenues which will be needed. I refer you to the Journal of January 24th for the figures involved—and at that time the figures were undisputed. This, as you will remember, required taxation of all clothing, restaurant meals, and disallowance of trade-in values. Blame us, if you wish, for the fact that this is true because we allowed the old sales tax to expire on August 31, 1955, or did not reenact it at a higher rate then, because we did not believe it to be a fair tax, but please, I beg of you, recognize as a fact that if you did not vote for this bipartisan program you will be forced to vote for a sales tax you don't want, one you have already voted against, one you don't believe in, and one which the public won't like!

Let us spend a few minutes analyzing the bipartisan proposed program to see what, if anything, is economically or morally, or politically, wrong with it. It is estimated to yield through an income tax $210 millions, and through a gross receipts and selective sales tax, $150 millions. Let us talk about the income tax first. This bill, imposing a 2 per cent tax on a person's net taxable income as figured for Federal tax purposes would impose a relatively light burden on the average family. For example, a man earning a salary of $3,500 per year, with a wife and two children, would pay only $15.00 to the Commonwealth. This is based on figures of a representative of the Pennsylvania Economy League not some figures I dreamed up. The same man, earning $2,650 or less, would pay nothing under this bill. He would, of course, pay some amount under the sales tax on whatever he purchased, and so he should. Everybody must expect to contribute something, if the Commonwealth's needs are to be met. But under this bipartisan program it will be somewhat in accord with a person's ability to pay. But to continue the argument concerning the income tax as a part of a balanced program, let me make this point. Reliable statistics, again compiled by the Pennsylvania Economy League, indicate that the total income received by all Pennsylvania citizens during the year 1955 was 8,846,000,000 and that approximately 20 per cent of this income, or $1,600,000,000, was received by those whose income was in excess of $15,000 per year. A 2 per cent income tax on this amount would yield $32 million. Would anybody in this House seriously argue that most of this income in excess of $15,000 per year will be made to contribute much under a sales tax? Of course, some of it will be used to purchase taxable items such as autos, furs, jewelry, etc., but as I stated before, much if not most of it will be saved or reinvested and therefore not made to contribute its fair share toward the taxes we do desperately need. And indeed, why should not this more favored income group be made to carry its fair share of the tax burden? Why? Why? Who among us is going to take the floor of this House and plead that this favored group should be protected against an income tax, a part of this bipartisan proposal, which will impose no unjust burden on it, but will relieve the lower income groups by upwards of $30 million? Who among us is willing to show by his vote against this income tax bill that he wants to favor this economically-favored group?

Mr. Speaker, if any Members are tempted to come to the defense of our more wealthy citizens in this respect, let them bear the following facts in mind. It is a well known fact that persons of substantial incomes when making up their Federal tax returns, itemize their deductions rather than use the blanket or standard deductions of 10 per cent because of the limit of $1,000 set thereon.

This being true, let me refer again to the figures compiled by the expert of the Pennsylvania Economy League. Taking the same family of four, a man with a yearly net taxable income for Federal tax purposes of $25,000 would pay, under the bipartisan income tax bill the sum of $432.00. However, as this person would be in rather high Federal rate brackets, and as he would be allowed to deduct the tax paid to Pennsylvania in computing the base for his Federal income tax, the net additional cost to him of both his state and Federal taxes would be but $177.12. What a terrible burden!

Let us take another case of a man with an income of $150,000 per year (and there are some, I'm told), and see what happens to him under our bill. He would pay us at 2 per cent the sum of $2,932, but after computing and paying both of his taxes he would be out of pocket the tremendous sum of $322.52!

It may be that by this time some of you are puzzled by these figures and are thinking, "How can this be?" The answer is that less money is sent by Pennsylvanians to the Federal Treasury and more of it is kept here at home for our own needs. Is there anything wrong with that! If there is, then twenty-nine states have been guilty of wrong-doing for some time, as there are that many which use a general net income tax.

There are many more arguments which could be made on the economic wisdom of adopting this part of the bipartisan tax proposal as a well-balanced program, but time will not permit me to elaborate upon them today, as other matters must be discussed.

Let us talk now about some of the arguments that are being made against an income tax.

One eminent Member of that other place has stated that he is opposed to an income tax because history shows that once one is adopted it is never repealed. Can that statement stand up in the light of truth? Pennsylvania had a sales tax back in the 1920's. It was repealed. It had a mercantile tax, of sorts, for many years. It was repealed. It had a general sales tax for two years. It was allowed to expire. What is so permanent about an income tax? If it is as bad as some of its opponents would have us believe, and since our party is accepting responsibility for it, would it not be reasonable to presume that the people would show their displeasure at an election and cause it to be repealed?

Others argue that people don't like to fill out more forms. Well, the withholding requirement of the bill answers this for most persons. It will eliminate the need to file more than one form per year, and that one can be so simple that it could be completed in five minutes.

Another argument is that since it will affect "take-home" pay it will cause employees to ask for another increase in pay. Now isn't that some argument! Let us see, if a man's tax is $25.00 a year, the deduction would be about 48 cents a week. Hardly enough to cause a strike over wages. And what about the same man's need for more money to pay a 3 per cent sales tax? Obviously this argument is a phony.

Still another is the fact that some municipalities have found it necessary to impose a small rate wage tax to finance their needs and meet the increase in the cost of living, and that therefore some of our citizens will have three income taxes to pay. Granted that this seems rather severe, should it deprive the Commonwealth of the right to impose a fair and equitable tax on the people to finance its needs? Would the people affected be happier if the state shifted much of the burden of education back to the local school districts and thereby eliminated the entire need for an income tax? Would we want to destroy equality of educational opportunity in Pennsylvania, which is what we would be doing if we did make such a move?

Would the people of Pennsylvania want us to shift back to the counties all forms of public assistance? Remember that the budget calls for $138 million for this.

Of course we wouldn't do these things, and nobody is urging us to, but the state must have funds, or there will be no choice in the matter.

Let that suffice for the moment on the income tax portion of this talk, and let us discuss the sales and gross receipts tax bills, which are the Republican-sponsored part of the bipartisan proposal. Fundamentally, is there anything wrong with either of them? I say there is not!

The first is a selective sales tax which excludes many things such as clothing, medicine and many of the things we need in daily life and which feature of the bill keeps it from being regressive in nature and impact. The very fact that its estimated yield is but $119 million for fourteen months as against a yield of $385 million from a 3 per cent general sales tax indicates the difference in impact.

The gross receipts tax also has definite merit. Its yield of $31 million would be raised from a source which has long been taxed in many states, restaurant meals and beverages and hotel and motel accommodations. And I want to blast one argument which has been stressed against this bill, and that is that this tax cannot be passed on to the consumer, that it will have to be absorbed by the operator of the business and that his margin of profit is too small to do this. I will grant that the profit may be too small to absorb the tax, but I defy any restaurant operator to prove that he cannot pass the tax to the buyer in the same manner as a direct sales tax would be passed on. When coffee prices soared some years ago, what happened? Coffee jumped from 5 cents to 10 cents per cup almost universally. I didn't see any restaurants going out of business as a result of it.

But I dwell overlong on the defense of that portion of the tax proposal which was contributed by our Republican brothers. I have no doubt that the able Minority Leader and his colleagues will very capably refute any and all arguments which might be levelled against their bills.

And now we come to an even more difficult part of this discussion and one which, unfortunately, cannot be avoided. That is the problem of either having or not having a bipartisan tax program passed by this House, wherein all tax measures must originate. It was truly bipartisan on February 9th, when the income tax bill was assured of 119 votes and the others of nearly as many. On that date no vote was taken for the reason that the Governor would not then agree to sign all three of these bills if they reached his desk "as a package," and without this commitment there was no Republican support for the income tax. There was no breach of faith upon the part of Governor Leader at that time, as has been noted in parts of the press recently, as he had never stated that he would sign all of them. Let the record be kept straight on this matter.

What has happened to the bipartisan spirit to solve this problem in the intervening period of twelve days? From the reports I hear much of it has vanished among the minority membership. But I don't believe all the reports I hear! And I won't believe them unless I see evidence of it on the votes on these bills today! You will see evidence of our good faith, when more than forty Democrats vote for your part of the package this afternoon. And don't believe for a moment that they are doing so because they like to. They don't enjoy it any more than you do voting for an income tax But in Heaven's name, let's have some guts! We must have a tax program, the one before us makes sense, both economically and politically, so let's pass these bills and hope that in the near future we can go home! Are we going to run to cover on these tax measures as soon as some lobbyist speaks crossly to us, or some vested interest claims it will be taxed, or some politician says it doesn't suit him? You show me a tax that doesn't hurt somebody and I will be looking at one that does not raise any money. Nobody likes to pay taxes, and none of us contend we do. With my income I would fare much better under a 3 per cent sales tax, so would you, and you, and you. But we wouldn't honestly be pulling our share of the load. We would be letting some other fellow, less able, have the privilege of doing a little more.

In conclusion, let me say this: Twelve days ago you paid me one of the greatest compliments a Legislator could ever hope to receive, and I will be eternally grateful to you for it. Today I am the same "Dumb Dutchman" I was then, begging you, imploring you, to understand the rightness, the equity and the decency of this program as we see it, and to support it.

Let us declare a holiday on politics, join hands and prove to the people of Pennsylvania that we do not intend to let down our schools, our mental patients, our indigent and others who need our help.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the Majority Leader?

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, am I to understand today from the Majority Leader's speech that if one of these bills—let us take for example the income tax bill, which is the first bill on the calendar to vote on—should fail, the other two bills will be called up?

Mr. READINGER. They will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. That is adverse to our original bipartisan agreement. Am I right on that?

Mr. READINGER. That is correct.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Am I to believe, Mr. Speaker, as far as the bipartisan designation of these three bills, that that bipartisan tag is now wiped out in everything except spirit?

Mr. READINGER. In answer, Mr. Speaker, I would say that the original agreement of the bitpartisan tax committee, the group of eight, is no longer in effect for the reason that it was agreed by that group that if any part of this package failed to pass, none of it would pass. Unfortunately, due to the events which have transpired, that agreement is no longer in effect.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I thank the Majority Leader, Mr. Speaker.

Last week I congratulated the Majority Leader, and again I think he is due for congratulations. He made a very eloquent plea, a plea that I think we should think about.

Today I am not going to discuss the merits or the demerits of these tax bills. I think all of us know what they are. We know it is a two per cent income tax we are voting on now that was sponsored by the Democrats, and we will vote, according to the Majority Leader, on a two per cent selective sales tax on durables, luxuries, food, drink and lodging in restaurants, hotels and clubs which was sponsored by, and which has the blessing of the Republicans.

As the Majority Leader said, these two taxes will bring in approximately $360 million in the next fifteen months. I believe those figures are conservative, in all fairness to him. I do not believe anybody can stand on the floor of this House on either side of the House and argue that at least this amount of money is not needed. I think it is a basic fact. I think all of us are honest and will recognize that it is at least $100 million less than the Governor has insisted and said he needed to balance his own budget.

We Republicans have said that the Senate will definitely have the final words on appropriations. If the Senate decides that there is a need for more than $360 million to balance the budget, as the Majority Leader said, there are other taxes passed by this House and now in the Senate. They can vote on those taxes and bring them out and pass them. They can vote on any amount of taxes they feel is necessary to do the job.

These bills, originally, as the Majority Leader said, were presented to the House about two weeks ago as a bipartisan program. The Majority Leader and I agree that they lost their bipartisan nature two weeks ago when the Governor refused to say that he would sign the bills if they were put on his desk. At that very moment two weeks ago the solution to his budget problems was within his grasp. We believe, and I say this with all sincerity, that the Governor fumbled the ball. He let the opportunity slip from his hands at that time and now no one is sure whether these bills can pass or what the alternative will be.

I again want to go on record with the Majority Leader that there were sufficient votes to pass all three bills, according to the words of the men in our caucuses, and those men do not go back on their word, believe me.

I do not know what is going to happen now. I do not know if there is even going to be a tax program. I do not think the Majority Leader knows if there is going to be a tax program, as he has stated.

The Governor said the other day whether this program passes or not will show whether Charlie Smith is sincere. Let me say this to the Governor, if this program fails, Charlie Smith and the Republican Members, and Al Readinger and the Democratic Members, were the most sincere people in the world two weeks ago. Let him remember that. If this program fails, he and his political advisers are going to take the responsibility and not the Members of this House, or Charlie Smith, or Al Readinger.

Two weeks ago we had the votes to pass this program and all that we asked of the Governor, the only place where he fitted into the picture, was that he say and do what we were going to do, commit ourselves for the program. We asked him in advance to commit himself for the program and, as all of us know, he refused to do it at that time. He decided the next day that he would commit himself. He had a change of heart. That was not our fault, we were out of session the next day. If these bills die, we did not kill them—and I say that with all emphasis—the Governor killed them two weeks ago. I admit he has said since then that he would sign the bills. But even the Governor, with all of the power that is in his office, does not have the strength or the authority to breathe life into something that he himself killed. It just cannot be done.

Let me ask you, why did the Governor refuse at first to say he would sign them? According to a television broadcast a week or so ago, the Democratic State Chairman said that he advised the Governor to do so. That is what he said himself. I ask you, why did the Governor change his mind the next day?

The same Democratic State Chairman, according to his own statements, told him to change his mind. So the Governor changed his mind the next day. That was when everyone knew the program was dead. When you on the other side started being hopeful again, and you were, and your Majority Leader was hopeful for the two-week period and even this week, then let me ask you what happened. Over in the other branch of the Legislature we find two Democratic Senators from Allegheny County, who must have had the support of the Governor and the Democratic State Chairman to do anything politically—I do not think they do things without the Governor's knowledge or without the Democratic State Chairman's knowledge—started suddenly to propose and to suggest, so that the Press got it around, that they revive the three per cent sales tax now in the Senate. That was a Democratic suggestion, it came from the Democrats and it was made public by the Democrats.

Mr. Speaker, there are going to be votes on this side of the House for every one of these bills. I want it definitely understood that we have not taken any caucus rule, we have not done that this entire session. I do not believe we on this side of the House have taken a unit rule in caucus for as many years as I can remember. We have not tried to tell our Members how they should vote. I feel the same as the Majority Leader, while it originally started out as a bipartisan program and it died, the spirit of bipartisanship is still there. If some of the men on our side of the House feel they should vote for any one of these bills, as far as I personally am concerned, none of them were discouraged and none of them were encouraged.

If you cannot pass the income tax with the help that we are going to give you—and I cannot even tell you how much help we are going to give you today, but I do say there will be some, because some men volunteered—then the Governor should not try to blame us. Let him again remember, and I say this for posterity, because I know what will happen if these bills pass, I can see the Governor standing on television and trying to shift the blame. But let me remind him when he shifts the blame to get a doggone good argument up as to why he did not say he would commit himself two weeks ago. Let him remember that. If you cannot pass this tax today, it is the Governor who pulled the rug out—keep that in mind—and not us and not you people.

As soon as a compromise program was agreed upon the Governor and the Democratic State Chairman evidently set out to scuttle it, because it was your own Democratic State Chairman, by his own words who said he told the Governor not to sign the bill. First the Governor tried, and now they are using two Democratic Senators from Allegheny County to scuttle the bill. Why, I do not know, but I will let you make your own guess.

Let me say to you, if these bills fail by the refusal to put up enough votes to pass them, I am in the same boat as the Majority Leader, I do not know where we are going to go from here. Again I cannot be too emphatic in saying to you that I believe everyone who sat on that committee and every Member of this House on both sides of the aisle were sincere and willing to forget politics two weeks ago, and that is when the bills should have passed, and it would have been water over the dam.

Today, unfortunately, we cannot give you the same number of votes for your income tax as we had two weeks ago. As anyone in the Legislature knows, you do not get votes by leaving a tax program stay on the calendar. It is one of the things that unfortunately happens, you lose, you never gain, votes for a tax program. You have the 111 votes. I do not say this to shift responsibility to you Members of the House, because you have been honest and fair, but you have the 111 votes, you have more than the constitutional majority. If you can produce them, more power to you, I take my hat off to you. If you cannot, I do not know where we are going from here.

Mr. MUSTO. I wish to interrogate the Minority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Minority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MUSTO. Mr. Speaker, I wish to ask the Minority Leader, must a bill that passes the House of Representatives appear in the upper chamber before it goes to the Governor?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I would say "yes," Mr. Speaker. It has to pass both the House and Senate.

Mr. MUSTO. Now then, Mr. Speaker, may I ask the Minority Leader was he along with the committee, the non-partisan committee, when they asked the Governor to commit himself to something that had to pass the upper chamber before it got to him?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I believe I did not quite understand the gentleman but he may correct me. Did he state was I along with the bi-partisan committee?

Mr. MUSTO. No, the question, Mr. Speaker, is—was this committee saying to the Governor of this Commonwealth when they wanted to bypass the Senate, to have the Governor commit himself to a program that was supposed to be non-partisan, and according to the interpretation that I get, non-partisan program ought to be agreeable to both sides, meaning the Republican and the Democrat.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. All I could say to the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, was that it was an agreed upon program and the fact whether or not the Governor would sign or would veto the package was part of the agreement within the committee.

Mr. MUSTO. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

Miss LEIBY. Mr. Speaker, I have been seated in the Hall of the House and listening to these different men speak. I know that very often when our Minority Leader speaks, he is very convincing. Sometimes I felt myself slipping down, down, down, down into a sea of Republicanism. But just before I went under some spark of Democratic common-sense would come to my rescue and I would come bobbing up, twice as confident and serene in my Democratic heritage.

But I do want to say that on February 9th I got a new picture of our Minority Leader. I semed to see him in his true colors. Now, what was the real person that I saw on February 9th? I saw someone that I think was a very, very grand person indeed, a man who could stand up and give credit to the good qualities of you, Mr. Speaker, and of our Majority Leader, just as he believed in the good qualities on his side, even thuogh they are of different political opinions. On that same day I saw the older Members of our House stand up in deep appreciation of the work of our bi-partisan committee.

I think those other people that are Members of our House, people who are highly respected and deeply honored in the communities that elect them, showed a wonderful thing in the House of Representatives on that day. When we can appreciate each other apart from politics we are on a high ethical standard and I am proud to be a Member of this House. I know that we must have political debate in our country. Imperfect as it is, we have found that the two party system has worked better than any other system that any other country seems to have tried.

I know that many times, I felt a little hurt about the things that were said about us in a political sense, but I know politics is separate from personalities and should be kept separate, and that we must have political arguments.

I sometimes think that political arguments are something like what they say about what strong drink or liquor is. Used in reasonable amounts it is supposed to be invigorating and stimulating, but used to excess it becomes poisonous and disgraceful. So, in reasonable amounts we should expect to be questioned by our opponents. I believe that they regard our Governor in the same way as they regard us. They know that our Governor is a fine young man. They know that he is in a difficult position as a Governor of such a great state. They know because of his youth he has to accept advice from many others who seem to be older and claim they are wiser.

We know that he may have made mistakes and that his advisers, no matter how pure their motives, were very often unduly harsh and very tactless in giving advice. But I do think that every man and woman in this House knows that when the Governor is fighting for these taxes, he is not fighting to put money in his own pocket, he is fighting to help to carry on the traditions of our state. Most of the things for which money is needed were passed by previous Legislatures, but due to the rising cost of living, due to the great increase in scientific appliances and scientific discoveries, these very same things cost more now than they did previously.

Our Governor wants this money to help our poor, to help our sick, our blind, our crippled people, our retarded children, our people who are mentally ill.

Now, we know, we have had a good exhibition of what happened on February 9th. The Governor was supposed to say absolutely that he would sign these bills. As far as the benefit to our constituents is concerned, the benefit without the Governor's signature on all the bills would have been the same, but for political purposes, so that they could make the Governor swallow his own words, as one said, they forced him, or they wanted to force him to say at once that he would sign that bill and he didn't want to do that.

Why didn't he want to do that? For the very same reason that very many Members on both sides of the House didn't want him to sign the bill. They, too, wanted to go back to their constituents and say, "We don't believe in this bill; we didn't work for it." That is true on both sides of the House, and yet in their hearts they wanted the bill to pass because they knew that bill had to pass in order to fulfill what we are trying to fulfill in our state.

I was hoping that I could help these people to find a way by which they could in conscience vote for these bills and go back to their constituents and tell them so.

We pray every day in this House to "Our Father, Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven." Now, what does it mean to do our Father's will on earth as it is in Heaven? Who taught us what our Father's will was? The greatest Teacher that ever lived Jesus Christ came down to teach us how to live with our fellowmen. He taught us three things, love, mercy and compassion. In His talking, in His working among the people of His day He told many stories like the "Prodigal Son," like the "Good Samaritan," and the story that I like best about what to expect on the last day of judgment. He said the people would be divided, some on the right and some on the left, and on the right side would be the people of whom He said, "When I was hungry, ye gave Me meat, when I was thirsty, ye gave Me to drink; when I was naked, ye clothed Me; when I was in prison, ye visited Me; when I was sick, ye came to see Me; when I was a stranger, ye took Me in." The people that stood on His right hand were honest and said, "'We never saw Thee sick or in prison or hungry or thirsty." And the Lord Jesus said that His Father said, "Inasmuch as ye did it unto the least of these, My brethren, ye did it unto Me."

What is our great state doing, our great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania? We are doing the will of our Father through our various agencies. We are helping the blind, we are helping the crippled, we are helping those that are mentally ill and the sick and the poor. This money is not for us; this money is for those of our constituents who need money so that we today who are in this House have the opportunity of fulfilling the will of our Father. We are the spiritual descendants of William Penn who founded this great Commonwealth. He was a rich man who decided to use his wealth as he believed his Father in Heaven wanted him to do, and he founded this wonderful Commonwealth.

We today have the opportunity to be the humble instruments of carrying out God's will, so that we today can pass the laws that will provide the money to do the will of God here on earth. I urge all of you to forget politics on this 127th day of our session. We have tried everything. We know that this is the best that a bipartisan committee could bring up. Let us forget politics today and vote for this bill as we would vote being Christians and believing in God.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the Majority Leader consent to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader consent to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, has the Majority Leader received a written opinion from the Attorney General as to the constitutionality of the bill now under discussion?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I have not. The Attorney General's office does not furnish legal opinions to the Legislature under the law.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Has the Majority Leader received a written opinion from any source as to the constitutionality of this bill?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I may have. I do not recall reading any, although I read the various cases involved which bear on the question of its constitutionality.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Does not the Majority Leader have some distinguished constitutional lawyers on the Democratic side, who would give him an informal opinion as to its constitutionality?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I think I missed the first part of that wisecrack.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. That was not a wisecrack, that was an inquiry, that is all.

Mr. READINGER. Will the gentleman state the inquiry again? It sounded like a wisecrack.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I asked the gentleman sincerely as to whether or not some of the distinguished constitutional lawyers on his side had not supplied him with an informal opinion as to the constitutionality of this bill?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I thought that was what the gentleman said, that is why I thought it was a wisecrack. Seriously, Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's question, I have received no formal or informal opinion from any of my colleagues on this side, although many of them are constitutional experts.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Does not the Majority Leader feel that the nature of the bill is such that its constitutionality is doubtful?

Mr. READINGER. I certainly do not.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Does not the Majority Leader have a provision in this bill, which is under his sponsorship, stating in Section 502 that if the net income feature based upon the Federal basis is declared unconstitutional the entire bill falls?

Mr. READINGER. That is correct.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Then is it not true that if the net income feature as determined by Federal law is unconstitutional we would be without a tax, even though the bill passed and was approved by the Governor?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, that is true of every tax bill. If its unconstitutionality is tested and the court rules it unconstitutional, we are without a tax bill.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the Majority Leader tell me how he distinguished this legislation from the case of Kelley vs. Kalodner in 320 Pa. wherein a somewhat similar but identical tax was declared unconstitutional?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that question I would say we have before us a different tax than was involved in the case of Kelley vs. Kalodner. I believe that was back in 1935. That was openly and avowedly a graduated income tax with different rates involved. It was ruled by the courts to be unconstitutional and a violation of the uniformity clause.

However, in the same year the Supreme Court decided and upheld in the Turko Paint Company case the constitutionality of the corporate net income tax. For the gentleman's information, I would say the tax bill before us today is very, very, very similar to the corporate net income tax.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank the Majority Leader for his kind answers both to my serious questions and so-called wisecracks.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, it is my sincere opinion that the constitutionality of this bill is greatly in doubt. I feel the Members of this House should have been armed with an opinion setting forth clearly and concisely that this particular legislation is constitutional.

I do not wish to go into a long debate with the Majority Leader as to the constitutionality. His reference to the Turko case is not analogous because it is well established that a corporate net income tax is not based upon a property tax.

I feel that we should have had an opinion. I believe the constitutionality of this tax is very doubtful. The Majority Leader in asking us to vote for this particular bill stated that some of us did not have any guts. Now I happen to have been one of the twenty-one Republicans who voted for the three per cent sales tax. I say that the nineteen Democrats who voted give lip service, they had no intention of having the three per cent sales tax pass.

I was sincere in my efforts to have that tax passed. I am not going to argue the difference of economic philosophy with the Majority Leader except to point out he showed himself that the $15,000 man only pays at the rate of one-fifth of one per cent upon his tax by virtue of the Federal income tax credit.

This tax is no burden upon the rich. I have no brief for the rich. We know in Pennsylvania today some of the wealthiest people do not pay one cent because they receive their entire income from tax free authority, state and municipal bonds.

The issue today is whether or not this is a sound tax. I have never been in favor of the bipartisan measure. I was not affected by the vacillation of George Leader. I intend to vote against every measure today because I believe the three per cent sales tax is a tax which is best for the interests of this state.

Mr. McINROY. Mr. Speaker, I had no intention of making a speech, but as some of you noticed I went down front to ask one of our leaders to make this statement because I see away over here some of the Members of the Majority Party have a scheme of "welching," if you want to use that word, or crawling out of their own income tax proposal. In other words, they are saying we should ask the Senate to make the same promise we asked the Governor to make.

Now here is the difference. On cross examination, Mr. Speaker, you yourself answered this over on the other side of the House before Christmas. You were asked the question, will the Governor veto any sales tax? Mr. Speaker, you answer was "yes." Then you were asked this question, have you enough votes on your side of the House coupled with ours to pass a sales tax over the Governor's veto? Your answer was "no." Then the answer of our Majority Leader was this, "There is no use kidding ourselves, we might just as well forget about a sales tax."

That is the reason pure and simple why we on this side wanted to know whether the Governor was going to sign it or veto it. As to what the Senate will do, I don't know.

I just want to make one more statement. I stood up here in front two weeks ago, I was asked to give the prayer. As some of you will remember, I prayed for men and women who would stand on their own two feet and use backbone instead of wishbones and vote for a tax program. I will not stand on my two feet, but will be sitting in my seat and I am going to vote for all three of these bills, just as I asked you people to do two weeks ago. I have not changed by decision, and I see no reason for you people, particularly you Democrats, to change. I am going to listen very carefully on this roll call and I am going to have a definite opinion. I am not going to tell you what it is, but I am going to have a definite opinion if any of you do not say "aye" in favor of the program that you made believe you were in favor of all year. I am going to have a very definite opinion of you. You can have your definite opinion of us if we do not go for the sales tax on our other part. I am going to sacrifice a few votes, but I am not going to lose, I will be back here for two years again next January, and so will some of you.

I can tell you the reason why you are not going to vote, if I wanted to. I have it right before me in the form of a letter, but I am not going to read it.

I am just going to say this, not only am I going to watch closely, but all over Pennsylvania they are going to be watching closely this afternoon, because this is the hour of decision. Look at that clock, 3:30 in the afternoon, Tuesday. If you Democrats do not give us 106 votes, you are the ones who are falling down. We Republicans are willing to help you, a few of us, but you should not ask any of us to help. I can hear your Speaker four years ago as he stood over there and said, "Trot out your 106 votes, trot them out." That is what he said.

I am willing to forget it and so are some of the rest of us over here. We are being men. Now, are you mice? I am going to see whether you are. Let's trot it out, let's get our names on the ballot. I am going to vote "yes," I want to see you Democrats votes "yes" too.

Mrs. REIBMAN. Mr. Speaker, I did not really have any intention of standing here and making a speech until after I heard the Minority Leader stand up and say the bipartisan label was erased from this tax program and in the next breath say the spirit of bipartisanship lives.

It does not make any difference to me whether Jeannette Reibman comes back here next session or not to represent the people of the Second Legislative District of Northampton County. What is important is that when I am here I do my duty as a duly elected official of the people in that district, the people who sent me here to help solve the financial ills that have befallen this beloved Commonwealth of ours.

As a private citizen I speak out now. As the mother of three children in school I want the very best education my tax dollar can buy for them in order to prepare them for the great burdens of citizenship which will befall them in future years and in order that they may be armed intellectually with the kind of educational background they will need to fight the onslaught of vicious ideologies which will be set before them. That is why I decided to run for office last year, so that my vote would count to make sure that my child and every other child in the Commonwealth would have their God-given right to at least be able to fight on an even keel with children all over the world.

For fourteen months we have sat here and argued tax philosophy. I am an ardent Democrat, just as many of you are ardent Republicans. It was my tax philosophy that the cost of the burden of government should be placed upon those most able to pay. I believer, along with that great Republican Lincoln, that it is the duty of the government to do for the people what they cannot do for themselves.

So I borrowed from Republicanism, from Lincoln, as well as my own Democratic heritage, to believe there should be a tax program based on ability to pay.

We argued that philosophy here for fourteen long months. Every day that we sat here cost the taxpayers of Pennsylvania hundreds of thousands of dollars which have gone down the drain.

We have now reached the point where we cannot prevail with our battle of tax philosophy for two very good realistic reasons. One is, we are hamstrung by a constitution which does not permit a graduated income tax, which is truly the one based on the ability to pay and one which does not have confiscatory rates.

We are based with another realistic fact. There are several gentlemen in another chamber of the General Assembly over on the other side of the Hall who refuse to heed the pleas of all the citizens of Pennsylvania and who are not at all interested, I believe, in the true welfare of the citizens of Pennsylvania. They are motivated only by their own special interests.

I stand here today fighting too for Allentown State Hospital, which is not in my Legislative District, but which services the people in my District. That hospital is one of twenty-two mental institutions in Pennsylvania, the only one that has a children's unit to aid the retarded and the mentally handicapped children in Pennsylvania. That hospital has been removed from the approved list of the American Psychiatric Hospital Association. Why? Only for lack of money, because they are over-populated and under-staffed. There are 2,200 souls in that hospital, citizens just as you and I, and but for the grace of God one of us could be sitting in that hospital and not be given the kind of care which would send us back into our communities to be economically rehabilitated.

I campaigned very strenously against the sales tax because I believed it was not based on the principle of ability to pay. I did not think I was sent here by the people of my District to see the schools close their doors, to see the mental institutions striken from approved lists and the mentally retarded and handicapped children not given special training in the public schools so they too would have an even break in this fight for civilization in our country.

For those reasons I felt I would compromise a deep-seated principle and vote for today's tax package because it was the best kind of a bipartisan package arranged by the leadership on both sides of the aisle. As a package it should be voted upon, and as a package it should move through the House. Whatever happens to it in the Senate is beyond our ability to cope with.

We here in the House have the responsibility to provide the money to keep our schools open and keep our mental institutions and our hospitals going. I know when appropriation bills were voted upon in this House none of us voted for half appropriations, none of us voted to keep half of the schools in Pennsylvania open. I am sure we want every school to remain open. I am sure we voted for every dollar, not only half of the funds.

Therefore, I believe in all good conscience not one of us can sit here and do what past Legislators have done, put Pennsylvania in this financial crises that faces us now. We cannot sit here and vote appropriations, as has been done before, and not provide the money to pay for them. For those reasons, because I voted for entire appropriations to keep an entire school open, I shall vote for an entire tax bill which will pay the entire bill of the Commonwealth.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, although several of my colleagues are obviously anxious for the roll call, I will be very brief. Ever since the bipartisan proposal was made public, I have felt that it carried a great deal of merit and I have been rather outspoken from time to time in my support of it. Regardless of whose fault it may be, we find ourselves in a situation today, where every day that goes by is putting us deeper and deeper into the hole because we are now at a point where we have to put out a tax program that will at least substantially raise the amount of money we need to run twenty-four months of operation and with about thirteen to fourteen months of potential tax production.

As I say, regardless of where that fault may be, those are the cold facts. The cold facts are that a great many essential services are suffering. I do not feel that any legislator today or anytime from here on out can vote against the tax program unless he feels he has some alternative for which he can vote.

Since I am already recorded as voting against the sales tax which the Majority Leader mentioned, I intend to vote for these three bills today, and in my own mind they are a package, regardless of what the agreements may have been.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I arise at this time in behalf of the problem that is before us, not as a Democrat Member of the House but as a state representative of the people of Pennsylvania. I believe that this is a week of great determination in Pennsylvania. I believe that we should not discard the bi-partisan label of this program because we here sitting in this House, two hundred and ten Members, readily agreed to the formation of such a plan which would bring about an honest compromise in setting up a bi-partisan tax.

I do not intend to talk and belabor the point and mechanics of these bills, or the reasons for the need for the service because prior speakers have done a good job in doing that. However, I must say, coming at this date with what has already faced us and what will continually face us in the future in this problem that we are confronted with today, it will certainly be our responsibility here, the responsibility of both sides of this House in the event that we cannot put enough votes together to put this program across and send it to the Senate.

We cannot shirk that responsibility, the obligation is clear cut and it is ours. I firmly believe today, as I believed three, four, five weeks ago, when this plan was first formulated, that this is the answer to the fiscal problems of this Commonwealth. Now, I know that oratory is not going to pass this program, I know it is going to take votes and of necessity at this date it is going to take votes on both sides of the aisle for this program. I honestly believe, that this bi-partisan program is an honest compromise, if there ever was one, to the problem before us. Cannot this House, cannot all of us Representatives in this House shoulder our responsibilities, not as party members but as Members of the Legislature serving the people of this Commonwealth?

I am going to conclude, Mr. Speaker, with one remark, and that is this. I firmly believe that the House, if the House will pass this bi-partisan tax program reached by honest compromise, that of necessity that the time has come that the Senate must, because of sheer necessity, accept the program and shoulder their responsibilities as well.

I implore, I beg and I fervently hope that all Members, the Members on the other side of the aisle and the Members on this side of the aisle will face up to that responsibility, and I only hope that we can pass the entire package unanimously so that we can do the job that we undertook when we were elected into this office.

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I use this microphone so infrequently that I trust you will be tolerant with me. My remarks are going to be very brief. I will buy it, either in package form or wrapped separately.

I was one of the those who agreed to vote for the three bills two weeks ago. I have listened with a great deal of interest to these remarks, and nothing has caused me to change my mind. We were emotionally stirred to pay tribute to great leadership, to pay tribute to a man who has sweat blood and shed tears to bring about a realistic solution of our fiscal problems. I believe, Mr. Speaker, that kind of leadership demonstrated on both sides of the House deserves the support and kind of support that we can give this afternoon.

The opportunity to solve our long drawnout tax problems and fiscal problems presents itself in the first real concrete form that we have had in fourteen months, and I believe that it should be done. However, there is no real certainity, but I think the conclusion can be rawn from the efforts this afternoon that we are going see one or two of these bills go down the drain. How-ver, I do want to be definitely on record, Mr. Speaker, iat I have not changed my mind, and as I said before, will buy it in either package form or wrapped separately.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, will the Majority Leader ermit himself to be interrogated briefly, please?

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himlf to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, is it my understanding that e are not voting on these bills as a package?

Mr. READINGER. We are not voting on them as a ackage, although we will vote on them one after the her.

Mr. STROUP. And the idea of the package situation entirely out of the picture, is that correct?

Mr. READINGER. Not in spirit, I hope, but the agree-ent of the bi-partisan tax committee is the thing that not present any longer.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman inform e whether or not he has any assurance from the Gov-nor of this Commonwealth, as to whether or not he will gn the bills if passed and if they are placed upon his esk?

Mr. READINGER. The Governor stated publicly on about the tenth of February that he will sign all of ese bills if they reach his desk.

Mr. STROUP. Will the gentleman answer my question?
asked the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, has he any under-anding with the Governor himself that he will sign the les tax if it is placed upon his desk?

Mr. READINGER. As the Majority Leader, I have been formed that the Governor will sign all three of these ills when they are placed upon his desk. I believe they ill get there.

You are asking me whether he will sign a sales tax eparately if it gets to his desk, I cannot answer that.
hat is the answer to your question. If only one gets to is desk and it is the only type of bill that is placed ere, I do not know what he will do with it. I just canot answer that question.

Mr. STROUP. We have no indication, therefore, of the overnor's attitude, or his signature, except if all three ills are placed on his desk as a package, is that correct?

Mr. READINGER. Yes, that was my understanding f it. Yes, if the package came over as a package, he ould sign all three of them. I cannot answer your other uestion as to what will eventually happen if a sales x and a sales tax alone is placed on his desk as a means financing the Commonwealth.

Mr. STROUP. I thank the gentleman and now just a ord, Mr. Speaker.

It is with deep regret that we face this situation this fternoon when this matter was so perfectly resolved vo weeks ago. We now have no assurance whatsoever iat the bills, if they are placed upon the Governor's esk individually, will be signed by him. At that time, e could have given him the package bills.

However, it is my opinion, in the interests of the Comonwealth, although I fully realize that my constituency
e unalterably opposed to the two per cent income tax, iat the time has come for all of us to work together to y to resolve our financial difficulties. I, too, am burying my attitude toward the two per cent income tax and have come to the conclusion, in the interests of all of us and of the fate of our Commonwealth, to support these three package bills, in the hope that the Governor when it comes his turn to take a stand and when these bills are placed upon his desk, he will have the courage to sign the bills as they are placed there.

The SPEAKER. Does the Majority Leader desire to close the debate?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, one of the prerogatives of the Floor Leader, as I have been told, is to be able to have the last word. So, I am going to take it and say let us vote.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to inform the Members that they must be in the House when the roll is first called, somewhere within the confines of this chamber, to qualify them to a vote. The Chair would request that the Members remain in their seats until the result of the roll has been announced on the various tax bills.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. DAVIS filed the following reasons for his vote.

Mr. Speaker, I ask permission of the House to file a statement as to why I am voting against House Bill 1960 Printer's No. 1373.

Pennsylvania Republicans are becoming a party of the sales tax, while the Governor and his advisors hold out for the income tax—bluntly speaking, the wage tax.

Now the income tax is made to appear outwardly attractive, being huckstered in a slogan-labeled package promising taxes according to "ability to pay." On its face, "ability to pay" sounds like a very fair arrangement. And it would be, had the nature of humans reached perfection.

However, this idea of "ability to pay" invariably becomes a weapon for the demagogue to stay on in power. Moreover, it becomes the weapon of those who would substitute socialism for the traditionally American way of free enterprise.

With the demagogue, the slogan "ability to pay" serves to "soak the rich" harder and harder—to "tax and tax, spend and spend, and elect and elect."

With the dedicated socialist, so often the academic minded intellectual, or the single track-minded social welfare, the slogan "ability to pay" takes shape as a beguiling sedative for the public. It dulls the consciousness of the citizenry while the medium and higher income tax rates are upped and upped towards levels of governmental confiscation—the prelude to Socialism and political regimentation.

The history of our Federal income tax (conceived in "ability to pay") shows so clearly, I believe, this socialistically motivated trend. The U. S. income tax was first enacted, free from socialistic intent, under the Presidency of Woodrow Wilson, who most Republicans today recognize, in the true and old fashioned sense of the word, as a great liberal.

But just how comfortable would Wilson feel now in 1956 with the one half-of-one per cent income tax of his time grown to the devouring rates of today? Extreme tax rates which, together with the damaging mechanics of their imposition, were initially conceived and drafted by brilliant, socialistic minded young tax lawyers during the most radical phase of the New Deal. Extreme rates, designed to deny to free enterprise the accumulation of its own earnings in amounts essential for sustained growth.

Luckily, although held back by the drain of excessive income taxes, free enterprise in America is nevertheless managing to go forward, especially under the Eisenhower administration.

Yet, the story of a half-of-one-per cent income tax, skyrocketed to present day figures, shows all too clearly, I believe, that the income tax is too strong an agent with which popular representative government may safely keep company.

Certainly unless and until more effective governmental checks and balances to control its inherent tendency towards easy increase have been devised, the income tax should make no further inroads upon the pay checks and dividend checks of the American people.

Still, to return to the "ability to pay" slogan, it seems to me that there is implicit in this idea a great humanitarian objective, which should be an ever present element in all tax systems.

This objective is the protection from the full brunt of taxation of the man of small income and large family. With the sales tax, this means exemptions in such matters as take home foods, clothes, shoes, drugs, car turn-in values and the like.

Now Pennsylvania Republicans are advocating such a form of sales tax. With liberal exemptions, the sales tax works more like a luxury tax. Jewelry, fur coats, T V sets and so on are fair game. And there is an incentive for the thrifty: fewer luxury purchases, less tax to pay.

Then, by its very nature, the sales tax does not lend itself to a progressive jacking up of its rates. Some demagogic regime cannot keep pushing up the rate, round after round. It cannot, because everybody gets hit. There isn't a helpless, outnumbered minority to get soaked. The proof of this conclusion is the fact that sales tax rates have remained stationary for many years in the 33 sales-tax states. In fact, in some states the rates have been lowered.

To sum up, its the Republican philosophy of government in Pennsylvania to stand for a true kind of a broad base tax, exemplified in the sales tax, which cannot be maneuvered into bringing on socialism, which is easy on the man of large family and small income and which will allow business to expand under its own steam, which in turn means a steady and healthy growth in the number of jobs—jobs to be had through free bargaining and personal gumption, and not at the whim hinging upon its interpretation of some bureaucrat of the welfare state.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. GIBSON filed the following reasons for his vote.

I am making this statement regarding the tax bills before us today, to express not only my personal feelings but to make clear my position.

I have long stood for a sales tax with food and clothing exempt, as well as some other items, and based on the Ohio plan of collection. House Bills 2009 and 2010 are not perfect but they embody most of the principles I think fair in a sales tax and I am voting for these measures for these reasons.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I feel very differently about the Income Tax. I don't like the Income Tax and I don't like the idea of imposing two broad base taxes on the people of Pennsylvania. However, Mr. Speaker, to bring before the people the issue of the two broad base taxes, with the Democratic Party standing for an Income Tax and the Republican Party for a Sale Tax, I am voting today for the Income Tax for this reason and, of course, to discharge my duty to provide revenue for the schools and hospitals and services our State Government renders.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. HASS filed the following reasons for his vote.

Relative to this tax program, I feel like the man in ire need of money, goes to a bank for a loan, he does ot insist upon a lower interest rate, but is only to appy to get the principal regardless of the interest rate. So I in part rationalize my position in making a decision) vote for the entire tax package.

The Commonwealth's dire need for the settlement of its scal problem is immediate. I cannot any longer theorize n tax philosphies, but act on expediency, realizing the mitation of the proposed program, I am now forced to oncur out of need not out of belief or desire. I do hope ncerely that the past history of tax stalemates may be orced by public opinion to be resolved after the desparate olitical conduct that the Legislatures have allowed themelves to become subject to, rather than a Statemen like pproach to the problem.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. JOHNSON filed the following reasons for his vote.

I am making this statement regarding the tax bills bere us today, to express not only my personal feelings ut to make clear my position.

I have long stood for a sales tax with food and clothng exempt, as well as some other items, and based on ne Ohio plan of collection. House Bills 2009 and 2010 are ot perfect but they embody most of the principles I think air in a sales tax and I am voting for these measures for nese reasons.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I feel very differently about the Inome Tax. I don't like the Income Tax and I don't like ne idea of imposing two broad base taxes on the people f Pennsylvania. However, Mr. Speaker, to bring before ne people the issue of the two broad base taxes, with ne Democratic Party standing for an Income Tax and ne Republican Party for a Sale Tax, I am voting today or the Income Tax for this reason and, of course, to ischarge my duty to provide revenue for the schools nd hospitals and services our State Government renders.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. STRAUSSER filed the following reasons for his ote.

Mr. Speaker, it is my hope that this Tax Package which as agreed to by the Bi-Partisan Committee is to be conidered as a whole. I wish to clarify my reasons for votng for the complete package.

Since I have campaigned vigorously for the Sales Tax s being the cheapest tax to the low-income group and ne fairest to all, I feel I need not apologize to my conituents for voting for that part of the Package. They xpect me to do this, otherwise, I would have been eaten so soundly that it wouldn't have been funny.

Now, Mr. Speaker, as to the Income part of this Tax ackage; I shall vote for this part of the Bi-Partisan ackage. In fairness to the Democratic-sponsored Income ax, I wish to go on record as stating that this, in my pinion, is the fairest Income tax conceivable under our onstitution which prohibits an out-and-out Graduated ncome Tax.

Mr. Speaker, I don't believe there is one member of his House who enjoys enacting a double-barreled broadbased tax program on the people of this Commonwealth at one time, but since this seems to be the only solution to Pennsylvania's financial problem, I am voting in favor of the complete package to help insure against the complete breakdown of our Public School System; our State Hospitals and our other State Institutions.

We have heard much about a tax program which would place the tax burdens on the people who are best able to pay.

Mr. Speaker, after analyzing this package, it is my humble opinion, that this tax package does just that—According to my analysis based on four in the average family, under this complete tax-package those under the $2,500 group would pay nothing—those in the $3,500 group would pay an estimated total tax of $26.00—those in the $5,500 group would pay $80.00—those in the $7,500 group would pay $134.00—those in the $9,500 group would pay an estimated $187.00—and so on up the scale, which tends to prove that this Tax Package is one which places the burden on those best able to pay.

Mr. Speaker, in closing, I wish to repeat, I am going to cast my vote for the complete package to save our great Commonwealth from complete bankruptcy.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. THOMPSON filed the following reasons for his vote.

I have held elective public office at the policy making level for 18 years. Therefore, I know that one of my primary duties is to levy taxes, and make the necessary appropriations. The people of my district sent me here for that purpose. However, I do not intend to be whipsawed in the name of expediency.

Several days ago on the floor of this House, I voted for a 3 per cent Retail Sales Tax Bill. I am prepared to vote for that Bill or any similar bill again today, tomorrow, Saturday, next Tuesday or any time in the immediate future.

But I will not vote in favor of this compromise package. These three (3) bills would saddle the people in my district with not only a 2 per cent Sales Tax, but also a 2 per cent Income Tax. A 3 per cent Retail Sales Tax will do the job just as well and with a lot less trouble for all concerned.

I have repeatedly stated that I will not support this bipartisan tax program but that I am prepared at any time to vote for a 3 per cent broad base sales tax.

However, if the tax package is called to a vote this week and the income tax does not pass, I am then willing to vote for the 2 per cent sales tax bill with the understanding that if it passes the House, our Senate will undoubtedly amend it to a 3 per cent broad base sales tax and return it to us for concurrance. I will vote for such agreement.

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the second bill on special order fixed for this time, being House Bill No. 2009.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 2009, as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative, and the report of the Committee of Conference was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. I simply desire to say that, as all the Members know, there is a very important bill pending in the custody of the Rules Committee. If Members stick around I have a very lively notion that bill will be reported from Committee and placed upon the calendar. I am also fearful that it would not look so good if we reported that bill and all the Members had gone home.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1176, as follows:

An Act defining and relating to installment land contracts and providing for and regulating the rights and obligations between parties to such contracts under certain terms and conditions

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

AMENDMENTS WITHDRAWN

Mr. PETROSKY asked and obtained unanimous consent to withdraw the amendments offered by him.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The bill remains on the third reading calendar without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1987, as follows:

An Act amending the act of May 2, 1925 (P. L. 448) entitled "An act relating to fish and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating to fish in the inland waters and the boundary lakes and boundary rivers of the Commonwealth" authorizing in certain cases fishing in farm ponds without licenses and regulating the transportation of fish taken from such ponds during closed seasons

Section 1 Sections 56 57 and 58 act of May 2, 1925 (P. L. 448) known as "The Fish Law of 1925" added August 21, 1953 (P. L. 1222) are amended to read

The Fish Commission shall fix the terms of each such license and notwithstanding any other provision of this act to the contrary shall include therein permission to release stock and propagate catfish sunfish perch or bass and to take fish of any size without regard to closed seasons or creel limits Such license shall specify the manner of taking and the type size and mesh of gear to be used but shall not prohibit the use of a seine] Fishing Authorized Without License The owner or lessee of a farm his family and persons residing or regularly employed upon the farm on which is constructed an artificial pond holding water the source of which is wholly within the limits of such farm or from waters in which there are no game fish may without license at any time fish in such pond and take therefrom fish of any kind and size and in any number without regard to closed seasons or creel limits or other restrictions or limitations

Section 57 [Use of Farm Fish Pond Any farm fish pond for which a license is issued shall be used for propagation of catfish sunfish perch or bass and for harvesting catfish sunfish perch or bass for the personal use of the licensee and persons residing or regularly employed upon the farm No licensee shall permit any other person to fish in such pond and no fish taken from such pond shall be sold or offered for sale or transported from the premises] Transporting Fish from Premises When any trout or bass lawfully taken from a farm pond are to be transported from the premises during the closed season for such fish ie owner or lessee of the farm shall give to the person ransporting the fish a written statement signed by him owing the date place and by whom the fish were taken e number and species of fish the name and address of e person transporting the fish and the date they are eing transported Any person may lawfully have in his ossession and transport such fish during the closed season r such species when accompanied by the statement erein provided for

Section 58 Penalty [Any person violating any provisions this article shall on conviction in the manner provided chapter fourteen of this act be sentenced to pay a fine twenty dollars In addition to such penalty for the cond offense the farm fish pond license or fishing license both of any such person may be revoked for one year the discretion of the Commission] Any person having his possession during the closed season any trout or ss taken from a farm pond and transported from the emises without being accompanied by the statement the owner or lessee provided for in the preceding ction shall on conviction as provided in chapter fourteen this act be sentenced to pay a fine of ten dollars ($10) r each fish had in possession

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, for years I have been orking for this and other good agricultural legislation, id I hope this bill passes this House today. The farmer ys for the pond, he pays for the fish, so why doesn't have the right to fish therein without a license or e if he wants to fish?

As long as a farmer is on his own property, he has the nstitutional right to operate his property as he wishes long as he does not unreasonably interfere with the blic interest.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas id nays were taken and were as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1955. 141st of the General Assembly.

Vol. 34. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1956. No. 142.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1956

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain, the following prayer was offered by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. RUTH:

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, Who has been the Hope and confidence of Thy peoples throughout the ages, we come to Thee in humility and pray that we, too, may have that hope and confidence for our time.

We thank Thee today for the life of George Washington, who had hope and confidence in Thee in the formative days of our great Nation. Thou didst use him to lay foundations for others to build on. May we realize today, when we are a strong and powerful Nation, that we must still have that hope and that confidence in Thee to be successful, not only as a Nation but as a guiding light for human brotherhood for the world.

We ask it in Thy Holy Name, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MAHANY and Mr. MADIGAN, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to call to the attention of the Senate that we are in the last week of the month of February and the tax bills, such as they are, have just come from the House and I note that they are to go to the Committee on Finance; the chairman is here. I am suggesting now to the Republican leadership that it follow the same procedure that I am following. I am notifying all of the Members on this side to come next week with a full dinner pail, because I fully expect that this Senate will attempt to iron out the problem next week.

Every day that we lose now means that we are $1,000,000 more in debt. I would like to see this committee, early next week, call a meeting and whatever is decided as the tax program of course, must be decided by the Republican Majority. I will have each Member of my Caucus receive copies of all the bills that come over from the House, in order that no one can plead ignorance of the acts. I believe it is important enough that each Member of the Senate should have copies of the acts so that when we come in on Monday, we will be ready to act decisively on this legislation. I cannot stress too heavily the seriousness of the moment, the situation in which we find ourselves, and we certainly cannot go back to the well of the House again at this stage of the game.

Mr. President, I am assured by the House leadership that it feels it has complied far and beyond its normal duties in sending to this Senate three complete sets of tax bills. Inasmuch as it is the prerogative of the House to initiate tax legislation, I think it should be a warning to all of us that any delay on the part of the Senate will be occasion for the people of Pennsylvania to roundly condemn us. I think that the questions which are to be solved in this State must now be resolved in the Senate Chambers.

Mr. President, I was going to request that the bills be sent to the Committee on Rules because the leadership of both sides is represented on that Committee. However, I had a long conversation with Senator Kessler, the Chairman of the Finance Committee, who we all agree, as the chairman of that committee is very well acquainted with the problem and the question of finances. He assures me that he is going to work just as rapidly as he can to call the group together and to try to get some solution to the problem at an early date.

I urgently request that each Member study the bills over the weekend so that we may know exactly what we are doing next week.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I want to assure Senator Dent that we, on this side of the aisle, expect to go to work on this legislation between now and next week. We intend to read the bills, see what they include; the effects and incidence on the people of Pennsylvania, if we pass all of them or if we pass part of them. We also expect to work next week in relation to this tax package. We are going to have a meeting, as I have announced to the press, of the Republicans to decide what we feel should be done in relation to this tax package. I believe that when next week rolls around, Senator Dent will not be disappointed with the conduct of the Republican side of the aisle in relation to acting upon these bills. Senator Dent may be disappointed with the end result.

Right now, I do not know whether the income tax part of it will pass, whether the sales tax part of it will pass, whether all of it will pass or what will happen. That will depend upon the action of the individual Members next week. We will, however,—I do not like to use the word dispatch, because the last time Senator Dent said that dispatch means "kill off"—act upon these bills with all the speed possible.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Speaker has referred the following resolutions:

By Mr. AMARANDO. RESOLUTION No. 157.

In the House of Representatives, February 21, 1956.

The City of Philadelphia and this Commonwealth are indeed fortunate in having in the City Council of Philadelphia a champion who has worked tirelessly to curb juvenile delinquency in Philadelphia

The champion of the welfare of the public is Councilman-at-Large Paul D'Ortona who sponsored, and with the aid of his colleagues in Council, had passed an ordinance setting a curfew hour on juveniles allowed on the streets unaccompanied by a parent or responsible person. Despite the protests of many groups, Councilman D'Ortona unrelentlessly pushed for successful passage of the bill. During an outbreak of juvenile delinquency concerning the use of "switch-blade" knives in Philadelphia, Councilman D'Ortona immediately sponsored an ordinance curbing the sale and use of these so called switch-blade knives. He has contributed through unselfish effort many services to society in curbing juvenile delinquency.

Councilman Paul D'Ortona has had a distinguished record in public life. Among other positions, he was a member of this House of Representatives in 1941, was elected to and served in the minor judiciary of Philadelphia as a magistrate, resigned that office to be a candidate for councilman-at-large, was elected for a four year term in 1951 and reelected to the same office in 1955. His record exemplifies the confidence of the public in Councilman Paul D'Ortona, the service he has rendered to his community and his keen interest in one of America's greatest problems, to wit, juvenile delinquency; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives commend Councilman Paul D'Ortona for the many years of unselfish and outstanding public service to his community and this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and especially for his efforts to combatting and curbing juvenile delinquency through proper legislation; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded to the Mayor of Philadelphia, Richardson Dilworth, to City Council of Philadelphia and to Councilman Paul D'Ortona.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. BELL and MURPHY.
RESOLUTION No. 158.

In the House of Representatives, February 21, 1956.

The inadequate State Highway System extending in and about the City of Chester is totally inadequate for local and through traffic.

The City of Chester, County of Delaware, Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, and the State of Pennsylvania have heretofore entered into an agreement for the construction of a limited access highway to be known as "Chester Expressway," connecting the Conchester Road and U. S. Highway 13, known as the Chester Pike, connecting Chester and Philadelphia.

Construction of the first portion thereof has actually been completed.

The City of Chester and County of Delaware have specifically allocated $1,000,000.00 to pay for land damage claims covering the the construction of the remaining link of the said proposed Chester Expressway.

No further action has been taken concerning the construction of that portion of the proposed Chester Expressway situate between Kerlin Street and Chester Pike.

The travelling public, including tens of thousands of employes in the heavy industries of Chester and lower Delaware County are daily inconvenienced by the failure of the State Highway Department to push to completion the remainder of the "Chester Expressway."

Hundreds of thousands of residents of Philadelphia and eastern Delaware County are subject to daily traffic jams caused by the overloaded condition of an antiquated State Highway system existing between Eddystone Borough and the Delaware state line; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania urge the Secretary of the Highway Department of this Commonwealth to complete as soon as practicable the Chester Expressway in the County of Delaware for the convenience and safety of the travelling public of this Commonwealth.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF HOUSE BILL No. 1947.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 21, 1956.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Bill No. 1947, Printer's No. 1268, entitled "An act making an appropriation to the State Treasurer for the purpose of paying salaries and wages of State officers and employes and other ordinary and general expenses in the interim between the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred fifty-five and such time as the funds provided by the General Appropriation Act and other appropriation acts become available and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred fifty-five."

GEORGE M. LEADER.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WORLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I want to call the attention of this House and particularly of the Judiciary Committee of this House that the British ended all death penalties. Just last week the House of Commons voted to abolish hanging in Britain. The vote was 293 to 262. The voting cut across party lines. Several states of the United States have already abolished capital punishment. This is an international trend.

I call upon the Judiciary Committee to bring House Bill 1680 to the floor of this House for action.

RESOLUTION

COMMEMORATING WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

Mrs. MUNLEY, Messrs. OGILVIE, ZIEGLER, NEEDHAM and WARGO offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 22, 1956.

February 22, 1956 marks the two hundred twenty-fourth anniversary of the birth of George Washington.

As a leader in the military service and in the independence movement, President Washington showed great ability and devotion to ideals. Throughout his life, particularly during his two terms as the first president of this great nation, his high standards of conduct and dedication to those ideals which have since become part of the American tradition, have marked him as a great leader who richly deserves the appellation "father of his country."

It is well for us of the present day to rededicate ourselves to our country, and to think of George Washington as an idealist who has shown the way in giving as much as possible to this nation and its institutions which are a hallmark of individual rights respected throughout the world; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives hereby commemorates the anniversary of the birthday of George Washington, and bids all Pennsylvanians to reflect on his great virtues, outstanding leadership and dedication to his country when they face the problems and trials of the present day.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. READINGER from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, House Resolution (Jewish Community Center).

Mr. READINGER from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed House Resolution (Cornelius McGillicuddy).

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of a resolution (not printed) reported from Committee.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 9, 1956.

The death of Cornelius McGillicuddy, better known as Connie Mack, on Wednesday, February 8, 1956, brought to a close, a notable career in the field of sports.

First a baseball player, and later a major league manager and club owner, Mr. Mack is best known for his outstanding achievements during fifty years as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics. His teams won nine league championships and five world series titles.

He made an impression upon baseball which will preserve his name and leave a happy memory of his accomplishments with those who knew and worked with him. His clean sportsmanship and exemplary conduct earned him the respect and admiration of his opponents and associates. He well exemplified the great American tradition of fair play coupled with a keen competitive spirit and will to win.

Of equal importance with his ability to develop championship teams, was his ability to develop young players into competitors of outstanding calibre. These men whom he developed have paid tribute to him which speak well of him as a person of high inherent qualities and fine personal attributes as well as possessing great qualities of leadership; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of this House of Representatives express their personal condolences and feelings of grief at the passing of Connie Mack to his widow, the former Katherine Hallahan; and to his surviving children, Roy, Earle, Mary, Ruth, Rita, Elizabeth and Connie, Jr., and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the widow and children of the late Connie Mack.

RESOLUTION

JEWISH COMMUNITY CENTER

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of a resolution (not-printed) reported from Committee.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 23, 1956.

On December 11, 1955, a new Jewish Community Center was dedicated at Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania. This event clearly stands out as the finest contribution of 1955 toward the cultural, spiritual, civic and educational growth of a progressive area of this Commonwealth.

Our brethren of the Jewish faith displayed great vision and spared no material cost, time and effort in planning this beautiful center, a million dollar monument dedicated to turning out the finest calibre of future citizens and leaders of this Commonwealth and Nation.

It was symbolic trat the dedicatory exercises were attended by 1,500 citizens of all denominations. Persons of all faiths rubbed shoulders in the true spirit of God's brotherhood. It is also symbolic that this great center nestles on the campus of Wilkes College and the closely neighboring The First Baptist Church overlooking the gracefully curving banks of the Susquehanna River. It is truly as the name implies, a community center, a symbol of goodwill and brotherhood among men of all faiths; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives recognize the tremendous contribution the people of the Jewish faith of the Wyoming Valley have made to a community and State for which they are grateful, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Jewish Community Center at Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL TAKEN FROM TABLE

SENATE

MONDAY, February 27, 1956

The Senate met at 1:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. D. WARD NICHOLAS, Bishop of African Methodist Episcopal Church, Philadelphia, offered the following prayer:

Our Father God, we come into Thy presence with bowed heads and contrite hearts. We thank Thee that we are privileged in this land of opportunity to come into Thy presence and find peace there. We pray Thy blessing upon these persons upon whose shoulders rest the responsibility of government. Wilt Thou give them vision, wisdom, insight, that they may work forward to the advancement of Thy Kingdom.

We pray Thy blessing upon this Nation. May peace find its way into our hearts; where things come to divide us, bring us together as one army of the living God, moving forward under the banner of Jesus Christ. Hear our prayer; bless our every effort and bring us to Thee in peace, we ask in Thy Name, Amen.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. CHAPMAN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 998, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare for the maintenance of certain homes.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. McMENAMIN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 999, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 20, 1949 (P. L. 1591) entitled "An Act providing for the compensation of the mayor, council and appointed officers in cities of the second class A" increasing the compensation of the mayor and appointed officers in cities of the second class A.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Messrs. MULLIN and SILVERT read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1000, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 2, 1945 (P. L. 375), entitled as amended "An act conferring upon the councils of cities of the first class the power and devolving upon them the duty of fixing and determining the salaries, wages and other compensation . . . ," fixing minimum salaries for prothonotaries and deputies in Philadelphia.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the sponsors, the number of the last bill is 1000, which wins the door prize.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I wish to read into the record a short editorial, printed in the Philadelphia Bulletin on Sunday, February 19th, which deals with our present tax difficulties in this unprecedented Session of the Legislature. The editorial is entitled, "Bottom of the Barrel," and reads as follows:

"Taxpayers in Pennsylvania may have enjoyed the temporary tax relief granted them by the Legislature while it was struggling and squabbling over the budget, though most of them know that what they don't pay now will have to be paid some day. But there are thousands who have been left holding an empty bang—the teachers and school workers who couldn't be paid because the Commonwealth is close to bankruptcy.

"School districts have been obliged to borrow heavily on their own credit, sometimes at stiff interest rates. Some schools are on the point of closing.

"Every member of the Legislature could have foreseen this crisis, and intelligent cooperation in fashioning a sound tax program could have prevented it. Much of the delay was directly due to the maneuvering of politicians who get their own pay on time and don't seem to care much whether the teachers get theirs. Now the lid is off this sorry mess, and prosperous and wealthy Pennsylvania stands confessed as a Commonwealth where legislators waste time and talk interminably, while 'destitute' school districts go hat in hand to the moneylenders so that their doors may stay open."

Mr. President, I offer this short editorial for the record, without any further comment.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I do not want to appear as a Don Quixote, fighting windmills, and know well that it is not the province of our State Senate to dabble in international policies of the United States. However, to 10,000,000 Pennsylvanians, our policies toward the manipulations and machinations of the Kremlin cutthroats are of vital interest and concern. Secretary John Foster Dulles is a great scholar, having spent decades in the field of international relations, but I feel dismayed and disturbed by his recent speech in Philadelphia which betrays a mellowing and mildness in his appraisal of the Russian plans for world domination.

Mr. President, we are fortunate to have in our midst a great American diplomat who saw the Russians in all the brutality of their merciless blood bath in Poland when, between the hammer of Hilter and the anvil of the Kremlin, the gallant Polish Nation was crushed. Major General Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., the present Adjutant General of Pennsylvania, more than anyone else is qualified to give an appraisal of the Russian menace that falls athwart the progress of the free world, as he saw the Russian bear claw innocent millions of helpless Poles. He is the man, to use an ancient adage, "Who knows and knows that he knows" and, therefore, should be followed as a man of wisdom and erudition.

We are so immersed in our tax fights and animal experimentation acrobatics, Mr. President, that we are nolens volens, paying little attention to world problems. And, yet, the latter are of great interest to 10,000,000 Pennsylvanians.

Therefore, Mr. President, I move that a masterful and incisive appraisal by Major General Biddle of the Kremlin brigandage, embodied in an erudite speech, delivered by him on February 5, 1956, at the Annual Banquet of the Polish-American Association, in Philadelphia, be printed in the Legislative Journal for the benefit of Pennsylvania and its inhabitants.

The PRESIDENT. As requested by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, the speech by Major General Biddle will be printed in the Legislative Journal.

SPEECH DELIVERED BY MAJ. GEN. A. J. DREXEL BIDDLE, JR., THE ADJUTANT GENERAL OF PENNSYLVANIA, AT THE ANNUAL BANQUET OF THE POLISH-AMERICAN CITIZENS LEAGUE OF PENNSYLVANIA, FEBRUARY 5, 1956, AT THE HOTEL ADELPHIA, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

My warmest greetings fellow countrymen, so many of you of Polish descent. This is not the first time I have had the pleasure of being among you. Over 15 years ago, during the tragic days of World War II turmoil, I met with many of you at Moose Hall. I was at that time just back from the country of your forbears where I spent, as Ambassador of the United States, between 3 and 4 of the most memorable years of my life. I learned then to know Poland and the heoric Polish nation for which I shall always guard the deepest respect and affection.

The qualities which have preserved the Polish people throughout history will assist them today.

The dauntless courage which has, for centuries, characterized their spirit—their love of their native soil, their devotion to family and to God, their tenacity, and their patriotism—these qualities will survive all attempts at suppression.

The Americans of Polish extraction and the Poles who adopted the United States as their new home may well be proud of the people in the land of their forebears.

They may furthermore be justifiably proud of their important contribution toward the advancement of our Nation. It is a record of patriotism and achievement for which I have abiding admiration and respect.

The ideals and principles, to which all of us are dedicated, are not lifeless abstractions. They are living things, and like all other living things, their survival depends upon their nourishment and sustenance. This would be true, even under the least threatening of conditions. However, we live in a world in which the fundamental values that make up our priceless heritage of freedom are actively menaced. This menace is militant communism; it has economic, political, and psychological facets.

Moreover, these evil forces would, by the persecution of religion, deny the soul and its relation to God.

The danger to human freedom from power-mad, evil forces is by no means an empty one, and this in spite of recurrent peace offensives. In the world-power climate of today, the scope and magnitude of the threat with which our Nation is faced may be weighed mainly in terms of the strength of all major components of the unprecedented peacetime military power of the Soviet bloc. They may also be assessed in terms of the Soviet's fundamental attitude of hostility toward the free world in general, toward the United States in particular. And hardly less importantly, they may be measured in terms of the Communists' capability for conducting political subversion throughout the world. To fully grasp the scope of this disruptive technique, we have only to realistically evaluate what has been taking place over the past few years in a number of critical situations abroad, to recognize it as deterioration. And lest we become entangled in the trip wires of wish thinking, let us not exclude the possibility that at least part, if not all of these situations might worsen before they grow better; that consequently the thin ice, underlying the theater of cold-war operations, might turn dangerously thinner.

I have in mind the creation of certain trouble spots by Moscow and Communist China; as well as their exploitation of existing trouble in other areas. I am also thinking of a comparatively new problem, which is apt to render the cold war bitterly competitive, namely, the Soviet diplomacy of blandishments in the field of economic aid to underveloped countries.

In the past 10 years we have made great strides toward containing and countering Communist expansion. But there is still much to be done. Meanwhile, these critical trouble spots, and the problem created by the Soviet trade and aid program, urgently require the contrivance and exercise of effective measures to deal with them.

Now, a word about the Soviets' dangling of offers of assistance before the non-Communist countries.

In light of the Soviet's record of absorbing other nations, it would be only natural that their venture into the field of economic aid would be apt to incite free-world suspicion, lest the program might be aimed at enticing non-Communist countries into the Communist embrace.

It was with a great splash that the Soviets embarked last year on a trade-and-aid program, but when compared with the investment of the United States in the welfare of other countries the Soviets' contribution was incalculably small.

For this and perhaps other reasons, some may be inclined to minimize the importance of this Soviet action; they may tend to assume that the Communists would not be able to deliver the goods.

But, I think, we must not underestimate either the Communists' intentions or their capabilities.

In the past decade 14 nations and more than 600 million people have been drawn into the Communist orbit.

Hence, nations presently confronted with these Communist trade-and-aid temptations should take a good look at the record. They would find the wholesome good neighborly spirit motivating our assistance against the potentially sinster purpose behind Soviet aid. They would find that the purpose of our economic aid is not to purchase friendship, but to strengthen other countries, to enable them to remain free economically and politically of any foreign domination in order that they can remain independent members of the family of nations.

Now let us compare this with the grim fate that befell other less-fortunate countries which have become dependent for aid upon Soviet Russia. They were enveloped in the suffocating wet blanket of Communist domination. And today behind the Iron Curtain the will and actions of their peoples are controlled by the "gun in the kidneys."

And the Iron Curtain is there not merely to prevent entry, but to hold the insiders captive.

Yes; nations tempted by Soviet blandishments would be well advised to examine the record. For those, which might be considering the Communists' offers of assistance and toying with the illusory idea of coexistence, without the backing of free world collective security, would be risking the fate of becoming the "truck" with the Communists in the driver's seat. This fate is similar to that which so often befalls misguided individuals beguiled into cooperation with the Communists. The latter find themselves rapidly involved beyond their depth; thereupon hopelessly compromised, consequently victimized by blackmail, and end up as the truck with the Communists in the driver's seat. When the truck has outworn its usefulness the driver junks it, and goes in search of another vehicle.

It is pertinent to recall what was said in 1931 before the Lenin School of Political Warfare by Soviet Diplomat Dimitry L. Manuilsky. He said: "War to the hilt between communism and capitalism is inevitable. Today, of course, we are not strong enough to attack. Our time will come in 20 or 30 years. To win, we shall need the element of surprise. The bourgeoisie will have to be put to sleep. So we shall begin, by launching the most spectacular peace movement on record. Then will be electrifying overtures and unheard of concessions. The capitalist countries, stupid and decadent will rejoice to cooperate in their own destruction. They will leap at another chance to be friends. As soon as their guard is down, we shall smash them with our clenched fist."

This was spoken in 1931, about 25 years ago.

Since the close of World War II, we have observed the cynical, mercurial switches in Soviet foreign policy; from bluster to affability and back again to bluster. When the wave of affability, which marked the Soviet approach to the conference at the summit gave way to renewed bluster, the chief of the Soviet Union Communist Party, Nikita Khrushchev, had something significant to say. He announced the approaching downfall of the free world through a worldwide triumph of communism. He, moreover, confirmed the Cominform as a boring-from-within spearhead, aimed at achieving this end by every means, including the violent overthrow of free governments. This would mean, of course, the Cominform on the outside, working hand in hand with the Moscow-controlled Communist parties and their agents on the inside of each targeted country.

As Mr. Khrushchev is the molder and spokesman of Soviet foreign policy, we should be in error to underestimate the boundless ambitions, or the formidable armed force behind his vehement utterances.

The ultimate objective of the Soviet Union's foreign policy remains global pre-eminence.

To the Soviets, coexistence means a temporary gap in the process of achieving ideological domination.

In our way of thinking, it implies acceptance of differing poltical systems.

We believe the nations of the world can live in peace and mutal acceptance of their several forms of Government, but only if there is removed the atmosphere of hate and suspicion, generated by Moscow.

A declaration by the Reds that they do not want war is not sufficient. Adolph Hitler said that. No; the most effective way to steer a course away from war is to abstain from actions that may lead to war.

It is abundantly clear that the greatest threat to the inherent rights of free men today is militant communism.

A decade ago, in Poland, I saw the Soviets operating in pursuit of their clear and oft-stated objective to secure world domination.

I saw how they cynically disregarded their stated beliefs, by allying themselves with Nazi Germany, which until then the Soviets had held up as the antithesis of all they stood for.

The record of Soviet actions, since 1939, has consistently followed in the direction indicated by the Soviet-Nazi deal to dismember Poland.

Although, from time to time, Soviet policies may have seemed to veer sharply, the fact is that they have invariably followed a single course—unscrupulous opportunism in the pursuit of extending their power, regardless of what innocent people may suffer. The fall of Poland, of Czechoslovakia, the achievement of Communist domination in China, the Berlin blockade, all provided a lesson which the aggression in Korea drove home.

The lesson is, that communism is the political tool of despotic imperialism, and is no more than any other of the historic attempts by totalitarian states to seize and extend power.

Their weapons are not limited to the rifle, the machine gun, the cannon, the atomic bomb. Besides the boring-from-within technique and coercion, their weapons include misrepresentation and falsehood, and half-truths. With these they would turn neighbor against neighbor, friend against friend.

Their methods include the probing for and exploitation of weakness, with a view to gaining a foothold and eventually control over a given area, which in turn is intended as a springboard for expansion further afield

Experience has taught us that the imperialist-minded oligarchy, which rules the Soviet police state, does not negotiate, unless it believes it cannot lose; that a contract with the Soviets is good only as long as the Soviets consider that the contract serves its own interests. Furthermore, Moscow has shown itself capable of exchanging toasts with a smile, while brewing trouble behind our backs.

The results of the recent summit Conference at Geneva would certainly have dashed any illusions that might possibly have been entertained concerning Soviet sincerity.

In any evaluation of sincerity of their motives, we have only to recall that among the nations, which have accepted Russian non-aggression pacts, have been Estonia, Lithuania, Latvia, Finland, Poland, Rumania, and Nationalist China. The first three—the Baltic States—were overrun by the Soviet forces following the fall of France in 1940, and have since been incorporated into the Soviet Union. In 1939 the Red army invaded Poland and Finland. The following year the Soviets seized Bessarabia from Rumania. The Soviet's pact with Japan endured only until Germany had been defeated in 1945, at which time the Soviet forces invaded Japanese-held territory in the Far East.

Moreover, Nationalist China was invaded by Russian troops in 1945, and Russian arms helped Mao Tse-tung to conquer it. This adds up to 10 nonagression pacts broken in 16 years—and 12 treaties of alliances broken by the Soviet Union. Figures show that armed aggression has followed a non-aggression treaty by an average of 8-2/3 years.

And let us not forget the promises already made, yet unfulfilled by the Soviet—promises made at Yalta, at Potsdam, at Panmunjon. Let us be mindful of these unfulfiilled promises, when reading of the acts of Soviet officials traveling abroad, in the pose of the placid good neighbor, warning against the West—declaring that the Soviet Union was bent upon freeing oppressed people, and upon giving them self-government. For you and I know that the Soviet has refrained from applying these principles in the cases of Poland, of Czechoslovakia, of East Germany, of Estonia, of Latvia, of Lithuania—or, for that matter, in any other countries the Soviet has brought within the clutches of its colonial structure.

The President's Christmas message to the captive nations of Europe brought forth an unjustifiable bitter tirade from No. 1 spokesman for communism. Nikita Khruschev. His attack upon the President was an affront to the conscience of all Americans, and of all free peoples.

It revealed the Kremlin's acute sensitivity concerning this crime against the rights of peoples to choose the form of their respective governments.

The President's message, expressing, as it did, hope for the ultimate liberation of the captive nations, was clearly based upon the President's oft-stated position, that the United States intends, by peaceful means, to help attain freedom and justice for the oppressed peoples of the world.

This indeed reflects the traditional American point of view. And this point of view stems from the spirit of the Declaration of Independence, whose stirring proclamations concerning the God-given rights of free men have long thrilled the hearts of oppressed peoples wherever they might be. There would be no man today who could not understand their meaning.

Were Mr. Khrushchev willing to acknowledge the facts, he would necessarily agree that the United States, established out of revolution and a demand for freedom, has long been the source of spiritual inspiration to millions in many lands.

Lafayette said: "America's independence will implant liberty, and make it flourish throughout the world."

And Woodrow Wilson said: "The interesting and inspiring thing about America is that she asks nothing for herself except what she has a right to ask for humanity itself."

The answer lies in our basic conception of freedom and equality of opportunity.

Communism is no match for this—its aims are not to free the peoples from exploitation, but rather to maneuver them into a new form of selfish exploitation.

And let us not be misled by the Soviet's claim to have cut military spending. The Soviet's budget is far from a carefully detailed document. Hence, it affords many opportunities for disguising military expenditures.

Only when the Soviet rulers permit outsiders to scrutinize their figures, should we attach any degree of credence to Soviet propaganda concerning cuts in military expendtures.

It is possible that the Soviets are shifting from spending for outmoded means of waging war, to newer and potentially more dangerous weapons (only recently the Russians offered to furnish atomic weapons to the armed forces of the captive countries) but it is safe to say that their overall military effectiveness is unimpaired.

It would be well to write off this claim to subtly timed propaganda.

As matters stand, the dimensions of the Communist military threat are, impressive. On land, on sea, and in the air, the threat from the East comprises a force in being of considerable magnitude—also, these forces are in position. And, as the decision to attack is up to the Soviets, we probably would not get very much warning.

These huge armed forces are far in excess of anything needed to defend Soviet territory.

Such are the Soviet military capabilities, and when using the term "capabilities," I do not mean to imply intentions. For intentions involve risky guesswork, potentially dangerous speculation. Soviet intentions are known only to the men in the Kremlin.

Meanwhile, the fears, engendered by the threat of the Soviet's formidable military capabilities are exploited by the Kremlin to the advantage of its imperialistic aims.

And we know that fear is the breeding ground of suspicion and distrust; that it preaches the text of surrender, of spineless acquiescence; that it leads to the abandonment and denial of all the qualities which elevate and ennoble human life.

At this point, let me make it emphatically clear that, while we live with the constant possibility of war, that does not mean, I am convinced, that the outbreak of war is inevitable.

It is extremely important that we maintain a dignified, deliberate, cool position, whether the Soviet resorts to threats or cajolery; that while recognizing the danger of war, we remain open to all conciliatory gestures the Communists may advance, and that we continue to strive for an honorable, just, and equitable peace.

At the same time, it would be only prudent for us to be mindful of Soviet objectives, of Soviet methods, and of Soviet capabilities. For to approach negotiations, and not to bear in mind these facts of life, would be to risk being taken for a sleigh ride of unwarranted hopes, only perhaps to find ourselves headed up a blind alley of disillusionment.

What is more, in light of the historic duplicity of the Russians, and until they demonstrate a willingness to translate words into such concrete acts, as would warrant some measure of free world trust, we would be justified in insisting, as did that much quoted, sage gentleman from Missouri, that we "want to be shown."

The lesson implicit in Communist actions has been recognized by the nations of the free world for what it is. Clearly, moral suasion has no impact upon the unscrupulous.

The only effective deterrent is strength, which entails force and the capability of using it. The only world opinion, for which the Communists have any regard, is that which is so backed up.

It is this language that the leaders of militant communism understand.

Let us now briefly examine what measures we and other nations of the free world have taken to counter the overhanging threat.

Our Nation is engaged in a defense effort which dwarfs anything we have had in time of peace before. For reasonable preparedness in peacetime is essential to our hope for victory in war. At the same time we must maintain our strength —economically and psychologically, as well as militarily—so that we are prepared, if need be, to deal with whatever dangers may arise.

It is also essential to our hope for maintaining peace on acceptable terms. This is true, because successful diplomacy depends upon our ability to negotiate from a position of strength. A policy which depends for effect upon military capability becomes nothing but bluff—an obvious bluff—when the military capability for backing it up is patently inadequate.

The purpose behind our defense effort is to build up such a posture of strength as to enable us to keep the peace by deterring aggression—to make it unprofitable to attack, to forewarn a potential aggressor that an attack would be to risk national suicide—and to develop that strength to such a point that, in event we fail to deter an attack, we may meet it successfully. And, in all likelihood, we shall have to maintain this strong posture, perhaps for decades to come.

Such preparedness has taken on a greater importance than it ever had before. It is the only way, under the circumstances of our times, to insure the respect of our enemies and the confidence of our friends.

All of us know the price that has already had to be paid 3 times in less than 40 years, for our Nation's lack of military readiness, when hostilities broke out.

If we are to avoid the errors of the past, we must face up to the realities of the future.

Because of the free world's vulnerabilities in areas of contact with Communist nations, and because of the emergence of Communist China, as well as of the Soviet Union as the chief partners in the Communist bloc, and as potential aggressors, action had to be taken to fill the vacuum wherever its existence constituted a serious threat to peace and security.

The United States took steps specifically in this direction.

We have had to undertake an extensive program of military assistance to help to develop military strength in the nations located in threatened areas. In addition, we have provided forces of our own military strength in such areas, or in locations from which those areas are readily accessible.

Moreover, we do not stand alone in defense of the great cause of freedom. Recognizing the value of collective security, we joined hands with the free nations in regional defense pacts, both in the Atlantic and in the Pacific areas—and we helped to form collective strength in the Middle East.

Hence, collective security, an instrument of enlightened self-interest, forms the bulwark against possible Communist aggrandizement. It helps to to protect the territory of our allies, and it protects our own territory as well. If aggression should occur, it is obviously to our own national advantage to meet it as far as possible from our own shores.

We must maintain balanced forces, not at war strength, but capable of absorbing initial blows, and capable also of providing the nucleus around which rapid expansion can take place.

Never before have the demands upon our youth and upon our veterans been greater, nor the tasks before them so worthy of their finest efforts.

Necessarily, our defense effort places a heavy obligation upon all of us, and especially upon our youth. They are required to interrupt or delay their civilian careers, to postpone their personal plans, to serve in uniform in strange lands, sometimes under hazardous conditions. But there is a compensation. That compensation is that through their service to the Nation, they are helping to guard the rights and liberties, without which there could be no free choices, no personal plans—for all that would be subservient to totalitarian authority.

This obligation and the privilege of service are not confined to our youth and to our veterans, however. Since our freedom is shared by all, it should be safeguarded by all. There are limitless opportunities for service in all forms of human endeavor.

Our people have not sought the easy way; they have placed right before conveninece.

Nothing is free, and nothing worthwhile is cheap.

From our forebears we inherited a priceless birthright of freedom, of justice, and equality.

We must fulfill the trust which has been passed on to us.

We must preserve this heritage and pass it on to our successors, not only unimpaired, but enriched.

It is a challenging responsibility which faces us.

Inspired by the deeds of the courageous men and women who have gone before; armed with the ideals for which our Nation stands; and strong with the determination to uphold those ideals, regardless of the personal cost, we can look to the future with courage and confidence.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would like to comment, briefly, on the editorial which was read by Senator Silvert. I also would like to tell Senator Silvert that I could bring in hundreds of editorials that I have seen in the newspapers during the last week or so, advising us as to what the various editors thought we should do about our tax problem.

Mr. President, most of the editorials that I have seen state that the Senate of Pennsylvania should not accept the tax package which was sent over to us by the House. Therefore, we are not idle; we are trying to do our best in order to figure out how much money we need. We are going over the appropriation bills in detail to find out what we feel is the amount of necessary revenue to be raised to meet these appropriations. We are also trying to figure out a tax program which we feel will be satisfactory to the majority of the people of Pennsylvania. We have been quite busy in trying to do all of these things.

Mr. President, I could have told the people of Pennsylvania and in fact I did a year or so ago when the campaign was on for Governor, that we would need extra taxes and that we could not balance this budget by knocking off the sales tax and, in place of it, putting on some economies recommended by the Chesterman Committee. That is the story which was pretty generally fed to the people of Pennsylvania by certain Democratic politicians. We knew at that time that we would need more money. Yet, as I said, the story was given out that we would not need more money. The people were misled and right now I find it difficult to tell the people back home that we do need money. They continuously tell me that we do not, because the fellow who ran for Governor and who was elected said that we did not need more money. Therefore, the people cannot understand why we are now down here trying to figure out more taxes to put on them.

In line with that, Mr. President, I have a copy of the Pittsburgh Press here, which is one of my favorite newspapers, in which is headlined "Letters to the Editor." I do not criticize the Pittsburgh Press for printing letters they receive from people because, after all, that is one of the interesting features of any newspaper. They have a perfect right to print these letters. I want to read this one letter to your first. It is headlined, with large headlines over the top, "State 'Tax Vultures' Denounced." This is the kind of thinking which sometimes prevails among the people generally. Of course, they have a false idea of what we need. However, perhaps, they have gotten it from certain campaign speeches which they have heard. This particular letter is from a man who writes to the editor as follows. When people write to an editor, they usually write in an angry voice. They have something to get off their chests. This man writes as follows:

"Why are the senators in Harrisburg making so much fuss about digging deeper into the workers' pockets?

"We know that the state needs money, but so do the workers, and they cannot afford to have the tax vultures dig deeper and deeper into their pockets.

"Davey Lawrence was not satisfied with the wage tax he forced on the workers, so he raised the taxes on property. Now we are digging deeper into our pockets to pay the tax increase.

"The solution for the wage tax in Harrisburg is to impeach Leader and restore the one per cent sales tax, which is sufficient

"A man that will run from one end of the state to the other end broadcasting over radio and television that he is against the sales tax, the wage tax, and that he will economize, and does not keep his promises, is unfit. He has proven that he is incompetent for the office he now holds.

"Why does Leader want 465 million dollars more than was used by the preceding governor? Is it to create new jobs for the political hacks to pay them for the support they gave to have him elected governor?

"Louis Deberson
"Mt. Washington"

Mr. President, this newspaper is not just content with putting a letter like that into its newspaper, but it also saw fit to have their cartoonist draw a picture. In the picture, it shows a taxpayer—he is labeled as a taxpayer. However, all you can see is his feet. He is lying prone on a couch. At the end of the couch is a fellow, wearing a turtle neck sweater, who looks like a thug. He is labeled "State." He is reaching in the poor taxpayer's pocket to pilfer the money out of the taxpayer's trousers while he is sleeping. That is the sort of thing which gets us into a lot of trouble. The people in my District read that and they cannot understand why I am down here trying to take money away from them. After reading this kind of stuff, they figure that we do not need any money.

Today, when you ask the fellow on the street, back home, "What does the State give you?" there are darn few of them who can tell you what they do get from the State. The people do not realize how much money the State puts in to pay for their schools. Very few of them even realize how much money the State puts in to pay for the cost of running their hospitals. Few, if any, know that the judges in their counties are paid by the State. Therefore, Mr. President, we do have a difficult situation here to try to explain to the people our need for funds in order to do the things that they would have us do. It is all we can do, when we go back home, to tell the people about the need for funds and how it is necessary to raise them. After we explain it to them, they say, "Well, go on back to Harrisvurg and see if you cannot come up with some type of a tax program that will be satisfactory. However, for heaven's sake, do not put an income tax on us." That is the type of story that I heard all last week.

What we are trying to do, Mr. President, is to work this thing out so that we can adopt a satisfactory tax solution.

One of my favorite columnists, Mr. Lindgren, wrote a column last Sunday in which he claimed that he wondered why so many people were running for the Legislature when they find it so difficult down here. He figured out all the money that we get. He figured out that we get $3,000 for the Session; we get five cents mileage and we get $250 a month for expense money. He figured it altogether, as though that were a net profit. There are very few, if any, of us who can travel, either by train or by automobile, for five cents a mile. If you go by train, the railroad fare is more than that. The $250 a month is spent by the middle of the month in hotel bills and meals and so forth down here. You will find that most of the money we receive is pretty much used up. There is very little or any profit in this particular position, regardless of the fact that so many of the Senators and Representatives want to come back and run for re-election.

I would say that one of the biggest reasons for them wanting to run for re-election is because maybe, some county chairman told them that they won before and it would be nice if they could stand for re-election this year. I doubt very much if any of the people who are coming down here are coming down because they are making a whole lot of money. I just wonder sometimes why anybody does want to run for the job. This is the most unappreciated position that I have ever seen. The people do not appreciate what you do and, perhaps, the reason for it is the misrepresentation which appears in the newspapers about what our positions are, what our jobs are, the kind of work we are doing and the time that we spend here. I would say to the candidates, running both on the Republican ticket and the Democratic ticket, that they should try to be more forthright in their statements in the future as to what the State's needs are.

I also would like to, at least, petition the newspaper editors and newspaper writers to try to draw an accurate picture of our jobs down here, the work that we are doing and what we are trying to accomplish. For them to come out all the time and say that this is another do-nothing Session of the Legislature, that the people are not working and that all we are doing is playing around down here, certainly gives a very false picture to the people back home. It surely does not make this particular job very attractive to those of us who have to leave our homes, leave our businesses, our families and travel over the icy highways, over mountainous roads, to come down to Harrisburg to try to do a job for the people.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I sat here this afternoon and listened to Senator Mahany work a number of sides of the street. He criticized the Governor and then he more or less took the newspapers to task. Now I have this to say today. All I know is what I read in the newspapers, and I read in the Evening News today that the Senate Majority now has their own tax program.

Therefore, Mr. President, what I want to do is call to the memory of the Majority Leader the fact that several weeks ago I interrogated him on the floor in regard to the possibility of representatives of both sides of this Senate working with Members of the House in regard to a tax program. At that particular time, Senator Mahany said he did not feel that was feasible because it would be bound to get out when they had agreed upon a tax program and, therefore, they would be confronted with unusual pressure. He also stated that, in his opinion, if I recall correctly, the Members of the House on the Republican side would consult with he and other Members of the Senate as to their activities when it comes to voting for a tax program. So, the Members of the House voted and passed a tax program which is over here in the Senate. Now the Republican Majority has met and they have concocted their own tax program here in this Senate.

Let us suppose that we pass their tax program this week. How do we know that the House is going to concur? After all, the Republican Majority has made guinea pigs of their Members, just as we Democrats on this side are forced to make guinea pigs of our Members.

Mr. President, Senator Mahany talked about taking money away from the people and that he is being criticized back home for advocating taxes and that sort of thing. To the best of my knowledge and belief, Senator Mahany voted for one tax program here and I believe that was the excise tax, which was converted into a sales tax. I believe, too, that they brought that up in order to try to embarrass the Democrats when they knew very well that it was not going to pass and Senator Mahany voted for it. I want to inform Senator Mahany's constituents that outside of that one act, I do not believe he has voted for any taxes during this Session. I do not know whether he is going to vote for taxes now. Of course, that is entirely up to Senator Mahany.

Mr. President, Senator Mahany then talked about the Governor of Pennsylvania running around this State, saying that he would not need money. I will say to Senator Mahany that, if he recalls, under the campaigns of Edward Martin and Jim Duff and, if you please, John Fine, too, it was stated that no additional taxes would be needed. John Fine said there would be no additional taxes. Jim Duff said he had a $200,000,000 surplus, and what happened? No such thing existed. We know that the Fine Administration finished up here with approximately a $7,000,000 deficit. How long do we have to pay the bills? Senator Mahany knows full well, and so does every other Republican Senator on the other side, that Jim Duff no more than hit this Senate and he started running for United States Senator. He passed everything he could possibly pass which cost money. He passed the soldiers' bonus, and he did not have the intestinal fortitude to place the taxes. He did not levy the taxes, but left that for succeeding Administrations. We are here today facing the fiddler. We are facing the inevitable and we must raise the money.

I know, too, that the Republican Majority in the Senate here today is never going to agree to give this Administration sufficient funds to carry out our program. I know that just as well as I know I am standing here, and I knew six months ago that that would be the case. When and if they come up with a tax program now, it will probably be $100,000,000 short because they want to tell the people of Pennsylvania that the Democrats are not capable. They want to say that we are in the red again because they are talking right now, throughout the State, to the effect that we are not competent. However, they are the people who are responsible for the fact that we are here today. Mr. President, this Democratic Administration will take the responsibility but the Republicans will not let us do it.

Therefore, I say to you, Senator Mahany, today, that we have been here almost fourteen months and I believe that you fellows are still fooling over there. I do not believe that you are sincere, because if you were sincere you would have agreed with the House, you would have gotten down to business, we would have agreed on a tax program and we would know where we stand today. We do not know where we stand. We do not know what is going to happen. If you put these bills up here, I imagine you will pass them but how do you know they will agree to them in the House? We are just back where we started from.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I intended to interrogate the Chairman of the Finance Committee, Senator Kessler. However, he does not appear on the floor and if the Majority Leader is willing to substitute for him or any other Member will volunteer to take his place, I desire to ask a few questions.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President. However, there might be some questions that only Senator Kessler might know the answer to, but I will be happy to answer any that I know the answers to. If you have some questions which I do not know the answer to and Senator Kessler might, then if you will wait until he gets back here, you could get all all your answers from him. I presume we could send for Senator Kessler, Senator, and have him up here.

Mr. DENT. That will be perfectly all right. I would much rather ask the Chairman of the Finance Committee, because the questions are pertinent to his statements and to his analysis of the problem and rather not yours.

Mr. MAHANY. I think he is working in his office, Senator, and I will send down for him.

Mr. DENT. That will be all right. While he is coming, I would like to continue on with making a few remarks.

Mr. President, while the Senator was on his feet, I was going to ask him if we Members of the Senate on the Democratic side are still partners in the Senate or whether we are still part of the Senate. However, I would like to ask him whether we are still Members of the Senate over here and part of it?

Mr. MAHANY. You and your colleagues are certainly Members of the Senate and I respect you as such. My suggestion today, in connection with this tax program, was that after we over on this side of the aisle might agree to it, we get together and try to find out whether or not you and I and others can agree to it.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, we are going to be partners, I see, after they decide what they are going to give us. This reminds me of the story of the proprietor in a small barrom who had a bartender working for him. One day the proprietor came into the barroom, and happened to be in a position where he could see the bartender and the bartender could not see him. A fellow came in and bought something at the bar and handed the bartender fifty cents. The bartender went over to the cash register and marked up, "No Sale," and put the fifty cents in his pocket. The proprietor looked at him and he said, "So, Larry, ain't we partners no more?" That seems to be about the situation that we are in here on the Democratic side.

It seems there must be some newspaperman, I would not know which one, except that he writes for the Evening News, but one of the newspapermen seems to be able to get from the Republican Causus the information on what the Republican Caucus is going to do before it does it. We can always, if we buy the Evening News, we Democrats can usually find out what the Republican Caucus is going to do. I do not suggest that he has a pipeline direct. I think it is one of those pipelines which is indirect and probably, when he is talking to the gentleman who tells him, instead of the man facing him he talks to him sideways.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, I read a very interesting statement in the paper and one that the people ought to know about. Mr. Kessler says, and I will repeat this when he comes up and ask him to verify it. This appeared in The Evening News. It is funny how that paper gets so much information. I shall read from the Saturday edition of the Evening News:

"GOP Caucus Tomorrow Night" is the headline, but it goes on to say what the Caucus is going to do. It says here:

"Mr. Kessler, a foe of an income tax and a proponent of a sales tax reiterated that he would abide by the decision of the Republican Caucus on whether or not his committee should report the bills to the floor next week.

"I would not place my judgment above the Caucus, he said. If the Caucus feels it is politically best, the bills will come to the floor for a vote."

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, the people of Pennsylvania are a sovereign people. They deserve better representation than that. They deserve better representation than the kind of representation which is embodied in the statement, "If the Caucus feels that it is politically best, the bills will come to the floor for a vote."

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I know we have been here a long time. I suppose that if the Democratic Party and the Governor of this State had acceded to blackmail fourteen months ago, we could have gone home last year. We were told then that come hell or high water, no tax bills would pass the Senate except based upon a three per cent sales tax.

Now, Mr. President, the Governor has been castigated and maligned all over the State by certain inspired newspapermen as an immature, stubborn, young man. How would you characterize the leader of the Republican Senate, who is seventy-eight years old? Certainly he is not an immature, young, stubborn man. We know he is not young and there is some question on the other parts.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, one man can say to the people of Pennsylvania, "This shall be the tax program," and Republican Senators, who try to voice their conviction, find themselves in the position of silent apology. I understand that the Republican program includes the three per cent sales tax which they say will raise $231,000,000. I read the so-called sales tax. We have approximately fifteen months to collect the taxes. This tax bill has more amendments in it than the Fine tax bill.

Mr. President, let me see what the Republican Floor Leader of the Senate, a Republican Commissioner of Allegheny County, had to say about the Fine tax bill in regard to its exemptions:

"County Commissioner John M. Walker, a Republican, today admitted his own party is partly responsible for the mess in Harrisburg.

"In a rare confessional mood, he said Republicans had fumbled the ball and missed their golden opportunity to pass a three per cent sales tax.

"Mr. Walker conceded the one per cent sales tax pushed through the General Assembly by Republicans in 1953 was a 'stinker.'" The words are Walker's, not mine.

"It contained too many exemptions, he charged.

"Then to the amazement of his listeners, he added, 'My party loaded the payroll'"—Walker said this—" 'because there was an election coming up and naturally we wanted to succeed ourselves.

" 'That ran the cost of Government up. We had more tax collectors than taxpayers.'"

Incidentally, this is also from one of your favorite newspapers. It is funny how you only find the things you want to find in the newspapers.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, you cannot doubt what Mr. Walker says, because you had him as chairman of your Truth Squad last year, running out over the State following up the Democrats and telling the people what the truth was. Well, now I know why you picked him; he is a truthful man.

In your tax program, you would also include a one per cent increase in corporate net. Now, I am not going into these, Mr. President, until Senator Kessler comes up here. If he does not come up until tomorrow, I will talk until tomorrow.

As I find the picture, Mr. President, the tax program advanced by the Republicans, as contained in the newspapers, will raise $303,000,000. In order that there be no misunderstanding, I want the people of Pennsylvania to know this. Tomorrow, if the Republicans will verify this tax program, I expect to go to the Budget Office and to the Secretary of Revenue. I expect to have from them the official legal estimates of what the tax bills will raise. As you all know, the Governor cannot accept Senator Kessler's figures. He cannot appropriate or sign appropriations that exceed the amount of revenue estimated to be raised by the revenue bills by the Department of Revenue and the Budget Office.

Mr. President, this is what you are providing. I want all the people to know this. Between now and the end of the week, with the help of God and a little manual labor, I expect to wire every hospital in Pennsylvania, every institution in Pennsylvania, and, as far as I can, every schoolteacher in Pennsylvania. I expect to call to their attention this hoax, this terrible fraud that is being perpetrated in the name of economy, conceived and dedicated to the political welfare of the Republican Party. All you can do, you Republican Senators, is to take the John Fine budget, which amounts to $1,055,000,000, add to that $69,832,000 of a deficit left by Governor Fine and you will have approximately $1,125,000,000 that is needed right now to meet the cost of government as it was contained in the Fine budget. If you add to that the $103,-000,000 school subsidy we inherited from Senator Duff, the $2,100,000 of additional moneys needed to meet the soldiers' bonus payments, the bonds, the $6,400,000 required to meet the added bond payments for the General State Authority, we need $1,236,500,000 to meet only the required mandated cost of government and the budget left by Governor Fine.

Mr. President, we have taxes on the books that will raise, according to the exact figures of their incomes—any man in the Senate can go to the department and get the figures like I did—in this biennium, providing there are no more serious work stoppages and a few other items that can enter into the picture, but based upon the level of collection of our best year out of the last five years, we will raise $877,000,000. I am not a millionaiare and so when I get up over $2,000 or $3,000, I become silghtly confused.

Mr. President and members of this Senate. If you take the Republican tax bill—if my estimates are right, and I do not say at this moment they are right because I, only have the information that Johnny Scotzin was kind enough to put in his newspaper. He is a reliable newsaperman and I know he gets his information from a very reliable source. If you raise $303,000,000, you will find that if you add 877 and 303 you will have a total of $1,180,000,000. Mr. President, if you can show me how you can meet the mandated subsidies of $1,236,500,000 out of an entire revenue of $1,180,000,000, then I say that you do not belong in the Senate. You belong in the moving picture business, competing with this magician who runs around over the Country, Thurston.

Mr. President, let us see the sorry picture that they are adding up to. Let us see what else we have to meet. You need $1,236,500,000 to meet the costs that are on the books as of the last biennium. Add to that the $31,000,000 that this Senate passed for schoolteachers, the $8,000,000 that this Senate has passed, and which has been signed by the Governor, for the school construction program, the $8,500,000 to de-water Schuylkill County, which has been passed and signed by the Governor, and you get a grand slam total of $1,284,000,000. I am not talking about the $9,200,000 of additional non-budgeted dollars and bills that were sent over to the Governor and signed by the Governor, which this Senate not only introduced but passed and sent over to him. I am assuming that, being nonpreferred, when it comes to feeding out the money for those appropriations, there just will not be any money there. If you will remember, the Supreme Court has decreed that when the revenues do not meet sufficiently the needs of the Commonwealth, all nonpreferred appropriations automatically die, without the Governor doing the cutting that you Republicans think he should do. Then, if there are still insufficient funds to take care of the appropriated mandated cost of government, a prorate cut is made on the preferred appropriations of this Commonwealth.

Let us see how much money you need. If you just take—these are not fancy figures. These figures are contained in your budget and contained in the receipt sheets of the State of Pennsylvania. These are not fancy figures, dug out of an empty hat. These are the actual income figures of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Let us see what happens.

We find ourselves, then, with a deficit of $397,000,000. The minimum required to meet the existing cost of government in this Commonwealth is $397,000,000. Let us get down to basics, Mr. President. They say to us and I read here—I am sorry if I have to read from new releases because, not being full-fledged partners in the Senate, I do not know what is going on in the Senate. I must go to the News Room and have them tell me. We are not in on working out the tax bills. We have not been invited to that particular session, although the House, which is Democratic, not only had the courtesy—it is not in the realm of courtesy; it is in the realm of duty and they subscribe to their duty. They invited the Republican Minority and they knew that the Republican Minority was against the tax bills. However, they never met in secret caucus; they never met in secret places. They invited their Republican colleagues into the conferences and came up with a compromise program. We, however, are not permitted in on that.

Senator Mahany is making predictions and since he is making them, I thought my Democratic colleagues ought to know what the predictions are. I am not sure that you fellows over there care very much. Senator Mahany predicted that all twenty-six Republican Senators would vote for the bill, a new tax package intended to raise $352,000,000 during the remaining months of the 1955 biennium. He said that, in general, it will be similar to the 1953 sales tax, except, mind you, that manufacturing machinery will be out.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I know that all of us are interested in Pennsylvania. I want to see a healthy economy; I want to see a healthy industry. However, what good is a healthy industry, Mr. President, with broken minds, wandering aimlessly on our streets, unable to get into mental institutions? What good is a healthy industry if thousands of our citizens, through no fault of their own, find themselves on relief and are deprived of the necessities of life? What good is a healthy industry and an unhealthy people? Taxes reflect the credit and integrity of a government.

I have watched my State condemned by spokesman for certain organizations in this Commonwealth as being a bad place in which to live, a bad place to work in. I do not believe that, Mr. President. I do not believe that this great State of ours is a bad place for anybody. I think it is the greatest State in the Union and I believe that industry knows this is the greatest State in the Union. They say that industry is moving out; that industry is creating its factories and plants in other States. Now, Mr. President and Members of this Senate, are you sure that it is taxes that drive them out? Because, if taxes drive them out, Mr. President, then you Republicans drove them out. All of the taxes on the books today were conceived and passed under Republican Administrations. Any plant that has moved to West Virginia did not move on account of the Leader taxes. There are no such animals, sir. You say that General Motors is building a great big plant over in Youngstown, Ohio, because this is a bad place in which to live. I think, with my little and limited experience, both in the field of labor and in the field of industry, and I have been fortunate enough in my lifetime to have participated in both, that when an industry starts to move a major project, they take into consideration many things. They take into consideration local taxes, for instance.

I want to say again, and I offered this to the Republicans before and I now offer it again, that if you gentlemen on the other side will take the Ohio tax plan, local, county and State, and bring it over here, introduce it, I will support it. If you will go down to New Jersey and tax the railroads, like they do, and tax all of the other items that they tax in New Jersey and put the load of schools back onto the common home, back in the local communities, and you want to introduce the New Jersey taxes,—you always rave about the competition from New Jersey—let us wipe out the competition and bring the New Jersey taxes, local, county and State, over here and I will vote for them. I have heard you say that Indiana is such a great place. In fact, Senator Kessler—where is his office? Is it down in Lancaster? Senator Kessler showed me a big advertisement out of Business Week, showing a full page about what a great State Indiana is to live in and about how industry was healthy in Indiana. I said, "Senator Kessler, if you will introduce the legislation, wiping out all of Pennsylvania's taxes and accepting all of Indiana's taxes for Pennsylvania, I will go along with you." However, do you know what the trouble is? I will tell you what the trouble is. You want the New Jersey taxes, but you want to exempt somebody. You want the Ohio taxes, but you want to exempt somebody. You want the Michigan taxes and the Indiana taxes, but you want to exempt somebody. You do not have the intestinal fortitude to stand up and say, "This is a proposition which the people, industry, business, all endeavors of government, are confronted with and it is a proposition that requires everybody to contribute and pay."

We are willing to vote for taxes on people; we have demonstrated that. We are willing to vote for taxes on industry; we have demonstrated that. We are willing to vote for taxes on business; we have demonstrated that, each in their proportionate share for the values received from government. Do not forget that when we build a school house out in the country here, we are training industrial workers. Do not forget that when we lay roads all over the State of Pennsylvania, we are laying them so men can get back to work on time for industrial production. Do not forget that every time we spend any State money to take care of the wards of the State, we are taking care of a great many of the wards of industry. There are 8,000 children on the waiting list to get into mental institutions; 8,000 children and you have cut out from your program every cent for the Department of Welfare, every nickel from the Department of Welfare. You are not going to build one bed for one child in the State of Pennsylvania who is on that 8,000 waiting list. To say that you are going to do it is nothing but a plain out-and-out unadulterated lie, because you cannot do it with that kind of a program and you cannot raise it with that kind of a program.

Assuming that your own figures are right, giving you credit for the $352,000,000, add that to the $877,000,000 and let us see where we go. You will only have $1,229,000,000 and you require $1,284,000,000 to meet the mandated cost of government; the bills that you have passed and sent to the Governor and are signed. How are you going to give $43,000,000 to the Department of Welfare? How are you going to give five cents to the Department of Welfare? How are you going to give $9,000,000 to the Department of Health? How are you going to give five cents to the Department of Health? How are you going to give one cent to the industrial expansion program? You know and I know that what you are doing in this program is cutting out the $8,500,000 which is supposed to be spent to de-water the mines in the anthracite region. You know that you cannot give them one cent. Senator Wagner, and the rest of the Senators from the anthracite region, ought to know that that is true. Do not come back later and say you thought the money was in the budget. The money is not in the budget unless you pass the revenues.

Mr. President, I think that somewhere along the line there comes a time when the people ought to know the truth. I would like to tell the hospitals in Pennsylvania something. Governor Leader's House of Representatives has sent over an increase for the little hospitals in our communities, many of which are struggling to keep their doors open and have to charge even exorbitant rates and cannot keep the doors open even at that. They are charging rates far beyond what they want to charge. Now you have cut every nickel of what the Governor sent over, amounting to $9,000,000. You have cut the $12,000,000 proposed for the universities of this State, which would have made an education slightly easier to obtain for the sons of those who do not have all the money in the world in order to make a better educated people out of us. You are destroying the opportunity to discover in this great mass of American children another Einstein or another chemist or another great doctor or another great leader in religion or another great leader in the field of newspapers—there are some. I think that all of us know that that would be a good place to spend some money.

To you, the universities of this State, including Penn State University, I would like to say that Penn State, under the Fine budget, and that is all you can pass, received $20,000,000 and under Governor Leader they would receive $25,000,000. We propose $7,000,000 more for the University of Pennsylvania, Temple University and the University of Pittsburgh. Do you think these great institutions come here because they come with their hat in their hand? They come here because the problems are many and they are trying to provide for the lowest possible rate in education, in order that this State can hold its head up among the States of this Union that provide free, free university education to any of their citizens who have the ability to attend. You stand over there and compare this. You come up before this Senate and talk about the great State of California, headed by that great Governor of theirs whom you have so proudly held up as a masterpiece in government operation. What do they have? I have heard your Senate leader, Senator Taylor, say he could never go for two taxes on the poor people. They have not only two taxes out in California; they have twenty taxes out in California. They have sales, income and mercantile. They include all of their machinery out in California. They even include the ingredients that go into the make-up products in California.

What are you doing here today? You are giving exemption to manufacturers in Pennsylvania not contained in any other tax law in the United States. Even in Ohio, this great haven that I have heard so much about for industrial greatness, the original purchased equipment of an industrial corporation is not subject to a State sales tax but it is subject to a chattel tax, Mr. President. If you rebuild a machine out in Ohio, I do not care whether you rebuild it from floor to ceiling, every part that you buy is taxed in Ohio.

What are you boys doing over there? Maybe that is why you are all invited to the Manufacturers' Association Dinner. It is a very peculiar thing and we stop right there again; we are not partners anymore. The only invitation received over here was a personal invitation to your humble servant. After today, they will probably put tacks on my seat.

What are you doing in Pennsylvania? You are exempting manufacturers from real estate taxation. You are exempting manufactured machinery from the sales tax. You are exempting all component parts that go into an industry from the sales tax. As I understand it, you are exempting all utilities from the sales tax and, of course, our dearly beloved Joe Pew's Sun Shipbuilding Company.

Where do we go from here? We face the people of this Commonwealth with a lot of empty promises. I hear that old refrain from Senator Mahany. It is like a record with a stuck needle. He always says that somebody went out and promised the people there would be no more taxes, and that we could balance the budget without them.

Mr. President, I would like to know how any living person in Pennsylvania could do anything different than George Leader did. A lot of people have been condemning the Governor, because they say he went out over the State and said that there would be no new taxes needed and that he was going to balance the budget without the sales tax. That is true, Mr. President. I make no hesitation about an admission to that, except that nowhere can Senator Mahany show me where in the Democratic Platform it says anything about no new taxes.

Mr. President, I might say this to Senator Mahany that Jim Duff was told by Governor Martin's Budget Director, who later stayed on under Jim Duff, in the spring of 1946 that there was a $200,000,000 surplus in the treasury of the State of Pennsylvania and that year he campaigned the length and breadth of the State of Pennsylvania, telling the people there was a $200,000,000 surplus in the treasury. Now if I remember right, Senator Mahany was a candidate at that time and he ran on that platform, but this same Senator Mahany came into the General Assembly the following January and voted for $124,000,000 worth of new taxes.

When you start telling about broken promises, remember that Jim Duff had to rely upon the knowledge of the facts given to him by the Budget Director. Let us see what happened four years later, Mr. President. A man by the name of Fine, of unhappy memory, ran for Governor. He told the people of Pennsylvania in his platform that there would be no new taxes needed if the Republican Party and John Fine were returned to power. He got his information from the same Budget Director who had misled Jim Duff. When he came into power, the first thing he tried to do was to ask for $119,000,000 in the form of a wage tax. The next biennium, he asked for $135,000,000 in the form of a sales tax.

Now, Mr. President, what happened next? Chronologically, I think it is good to bring things up-to-date so that people who hear one broken record can, at least, hear incidents that transpired before the record become broken. Governor Leader, then candidate Leader, ran for office. During the spring this same Budget Director said, and we have the newspapers, that there would be a surplus somewhere between $40,000,000 and $52,000,000 in the State treasury. Where would Governor Leader get any information except through the newspapers? That is where we get our information. We are Members of the Senate and we cannot get information except through the newspapers. When I want to know anything, I am going to be honest with you, I go to see Johnny Scotzin. He tells me and he knows. He gets the information and then he feeds it to the other boys a little at a time, just so they do not scoop him. That is perfectly all right and, Johnny, later on after we are through tonight, I would like to talk to you a little bit. I want to know if you can tell me when Ted Watson is going to be back because it says here in this newspaper, and I would like to read what it says because I do not want to be misquoted by the Titusville Bugle. What is the name of that paper up there—The Herald? What is a herald without a bugle?

"Mahany predicted that all twenty-six Republican Senators would vote for the tax bill."

Johnny, anything you tell me, I will not tell to the other newspapermen until you let me tell them. Now the reason I want to know when Mr. Watson is coming back is because if he is not going to be back until next week, I have a few things I want to do and we are not going to hold our boys here waiting for the Republicans to make up their minds when to bring him back.

I want to say to you, and this is an offer I am making, that we would be glad to sit down with you. We will be glad to sit down with you if you would like to have the benefit of what little knowledge we have about taxes and budgets. We would like to try to work out a program. We resent being told what the program is and castigated because we will not vote for it. We would like to be invited to, at least, the meetings of the Finance Committee. You know some of us are legal members. We would like to sit down with you and we are willing to do that. However, if you continue the high-handed methods, if you continue to write it the way you want to write it, I fully expect that you may run into opposition on this side. In spite of that, do not hold up your vote on this bill or on the tax program because of the severe illness of Senator Watson. We have a few men on this side, twenty of us now I believe, and any man on this side will stand up and give Ted Watson a vote on this Senate floor rather than have you bring him back here if he is sick. Therefore, do not hold up the tax bill just because Ted Watson is sick. However, I know that you are so anxious to get all the credit for this bill that you probably do not want any Democratic votes for it.

Mr. President, I want to inquire whether the Lancaster bus got in yet? Does anyone know whether the bus arrived?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I understand that Senator Kessler is working on some amendments to this tax bill. I understood from Senator Pechan that when Senator Kessler left the building, he was going over to the Legislative Reference Bureau.

Senator Dent, if you will note by the clock, it is now five after six. We agreed a week or so ago that we would adjourn.

Mr. DENT. I second your motion.

Mr. MAHANY. Just a minute; if you would rather take a recess now and come back at eight o'clock for our Calendar, we can do that. I think you and I could agree as to the bills to be run on the Calendar and I will be happy to come back at eight o'clock.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, we were here at one o'clock. We fully wanted to take up the Calendar. I say that some of us have plans for this evening, and I have a committee meeting with the House leadership. I expect to do some work tonight myself, working out some amendments to amend the amendments made by Senator Kessler's amendments. I will have my busy time tonight. You are going to meet, I understand, tomorrow morning at ten o'clock and we will not have too much time tomorrow morning.

I say that if the hour of six is the deadline, then we ought to live up to the hour of six and if you so desire, we can let the Calendar go over until tomorrow. There is nothing on it that is going to be of earth-shaking consequences anyway.

MOTION TO ADJOURN

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if the gentleman so desires, I move that we now adjourn.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, if Senator Dent does not amend his motion a little bit, he may be adjourning sine die.

Mr. DENT. That is all right with me.

Mr. MAHANY. It is all right with me, too. You go ahead and make it and I will second it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

MOTION TO ADJOURN AMENDED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I wish to amend my previous motion for adjournment, and I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, February 28, 1956, at 10:00 o'clock a. m., Eastren Standard Time.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. May we be at ease a moment, Mr. President?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

MOTION TO ADJOURN WITHDRAWN TEMPORARILY

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I withdraw my motion to adjourn for the time being.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I withdraw my second to the motion.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr DENT, from the Cimmittee on State Government, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 967, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies, with the approval of the Governor, to acquire a tract of land in or near White Haven, Foster Township, Luzerne County, for the use of the Department of Welfare in the treatment of mentally retarded children, and making an appropriation.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, in order that the gentleman from Lancaster can appear and either confirm or deny the statement in the Evening News of Saturady of last week, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, February 28, 1956, at 10:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 6:12 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Tuesday, February 28, 1956, at 10:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, February 27, 1956

The House met at 1:00 p. m.
The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, Pastor of Trinity Luthern Church, York, offered the following prayer:

Lord Jesus Christ, Thou who are Lord of Lords and King of Kings and the Designer, Ruler and Builder of the Universe, we confess in our desperation our need of Thee.

There are loved ones today, O Lord, for whom we pray. We ask for Thy help without any hesitation, knowing that Thou dost give even before we ask.

We pray for those who are sick. Visit each one with Thy gracious healing presence and place Thy fingers of love upon the fevered brow.

O God, in this desperate hour of world affairs we need Thy strength, Thy guidance, Thy wisdom. The problems before us are greater than any wisdom of man can solve. May Thy wisdom and Thy power be upon these Representatives to whom we have entrusted the leadership of our great Commonwealth. Give them the honesty to acknowledge that a "mighty fortress is our God," and not a hiding place where we can escape from an easy life, but rather a fortress of strength.

Hear and answer we pray Thee, Thou ever living Lord and God. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, to preside temporarily.

Mr. LOPRESTI IN THE CHAIR

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER, pro tempore. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Wednesday, February 22, 1956, will be postponed until printed. The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 68, Printer's No. 1302

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 667, as follows:

An Act providing for the determination and effect of comparative negligence in actions for tort and providing that contributory negligence shall not bar recovery

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 (a) In all actions hereafter brought for death or personal injuries or damage to property caused by unlawful violence or negligence the fact that the person injured or killed or the parties suing or the owner of the property or the person having control over the property may have been guilty or contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery

(b) In any action the damages to be recovered shall be diminshed in proportion to the amount of contributory negligence if any attributable to any such person

(c) The determination of the proportion of contributory negligence if any in any action shall be a matter entirely for the jury or in cases tried without jury for the trial judge

(d) If having regard to all the circumstances of any case in which there has been contributory negligence the fact finding body shall not find it possible to determine the respective degrees of faults between the plaintiffs and the defendants they shall be deemed to be equally at fault and the damages shall be diminished by one-half

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, this is a highly controversial bill and I have asked for the floor for the purpose of calling it to the attention of the Members and then to yield to Mr. Sherman.

There are four or five Members, I understand, who desire to speak on this bill.

I would like the Members to know that from now on, unless we announce a consent calendar in advance, controversial bills are going to be called, whether our Members are here, whether your Members are here, or whether they are not here. If that means bills are going to die, that is exactly what it means.

Mr. Speaker, I would now like to yield to Mr. Sherman, the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, this afternoon we have before us one of the most important—at least I consider it such and a good many of my colleagues on both sides of this House consider it such—bills that have ever come up before the House. It is absolutely non-political. It was introduced approximately one year ago today. Also, it has been up for third reading for approximately two or three months. I presume by this date almost all Members of the House on both sides have had some opportunity to review this piece of proposed legislation.

I say it is important, not as a lawyer's bill, not as a judge's bill, but as a bill that is important to you as Members of this House. I presume every Member of this House has been confronted with the situation whereby you have heard in your immediate neighborhood, or perhaps your immediate neighbor, or you yourself, or members of your family, have encountered a situation where a pedestrian crossing a street with a green light in his favor has failed to recover one dime of compensation in an accident case because our law as it exists at the present time provides that no recovery shall be allowed.

That particular party has been held contributorily negligent for the reason that he failed to continue to look from the time he started across with the green light until the time he was almost on the other side of the street.

You have also been confronted with the situation whereby you as an operator of an automobile, having arrived at the intersection where there is no light, can proceed across. Even though you have been slow, cautious and proceeding at about ten or fifteen miles an hour, you did not realize that you practically had to pick up your automobile while crossing the street from one side to the other, and failed to continue to look while crossing, and for that reason no recovery was permitted.

You also have been confronted with the situation whereby you have walked on the streets of your particular town in the daytime and there was a large hole, or a small hole, and you have fallen and fractured a leg, or perhaps some constituent or friend of yours has done the same, but the law provides that you should have seen, or perhaps must have seen, the hole as you walked along the street. For that reason you were denied recovery.

There are hundreds and thousands of different situations whereby our laws as they exist at the present time refuse to permit a recovery. Our law since about 1800, or thereabouts, has provided that where the party is the least bit at fault, whether it is two per cent or five per cent, regardless of how negligent the defendant may be, no recovery will be permitted the plaintiff, who is the party who is suing in the case, because he has been the least bit at fault. So therefore, as stated, the present law is that a person who by his own negligence contributes in any degree, no matter how small, to the cause of his injury may not recover anything whatsoever from a defendant, who is the party against whom the suit is brought, no matter how definite the latter's negligence and its causal connection with the harm which results.

The queries in these cases have been and are: shall the case of the uncompensated victim be considered, or shall his lack of care, no matter how small, be considered of such penal basis as to deprive him absolutely and completely of a recovery, no matter how negligent the other against the rules of the road, against the red light, or party in the case was, no matter whether he was passing be encouraged and go scot-free, as far as compensation in any manner whatsoever? Should a negligent defendant not withstanding the fact that the plaintiff in the case for damages is concerned, regardless of his blame and was only slightly at fault?

The United States is the last stronghold of this doctrine of contributory negligence, and it is sought by this legislation to permit a recovery in accordance with the negligence of the party who is suing. So if a party who is only twenty per cent at fault has received certain damages or injuries caused by another party who is eighty per cent at fault, he should be permitted to recover eighty per cent of his damages.

As stated the United States is the last stronghold of contributory negligence, Europe, Great Britain, all of the Canadian provinces, New Zealand and Western Australia have seen the last vestige of this common law rule. In the Unted States there are at least forty statutes on the books presently existing in some form or other, in successful operation dealing with this subject of comparative negligence. In one form or another we have comparative negligence statutes in Virginia, Wisconsin, Florida, Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota, Georgia, Arkansas and Mississippi.

The apportionment of damages, or claim for damages as such, was first brought home to most of the United States in 1908 by the Federal Employer's Liability Act, which applied to all negligence actions in both the Federal and state courts for injuries to railroad employees engaged in interstate commerce. It was incorporated into various other statutes, both the Jones Act and the Merchant Marine Act, in 1915 and 1920 and became applicable to maritime employees. The provision as such was repeated in a series of state employer's liability acts covering railroad and other employees enacted in eighteen different states.

The courts of admiralty showed their displeasure with the old common law rule of contributory negligence and stated that if both parties contributed to the loss the dam ages should be divided equally between them.

Legislation has forced this doctrine of comparative negligence in the employer and employee relationship in the cases of common carriers.

You are all familiar with contributory negligence in cases of workmen's compensation. At this time we have no such contributory negligence rule in cases of workmen's compensation involving both master and servant. The contributory negligence rule proved too harsh and the Workmen's Compensation Act as it exists at the present time abolishes the law of contributory negligence.

Experience has shown it is unjust and unfair to permit any defendant to escape the consequences of his wrongdoing by the claim that the plaintiff may have been two per cent, or five per cent at fault. If the comparative negligence statute should be enacted, the recoverable damages would be reduced in the proportion which the plaintiff's fault, or negligence, the extent of his departure from the required standard of conduct, bears to the total fault of both parties.

It is true that in certain instances slight difficulties will be encountered to permit a plaintiff to recover, but it is equally true that the laws in existence at the present time are too harsh. Upon proper instructions from a judge and proper questions put by a judge to a jury, the proper answer would be given by the jury.

As stated, a realistic approach can be had by what is commonly called special interrogatories put to the jury to find out how much a plaintiff and defendant are to blame for a certain occurrence.

I ask you to pay attention, and I say again that those leaving the room will be missing a great deal, because this proposed piece of legislation is important to each and every one of you.

The question involved is: should a man, woman or child who is only a few per cent contributorily negligent, or only very slightly at fault, because he or she failed to continue to look while crossing an intersection even though the green light was in their favor not be permitted to recover one dime? Have you not had instances in your particular territory or in your neighborhood of people who have become lame, blind, suffered fractures and been hospitalized and, lo and behold, not a dime of compensation has been permitted simply because of this.

I say again, a bill of this kind, if enacted, would not only be a proper approach to legislation which has long been necessary in this Commonwealth, but indirectly it serves the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania countless sums as people on relief would not have to be on relief because of their broken backs, or because of injuries suffered in an accident, or because of the breadwinner in a family having been put into that position through practically no fault of his own or because of his slight ignorance of the law.

You also have the case where the defendant, or a sharp attorney on the part of the defendant, or a halfway intelligent lawyer, will propound a question to the plaintiff, or perhaps to a witness of the plaintiff, showing that the plaintiff had failed to continue to look either while crossing the street or while going down the street, and therefore the plaintiff has been denied a recovery.

It has gone so far that our Pennsylvania Supreme Court itself has recognized the need for legislation of this kind. Just within a few months there was a case decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania in 382 Pa. 277, a (1955) decision, Karcesky vs. Laria, where it was shown that the plaintiff while crossing in the middle of a block and before he had proceeded across was struck by an automobile which was going at a reckless rate of speed. Both he and his wife suffered severe and painful injuries. Although the plaintiff had seen this automobile about a block and a half away and presumed it was safe for him to proceed across, then he was hit before he finally made the grade and arrived at the other side.

The Court held in that case that the circumstantial evidence was sufficient to make out a prima facie case. It had a divided opinion.

In that case the male plaintiff suffered a fracture of the left clavicle and severe contusions of the left forearm and left shoulder. The wife, who was with him, suffered fractures of three front teeth, fractures of the sacrum, the pelvis and the left fibula, sprain of the lower back and countless other injuries. It was also shown that the expenses of the husband and wife in this case were $1,700 and that the loss of earnings on the part of the wife alone was $4,000. The only verdict given was $3,000 for the husband and $2,000 for the wife, which was permitted to stand.

This case demonstrates the fact that where the injured plaintiff is found by a jury free of contributory negligence, an obviously inadequate verdict may be sustained on the theory that the jury has applied its own standard of comparative fault.

The difficulty you will find in all these cases is getting the case as far as the jury and not being thrown out before it ever gets there.

This verdict was only a sympathy verdict due to the jury's belief that the plaintiff stepped into the path of the defendant's automobile. The Court held in that case that the doctrine of comparative negligence or degrees of negligence is not recognized at this time by the court of Pennsylvania. but as a practical matter it may be considered sometimes by the jury. Therefore, the question is: will it ever get as far as the jury? Second, should not a jury have proper instructions upon a proper law on the statute books?

Therefore, the net result, as every trial judge knows, is that in the majority of negligence cases where the evidence of negligence is not clear, or where the question of contributory negligence is not free from doubt, the jury brings in a compromise verdict which is much smaller in nature than if they were convinced that the defendant's negligence was clear and that the plaintiffs were free from contributory negligence.

I wish to quote in that connection the strong opinion of Justice Musmanno in which he stated that the doctrine of comparative negligence must be applied methodically and not spasmodically. This court or the legislature, says Justice Musmanno, will need to establish procedure and norms of appraisal, such as those which are now embodied in the Federal Employer's Liability Act. There are other cases which were decided about the same time.

As a result of the decisions of our various courts and as a result of the decisions of the Supreme Court in these matters, there is a great deal of confusion. The legal profession is left in a quandary as to what advice to impart to injured citizens seeking its services and what should be done to intervene in behalf of justice.

In conclusion, successful application of this doctrine of comparative negligence has met with a great deal of success in the fields of admiralty, workmen's compensation, employer's liability and in automobile guest cases. It reveals the practicability of having a law of this kind.

If it is argued that there are any hidden pitfalls, that can be relieved, I am sure, by proper instructions of the court to a jury in a proper case.

If this law is enacted, comparative negligence law would demand some thought and study, but legal problems have been solved in the past and I am sure that they can be solved in the future. The question as stated is neither new nor revolutionary, as this subject has been dealth with and is in apparent successful operation in at least forty states.

The co-sponsors of this bill have been in touch with lawyers, judges and different people throughout the country. We have received replies from over 10,000 lawyers and judges throughout the country. We have received responses from the judges of our big towns, of our small towns, and from different lawyers, and at least ninety-five to ninety-eight per cent of the replies desire this legislation to be enacted as it.

It is true that as an attorney I may have to anticipate some argument, if there is any from the other side. Recently there was a meeting of the Pennsylvania Bar Association in which this matter was supposed to have been taken up. There was a resolution introduced at which there were present only about sixty or seventy-five members. I state this on facts which were given to me by the Secretary of the Pennsylvania Bar Association and on knowledge obtained by me from conversation with others. There is no objection by the Pennsylvania Bar Association, or by hardly anyone else, to the passage of this legislation in the House as it stands now. They desire it to be argued and feel it would make a great deal of progress if it were passed by this House.

I will not go into further detail as to what our judges or other parties have to say, but will leave that to Representative Eilberg, who I hope will follo wme.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, ever since this bill was introduced certain Members of this House, including myself, have been vitally concerned with it.

Some people say this is a lawyers' bill, but as lawyers we are particularly conscious of laws which apply to the general public.

In order to learn just how the judges and people of real legal knowledge feel about this thing, we wrote to many of the judges and lawyers throughout the state and to scholars outside of the state.

In Philadelphia Judge Flood tells us: "I have always felt that such an act would make a great improvement in Pennsylvania law."

Judge Kun, on the bench in Philadelphia for over thirty years, says: "I think the legislation is justified to meet the conditions."

Judges Oliver and Sloane together tell us: "I believe it is desirable to have legislation of this kind."

We were not satisfied with contacting judges alone, we also contacted the University of Pennsylvania Law School, where an authority speaking for the school writes to us and very emphatically says: "I hope your bill will be passed."

As Mr. Sherman mentioned a few moments ago, the National Association of Compensation Claimants Attorneys, an association particularly concerned with negligence law, considered this bill and in executive session came out with a positive recommendation in favor of it.

The Executive Committee of NACCA informs us: "It is the opinion of the Executive Committee of NACCA of Pennsylvania that the bill is an eminently fair one and would recommend its passage."

Included in that Executive Committee is Abraham Freedman of Freedman, Landie & Lorry of Philadelphia, one of the outstanding negligence firms in the state of Pennsylvania.

I have also read with great interest an article written by Professor Eldridge, formerly of the University of Pennsylvania and Temple University law schools, and talked to him at some length. He is entirely in favor of the bill. Very recently he was invited to appear before the Pennsylvania Bar Association, but unfortunately was ill when the bill was considered at that time.

One of the most interesting letters I received was in response to inquiry to Roscoe Pound of Harvard University Law School. I think no one can criticize or say anything about Roscoe Pound which is other than to the effect that he is one of the greatest legal minds in the United States of America. He says, and I will quote very briefly from his letter: "Many thanks for the copy of the proposed Pennsylvania comparative negligence act. I have looked it over carefully in comparison with many other acts and think it is exceptionally well drawn. It avoids some of the unnecessary complications which have been introduced into some of the acts in the endeavor to get precise arithmetical degrees of responsibility. The common sense of juries ought to be equal to assessing comparative negligence on the basis of everyday experience of all of us."

This is in response to the thought that juries may have a difficult time determining degrees of negligence. Roscoe Pound, one of the greatest legal minds in the country, says that the everyday experience of jurors is sufficient for that purpose.

I have also been in touch with other lawyers, members of the administration, Henry Leader and Attorney General Herbert Cohen. They are in favor of the bill individually.

I have been in touch with Mayor Dilworth, who was a former District Attorney of Philadelphia and my boss in that capacity, and before that he was a great negligence lawyer. Mr. Dilworth tells me:

"I have long felt our present law on negligence makes it virtually impossible for any honest man or woman to ever recover, and is merely an invitation to mass perjury."

What he had reference to is the fact that every plaintiff's lawyer every time he takes a client into court knows he has to coach that witness, knows he has to make that witness commit perjury on the witness stand, and almost every attorney in that particular situation is guilty of subornation of perjury.

I say, let's wipe that out. Let's pass this bill.

Another famous lawyer in Philadelphia, John Patrick Walsh, tells us: "I think this is a good act."

I have written to Justice Musmanno, who wrote the vigorous dissenting opinion referred to a few moments ago. Justice Musmanno in the case referred to cried for legislation of this kind. In response to our inquiry he comes out emphatically for the bill.

I would like to say also that the rule we are talking about is completely out of date. Today in this country, in any given year, one out of every eighteen people is involved in some kind of accident. It is time we changed the law which came into effect over 100 years ago when conditions were entirely different.

Some people say if this bill were to pass and become the law of the Commonwealth, insurance rates would go up. By looking to the experience of other states that have adopted this rule, their experience is to the contrary. There is good reason for that. Most cases today which are settled out of court are settled partically on the basis that comparative negligence is present. In other words, ninety-five per cent of the cases are settled out of court. How much would be added to existing insurance rates if we throw in the other five per cent? The fact is that from the experience shown in other states there would be no material increase in rates.

We say to you this is a very fair bill and we ask that you pass it. We are not concerned right now with what the Senate may do to it. Let us do the right thing, let us pass this bill. It is something for which all of the people of the Commonwealth will be grateful.

Mr. WILLAREDT. Mr. Speaker, on House Bill 667 I am not going to take much of your time, but I would just like to make a few remarks.

In my estimation House Bill 667 would break down the general philosophy of torts in which the person in the wrong cannot collect from the other.

In my estimation there would be no question about a general increase in automobile insurance rates.

Another question is how can they determine the degree of guilt when both parties will claim they are right? This will be quite a job for the jurors in the various county courts.

The fourth and most important point is that it will break down the individual's sense of carefulness. I both parties in an accident are to recover, regardless of their negligence, we will most likely have many more accidents due to the breakdown of care in driving.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to speak a few words against this bill.

It seems to me from what we have heard from the gentlemen from Philadelphia that most of this is a plaintiff's lawyers' bill. I believe all of us realize that defendants also deserve an even break. There are just a couple questions I would like to ask the Members of the House. How would they possibly determine if someone was ten per cent negligent, twenty per cent negligent, thirty per cent negligent, either one or the other? Isn't it a fact that in rality the juries do take this into consideration? When an example is quoted that someone is ten per cent negligent, isn't it a fact that the jury so determined that in its verdict? But what is worse that his, I would like to ask the Members of this House if they were an attorney representing a defendant whether, practically speaking, they would ever ask the judge to charge the jury that on the basis of comparative negligence? Wouldn't that be admitting right then and there to the jury that the defendant was negligent? And it is borne out by experience in the states that do have the comparative negligence doctrine, that the attorneys representing the defendants never do make such a request, because they cannot do it. It would be an admission on their part.

I think it is a vicious bill in many respects. The fact that we have had this doctrine in Pennsylvania for years on end lends credence to the fact that there is merit in the doctrine of contributory negligence as we now know it.

I would like to ask for a slow roll call and only those in their seats recorded as voting on the bill.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, I just want to ask the Members of the House a few questions without any of them rising to answer them. I want to raise the question concerning a situation in this Commonwealth and in many of the states of the union, where they are going to come face to face with this contributory negligence doctrine.

How many of you use the turnpike when you come from home to Harrisburg to get here for the session? How many of you ride the so-called arterial highways? You go to a through highway which has stop signs at many intersections. Do you realize that when you drive 50 miles an hour, which is the limit on the non-turnpike highways, or when you drive 70 miles an hour, if any other vehicle gets on that highway and you have a collison with the vehicle, and you went ahead, like the gentleman said from Pittsburgh, you are a dead pigeon. He said a dead duck.

The reason that you are strictly dead is this, that time honored contributory negligence law, which says that even though you are on a through highway, driving 50 or 60 miles an hour, and there is a stop sign telling other people to stop from getting onto the highway, if you do not drive in such a manner that you are able to stop as soon as you see the other fellow violating the law and getting on, you can't collect.

How in the world can Pennsylvania build through highways? How in the world can we modernize our highway system and get the kind of transportation which we need if this kind of a law remains on the books? The situation today is this, today if you had such an accident, your case does not even go to the jury. The Judge is supposed to throw it out.

There are thirty-seven lawyers in the House. They will tell you that on contributory negligence the Judge could throw the case right out, it is called a non-suit.

Under this Act, the question will be left to the jury. I have here a little article which I am not going to read. It is from the United States Review, which is published by an insurance company. It is an insurance magazine, calling attention to the fact that in Michigan three weeks ago the Supreme Court of Michigan finally in an accident in which a lady on a through highway was involved with another woman, who came through a stop sign, permitted that case to go to the jury. They said this is the beginning of the breakdown of the doctrine of contributory negligence in Michigan.

We have that situation right here in Pennsylvania also. If we are going to build a sound highway system, If we are going to permit speeds on any of the highways, we must choose our laws so that in case someone else breaks through the stop sign, and goes through on the through highway, and unfortunately the person that was using the highway continued in the same speed, will get an equal break with the other one at the hands of the jury.

I feel that this is an important bill and it should be given your serious consideration.

Mr. FLINT. Mr. Speaker, considering the merit of this bill, it would seem to me that all the Members of the House, and I do mean to include the lawyers here, should not be thinking in terms of the plaintiff or defendant. Some of us who practice law represent both parties litigant.

The merits of the comparative negligence rule appeal to owners of ships and doubtless for the reason that in that field of negligence great losses had to be apportioned by a rule which was fair. It was Francis Bohlen, the most learned teacher and expert on the law of torts, who said, "The real test, the real question to be asked in determining should the plantiff prevail, or should the defendant, is, what would grandma do." That is to say he invited you to consider grandma in a great sense of justice. The triers of the facts were urged to put themselves in her state of mind, to invest themselves with her moral rectitude and then make the decision.

In voting for the comparative negligence rule I feel it is more merely what grandma would do.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, in rebuttal to a couple of arguments that were just made. The gentleman stated that it would be very difficult to determine the degree of negligence in a particular case. Yet I say to him and to you, the juries are engaged in this very essential guessing game all the time. They are determining day after day, all over the state of Pennsylvania, just how much a broken arm is worth, just how much a broken leg is worth, just how much so many weeks in bed are worth It seems to me that the decision which we would now add to their existing burden, is a very small one indeed, and a much easier one in fact.

Reference was also made to the breakdown of safety in the Commonwealth. In answer to that I should like to say that most people, most laymen don't even know of the existence of the rule of contributory negligence. At least, in my experience, I have found that to be the case, that most people do not know about the rule of contributory negligence the fact that it exists, certainly is no deterrent on the highway or any place else to them in their ordinary conduct.

Furthermore I should like to add, that as we go along in our automobiles or in our other activities, we are still guided by our instinct of self preservation. We do not go out on the highway and attempt to commit suicide. That is ridiculous. I cannot see how the passage of this bill would in any way tend to break down the safety situation in the Commonwealth.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1176, entitled:

An Act defining and relating to installment land contracts and providing for and regulating the rights and obligations between parties to such contracts under certain terms and conditions.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, this being a very important bill, particularly as it affects our law in the rural areas, I ask for a slow roll call, and that only those in their seats be recorded.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The roll will be called slowly.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make the request that you reconsider your decision calling this bill up, and pass it over temporarily for today, in view of the fact that we have so many absentees.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I request that the bill be passed over in order.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I have no objection to any bills being passed over, but I think the Majority Leader made a statement that he was going to roll these bills regardless. I wonder what made him change his mind on this one particular bill.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I have no particular objection to any particular bill's being voted on or passed over. But the sponsor is here and has requested that it be passed over until tomorrow. It is true there are many absentees. I do not want to be in a position of insisting under all circumstances that every bill be brought up for a vote.

The gentleman is entitled to make a motion to lay it on the table or to do anything else and let the House decide it. The gentleman from Philadelphia is trying to place me in the position of being a dictator as to whether the bill is voted upon, and I don't wish to be placed in that position.

I did want to voice a thought that I did before, that regardless of the Members being here or not being here, I would like to see them voted on. But I cannot control that situation.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I had no idea to place the gentleman in that role. I hope he does not interpret it that way at all. But then if it works this way, I would like it also to work on the basis that if any of our Members ask for a bill to be passed over today regardless, that it also be passed over, or that they also be passed over, rather.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I think that is understood. I have already requested the Chair to pass over certain bills because some of the Minority Members are ill and not here. I do not want to be unfair in any way but I say if the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Mullen, requests that this bill be passed over and would desire to make a motion, the House would have to vote as to whether it wanted to pass it over or not.

BILL PASSED OVER

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, this bill will be passed over. The Chair hears none.

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1562, Printer's No. 1413 and

House Bill No. 1928, Printer's No. 1425

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate Bill No. 841, as follows:

Section 7 The authority shall have the power to acquire by purchase or eminent domain proceeding either the fee or such right title interest or easement in such lands as the authority may deem necessary whether for immediate or future use for any of the purposes mentioned in this act and the authority may find and determine that such property whether a fee simple absolute or lesse interest is required for public use and upon such determination the said property shall be deemed to be required for a public use until otherwise determined by the authority and the said determination shall not be affected by the fact that such property has heretofore been taken for or is then devoted to a public use but the public use in the hands or under the control of the authority shall be deemed superior to the public use in the hands or under the control of any other person association or corporation.

When the authority desires to acquire land to carry on its purposes and a price for such lands or the interest therein desired cannot be agreed upon with the owner or owners thereof or where the owner or owners cannot be found in all such cases the authority is authorized to acquire the land or the interest therein desired by eminent domain proceedings.

Thereupon the authority may apply to the Court of Common Pleas of the county wherein the lands are located for the appointment of viewers the application for the appointment of viewers shall recite (1) the failure of the parties to agree to a price for the lands or interest therein desired or the owner or owners thereof cannot be found (2) a statement of the authority under which and the purpose for which the lands or interest therein are taken (3) a statement of the estate or interest in the lands taken (4) a description and plan of the lands taken and (5) a statement of the names and addresses if known of the owners of the land.

Upon the courts order appointing viewers being made and duly entered in the office of the prothonotary as well as recorded in the offices of the recorder of deeds in the county wherein the land is situated the title to the land in fee simple absolute or a less estate right title interest or easement therein as is specified in the applications shall vest in the authority and the lands shall thereupon be deemed to be condemned and taken for the use of the authority and the authority shall forthwith have the right to enter on and use same subject to the right to just compensation to the owners thereof as ascertained and awarded in the condemnation proceedings and established by judgment therein and the judgment shall include as part of the just compensation awarded interest at the rate of six per centum per annum on the amount finally awarded as the value of the land in fee simple absolute or less estate right title interest or easement therein as of the date of the filing of the order made for the appointment of viewers to the date of final judgment thereon

The court shall have power to make such orders in respect of encumbrances liens rents taxes assessments insurance and other charges if any as shall be just and equitable.

The court shall appoint three viewers and shall approve a time not less than twenty nor more than thirty days after the presentation of the petition for the appointment when the viewers shall meet upon the lands and view the same and all improvements in connection therewith.

The viewers shall give at least ten day's notice of their first meeting to the chairman of the authority and to the owners of such land if known if the owners of such lands are unknown notice shall be given in at least two newspapers of general circulation in such manner as the court may direct the viewers having been sworn or affirmed faithfully justly and impartially to decide and a true report to make concerning all matters to be submitted to them in relation to which they are authorized to inquire and having viewed the lands and premises shall hear the parties and their witnesses and shall estimate and determine the value of the property so taken where the owner of the lands and premises is unknown the viewers shall estimate and determine the value of the land and improvements upon the testimony of the witnesses for the authority and any witnesses called by the viewers.

When the report is filed notice thereof shall immediately be given to the chairman of the authority and to the owners of the land where known which notice shall state that unless exceptions be filed thereto within thirty days after the filing of the report the same will be confirmed absolutely.

Where any owners of such lands are unknown notice shall be given in at least two newspapers of general circulation in such manner as the court shall direct.

Within thirty days after the filing of any report the authority or the owners of the lands may file exceptions to the same and the court shall confirm modify or change the report or refer the same back to the same or new viewers

When the report is filed the prothonotary shall mark it "confirmed nisi" in case no exceptions are filed thereto within the time herein specified the court shall make a decree that the report is confirmed absolutely which decree shall be entered by the prothonotary.

Within thirty days after any report of viewers is filed under this act the authority or the owners of such land may appeal to the Court of Common Pleas and demand a trial by jury within six months after a confirmation absolute on exceptions or within six months after a verdict and final judgment on appeal for a jury trial the chairman of the authority or the owners of such land may appeal to the Supreme or to the Superior Court as in other cases.

When the amount payable to the owner of the land has been finally determined the same shall be paid by the authority from its funds all costs in connection with the proceedings shall be paid by the authority in like manner.

In all cases where the owners of land are unknown and the report of viewers has been finally confirmed the authority shall be liable for all damages awarded therein if at any time after the final confirmation of the report of viewers any person appears and proves title to said lands such persons shall be entitled to and receive from the authority the sum so awarded by the viewers any claimant of the land may petition the court of common pleas of the county wherein the land is located giving a brief outline of the facts upon which the claim is based thereupon the court shall direct an issue to be framed wherein the claimant shall appear as plaintiff and the authority as defendant the issue shall be tried according to the rules of procedure and evidence governing trials in ejectment with a right of appeal by either party to the proper appellate court of the final judgment on such issue is in favor of the plaintiff the sum awarded by the report as finally confirmed shall be paid by the authority to the claimant the party to the action against whom the judgment is entered shall be liable for the costs as provided by law in other civil actions.

Court proceedings necessary to acquire property or property rights for the purpose of this act shall take precedence over all causes not involving the public interest in all courts to the end that the development of port facilities be expedited.

Section 8 All moneys of the authority from whatever source derived shall be paid to the treasurer of the authority The moneys shall be deposited in the first instance by The Treasurer in one or more banks or trust companies in one or more special accounts and each of such special accounts to the extent the same is not insured shall be continuously secured by a pledge of direct obligations of the United States of America or of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania having an aggregate market value exclusive of accrued interest at all times at least equal to the balance on deposit in such account The securities shall either be deposited with the treasurer or held by a trustee or agent satisfactory to the authority All banks and trust companies are authorized to give such security for such deposits The moneys in said accounts shall be paid out on the warrant or other order of the chairman of the authority or of such other person or persons as the authority may authorize to execute such warrants or orders The authority shall have at least an annual examination of its books accounts and records by a certified public accountant A copy of the audit shall be delivered to the Board of County Commissioners of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania A concise financial statement shall be published annually at least once in a newspaper of general circulation in the county where the principal office of the authority is located

Section 9 All construction reconstruction repairs or work of any nature made by the authority where the entire cost value or amount of such construction reconstruction repairs or work including labor and materials shall exceed seven hundred fifty dollars ($750) except reconstruction repairs or work done by employes of the authority or by labor supplied under agreement with any Federal or State agency with supplies or materials purchased as hereinafter provided shall be done only under contract or contracts with the lowest responsible bidder upon proper terms afte due public notice has been given asking for competitive bids as hereinafter provided No contract shall be entered into for construction improvement or repair of any facility or portion thereof unless the contractor shall give an undertaking with sufficient surety or sureties approved by the authority and in an amount fixed by the authority for the faithful performance of the contract All such contracts shall provide among other things that the person or corporation entering into such contract with the authority will pay for all labor and materials furnished for the performance of the contract and that any person or corporation furnishing such labor and materials may maintain an action to recover for the same against the obligor in the undertaking as though such person or corporation was named therein provided the action is brought within one year after the time the cause of action accrued Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the power of the authority to construct repair or improve any facility or portion thereof or any addition betterment or extension thereto directed by the officers agents and employes of the authority or otherwise than by contract

All supplies and materials costing seven hundred fifty dollars ($750) or more shall be purchased only after due advertisements as hereinafter provided The authority shall accept the lowest bid or bids kind quality and material being equal but the authority shall have the right to reject any or all bids or select a single item from any bid The provisions as to bidding shall not apply to the purchase of patented and manufactured products offered for sale in a non-competitive market or solely by a manufacturer's authorized dealer nor to the purchase of articles where there is only a single supplier or manufacturer of such article

The term "advertisement" or "due public notice" wherever used in this section shall mean a notice published at least ten days before the award of any contract in a newspaper of general circulation published in the municipality where the authority has its principal office and if no newspaper is published therein then by publication in a newspaper in the county where the authority has its principal office

No member of the authority or officer or employe thereof shall either directly or indirectly be a party to or be in any manner interested in any contract or agreement with the authority for any matter cause or things whatsoever by reason whereof any liability or indebtedness shall in any way be created against the authority If any contract or agreement shall be made in violation of the provisions of this section the same shall be null and void and no action shall be maintained thereon against such authority

Subject to the aforesaid any authority may (but without intending by this provision to limit any powers of this authority) enter into and carry out such contracts or establish and comply with such rules and regulations concerning labor and materials and other related matters in connection with any facility or portion thereof as the authority may deem desirable or as may be requested by any Federal agency that may assist in the financing of the facility or any part thereof The provisions of this section shall not apply to any case in which the authority has taken over by transfer or assignment of any contract authorized to be assigned to it under the provisions of section 14 of this act nor to any contract in connection with the construction of any project which the authority may have had transferred to it by any person or private corporation

Section 10 The use of the facilities of the authority and the operation of its business shall be subject to the rules and regulations adopted from time to time by the authority but the authority shall not be authorized to do anything which will impair the security of the holders of the obligations of the authority or violate any agreements with them or for their benefit

Section 11 The Commonwealth does hereby pledge to and agree with any person firm or corporation or Federal agency subscribing to or acquiring the bonds to be issued by the authority for the construction extension improvement or enlargement of any facility or part thereof that the Comonwealth will not limit or alter the rights hereby vested in the authority until all bonds at any time issued together with the interest thereon are fully met and discharged The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania does further pledge to and agree with the United States and any other Federal agency that in the event any Federal agency shall construct or contribute any funds for the construction extension improvement or enlargement of any facility or portion thereof the Commonwealth will not alter or limit the rights and powers of the authority in any manner which would be inconsistent with the continued maintenance and operation of the facility or the improvement thereof or which would be inconsistent with the due performance of any agreements between the authority and any such Federal agency and the authority shall continue to have and may exercise all powers herein granted so long as the same may be necessary or desirable for the carrying out of the purposes of this act and the purposes of the United States in the construction or improvement or enlargement of the facility or such portion thereof

Section 12 The effectuation of the authorized purposes of any authority created under this act shall and will be in all respects for the benefit of the people of the Commonwealth for the increase of their commerce and prosperity and for the improvement of their health and living conditions and since the authority will be performing essential government functions in effectuating such purposes the authority shall not be required to pay any taxes or assessments upon any property acquired or used by it for such purposes In lieu of taxes or special assessments the authority may agree to make payments to any municipality The bonds issued by the authority their transfer and the income therefrom including any profits made on the sale therefrom shall at all times be free from taxation other than inheritance and estate taxation within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

Section 13 Any municipality or owner is hereby authorized to sell lease lend grant or convey to the authority any facility or any part or parts thereof or any interest in real or personal property which may be used by the authority in the construction improvement maintenance or operation of any facility Any municipality is also authorized to transfer sell assign and set over to the authority any contracts which may have been awarded by such municipality for the construction of facilities not begun or if begun not completed

Section 14 The provisions of this act shall be severable and if any of the provisions thereof shall be held to be unconstitutional such decision shall not affect the validity of any of the remaining provisions of this act It is hereby declared as the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provision not been included therein

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 49 as follows:

An Act amending the act of May thirteen one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 286) entitled "An act to provide for the health safety and welfare of minors By forbidding their employment or work in certain establishments and occupations and under certain specified ages by restricting their hours of labor and regulating certain conditions of their employment by requiring employment certificates for certain minors and prescribing the kinds thereof and the rules for the issuance reissuance filing return and recording of the same by providing that the Industrial Board shall under certain conditions determine and declare whether certain occupations are within the prohibitions of this act requiring that certain minors shall during the period of their employment attend certain schools to be established as therein provided and to be approved by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and regulating the conditions of such attendance authorizing the State Board of Education in certain cases to appoint attendance officers to aid in enforcing the provisions of this act and creating the salary and expenses of such officers a charge against the school district wherein they are employed requiring certain abstracts and notices to be posted providing for the enforcement of this act by the Commissioner of Labor and Industry the attendance officers of school districts and police officers and defining the procedure in prosecutions thereunder and establishing certain presumptions in relation thereto providing penalties for the violation of the provisions thereof and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith" authorizing minors to appear in entertainment performances under certain circumstances

Section 1 The act of May thirteen one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 286) entitled "An act to provide for the health safety and welfare of minors By forbidding their employment or work in certain establishments and occupations and under certain specified ages by restricting their hours of labor and regulating certain conditions of their employment by requiring employment by requiring employment certificates for certain minors and prescribing the kinds thereof and the rules for the issuance reissuance filing return and recording of the same by providing that the Industrial Board shall under certain conditions determine and declare whether certain occupations are within the prohibitions of this act requiring that certain minors shall during the period of their employment attend certain schools to be established as therein provided and to be approved by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and regulating the conditions of such attendance authorizing the State Board of Education in certain cases to appoint attendance officers to aid in enforcing the provisions of this act and creating the salary and expenses of such officers a charge against the school district wherein they are employed requiring certain abstracts and notices to be posted providing for the enforcement of this act by the Commissioner of Labor and Industry the attendance officers of school districts and police officers and defining the procedure in prosecutions thereunder and establishing certain presumptions in relation thereto providing penalties for the violation of the provisions thereof and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith" is amended by adding after section 7 a new section to read

Section 7.1 (a) No minor under eighteen years of age shall be permitted to appear in any performance for public entertainment including radio and television broadcasts and modeling unless the provisions of this section have been complied with In no case shall any such minor appear in more than two performances a day or eight performances a week The provisions of this section shall not apply to performances by such a minor in a church school or other nonprofit organization entertainment when no compensation is paid for his performance and when admission fees if any are for the legitimate use of the sponsoring nonprofit organization nor to any such entertainment limited to a single performance when no compensation is paid for the performance and when no admission fee is charged

(h) Any person who violates any of the provisions of this section shall on summary conviction be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars ($25) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500) or to undergo imprisonment for not more than thirty days or both

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COMER. Mr. Speaker, A. A "theatrical permit" bill like H. B. 49 is needed because:

1. In Pennsylvania, legitimate theatres, radio and television studios and academies of music, etc. are increasingly and regularly employing gifted children less than 16 and often less than 14 years of age as actors, musicians and models.

For just a few examples:

Children under 18 years of age (some of them under 14 and as young as four) have been employed in evening performances of plays and other shows, including:

Member of the Wedding (Star—Ethel Waters)
Mrs. McThing (Star—Helen Hayes)
Medea (Star—Judith Anderson)
Time of the Cuckoo (Star—Shirley Booth)
Ponder Heart (Star—David Wayne)

Frankie Robinson ("Sugar") advertised as "nine years of age" (though really just 14 at the time of his last performance (has played his "wonderful rhythm" several times in the Philadelphia Academy of Music and Convention Hall.

Ferruccio Burco appeared as a symphony orchestra conductor at evening performances at the Academy of Music when he was nine years old and again when he was 13.

Under age children with special talents are employed for radio and television shows. (According to the report of a well qualified musician, at least one of these children's voices was badly strained through over use.)

2. All such employment is direct violation of the Pennsylvania Child Labor Law and of an interpretation of the Industrial Board (of the Department of Labor and Industry).

a. The Child Labor Law provides for the health, safety and welfare of minors by forbidding their employment under certain specified ages (14 is the minimum); by restricting their hours of work (no one under 16 may be employed after 7 P. M., and no girl under 18 may be employed after 9 P. M.); and by requiring employment certificates for minors under 18 years of age and prescribing rules for their issuance.

b. On February 25, 1926, the Industrial Board ruled "That the Child Labor Law applies to all theatrical performances for pay." A number of the managers for theatrical and modeling children have applied for employment certificates but because of the ages of theatrical children, and their hours of work, employment certificates could not be issued for their employment.

3. There has been no enforcement of the Pennsylvania Child Labor Law provisions affecting theatrical children in Philadelphia (and possibly in Pennsylvania) for a number of years. As a result:

a. These children are learning disrespect for law observance as it affects themselves, (This may lead to serious individual and civic consequences).

b. Employers in related and other fields of work question why they should observe child labor law regulations when theatres, radio stations, etc. openly violate the law without penalty.

4. Years of experience with special laws for the protection of theatrical and show children in New York and California (to mention only two states) have demonstrated that careful observance of these special laws can protect the education, health, and well-being of gifted children.

B. House Bill 49 is well drawn for the protection of children who appear in performances for public entertainment because:

1. It is an amendment to the existing Child Labor Law and will be administered, (as are other provisions of the Pennsylvania Child Labor Law) by the Superintendent of Schools (there are few people in a community who are more deeply, intelligently and fairly interested in children's well being than school staff).

2. It provides for the health, safety and welfare of children employed in the public entertainment field by:

a. Requiring that Special Theatrical Permits be obtained for them and posted in the places of public entertainment where they are scheduled to appear.

b. Establishing the conditions under which the Special Theatrical Permit may be issued. These include detailed information about the child, about the nature of work he will do, about the auspices and place where the entertainment will be given, and provision for personal supervision of a parent or guardian of the child at all rehearsals and performances.

c. Limiting the number of performances in which a child may appear to two a day and eight in a week.

d. Making the issuing officer responsible for seeing that (1) the environment is proper and suitable for a child (2) the conditions of employment are not detrimental to the child's health, safety, welfare and morals, and (3) the minor's education will not be neglected or hampered by the performance, before issuing the Special Theatrical Permit.

e. Making it possible for the issuing officer to revoke the Special Theatrical Permit if the facts presented are false or if conditions are changed so as to become detrimental to the child.

3. It is practical—

a. In making it possible for managers of places of public entertainment to observe the law and at the same time to meet the interests of citizens in good music and drama.

b. In exempting from its provisions, children who perform in (1) entertainments given by churches and schools when no compensation is paid the children and admission fees are for legitimate use of the sponsoring non-profit organization, and (2) entertainments limited to a single performance when no compensation is paid and no admission fee is charged.

c. It establishes no minimum age for employment but makes the issuing official responsible for seeing that all conditions of employment are safe for each individual child employed in the entertainment field. (California has a two weeks old minimum age; Washington, D. C. has recently lowered its 12 year minimum to seven).

d. It prohibits any minor under 18 years of age from appearing in a performance where alcoholic beverages or liquors are sold, served or dispensed.

By way of summary:

1. Under present conditions, no protections are given illegally employed theatrical children in seeing that:

a. Their education is not neglected, (except school attendance laws).

b. The places where they work and the conditions under which they work are not harmful to their health, moral and well being.

c. Their ideas of law observance are not warped.

2. It seems doubtful that:

a. Agents of gifted musical children will not book these children for appearance on the stages of large cities, and that music lovers will not want to hear them perform.

b. Radio and television studios will limit their regular performers to those who are over 14 years of age and also restrict the performances to legal hours for children under 18 years of age (i.e. not after 7 P. M. for those between 14 and 16, and not after 9 P. M. for girls under 18).

c. The Theatrical Guild and other theatrical groups will not use children in their performances in Pennsylvania.

d. Provisions of the Pennsylvania Child Labor Law will be enforced for theatrical, radio and musical children.

Public opinion seems generally adverse to enforcement.

3. It is, therefore, advisable to pass H. B. 49 which will provide for issuance of a Special Theatrical Permit to protect the best interests of children in the entertainment field.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1226, entitled:

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1226, entitled:

An Act requiring the State Treasurer and other state officials to deduct the tax imposed by any first class city upon salaries wages and other compensation paid to officers and employes of the Commonwealth residing within that city and to make a return and remit the tax so deducted to the Revenue Commissioner of the city.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the final passage postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a division on the question.

A division was had and seventy-nine Members having voted in the affirmative and seventy-three in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1242 as follows:

An Act to amend subsection (b) of Section 1605 and Section 1843 of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. INTERROGATION

Mrs. MARKLEY. I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader, Mr. Readinger.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. By the lady from Lehigh? Always.

Mrs. MARKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I question the Majority Leader in calling up all of these bills and they fall, then the sponsors asked that their votes be changed on the roll call and then we have a reconsideration. It seems to me that we are wasting a lot of time and it is not fair to the Members of the House who are present—I would like your opinion, Mr. Majority Leader.

Mr. READINGER. I will be happy to give the lady my opinion. If she and her colleagues will decide to vote for these bills, what she is talking about will not happen. I was just about to interrogate the Minority Leader to find out how many votes we are going to get on the next bill, so we will know in advance whether it is going to pass or not. But if the lady will bear with me for a moment, if she has a better suggestion as to how to get the Members who are not coming up here to come, except by killing a few bills, I wish she would give me those suggestions.

Mrs. MARKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I have not any suggestions for the Majority Leader. I am not being personal. I think he does an excellent job. I merely interrogated him to put on record what he is trying to do.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the lady, Mr. Speaker.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1385, Printer's No. 1324

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1731 as follows:

An Act amending the act of May 2, 1929 (P. L. 1518) entitled as amended "An act regulating the construction equipment maintenance operation and inspection of elevators granting certain authority to and imposing certain duties upon the Department of Labor and Industry providing fees for inspection of elevators certificates of operation and approval of plans providing penalties for violations of this act and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act" regulating the repairing and renovating of elevators requiring permits and fixing fees permits and inspections

Section 1 Section 11 act of May 2, 1929 (P. L. 1518) entitled as amended "An act regulating the construction equipment maintenance operation and inspection of elevators granting certain authority to and imposing certain duties upon the Department of Labor and Industry providing fees for inspection of elevators certificates of operation and approval of plans providing penalties for violations of this act and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act" amended June 21, 1947 (P. L. 791) is amended to read

Section 11 [Approval of] Plans Permits and Inspections (a) Before any elevator shall be erected and installed [or undergo repairs amounting to one-half or more of the original value of the said elevator] detailed plans and specifications of the said apparatus in duplicate shall be submitted to the department for approval The application for the approval of plans of elevators shall be accompanied by the following fees Dumb-waiters seven dollars and fifty cents ($7.50) freight elevators ten dollars ($10) and passenger elevators fifteen dollars ($15) If the said plans are approved a permit for the erection [or repair] and installation of such elevator shall be issued by the department and a final inspection shall be made of the apparatus when installed [or repairs completed] and ready for inspection before final approval shall be given by the department The elevator shall not be operated until such final inspection and approval be given unless a temporary permit be granted by the department

(b) No elevator escalator dumb-waiter hoist or other raising or lowering device shall hereafter be repaired renovated or reerected when the changes involve major repairs as established by rules and regulations of the department before a permit is obtained from the department When repairs or changes are extensive the department may require that duplicate plans and specifications be submitted to it before a permit is granted The fee for such permit shall be three dollars ($3) The repaired or renovated elevator or lifting apparatus shall not again be operated until final inspection and approval by a department inspector unless temporary permission to do so is granted by the department The inspection fee shall be five dollars ($5)

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Minority Leader or the Minority Whip.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the Minority Whip permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. I desire to ask the Minority Whip whether he is familiar with the provisions of this House Bill 1731, relating to elevators?

Mr. JOHNSON. I would say substantially, yes.

Mr. READINGER. May I inquire if the gentleman knows whether there are any votes on his side in favor of this bill, if he knows

Mr. JOHNSON. I cannot say for certain, I believe there is a feeling on this side that the bill goes a little bit too far in reposing too much power in the Secretary of Labor and Industry, with respect to elevators, and I cannot say how many votes there will be for the bill. I would say there is a preponderance of noes.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, that answer was about as vague as I could expect it to be. Whatever a preponderance of the remaining Members of the Republican party of this House might be, I haven't any idea. I gather from one of the roll calls that there were approximately 76 Republicans present out of their total membership, and what a preponderance of that would be I would not know.

This bill seeks to amend the elevator regulation law of Pennsylvania to strengthen it and to provide that there be a system of permits and inspections relative to the repair and erection of elevators. It is a departmental bill. I believe it is one that the department has studied and believes is necessary to effectively administer a law which will provide for the safety of our people concerning elevators.

I am asking all of the Members to vote for this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, it has become quite obvious that what the Lady from Lehigh was talking about is true. We cannot pass a bill here today without bipartisan support. We have not been getting much of that this afternoon.

If the absenteeism in this House does not stop on the days we are supposed to be here to work, I am going to suggest that we have joint caucuses, so that we know what you are going to do and you know what we are going to do. Maybe it wouldn't be a bad idea, although I didn't mean it.

It is not your fault and it is not my fault that we do not have more of our Members here today. Where they are, I do not know.

I have a leave of absence I am going to request for one of our Democratic Members who is sick in the hospital, but I cannot recall hearing any other requests for leaves of absence. Still bills of importance are failing to pass today because there are so many absentees.

I know that the session has been very long and you know it too. We are all tired of coming here. But some of these bills have been on the calendar for six or eight weeks and we have been passing them over, and passing them over only because the Members were not here. I think the time has come today when we should do what we are doing, bring these bills up so that the absentee Members know that they are going to fall when they do not show up.

But as the lady from Lehigh has pointed out so well, many of these will be reconsidered again and we are now wasting our time. In view of this situation, I am now going to suggest that we pass over all the rest of the bills on the calendar with the exception of House Bill 1854, on page 8, and House Bill 2008 on page 10, to which there are some amendments to be offered.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, briefly in answer to the Majority Leader, so that there will be no misunderstanding, we have on this side, of course, gone along on many, many bills which have passed this House, 206-0. There are other bills on the calendar which are controversial, which do not go across party line, shall we say, and we do, when we are marking the calendar indicate that that is a controversial bill, but it is not a bill that our party is taking a stand on, and of course, those bills are called and generally the negative votes are asked to rise and are counted.

However, there are numerous bills on this calendar, which, as the Majority Leader says, have been passed over from week to week, but they are bills, many of which are against our party philosophy. Therefore, they are bills which will have to be passed by the Majority side with votes from the Minority. It isn't that we on this side are being cantankerous or mean or trying to dodge our responsibilities. It is always the case at the end of a session with the bills that are controversial and not in accord with the philosophy of our party which must of necessity be passed by the Majority.

That is the case with respect to this calendar now. There are many, many bills which we as a party will not vote for on party principles. That being the case, you will have to produce 106 votes for them. As I say there are many, many bills which we say we are not against, there are a few on our side who are against a bill, let us roll that bill and let the negative votes stand.

I do not want the record to show that we are trying to be obstructionists or anything like that. We are engaged in representative party government. When we have bills here that are not in accord with our party principles, of course, we vote as a party against them.

BILLS PASSED OVER

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the remaining bills on the third reading calendar, with the exception of House Bills Nos. 1854 and 2008, will be passed over. The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1854, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare for the maintenance of certain homes.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Section 1, page 1, lines 1 and 2, by striking out "Seven Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars ($750,000.00)" and inserting in lieu thereof "Seven Hundred and Eighty-two Thousand Dollars ($782,000.00)."

Amend Section 1, page 4, by inserting between lines 13 and 14 "St. Joseph's Children and Maternity Hospital Scranton $32,000."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2008, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 22, 1933 (P. L. 853), entitled "an act relating to taxation, designating the subjects, property and persons subject to and exempt from taxation for all local purposes; providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of persons, property and subjects of taxation for county purposes; and for the use of those municipal and quasi municipal corporations which levy their taxes on county assessments and valuations; amending, revising and consolidating the law relating thereto; and repealing existing laws," clarifying the exclusion of cities, boroughs, townships, school districts and poor districts in counties of the second class from provision excluding certain items in valuing real estate.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. EWING. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 201) page 3, line 6 by inserting after "cities" other than cities of the second class

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 201) page 3, line 6 by inserting after "districts" other than school districts of the first class A.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 2 of today's calendar, bills on second reading, House Bill No. 1891.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1891, entitled:

An Act amending the "Liquor Code" * * * authorizing the board to investigate and cause the prosecution of unlicensed establishments authorizing the confiscation of certain property with certain limitations and changing penalties

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. READINGER offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 207), page 3, line 6, by inserting after "appurtenances" actually

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second section and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair at this time would like to return the gavel to the Speaker.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to make a brief statement.

The time will automatically come when this matter of postponing bills on the calendar will take care of itself. We are going to reach the stage in our proceedings sometime when only Senate bills can be considered. Ultimately we are going to have a sine die resolution and we will then reach the point where House bills can have no place upon the calendar.

It is unfair to the Members who are here that there should be so many absentees. The Chair has taken the position from the first that the matter of attendance is within the province of this House. It is not within the province of the Speaker, it is not within the province of the respective Floor Leaders. This House can at any time it wants to require the attendance of the absentees.

If that is not the disposition of the House, it is not incumbent upon the Speaker to urge any such course. I am only pointing out that nothing is really gained by postponing day after day, day after day, the consideration of bills, because the day will come when those bills simply cannot be considered.

If the Members of the House are interested in particular bills, and Members on both sides have bills in which they are interested, it is up to the membership to take such steps as will make it possible for this House to do business, instead of asking that this bill be deferred, and this bill be deferred, for further action.

The Chair thanks the House for its attention.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Readinger for Mr. STEPHENS for the week because of illness.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, is it true as a matter of custom at least, that the Speaker of this House should not engage in partisan debate on the floor without relinquishing the Chair?

The SPEAKER. That would be the proper procedure. However, if the Chair offends parliamentary propriety, any Member of the House is privileged to raise the point of order.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fair statement to say that the purpose of the Speaker's weekly news letters, which are sent to the Members of this House and released to the Press is so that he can express his views without offending against parliamentary practice?

The SPEAKER. The Chair does not feel impelled to explain any communications which as an individual he may issue to Members of the House. It is a privilege which every Member of this House enjoys in equal measure with the Chair and for which no Member can be held accountable in this forum.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, should not the Speaker in addressing the Members of this House, whether on the floor or by letter, at least morally be guided by the Rules of the House?

The SPEAKER. If it is a personal communication, not within the jurisdiction of this House, the Speaker, the writer, can be as indiscreet as he chooses.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Does the Speaker regard the news letter as a purely personal communication to the Members?

The SPEAKER. It is. It is a purely personal communication to the Members and has no official status.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Does not House Rule 64 prevent a Member of this House from referring to another Member by name on the floor?

The SPEAKER. If that is the Rule, it has been so consistently disregarded that the Rule can hardly be said to be in effect, because customarily the Members of this House, without being reproved by the Speaker, have referred to each other by name rather than "the gentleman" from such and such a county.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Would it be considered improper for a Member of this House to refer in a sarcastic way, shall we say, to another Member of the House by name?

The SPEAKER. If a point of order were raised the Speaker would have to rule upon it.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Does not, Mr. Speaker, as a matter of parliamentary inquiry, the rather sarcastic reference by the Speaker in his news letter of this week to a Member of the House by name morally, at least, offend against the Rules of this House?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would not say so. The Chair would not so rule.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. One more point, Mr. Speaker. Is it proper for the Speaker in his impartial capacity to criticise personally the way a Member of this House votes?

The SPEAKER. Not while in the presence of the House nor while the House is in session, but any Member outside of the jurisdiction of this House can utter any criticisms he may like of any other Member concerning his conduct.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Then, Mr. Speaker, I take it—and this is a question—that the Speaker considers it perfectly proper in his weekly news letter to criticise personally the way eighteen Members of this House voted?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is not criticising; the letter simply pointed out. The Chair would reply to the gentleman's inquiry, if the point were raised, the Chair would have to rule that the gentleman's inquiry was out of order, because no Member can be censured because of statements made outside of this Chamber.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I realize that is probably true. I thank the Speaker for his statements. I am merely trying to express the view that perhaps the Speaker in his impartial position in his weekly news letter should be more discreet.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Delaware.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Helm for Mr. TOMPKINS for the week because of illness.

Mr. Ehrgood for Mr. LIGHT for the week because of illness.

Mr. Filo for Mr. McLAUGHLIN for the week because of illness in the family.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. READINGER. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know whether a Member of this House who absents himself from the House, either voluntarily or involuntarily, for the entire week's session, is entitled to mileage for that week.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would hold that the Member who is absent during the entire week is not entitled to mileage.

The gentleman refers to an abuse that has existed in this House for many, many years. The Commonwealth in the last 40 years has spent literally thousands upon thousands of dollars for mileage that was never, never traveled, and if the Rules were properly enforced, Members who are absent during the week without being given leave of absence would not be entitled to mileage.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I now request a leave of absence for every Member who is not in this House today.

The SPEAKER. It would be necessary for the gentleman to specify and name by name the gentlemen for whom he desires leave of absence for the protection of the Clerks.

The Chair would hold that leaves of absence must be requested by names specifically and individually. A blanket leave of absence cannot be granted.

REQUEST FOR LEAVE OF ABSENCE WITHDRAWN

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, at this time I desire to withdraw my request for leave of absence for Members who were not here today. I think I shall renew it tomorrow, but at this time I do not care to press it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. McCORMACK. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, is it proper for anyone to request a leave of absence without the express permission of the person for whom it is asked?

The SPEAKER. The responsibility resides with the conscience of the Member making the request. It is a practice which has frequently been followed in a friendly spirit by one Member of the House who desired to protect some other Member who had neglected to to ask for leave of absence. It is a matter of conscience with the individual Member.

Mr. McCORMACK. Would it be within the spirit of the Rules, Mr. Speaker, to ask for a leave of absence unless a person so requests that someone ask?

The SPEAKER. It is a matter of conscience, and the Rules have nothing to do with it. It is a matter resting upon the individual conscience of the Member, and if he desires to do it, he can do it. If he does not think he ought to do it, he does not have to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, for the benefit of the Members on the Democratic side, who were not at the Finance Committee meeting, I want to make the same statement here which I made at the meeting and that is when these bills are amended, they are no longer Democratic bills. This is the Republican tax program.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR., from the Committee on Local Government, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 30, entitled:

GEORGE M. LEADER.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

RECALLING SENATE BILL No. 646 FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. FLEMING offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, February 28, 1956.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), that Senate Bill No. 646, Pinter's No. 224, entitled "An act amending the act of June 21 1939 (P. L. 566) entitled 'A supplement to the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 736) entitled as amended "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder and prescribing penalties" as reenacted and amended providing for the payment of compensation to volunteer firemen or their dependents' entitling certain unemployed persons to benefits and fixing minimum compensation payments," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, there are today abroad in our Country acts of violence going on which apparently no one has raised any voice about. I realize this is only a State Legislative Body, but one of our main functions here is the enactment of laws and to do everything that we possibly can to see that these laws are enforced.

I feel, as everyone else must feel, that it is a horrible situation when the Supreme Court of the United States hands down a decision—whether we agree or disagree with that decision is not important. The fact that our courts have seen fit to act in a certain area and on a certain problem which has been presented to them and have taken a position on this problem, it is, therefore, incumbent upon all of us, as American citizens living in a Democracy where we abide by majority rule and by a government of laws, to see that these decisions are upheld.

Our position today is somewhat similar to the time when the Dred Scott Decision was handed down by the Supreme Court. At that time, there was a great deal of feeling. As a matter of fact, some historians have even stated they felt that was one of the bases, or one of the beginnings, of the Civil War. I feel that our civilization and this Country have advanced to the point where we do not have to have civil war to solve some of the problems presented. However, this mob violence in the South and in other parts of the Country, where no one in authority is speaking out, where nobody in Congress has taken the floor to condemn this mob violence or do anything about it, certainly leaves me and many other people with the question of whether our Executive Branch is that paralyzed or whether our Legislative Branch is that paralyzed that they will not act.

I feel that the representatives from the State of Pennsylvania certainly should make their voices felt and heard. There is no reason for this mob violence going on in the South or elsewhere. There is no reason for the United States Attorney General, who has the power, to just sit idly by while this violence and this wild action by groups that serve their own ends and their own purposes continue to act. We are back where we were in Pennsylvania not too long ago, when the Ku Klux Klan, and other groups of that type, took up the cudgel for their own purposes, masquerading and using as the reason some act or action that they did not particularly care about. I feel that the forces of religion, the forces of labor and the forces of government should bring all these persons who are causing these difficulties together. I do not think we have ever had any difficulty in this Country in working out our problems. We have done it in the field of labor, we have done it in the field of religion and we have even done it in the field of politics.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am offering this resolution.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO CONSIDER THE PROBLEM OF MOB VIOLENCE AND RULE IN THESE UNITED STATES

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WEINER offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, February 28, 1956.

The acts of irresponsible and lawless mobs in the South and elsewhere are intolerable and must be met by the full force of laws.

Mob violence has never solved anything or ever will be the solution to any problem.

The General Assembly is appalled that legislators and legislative bodies in other states can lend aid and comfort to these lawless elements, and they must, therefore, share the responsibility for they are just as guilty.

This is an issue which cannot be solved by force, and therefore, must be solved by calling together the parties most directly concerned so that a common front may be presented against the lawless mobs, gangsters, and irresponsible persons. We must condemn these persons and utilize our forces of religion, business, labor, and our own legislative bodies to find answers to this problem in keeping with our American way of doing things.

To do otherwise shames us before the entire world, especially when we are engaged in a deathlike struggle fighting for the minds of persons throughout the world.

We have seen that in our conflicts both armed and unarmed in Asia, Africa, and other vast areas of the world where Democracy is unknown that we had the finger of accusation pointed at us as being unable to solve and care for the problems here presented; therefore be it

Resolved(the House of Representatives concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to take up this problem immediately and that these states that are flaunting the highest laws of the land and the decisions and decrees of the Supreme Court of the United States be called to task and to use every means within its power to eliminate mob violence and rule in these United States; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Presiding Officer of each house of Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, first, I want to object to the immediate consideration of this resolution and ask that it be sent to a committee for study.

The reason I do this, Mr. President, is because I certainly think we would probably get a message back from Congress if we were to send this resolution down there. We would also probably receive communication from any States that are involved.

(Remarks of the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. MAHANY, expunged from the record pursuant to subsequent motion.)

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection to unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to just point out to the Majority Floor Leader two points. Number one, this resolution was drawn by me and not by the Legislative Reference Bureau. It could not be less innocuous and could not be more watered down if I had tried.

If the Majority Leader is worried about receiving a communication from the Members of Congress, I think he would be doing them a service to acquaint them with what is going on. Apparently they are not aware of this situation.

How Mr. Mahany can compare a labor dispute to a problem of this type, which takes on national and international proportions, I do not quite understand. I fail to follow that type of reasoning or that type of logic. Mr. President, I do not see how you can take a labor dispute, which has been going on in a certain area, and compare that to a situation in which the Supreme Court handed down a decision and which decision the people are fighting. Mr. Mahany has a committee, which he I believe is a member of, investigating this situation in the western part of our State. He has not made a report on that investigation, so we do not know what he has found or has not found. This situation cannot be compared with a problem which is taking on not only national but international proportions. I fail to understand or see his logic in this.

Also, Mr. President, if this resolution were sent to Members of Congress, I think they would probably read this very respectfully and I doubt whether we would get even a single answer. Maybe somebody would take the trouble and write that they have to deal with the members in the South and, therefore, do not want to take up this problem or say anything about it and others may promptly relegate this to the wastebasket.

However, Mr. President, I think that all we would be doing by sending this resolution to Congress would be going on record, as a legislative body, who are ourselves sworn to uphold the laws and Constitution of not only this State but of the United States, to see that the people who have been told to do so, at least, receive a memorandum that this is what the problem is and take up this problem.

Mr. President, how this matter relates to a labor dispute, I do not quite understand.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not care how violent your riot is, whether it is in relation to a labor dispute or whether it is in relation to segregation problems or whether it is in relation to hot-rodders, I guess they call them, down at Daytona Beach, trying to overturn cars. Violence is violence regardless of the cause.

When you have violence, mob rule and a break down of law and order, then it becomes incumbent upon all of those people, who have within their control the enforcement of the laws, to see to it that those laws are enforced and that the violence is put down. If it takes all of the law enforcement officers in the city, county and State to do the job, then that is their duty.

Mr. President, I am not getting into labor disputes or whether the union is right or the company is right or whatnot; it is a question of whether or not violence exists. If it exists, then it is up to us to put it down.

However, Senator Weiner, I am in sympathy with the wording of your resolution and I am for it. I think, though, that it ill behooves us to criticize some other State. Maybe you remember the reaction of Senator Dent the other day, when we received a communication from the State of New Jersey, criticizing the State of Pennsylvania about something that we were doing.

The people of the South, Senator, and the southern States have their own particular problems and they are trying to work them out. For us up here in the North, not knowing what their problems are, to tell them what they should do or criticize them about something which is going on in their State, I think comes with pretty poor grace from us, Senator. We should not tell another State what to do about their problems.

I will say this, Senator; that if this resolution is referred to the Rules Committee, on which the Democrats and Republicans are just about equally divided I guess, I will be happy to, if your group decides that this is the kind of resolution they want to have adopted,—Senator Dent is on that Rules Committee and he is the one who took off on the State of New Jersey the other day when we received a resolution from them—report it out within the next day or two and you can vote then on your resolution.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not wish to prolong this debate any longer, but I would just like to present to Senator Mahany a few facts. In our dealings in international relations with other nations, I doubt very much whether they would bring up the labor dispute out in Sharon, Pennsylvania; whereas, I think they probably would bring up this small problem, as he calls it, and I think they would feel that we are certainly derelict in our duty by not trying to enforce the laws which everybody has sworn to uphold. This little problem out in Sharon, which involves an honest dispute between management and labor, does not make any world-shaking difference and will not involve the people or us internationally or in any other way in dealing with peoples.

Mr. President, how can we say that we want peace throughout the world, and that we want certain rules and regulations upheld, when we are not willing to abide by our own rules and regulations as we have laid them down? I certainly do not think anybody can say that that is true in a labor dispute.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am wholly in accord with the statements of Senator Weiner. I think he is entirely correct.

Mr. President, I wonder how the Majority Leader could arrive at the conclusion that Senator Weiner's resolution is comparable to what he claims exists over around Sharon. It seems to me, Mr. President, that the Senate of Pennsylvania appointed a committee to investigate the complaints made by the Majority Leader. It seems to me, too, that the Majority Leader is now filing his report. I do not believe that the investigating committee has arrived at any conclusion as to the accurateness of his accusations. All I know is that they made the investigation.

It seems to me, Mr. President, that by the Majority Leader's verbiage on the floor today, he is filing a report on behalf of this committee.

Let me say further, Mr. President, that in my opinion it seems to me the Majority Party wants to involve this Administration in a labor dispute. I believe they are endeavoring to embarrass us. They are trying to use the Pennsylvania State Police to do a job which local officials have a responsibility to enforce. As I notified the Majority Leader the other day, the sheriff of the County of Mercer has the authority, under the law, to deputize as many persons as he needs to preserve the public peace, just as long as these deputies comply with the Act of Assembly setting up deputy sheriffs. Therefore, the sheriff of Mercer County has the responsibility.

I am informed, too, that the Governor of Pennsylvania receives reports several times a day in regard to the conditions over at Sharon. I do not believe that the problem in Sharon has anything to do with Senator Weiner's resolution. I, therefore, feel that Senator Mahany should withdraw his objection and let us pass this resolution. I believe, too, that we will not receive criticism, but I imagine we will receive some congratulatory telegrams from Members of Congress because we have the foresight to do the job and go ahead.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I did not have the privilege of listening to the remarks made by Senator Mahany relative to the Sharon situation. However, I think it is a very serious thing to have in the record today a statement from Senator Mahany relative to the findings, which might be interpreted to be the conclusions, of this committee.

At this time, rather than to present a rebuttal, because I believe one is in order, I will move that the remarks of the gentleman, pertaining to the Sharon situation, be stricken from the record. In all fairness to both sides in the dispute and to the members of the committee, I believe that any references to the Sharon situation should come from the committee after it has an executive meeting. The statements that Senator Mahany made, as I understand, are just a report of his charges he made before the hearings were held.

One would be perfectly right in assuming that the hearings meant nothing at all to Senator Mahany and that he was prejudiced in his approach to the subject because, without consulting with the committee members, he proceeds to present into the records, and for the newspapers to pick up, a positive statement to the effect that there is mob rule at Sharon. I am not going to take the time of this Senate, unless Senator Mahany refuses to allow his remarks to be expunged from the record. They cannot and must not be public property at this time. They cannot be entered into the records to further add to the situation out there, which we all know is one that has many facets to it. They cannot be dismissed by a few short, terse statements of condemnation against either one side or the other.

Mr. PRESIDENT, I do not believe that this Senate is performing its duty, and this committee cannot perform its duty, if prejudiced remarks are allowed to be made into the record and become public property as a part of this committee's hearings.

MOTION TO EXPUNGE REMARKS FROM THE RECORD

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I so move that the remarks of the gentlemtn from Crawford, Senator Mahany, pertaining to the Sharon strike situation be expunged from the record.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I had no intent to make any report of the committee. However, on the other hand, because I happen to be a member of this committee, and in fact the chairman of it, I do not feel that it requires me to keep my mouth closed about things that I have seen out in Sharon.

Mr. President, I want to say to Senator Dent that I do not care how long he rants and raves about anything he wants to on the floor of the Senate. I have never tried to shut him up. He can go on and do anything he wants to. He puts a lot of stuff out here that does not have any near relation to actual facts at times, in relation to quoting figures.

I would say to Senator Dent that Sharon is in my District. I have seen pictures of things out there which I feel warrant us, at least, to certainly be very careful in cleaning up our own back yards before we send resolutions to Congress or to some other State relative to their particular situation.

Mr. President, I want to say that we have not made any conclusions. The work of the committee is still going on. We did take testimony out at Sharon from various witnesses, but we also have some other work to do. We will try to make the report—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, will state his point of order.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, the gentleman from Crawford is going into the same remarks that we want stricken from the record. I, therefore, presume he is out of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany, will confine his remarks to the motion.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I think that I certainly had a right to make the statements that I did. If there is any statement in my remarks that is not true, relative to what the sheriff did, what the judge did and what the mayor did, then I am willing to have that stricken from the record. That is all I did say. I said that there were some officials out there who had called for aid and they did not receive any. Until such time as we can straighten out our own back yard, it seems to me that this Senate could certainly be ridiculed for criticizing some other State.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am not willing to have any of my remarks expunged from the record. I am going to vote "no" on the motion.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I believe that any fair-minded person would accept the premise that I have made; that any remarks of a positive nature, or divulging any of the information which this committee has in its portfolio, is contrary to all of the rules of procedure in any standing or special committee's work in this Senate. If Senator Mahany belives that the property of this committee is for his personal use and that his interpretation is to be the official interpretation of what we learned at Sharon, then I believe, in all fairness, the other side of the picture, as I see it, should also be entered into the record.

If Senator Mahany does not feel that his remarks are out of order, then, of course, there is only one fair thing to do because we are dealing not in a matter of minor importance, but in a situation that has major overtones. Senator Mahany goes into the picture and he is the one who opened it up. I am not willing to go into it unless he forces me into it.I am ready, just as I am sure that Senator Mahany is ready, to detail for the Senate exactly what we heard and what we saw. I would not be a bit doubtful of the fact that Senator Mahany saw out of his eyes a different picture than what I saw, and heard through his ears different words than I heard. There is no question about that.

I think everyone realizes that when you are in these situations, there are two sides to them. To allow Senator Mahany's side and his impression to go out of this Senate as another charge, substaniating the charges you made upon this floor, is eminently unfair. If Senator Mahany does not vote to expunge the remarks pertaining to the strike situation at Sharon from the record, I fully expect to take the floor on Personal Privilege, as a member of that committee, and give my full dress rehearsal of what I heard.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, it seems that all this debate stems from the resolution offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner. I am not going to uphold or criticize anybody for their actions, but the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany, had a perfect right to object. I am in deep sympathy with the resolution itself and after listening to him, he pointed out very definitely that the resolution would be discussed in committee. If, after that committee hearing, he fails to report it out, then we here have the right to debate it at great length. However, in the past, it has been our program here that unless they are privileged resolutions, they are objected to and sent to committee. Therefore, I agree with the gentleman from Crawford on that point.

I must disagree with Senator Mahany, though, when he injected the Sharon affair. I must agree definitely with my colleague from Westmoreland, Senator Dent. I dislike very much to vote to have expunged from the record any remarks made by a Member of this Senate. If I must, I shall.

I trust that my colleague from Westmoreland, a member of that committee, and Senator Mahany will get together and make remarks for the record that will strike out each other's positive remarks and keep us from voting to expunge Senate Mahany's remarks from the record.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Yosko, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, in recent months there have been a number of casualties here in the Senate. Frankly, I happen to have been one of them and I do not feel too good today. While I was in the hospital, I read a statement issued by one of the doctors here in Harrisburg who took care of a few of the Members, in which he said that one of the things that we should do here is to eat three meals a day and eat them on time. They were the instructions which I received from my doctor.

Mr. President, it is now twenty minutes of one and it is past lunch time. I, therefore, suggest that the Senate do recess for lunch and during that recess, Senator Mahany and Senator Dent may possibly settle their differences on what should remain in the record and what should be taken from the record so that when we come back after lunch, the matter can be straightened out.

MOTION TO RECESS

Mr. YOSKO. Accordingly, Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now recess for one hour for the purpose of having lunch.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, I would like to ask leave of the Senator from Northampton, before the one-hour recess, that I might be permitted, by unanimous consent, to make a committee report so that I may be on my way out of the city of Harrisburg for the rest of the afternoon.

MOTION TO RECESS WITHDRAWN TEMPORARILY

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I withdraw temporarily my motion that the Senate recess for one hour for the purpose of having lunch.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, ordinarily a motion to recess or adjourn takes precedence and is not debatable. However, I am sure that the gentleman from Erie, Senator Blass, supersedes and transcends all such technical rules, and I withdraw my second to the motion.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, I want to thank both of the gentlemen from the other side of the Senate for their courtesy in withdrawing the motion and the second.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BLASS, from the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, reported as amended, House Bill No. 1618, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177) entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929" prescribing powers and duties of the Department of Welfare with respect to juveniles.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

RECESS

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for one hour for lunch.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

The question recurs on the adoption of the motion of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent.

SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, HONORABLE HIRAM G. ANDREWS, INVITED TO ROSTRUM

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, may we delay that for just a moment? I notice that there is in our midst the Speaker of the House, Hiram Andrews, who, when I went over to the House one day, had me come up to the rostrum and address the body. Therefore, Mr. President, I would suggest that we reciprocate and I would suggest that you call upon "Senator" Andrews to come up and address the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is very happy to extend an invitation to the Speaker of the House to come to the rostrum and give some sound advice to this Senate.

REMARKS BY SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, HONORABLE HIRAM G. ANDREWS

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. President and Members of this distinguished body, celerity is the essence of cunctation and so I have come to congratulate this Body upon the speed with which it has concluded the public business. It has been a remarkable achievement. We have only been in Session some fourteen, or sixteen or eighteen months, I have forgotten which, and I see the strains that labor imposes upon those who are incessantly devoted to the public service. So, I congratulate you upon the celerity of your performance.

I am glad to be here because I see so many old, familiar faces who side-stepped a career of achievement in the House to find a place in this lesser important assembly. You see, the founding fathers did not trust you. They said that only in the House is there wisdom and devotion to the public interest and while it is decreed that we will permit your Body to formulate appropriation bills, only to the wisdom of the House will the formation of original tax legislation be entrusted.

I do not wish to impinge upon your time. You certainly have an array of tax proposals from which to choose. Having observed this Body over the course of years, I can, as a party man, be quite confident that you will make the most impossible and impractical choice.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Mr. Speaker, for those words of wisdom.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I want to remind the Speaker of the House that it is a very difficult job for us to weed out the bad from the bad that is sent over to us.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, we seem to have lost much of our audience since the time of our recess. Therefore, any words that either Senator Dent or I might say relative to the situation before us might not fall on very many ears and also because I do not want to continue on here all afternoon debating about conditions in Sharon and have our poor secretary, who is working all by herself, sit up all night to take down all of the words that we say here this afternoon, I am willing to knock out all of the discussion which followed the introduction of Senator Weiner's resolution. Instead of those remarks, I would like to have the following placed in the record.

This is the part that I would like to have included in the record:

Senator Weiner, you know that there has been an investigating committee appointed by this Senate to investigate alleged violence at the Sharon plant of the Westinghouse Company. That committee has had some hearings, but as yet it has not come up with any report or findings. However, until the committee does make such a report, it would ill behoove us to criticize some other State or send this resolution to the Congress of the United States until we are quite sure that our own back yard is clean.

Therefore, Mr. President, first I want to oppose the immediate consideration of Senator Weiner's resolution and suggest that it be referred to the Rules Committee, until the committee to investigate conditions at Sharon makes its report.

The PRESIDENT. The question recurs on the adoption of the motion.

Mr. DENT. I am sorry and I apologize to the President of the Senate, but I was answering some questions of one of my colleagues and I did not hear what the Chair said.

The PRESIDENT. The question before the Senate is on your motion. The gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, made his statement.

Mr. DENT. As I understand it then, Mr. President, and I would ask that the newspapers take note, the remarks made earlier by Senator Mahany are not considered public matter. Inasmuch as he would appreciate, and I am sure he joins me in the interest of the common good we would like to refrain from having any mention made of the situation at Sharon until this committee which has been named has an opportunity to turn in their report. That is as I understand it.

MOTION TO EXPUNGE REMARKS FROM THE RECORD WITHDRAWN

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to withdraw my motion to have the remarks of the Senator from Crawford expunged from the record.

Mr. BARR. I withdraw my second to the motion, Mr. President.

Mr. MAHANY. May we be at ease a few minutes, Mr. President?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I understand that parliamentary procedure requires that we have a motion in order to expunge remarks from the record.

REMARKS EXPUNGED FROM THE RECORD

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I now move that the remarks of the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany, pertaining to the Sharon strike situation be expunged from the record.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. Persident, I am very happy and I think everybody on this floor is happy that Senator Dent and Senator Mahany have settled their little differences.

I realize however, Mr. President, that whatever trouble there is in Sharon is in Senator Mahany's District. I have heard him say here on the floor a number of times that he is concerned about it, but I cannot point to a single word he ever spoke that showed which side he was on, management or labor.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative.)

The PRESIDENT. There being objection to the immediate consideration of this resolution, the resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. MULLIN and SILVERT read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1002, entitled:

An Act amending the act of January 8, 1952 (P. L. 1851), entitled "An act providing for the sentencing of persons convicted of certain crimes to an indeterminate sentence having a minimum of one day and a maximum of life in certain cases; . . ." regulating bail for persons charged with commission of sex crimes.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, the Congress of the United States, in the year of 1954 passed legislation empowering the various States of the United States to utilize the forces of atomic energy. I have been in contact with the State of New York and I have legislation similar to what was passed in the State of New York.

Mr. President, this legislation will create a temporary State Atomic Energy Commission to undertake studies and coordinate developments and activities relating to the peaceful use of atomic energy and making an appropriation for that purpose. It empowers the Department of Public Instruction to create scholarships for study in the field of engineering and atomic research, and prescribes eligibility proceedings and also provides for the selection by competitive examination for these scholarships and makes an appropriation. It further makes appropriation to the trustees of the Pennsylvania State University for use in studying and making plans and recommendations for the establishment of advanced education programs in the utilization of atomic energy for peaceful purposes, and also creates a temporary State commission to study the effects of atomic developments on the people and industries of Pennsylvania, and also makes an appropriation to coordinate development and regulatory activities relating to the peaceful uses of atomic energy, providing functions, powers and duties.

I would say to you, Mr. President, that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is seriously in need of legislation of this type and I hope that the committee to which it is referred will give it its very serious consideration. I would like to appear before that committee and express my views in regard to this legislation.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSOR

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, with the pleasure of the Chair, I would like to add the name of Senator Mahany as one of the co-sponsors of this legislation.

The PRESIDENT. If the Senator will come up and sign his name, we will agree.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. LANE, BARR, DENT, HAYS, STIEFEL and MAHANY read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1103, entitled:

An Act to coordinate development and regulatory activities relating to the peaceful uses of atomic energy; providing for the establishment of an independent administrative board, and the appointment of an executive secretary; prescribing functions, powers and duties of the board and the executive secretary; and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1004, entitled:

An Act empowering the Department of Public Instruction to create scholarship for study in the fields of engineering and atomic research; prescribing eligibility; providing for selection by competitive examination and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1005, entitled:

An Act creating a temporary State commission to study the effects of atomic developments on the people and industries of Pennsylvania; and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1006, entitled:

An Act creating a temporary State Atomic Energy Commission to undertake studies and coordinate development and activities relating to the peaceful uses of atomic energy; and making an appropriation therefor.

Which committed to the Committee on State Government.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1007, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Trustees of the Pennsylvania State University for use in studying and making plans and recommendations for the establishment of advanced education programs in the utilization of atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

Messrs. STIEFEL and RUTH read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1008, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code for 1949" requiring release of pupils for religious observances, without counting the resultant absences against the record of the pupils thus released.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I, at this time, should like to bring to the attention of the Members of the Senate a most chaotic condition which now exists in many communities in the State of Pennsylvania. I am referring to the decay of democracy which has taken place by way of the rise, recently, of wire tapping.

Mr. President, introduced in the Senate on March the 1st was Senate Bill No. 196. The same companion bill was introduced in the House, and that was House Bill No. 726. Both of these bills carried the endorsement of many Bar organizations throughout the State of Pennsylvania and many civic and church groups. The provisions of this bill were to prohibit wire tapping in any form.

I must report, Mr. President, that the Senate Bill still remains in the Judiciary General Committee without any action. The House Bill, House Bill No. 726, was passed by the House on June the 2nd—and that, also, lies in the Judiciary General Committee of the Senate. I may say in passing that the vote in the House was 135 in favor to 33 opposed.

Mr. PRESIDENT, I am particularly interested in this evil practice which has arisen in our State. In the last few months, I have looked into this matter, taking reports and evidence from every part of the State. I will report, and I shall make it public in due time, that through this vicious practice of wire tapping there has been political blackmail in the State of Pennsylvania. Through this practice, Mr. President, in many communities of Pennsylvania today, elected officials fear to talk on their telephones because certain law enforcement agencies, under the guise of detecting crime, are wiretapping and listening in on private conversations.

I was told, Mr. President, just a few weeks ago by a learned judge in Philadelphia, half in jest and half in a sorrowful approach, that when he talks on his telephone in the evening and hangs up, he says, "Good night everyone who is listening."

Mr. President, when democracy in Pennsylvania has reached the point that we can no longer talk on our telephones for fear that they are being tapped, it is time we do something. This wire tapping is a rising situation which is taking place in Pennsylvania today.

I would like to point, if I may, to my own city of Philadelphia. I say to you, Mr. President, that in Philadelphia today there is so much wire tapping going on that the tappers are tapping the tappers. This certainly does not lead to the privacy which the Constitution of this Country and this State has guaranteed to us.

Mr. President, in 156 years since the founding of this Commonwealth, the law enforcement agencies of this State were able to very successfully detect crime and bring in those who were guilty of it without the necessity of delving into the privacy of the home.

We saw recently in the case of Commonwealth versus Chase where the Pennsylvania Supreme Court handed down a decision in which they said that we have no restriction on wire tapping and such evidence would be admissible because we had no law to prohibit it. During the testimony in that case, it was brought out that police, in ten seconds, could wire tap any telephone in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and find out what is going on.

I think Justice Musmanno put it very ably in that case when he said, "Thus the liberty of privacy, which has been achieved through centuries of struggle, may in the hands of wilful meddlers be lost in ten seconds."

All this wire tapping has accomplished is to brin in petty gamblers, petty bookmakers and others of petty crime. Any police force in this Commonwealth that cannot detect that sort of crime without wire tapping certainly is not worth the name of a law enforcement agency

I say here today, Mr. President, on this floor, that I am not a historian, but I hope not to return some day in Pennsylvania to point the finger and say, "I told you so." Unless we in the Senate, unless the Judiciary General Committee, will bring that bill out and make it law this method of wire tapping and this method of usin coercion by information secured will come back to haunt us in the future. That is the great crime facing the future of democracy in this State. That is the future which we must try to protect.

Mr. President, when business people in the city of Philadelphia are having their telephones tapped and when certain enforcement agencies are put on the payroll of competitors to secure information, then it is about time that we in this body take action to protect them.

Mr. President, there are many States that see it the same way. The Federal jurisdiction, through the Federal Communications Act, has made it a crime to divulge information secured through wire tapping. It is about time that the alarm be sounded in Pennsylvania so that we can, likewise, protect the privacy of the four walls of our homes and our economic life.

Therefore, Mr. President, I urge the Members of the Judiciary General Committee to get House Bill No. 72 out of Committee and get it on the floor for a vote.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 223, Printer's No. 64, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 587, Printer's No. 290, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 826, Printer's No. 335, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I have the unfortunate experience of having illness in my family. Torrow, I must take my sister to the hospital and I will be unable to attend the Session at that time. However, I will be back Thursday. I hope that, in my absence, the status of the bill will not be changed. If necessary, I can say a few words in support of it. I hope that tomorrow it will also go over in order until I come back, unless Senator Mahany takes up the cudgels for the bill and it passes with flying colors tomorrow.

Mr. PECHAN. What if Senator Pechan picks up the cudgels? Would you rather have Senator Mahany do it?

Mr. STIEFEL. I will appreciate help from Senator Pechan, too, because Armstrong County has been long outstanding in the disposal of historical matters. Recently, they lost their historical society. By Senator Pechan taking up the cudgels, in addition to Senator Mahany, that will assure its success.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1786, as follows:

An Act providing for cooperation by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in conjunction with the State of New Jersey with the United States of America in the improvement and maintenance of the Delaware Rive between Allegheny Avenue Philadelphia Pennsylvania and Trenton Marine Terminal Trenton New Jersey and making an appropriation

Section 1 It is hereby declared to be the policy and purpose of the Commonwealth to cooperate with the United States in a project for the further improvement of the Delaware River between Allegheny Avenue Philadelphia Pennsylvania and Trenton Marine Terminal Trenton New Jersey In order to effectuate such policy and purpose the Department of Forests and Waters acting for on behalf and in the name of the Commonwealth is hereby granted the following authority and powers

(a) To agree to furnish free of cost to the United States all lands easements rights-of-way and spoil disposal areas on the Pennsylvania side of the river required for the improvement of the Delaware River between Allegheny Avenue Philadelphia Pennsylvania and Trenton Marine Terminal Trenton New Jersey and for its maintenance henceforth

(b) To agree to hold and save the United States and its agents free from damage due to the construction and maintenance of the improvements of the Delaware River between Allegheny Avenue Philadelphia Pennsylvania and Trenton Marine Terminal Trenton New Jersey other than claims arising from the tortious acts of agents or employes of the United States

(c) To do all other acts and things necessary or convenient to carry out the powers expressly granted by this act and to effectuate its purpose including the power to act in the acquisition of lands privately owned in accordance with the provisions of the laws of Pennsylvania

Section 2 There is hereby appropriated to the Department of Forests and Waters the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000.00) to compensate property owners affected by the provisions of this act and to pay the necessary costs

Section 3 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 324, Printer's No. 244, on second reading, go over in its order, as amended.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

INTERROGATION

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated,

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Senator Mahany, I have a schedule of activities worked out for the balance of this week and next week. I hear so many rumors around here as to the length of this legislative week and next week. I would like some clarification so that I will know whether I must revise my schedule for this week and for next week or whether I may go ahead with what has been planned. Will you kindly enlighten us on what the legislative schedule is going to be?

Mr. MAHANY. To the best of my knowledge, Senator Yosko, we expect to work for the balance of the week, at least through Thursday. The reason for that is because we want to take some action on the tax bills that are before us. As you know, the tax bills were reported from committee today. We expect to have them pass First Reading today, Second reading tomorrow, which will be Wednesday, and then have them recommitted for the purpose of any amendments. Of course, that will depend upon the Finance Committee as to when they report them out. If the committee reports them out immediately after they have been amended the same day that they are recommitted to the Finance Committee, then we would have them on the Third Reading Calendar for Thursday. It might be that the bills may be so radically changed that someone would want to have more time to study them before they vote on Thursday. I do not know about that, Senator. However, if no one objects and everybody has full knowledge of what the bills are, as amended on Third Reading, and they are ready to vote, then I would like to have us vote on Thursday.

I do not like to have so many ifs and conditions in my reply, but you can understand that I cannot very well be more certain than that. I am giving you the best of my intentions as to what might happen this week. That is what we intended to do.

Mr. YOSKO. If some of the ifs you are talking about materialize and if we cannot vote on the bills that you have in mind on Thursday, does that mean that we will stay over until Friday?

Mr. MAHANY. I would say so, Senator Yosko. I would like to finish up our job, as far as this new tax legislation is concerned, this week if it is at all possible.

Mr. YOSKO. What is the schedule for next week?

Mr. MAHANY. That, of course is very difficult to answer. I expect to come back on Monday and clean up any legislation that we have to clean up and try to get any bills out of committees that the committee chairmen and the members of the committee wish to have reported out. In other words, I expect to just generally keep on working now until we get our job completed and then hope that some day we will be able to adjourn sine die.

Mr. YOSKO. I am for that, but are you anticipating a four-day week or a five-day week or a three-day week next week?

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Yosko, I cannot very well tell you. It if were up to me, I would like to stay here six days a week and just take Sundays off until we get finished. I cannot tell you because, you see, what we do is not entirely within my hands next week. I have others to consider; perhaps, some of you Democrats might not want to work clear through the week. I cannot tell you exactly how many days we will work. I would like to work, as I said, through the whole week. However, perhaps some of the other fellows may decide that they would only like to put in four days. Therefore, I cannot really guarantee anything for next week.

Mr. YOSKO. Then, can we safely say that if there is agreement on both sides we will be here all week next week?

Mr. MAHANY. I cannot very well say that. I am saying that if I had it to do, I would stay here six days. However, there are others who are concerned and we have not discussed how many days next week we will be in Session. I would say that we should be in Session at least three days next week.

Mr. YOSKO. Thank you very much.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented communication from the House of Representatives informing the Senate that the House insists upon its amendments non-concurred in by the Senate to Senate Bill No. 835, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 9, 1955 (Act No. 130), "The County Code," authorizing the appointment of solicitors by clerks of the court of quarter sessions and oyer and terminer in third, fourth and fifth class counties, and prescribing their duties.

SENATE INSISTS UPON ITS NON-CONCURRENCE IN THE AMENDMENTS MADE BY THE HOUSE TO SENATE BILL No. 835

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate insist upon its non-concurrence in the amendments made by the House to Senate Bill No. 835, and that a Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate be appointed.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

HOUSE MESSAGE

HOUSE NON-CONCURS IN SENATE AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE BILL No. 856

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House has non-concurred in the amendments made by the Senate to House Bill No. 856, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 30, 1917 (P. L. 21), entitled "Optometrists Licensure Law," further regulating the refusal, cancellation, revocation and suspension of licenses, providing for rules and regulations, and eliminating repealed provision.

STUDENTS FROM PORTER TOWNSHIP CONSOLIDATED SCHOOLS PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I received a letter from our colleague, Senator Derk, and he asked me to present to this Body forty-five pupils and their teachers from Porter Township Consolidated Schools, under the leadership of William Snyder. They are the fourth and fifth grade classes. I herewith present them to the Senate of Pennsylvania. They are seated up in the balcony.

The PRESIDENT. We are very happy to have these constituents of Senator Derk's here with us today. We hope you take a message back to him and tell him we want him to get well and get back here as soon as possible. We hope you will enjoy your stay with us.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I might add, and I know that the Senators and all of those who are in the Senate at this moment will be happy to know, that Senator Derk is well on the way to recovery. He is feeling, as he said, "Strong as a bull."

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I think we are going to do something unusual tomorrow. At least, we are going to meet on a date which probably, if you went back into the history of Pennsylvania, you would find that a Session of the Legislature never occurred on this date before. Our usual meetings are held in the odd years and February 29th comes during an even year, so this is going to be some kind of a new record in Pennsylvania for us to meet on February 29th.

Therefore, Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Wednesday, February 29, 1956, at 2:00 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 3:32 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time until Wednesday, February 29, 1956, at 2:00 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, February 28, 1956

The House met at 10:00 a. m.
The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Honorable Harry R. McInroy, a Member of the House from Tioga County, offered the following prayer:

Oh Great and Eternal God, somewhere behind the swirling snowflakes there is a breath of springtime in the air this morning—a promise of better things to come. Soon the fragant flowers will be bursting into bloom. the leaves will be coming out again on the trees, and the birds will be filling the air with their songs. As we detect this slight change in Nature, so it seems we feel a change taking place in this Assembly, a faint ray of hope, a glimpse of the rainbow, which so often follows the rain. Though more snowflakes may fall and March winds may blow, we know that springtime will surely come.

This morning we pray for more wisdom, more vision, and more courage. We ask for wisdom to separate the wheat from the chaff. We ask for vision that we may look for in the future, and so govern our conduct, here, that the laws we pass may be wise and just for posterity. We ask for courage to carry out Thy will, when we know what is Thy will. Help us to wind up the affairs of this long and tiresome session of the Legislature as quickly and efficiently as possible. Bless our great Commonwealth and our beloved country. May we be a beacon light of hope, shining out on a sinful, strife-torn, selfish, and at times a discouraged world. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Monday, February 27, 1956, will be postponed until printed. The Chair hears none.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm, to preside temporarily.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Appropriations to meet during the session of the House.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION

RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 407 FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. READINGER offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 28, 1956.

Resolved (if the Senate concur) that House Bill No. 407, Printers No. 624, entitled "An act amending the act of August 10, 1951 (P. L. 1182) entitled 'An act relating to and defining chiropractic and the right to practice chiropractic requiring licensure conferring powers and imposing duties upon the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners and the Department of Public Instruction providing for the granting suspension and revocation of licenses issued by the board preserving the right of existing licensees and giving them certain personal choice as to jurisdiction conferring jurisdiction upon the court of common pleas of Dauphin County and prescribing penalties' extending the period for application for limited examination clarifying certain provisions thereof establishing further standards of educational conferences and requiring board approval thereof providing for branch office certificates and prohibiting branch office practice without such certificate," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Speaker has referred the following House resolution:

RESOLUTION No. 159

By Messrs. CHARLES C. SMITH, MATT S. ANDERSON, WHEELER, McCANN, TOLL, WELSH, NEEDHAM, CAPANO, WILLIAMS, MORAN, McKEEVER, FINEMAN, TAYLOR, KOLANKIEWICZ, PETTIGREW, Mrs. MUNLEY, Messrs. HOLT, BOIES, READINGER, BUCCHIN, Mrs. PASHLEY, Messrs. MULLEN, EILBERG, FLOYD, McCORMACK and Mrs. ANDERSON.

In the House of Representatives, February 27, 1956.

The United States Supreme Court in a recent decision has uanimously decreed that the 14th amendment of the Constitution of the United States contains certain basic rights, one of which is the prohibiting of segregation based on race, color or creed in public schools or in governmental matters which are conducted by State agencies or institutions.

Within the framework of such decree, certain civil rights organizations such as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People have worked tirelessly and vigorously as proponents of civil rights in making the decree, which guarantees civil rights and prohibits segregation a reality.

In direct, illegal and violent opposition to the supreme court decree and the efforts of the N.A.A.C.P. to have realistic enforcement made of such decree, there has occurred in many parts of this great nation, particularly in the South, a wave of brutal and defiant terrorism in the form of illegal mob action against N.A.A.C.P. proponents and leaders, whereby their freedom of advocacy, property, liberty and their very lives have been put in extreme jeopardy.

Mob actions such as these cannot be tolerated for they are contrary to every concept of freedom guaranteed to the people and embodied in our Constitution and the Bill of Rights. These mob actions have heaped international disgrace on our great nation and have conveyed to the world the belief that our Constitution is not the supreme law of the land, but merely a hollow and meaningless symbol of liberty; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania does hereby memorialize the Congress of the United States to investigate these mob actions and enact legislation or take other appropriate action which will alleviate this disgrace and mockery of our Constitution and ensure protection of life, liberty and property to all proponents of the true constitutional spirit against discrimination and segregation by State institutions and agencies; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

BILLS SIGNED BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Speaker has signed the following Senate bills:

Bills numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 53 FROM GOVERNOR

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 17, 1956.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Concurrent Resolution recalling from the Governor House Bill No. 53, Printer's No. 1307, for the purpose of amendment.

Accordingly, the original bill is herewith returned.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

Mr. STRAUSSER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which the bill passed finally be reconsidered.

Mr. STONER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Columbia Mr. Strausser vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. STRAUSSER. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Cumberland Mr. Stoner vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. STONER. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. STRAUSSER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STRAUSSER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend title, page 2, last line of title, by inserting after "vehicles" and further limiting and regulating certain actions.

Amend Section 1 (Section 1023.1), page 3, by inserting between lines 2 and 3

In any prosecution under this section, the throwing of garbage, bottles, rubbish, wire, glass or cardboard or wood cartons or boxes from a motor vehicle shall be prima facie evidence that they were thrown or permitted to be thrown from the motor vehicle by the operator.

If at any hearing or proceeding the operator shall testify under oath or affirmation that he did not throw garbage, bottles, rubbish, wire, glass or cardboard or wood cartons or boxes from the motor vehicle and shall submit himself to an examination as to who did the throwing and reveal the name of such person, if known to him, or if the information is made in a court other than that of his own residence shall forward to the magistrate an affidavit setting forth these facts, then the prima facie evidence arising as above set forth shall be overcome and removed and the burden of proof shifted.

Amend page 3 by inserting immediately following line 7

Section 2. Subsection (a) of section 1201 of said act, as last amended by the act of August nineteen, one thousand nine hundred fifty-three (Pamphlet Laws 1084), is further amended to read:

Section 1201. Limitations of Actions.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 217, Printer's No. 345,
House Bill No. 231, Printer's No. 1318
House Bill No. 776, Printer's No. 1300, and
House Bill No. 885, Printer's No. 1396,

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 904 as follows:

An Act amending the act of April 11, 1899 (P. L. 37) entitled "An act relating to the keepers of junk shops and second hand dealers in cities of this Commonwealth" making compliance with certain provisions evidence of innocence in prosecutions for receiving stolen goods

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section 2 act of April 11, 1899 (P. L. 37) entitled "An act relating to the keepers of junk shops and second hand dealers in cities of this Commonwealth" is amended to read

Section 2 Every owner of such junk shops and second had stores shall provide and constantly keep a book in which shall be fairly written down in the English language at the time of every purchase of any such material a description of all articles so purchased the name and residence of the person from whom such purchase was made and the day and hour of such purchase and such books shall at all times be open to the inspection of any and every member of the police and detective forces of such city Compliance with the provisions of this section shall be evidence of the innocence of a junk shop keeper or second hand dealer of any crime of receiving stolen goods notwithstanding the fact that the articles may in fact be stolen Nothing contained in this section shall be interpreted as limiting or interfering with the title to or right of possession of the lawful owners of the articles

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the sponsor to explain this bill.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, on behalf of one of the sponsors of this bill, I will undertake to explain it.

This is a bill which will provide similar responsibility on the part of the people in the waste business, otherwise known as the junk business, to that of the pawn brokers of Pennsylvania. If a pawn broker today takes in merchandise and properly records it and pays money properly and takes a receipt, he is given the protection of any business man who handles a transaction in a normal course of business.

He is therefore presumed to be innocent unless it is shown that there is some violation or that the merchandise has been stolen.

However, this particular position does not apply to the junk yards. All they ask is that the same conditions which are in the pawn brokers law, now be applied to them, so that if they make the proper entries and record the transaction in their record they should be afforded the same protection as pawn brokers are afforded.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, may I ask a question of the gentleman from Philadelphia?
